But Truman's assertion that the choice of peace or a greater war is up to the communists left open the interpretation that United National forces would strike back outside Korea if large enemy air forces pursue the fighting.

U.N. spokesman at the United Nations in Lake Success, N.Y., said yesterday the United States has proposed the bombing of red bases in Manchuria if the communists launch heavy air attacks.)

Gen. MacArthur's insistence that the enemy should be hit is what he called its Manchurian sanctuary was among the policy differences which led President Truman to dismiss the far eastern commander.

At his meeting with reporters, the President said:

1. Said MacArthur can now say and go where he pleases — that while he still has authority on the deposed far eastern commander, he does not intend to pull them.

2. Expressed confidence in Secretary of State Dean Acheson and said former Marshall Plan administrator Paul Hoffman is not going to succeed Acheson.

Response to Questions

The President's mention of MacArthur came in response to questions regarding the general's present status.

He said MacArthur has a permanent military rank as a full general.

He added MacArthur could be recalled to active duty any time, just as he recalled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Admiral Chester Nimitz to duty. But, said Truman, he has at present no plan to recall MacArthur at the present time.

Mr. President opened his press conference by reading a paragraph from a letter to Congress in which he said the communist side must now choose between "peace and a wider war." He carried with it "the awful responsibility for choosing" full scale war or peaceful settlement "which could lead to a general relaxation of tension." He said he did not speech Truman said:

In the Presidential limbo, because the forces of the United Nations will strive to limit the conflict if it follows.

The President said he believes that sums up United States policy.

Dog's Scratching Saves Family

Sarnia, April 26 — (CP) 'Lady,' a pet dog, is the toast of the Harry Parr family today. When fire broke out in their home Wednesday night, Lady's barking and scratching aroused the family.

The fire was caused by a short circuit in an electric heater in the basement.

Before Mr. and Mrs. Parr and their son had been awakened by the dog, a pet monkey, a cat and a canary were dead as a result of the smoke.

Damage was estimated at $500.

$875 PAID FOR HEIFER

Toronto, April 26 — (CP) — Some purebred Guernsey cattle, from herds in York and Simcoe counties, sold for more than $30,000 in an auction Wednesday at suburban Richmond Hill. Top price was paid by G. Kenneth Hogg of Thamesville for a two-year-old heifer, Don Alda Victor's Honey, owned by Jack Fraser of Concord.

Key Left in Car Tempts Girl

St. Catharines, April 26 (CP) —An automobile key left in a St. Catharines house proved too great a temptation for a 15-year-old girl last night, but her driving ability didn't match her ex-citement. She borrowed her brother's car, drove it into a neighbor's lawn and broke down a fence before she stopped.

The young driver was traced through an engraved bracelet found in the car. Neither police or her big brother may take is still unknown.

OVERCOME BY FUMES

Peterborough, April 26 — (CP) — James McNeil, 34, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Margaret Clark, 37, were overcome in hospital after being overcome by coal-gas fumes in McNeil's home Wednesday.

Eight Peterborough residents have been coal-gas victims in less than a month. Three were asphyxiated.

ONTARIO SEEKS RELAXING OF LAWS BANNING RAFFLES

Officials at Ottawa Have Been Approached

Toronto, April 26 — (CP)—Ontario seeks relaxing of federal laws banning lotteries and raffles in order that religious and charitable groups may operate them under government supervision.

Legislative crime probers were told yesterday by Deputy Attorney-General Gilbert Magone that his department had suggested such relaxation to justice officials at Ottawa. He did not elaborate.

After some questioning of Commissioner W. H. Stringer, head of the operation of the Ontario Provincial Police, the committee adjourned its hearings until May 8.

During yesterday's session, the committee decided to enlarge the scope of its inquiry to include the enforcement measures of the Ontario Securities Commission.

The move was taken after E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, suggested that United States authorities were fleeing to Canada to escape prosecution for illegal stock sales.

The committee also moved to subpoena an appropriate official of the Bell Telephone Company to testify about the use of telephone facilities by bookmakers.

The motion was made by William Houck, Liberal member for Niagara Falls, after the committee who said he was "amazed" by testimony by Mr. Stringer earlier day that bookies made widespread use of telephones to carry on illegal betting activities.

In Montreal, there was no immediate comment from the Bell Telephone Company, of which Frederic Johnson is president.

Attorney - General Dana Porter agreed to find out which of the company's top officials should testify.

Special Force Members Must Pay Income Tax

Ottawa, April 26 — (CP)—The government does not intend to relax its tax policy in the application of Canada's Special Force in Korea to 10,000 in uniform, Finance Department spokesman said Wednesday night.

He was commenting on a letter made public Wednesday by the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada, a veterans' association claiming 200,000 members, last week by Finance Minister Abbott said he is considering granting some form of exemption to the men who go to Korea. He said he feels no group should be exempt.

Typewriter That Thinks Demonstrated Before Members Publishers Assoc.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, April 26—(AP)—A typewriter that thinks was demonstrated Wednesday to the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

It types the same kind and size letters as any typewriter. Electric impulses change these letters into any size and any style of newspaper type. And it cames out completely justified—automatically for the engraving plate that will print the newspaper.

The typewriter eliminates all type, typesetters. Linotype machines, and other devices involved in the casting of type. It substitutes for the casting a bit of typewriter, weighing 1½ pounds.

The purpose is faster, less costly and more accurate printing because elimination of handling by several printing departments. In the long run, say the producers ,the Graphic Arts Foundation, Cambridge, Mass., more and better jobs will result.

The typewriter has seven little fingers, rods of metal, in its base. Each letter or character moves one or more fingers. The moving fingers operate an electrical pattern, sending current into a calculating machine, or mechanical brain. Here, at transmission of the electrical control to a smallwhirling disc, the characters of the disc are eight circular rows of letters. The eight contain 18 alphabets and the characters, such as commas, that go to make an alphabet complete for printing in English.

Each letter is transparent. A light shines through the character whichever letter the typewriter chooses. Lenses focus this letter size, distance and film, and that completes the job.

The apparatus attached to the typewriter to do all this is about the size of two family refrigerators.

There are no foreign language discs yet.

The machine is the first ready for newspaper use.

The inventors are two French men now living in Cambridge, Mass. A. Hignonet and Louis Morgoud.

Red Masses Force 27-Mile Retreat In Five Days

Thousands of Reds Mowed Down by Artillery Fire

By OLEN CLEMENTS

Tokyo, April 27 (Friday) — (AP)—Allied troops on the west central Korean front withdrew again Thursday before Chinese red masses. This extended their pullback in that sector to 27 miles in five days.

U.N. stragglers fired artillery at point-blank range to hold back 200,000 reds pressing toward Seoul.

The new withdrawal wiped out every U.N. foothold on the western front, north of the 38th parallel.

But the allies still are in North Korea along the Hwachon Reservoir on the eastern end of the 100 mile front. They beat back red attacks on both sides of the reservoir Thursday.

The allied withdrawal from above the parallel began at midday, as Chinese advanced within 25 miles of Seoul.

Fight Delaying Action

Eighth Army headquarters said the allied troops were "fighting a magnificent delaying action."

Munsan fell to Chinese driving down a main highway from the northwest. The town is 31 miles from war-battered Seoul.

Most withdrawals were made in the daylight after Allied forces held steady against red night — time softening attacks.

Eighth Army divisions in the west were generally falling back ahead of the Chinese main attack. The terrific fire - power of American artillery and Allied planes protected the rear of withdrawing columns.

One Unit Surrounded

But one unit surrounded by onrushing Chinese was caught in a trap northwest of Uijongbu. There was no word from this unit late Thursday.

Field reports said it was cut off by red forces behind the allied lines. An armored task force broke through and rescued at least the first. It was feared the unit's losses might be high.

Other elements encircled units — Turkish, Belgian and Australian — had backed their way out with heavy — or light — losses.

Red losses were placed at close to 9,000 in midnight communiques.

U. N. officers in the west said they had the power to check the red push at any time. But the commanders in the centre after a big attack — through early in the afternoon.

The centre line had held solidly until yesterday's big retreat began.

Communist night attacks were broken almost before they were started, with huge searchlights exposing the reds.

23 Bodies Taken From Wreckage Of Airliner

Key West, Fla., April 26 (AP)—Navy divers recovered more wreckage and mangled bodies today from the shattered sections of a Cuban airliner and a navy trainer plane which collided and killed 43 persons.

But the allies still are in North Korea along the Hwachon Reservoir on the eastern end of the 100 mile front. They beat back red attacks on both sides of the reservoir Thursday.

The Navy craft, disintegrating as it fell, crashed two miles west of the transport.

Navy men recovered the first body from the plane within ten minutes, and the first from the airliner five minutes later.

17 Bodies Already Recovered

By nightfall 17 bodies had been recovered from the transport, and two from the navy plane. Then the transport engines—with shreds of flesh on them—were found.

The twisted fuselage was expected to be brought out with its grisly cargo this morning.

Eye-witnesses George and Charles Faraldo said the left wing tip of the transport fell off and a burst into flame. They said:

"The water spewed so high into the air we could see it over the top of the mast (the transport."

The Faraldos were the first to spy the plane's smoke. They saw bodies and parts of bodies on the surface.

The airliner was on its course and flying at the prescribed 4,-000-foot altitude. Officials from the United States and Cuba are investigating the cause of the crash.

The wrecking of the transport, operated by Compania Cubana de Aviacion, spotted Latin America's proudest airline safety record. It was the first accident on the Cuban line in more than 17 years.

Truman Asks Congress for Higher Taxes, Tighter Controls, Fair Ceilings

Washington, April 26 (AP) — President Truman, saying inflationary pressures "have not yet reached their peak," asked Congress today for higher taxes and tighter credit controls and "fair ceilings" on farm and other products.

Urging speedy action, Truman said: "The world situation could explode at any time, and we must make every day count."

The President's request for "fair ceilings" on farm and other products is aimed at permitting tighter controls on food prices.

"I believe . . . that for price control to be effective, it must include the farmer as well as the businessman and the wage earner," he said.

Truman said this sort of control would suffice to stabilize food prices for the time being.

If that should not work, the President said, Congress will need to "consider the use of other devices, "including limited food subsidies to prevent necessary price increases from being reflected in rises in the cost of living."

Customers Line Up for Early Sale of Tickets

The ticket sale for next week's Kinsmen sponsored show "Showboat Days" got off to a good start this morning when a long line of Kinsmen customers formed at the ticket sale at Bill Cook's cigar store to exchange tickets for reserve seats. It was believed to be the first time that there has been a lineup here for an advance sale of tickets to a stage presentation.

The lineup for the ticket sale started to build up shortly after nine o'clock and by ten extended the length of the store and out onto the sidewalk.

"Showboat Days" is being presented by the local service club on the evenings of May 2-3-4. Rehearsals for the local cast numbering well over 100 are being directed by George Zarfas of Hamilton, well known for his direction of amateur stage presentations.

Proceeds of the show are for the club's community swimming pool project. Tickets are available from members of the Kinsmen Club, verem the east, and at Bill Cook, from the cast, and st. Michael's, Pauley's and at Goodman's.

Heavy Rain and Thunderstorm Sweep City, No Damage Reported

The [illegible] electrical storm of the year [illegible] city and district last night and the rain accompanying it in heavy bursts made Bellevillians sit up and take notice of downtown streets. A few unfortunates were caught in the downpour after 8:30 p.m., and although they say there must have been four or five inches of rain fall official estimates this morning from the purification plant set the rainfall yesterday at about four-fifths of an inch.

Actual figure for Wednesday was .83 inch, boosting the April total to more than double the average, over the years. This month's figures so far show that 4.49 inches of rain have fallen on the city, compared with 2.17 inches average through the year. April, 1950, had a total rainfall of 2.52 inches.

Last night's deluge caught few residents downtown, and those who were on the streets quickly ducked into doorways to keep dry. Sewers gurgled and boiled, but accommodated the torrent that poured into them.

First intimation that the city was in for a night of it came about 7:30 p.m., when the first bolt of lightning flashed. From that time on the storm got stronger, and lightning and claps of thunder followed in rapid succession. However, no damage was reported.

One oldtimer on Front Street, soaked but happy, had encouraging comment: "Well, at least it clears the air." He ventured the opinion that April was done as a rain month and fine weather should be just around the corner. Most people will echo his sentiments.

Complete Line of Home Furniture, Appliances Carried by New Store

Another step in a lengthy business life of the city was taken when Mr. Milton Salz and his son, Mr. Mack Salz, opened their new store at 300 Front Street this morning at 9 a.m. Mr. Salz, Sr., has been associated with the furniture business in the city for 17 years, and his son for 12 years, at the Fashion Shop for five years.

This morning, they unlocked the doors on one of the city's most modern and complete stocked furniture and appliance stores.

The capable staff will operate on four floors of the building at the foot of Victoria Ave., and the new furniture is complete outfitting for a home, from start to finish. The main floor features chesterfield suite, mats and rugs, radios, stoves, refrigerators, light fixtures, pictures, and all matter of electrical appliances. Throughout the renovation, the whole floor has been brightened by the use of fluorescent lighting, and the show windows at the front have been brightened.

The second floor is devoted to chesterfield sets, studio couches, a children's department, and bedroom suites, with mattresses, chests on the latter. Every type of suite, in every price range, is displayed, all along the depth of the store.

Beds, springs and mattresses, along with kitchen suites and cedar chests, occupy the third floor of the building. All floors have been redecorated, and light shades of wallpaper make each of the floors most attractive. As yet, full redecoration has not been accomplished, but no inconvenience to customers will result from it.

A full range is also the feature of the third floor, with the types of the particular merchandise displayed. The kitchen suites are the popular ones, with the chairs with chairs to match.

The basement of the building is outfitted for the display of floor coverings primarily. Salz and Son will provide a complete service in that line, including measuring of floors and proper fitting. In addition, kitchen cabinets, stools and chairs are displayed.

Also being displayed and sold on the first floor are washing machines, bathroom cabinets and luggage. The fourth floor in the building will be used for storage exclusively. In addition, the firm of Salz and Son furniture maintains two warehouses in the city, and also has furniture stored in Trenton and Campbellford.

Obituary

MRS. EARL HAMMETT

Mrs. Catherine Teresa Hammett died suddenly after a heart attack at her home, 79 Victoria Road, late Wednesday afternoon.

She was born at Bedford Mills, near Kingston, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kingston, and since that time has resided in this city for the past 19 years. She formerly resided on Herchimer.

Mrs. Hammett was an active member of St. Michael's Church and was associated with the Women's Guild of that church.

Surviving are her husband, Earl Hammett, one sister, Mrs. Mary McKinney, of Bedford Mills and three brothers, Oliver and John Kingston of Bedford Mills, and William of Kingston.

Resting at the Pinkston Funeral Home, 257 Victoria Avenue at Church Street, the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

Piano Recital By Peter Smith To be Given Here

A piano recital of much interest to city residents will be given in the Collegiate auditorium on Monday, May 7, when Peter Smith is the Collegiate auditorium.

Peter Smith is the son of Archdeacon Arthur Smith and Mrs. Smith, of St. Thomas' Rectory, and has been a scholarship student at the Julliard School of Music in New York City, for five years.

He has qualified for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Music, and also for his Master's degree, and has been awarded the Olga Samaroff award ranking first in Julliard each year. This is a great honor, as competition at this leading school of music is exceedingly keen. This is open to students coming from all over the United States and European countries.

The program will be as follows: Toccata in F sharp minor, by Bach; Fantasie in G major, opus 79 by Chopin; Sonata No. 5 by Forman Dello Joio; Maurka in C major, opus 24, No. 2; Mazurka in C sharp minor, opus 30 No. 4, by Chopin; Barcarolle, opus 60, by Chopin; Islen, mezzo, opus 117, No. 3 and Capriccio, opus 76, No. 2, by Brahms, and Mephisto waltz by Liszt.

The recital is sponsored by the University Women's Club.

High scorers last night were: high triple, T. Wardhaugh, 774; high single, J. Diamond, 329 with other good scores being D. Plamondon, 316; Mansfield, 307; C. Thrasher, 304 and I. Bovay, 603.

The annual meeting, banquet and presentation of awards will be held on May 9th.

Thursday Ladies Bowling League Holds Banquet

The Thursday Evening Ladies' Bowling League climaxed a highly successful season Wednesday night with the annual banquet and presentations of prizes at the Belleville Y.M.C.A.

Dispensing with a tasty chicken dinner, the league paid tribute to its champions and individual prize winners.

Mrs. Kay Smith, acting for the league president, presented the championship team, the league champions with its award. To Dorothy Mansfield went the honor for the league high average, 104. Mrs. R. Cross won the high triple prize with a 700 with Mrs. M. Black taking high singles honors with a 314.

At the election of officers, Mrs. Kay Smith was named president for the coming year with Mrs. Helen McCann, secretary. Mrs Jerry Quincey will look after the league's finances.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

Montreal, April 26 (CP) —J. S. Roland Caron, 37, plunged from a sixth-story window last night in the downtown Fullum Square and hit the sidewalk before a crowd of horrified spectators. He died in hospital. Police said Caron, father of six children, had been having trouble with his landlord, who wanted to take over the Caron apartment.

Health Minister to Recommend $100,000 Advanced to W.C.A., Used by City, be Written Off

A strong recommendation to Premier Frost and to the Ontario government, that the $100,000 advanced in 1948 by the government toward a convalescent hospital for Belleville be written off the books, will be made by Dr. MacKinnon Phillips, Minister of Health for the Province.

This was stated yesterday afternoon by Dr. Phillips as he addressed a combined meeting of the hospital board of governors and city council, and the hospital board rooms.

The special meeting of the two bodies was held to discuss what was to be done with respect to the $100,000 now spent by the city on the former county home property and also to discuss plans for the proposed convalescent hospital.

"The government has done something similar for other municipalities in the province," noted Dr. Phillips, "and I feel the money was not squandered by the city but was spent in good faith on the understanding that it would provide a convalescent hospital."

Here is what Dr. Phillips had to say:

Prior to 1948 the $100,000 had been made available to the Welfare Council of Belleville, toward a convalescent hospital. When the hospital was turned over to the city and authority was given the city to use the money now known as the property of the former county home property, the intention being to turn the county home into a convalescent hospital.

Considering the purchase, however, it was found the old building could not be renovated economically enough. This is not a great honor, as competition at this leading school of music is exceedingly keen. This is open to students coming from all over the United States and European countries.

The program will be as follows: Toccata in F sharp minor, by Bach; Fantasie in G major, opus 79 by Chopin; Sonata No. 5 by Forman Dello Joio; Maurka in C major, opus 24, No. 2; Mazurka in C sharp minor, opus 30 No. 4, by Chopin; Barcarolle, opus 60, by Chopin; Islen, mezzo, opus 117, No. 3 and Capriccio, opus 76, No. 2, by Brahms, and Mephisto waltz by Liszt.

The recital is sponsored by the University Women's Club.

Man Dies After Truck-Train Crash At Crossing 25 Yards From Home

Trenton. (Special)—A preliminary inquest last night opened the investigation into the death of Clifford MacDonald, 52, who died late yesterday afternoon following a truck-train crash at the C.N.R. railway crossing at Ferndinand Street, at the north end of the town. The crash happened in a drizzling rain at approximately 3:20 p.m.

The victim, who operated a truck drawing coal for the B. W. Powers and Son Company, was returning home at the wheel of his truck and had only another 25 yards to travel before seeing his wife and 20-months-old son who were waiting for him.

Eye witnesses to the shunting engine proceeding south toward the downtown area, struck the truck as it entered the right-of-way and carried it down the tracks for a short distance before the cement abutment of the C.P.R. overhead bridge. The truck was twisted into a grotesque shape as it was mangled against the side of the abutment.

The driver, alone at the time, was trapped in the complete cab. Eight men struggled to extricate him from the wreckage. He was living but bleeding profusely from severe head injuries.

A doctor at the scene administered first aid and the victim was rushed to the Trenton Memorial Hospital, where he died two hours later despite every effort to save his life.

Heard a Crash

Engineer A. S. Vanstone, 311 Bleecker Ave, Belleville, stated that the first thing he heard was a crash and then a loud report as steam escaping from a burst blower valve. Fireman J. W. Lane, 285 Bridge Street East, Belleville, was shovelling coal and did not see the accident.

Damage to the left side of the engine caused it to stall on the right-of-way.

Mrs. Raymond Davis told police she saw the truck approaching at a fast rate of speed and heard the engine whistle. "I was afraid the crash," she said, "because of a great cloud of steam". Mrs. Robert Sine saw the truck coming up Ferdinand Street, and the train proceeding south toward the crossing. She said she did not hear a whistle or bell ringing.

Witness Robert Sine stated to police he heard the train whistle blow.

The car was overcast at the time of the crash. Atmospheric conditions throughout the day caused car windows to steam up and limited driving visibility.

Clifford MacDonald owned his truck and carried coal for Powers and Son for many years. He started three years ago and was establishing a home at 644 J-2 Front Street. He leaves a wife and young son, Jackie.

Coroner Dr. E. A. McQuade called the inquest.

Health Minister to Recommend $100,000 Advanced to W.C.A., Used by City, be Written Off

A strong recommendation to Premier Frost and to the Ontario government, that the $100,000 advanced in 1948 by the government toward a convalescent hospital for Belleville be written off the books, will be made by Dr. MacKinnon Phillips, Minister of Health for the Province.

This was stated yesterday afternoon by Dr. Phillips as he addressed a combined meeting of the hospital board of governors and city council, the hospital board rooms.

The special meeting of the two bodies was held to discuss what was to be done with respect to the $100,000 now spent by the city on the former county home property and also to discuss plans for the proposed convalescent hospital.

"The government has done something similar for other municipalities in the province," noted Dr. Phillips, "and I feel the money was not squandered by the city but was spent in good faith on the understanding that it would provide a convalescent hospital."

Here is what Dr. Phillips had to say:

Prior to 1948 the $100,000 had been made available to the Welfare Council of Belleville, toward a convalescent hospital. When the hospital was turned over to the city and authority was given the city to use the money now known as the property of the former county home property, the intention being to turn the county home into a convalescent hospital.

Considering the purchase, however, it was found the old building could not be renovated economically enough. This is not up to fireproof standards required by the government.

"On a long term policy it must be figured if the building is worth the cost of renovation, while the federal grant would be $1,500 per bed up to one hundred beds, and $1,000 per bed up to one hundred beds.

"There was a difference in the grant system, however, to the extent that the federal government allowed a grant for "all new beds", while the federal grant system allowed for additional beds."

Difference in Grants

The difference was that the provincial grant covered all new beds whether they were to replace present beds, while the federal grant did not. This fact could be overcome, however, by the addition of a new wing.

In addition capital grants for hospitals, isolation beds and out patients could be provided. Also the federal grant allowed grants of $1,000 per bed for nurses' residences.

The Belleville hospital has a 38 per cent shortage of nurses in the province, while the shortage of hospital accommodation was prevalent all across the province. On the basis that only 60 per cent of the acute beds in Ontario hospitals were taken up by chronic patients.

Committee Will Assist

The speaker made it plain that the health department did not wish to tell a municipality what to do in the way of providing hospital services, but at the same time it was anxious to give all the help possible. To avoid costly mistakes, the government was preparing a booklet "Suggestions to Hospital Boards." He noted that his health committee would welcome to Belleville on short notice to discuss any plans.

Dr. Phillips was taken at the meeting outside of it being a general discussion that it would be unwise to renovate the old county home building as a convalescent hospital.

In the opinion of hospital administrators in Bristol Westfield there were three plans open to the board. These were (1) To build a fireproof addition to the present hospital wing, which would mean the loss of one year of operating room and other services.

"Cost for such a wing might run $150,000 per bed, he said.

Change Obstetrical Floor

The second proposal would be to change the obstetrical floor into accommodation for general patients and build a new 50-bed maternity wing. This should provide for 100 additional beds for general patients on the third floor.

The third and not recommended plan would be to think only of relieving the present hospital

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 26. (CP)—Trading continued to show little trend as the session drew to a close on the stock market today. Activity was the quietest in 3 1-2 weeks.

Industrials were about evenly mixed with fractional price changes. Papers, agriculture, banks and constructions showed a majority of gains. Liquors and refining oils were lower and steels, utilities, foods, textiles, and manufacturing commodities were mixed.

Base Metals were also mixed. East Sullivan, Falconbridge, International Nickel, United Keno Hill and Sherritt Gordon added fractions while Consolidated Smelters, Noranda, Wells Amulet, Steep Rock and Quebec Manitou eased.

Western Oils were irregular. Golds barely moved. A handful of issues showed small changes but advances and loses were fairly evenly distributed.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, April 26 — (CP) Trade was slow with prices 50-75 cents below the opening level at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts: cattle, 20; calves, 20; hogs 160; no sheep or lambs. There was an estimated holdover of 450 cattle.

Medium to good weighty steers bought $32.50 - $34. A few heifers went at $31 and $33 and medium quality steers sold at $30-$32.

Calves were steady at $37-$38 for choice vealers and $33-$34 for mediums.

Grade A hogs sold for $33 and sows for $27.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, April 26 — (CP) Produce prices quoted in the spot market here today:

Churning cream and butter prices unchanged from yester-day.

The egg market was firm and prices unchanged. Country shippers quoted grade eggs, case free: grade A large, 37; A medium 35; A pullet, 32; grade B, 31; grade C 41. Wholesale to retail: grade A large, 60; A medium, 60; A pullet, 58; grade B, 56; grade C, 47.

Butter solids: first grade (nominal); 59-59½ cents; second grade not established.

HOGS

Toronto April 26 (CP)—Truck hog prices were quoted at $1.75 at Stratford, Ont., today. Other markets were not reported.

Cheese Producers To Deal Direct With Britain

The Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board will negotiate directly with the British Food Ministry for any cheese which is sold to Britain this year, it was learned today.

The Cheese Producers' Marketing Board is meeting in Toronto today with a representative of the British Food Ministry to discuss the purchase of cheese for British this year. In former years the cheese contract with Britain has been negotiated with Britain by the Canadian government, but this year the government will remain out of the picture.

Crests, Awards and Trophies Presented to Young Puckists At 1st Hockey Get-Together

Shining-eyed youngsters, proud parents, equally proud officials, coaches and others of the Belleville Hockey Association climaxed a successful hockey season in Memorial Arena last night.

It was a gala night for the kids. While proud champions thrilled to the presentation of trophies, the remainder were as much thrilled with their awards of Chicago Black Hawk, and Belleville Hockey Association crests augmented by a handsome colored photograph of the Hawks.

Later they saw two motion pictures of hockey stars in action, heard an outstanding address by Gus Bodnar, Black Hawk star, and wound up the evening in a blaze of gustatory glory, consuming some 1,200 hot dogs and an equal number of bottles of soft drinks and milk.

First Get-Together

It was the first annual get-together of the Belleville Hockey Association which it honored its bantams, midgets, juveniles and juniors. Inclement weather reduced the general public attendance but a large number of proud "poppas and mommas" were on hand to watch their loins offspring enjoy their first public appearance as "honored guests."

A cross section of the city was represented. City Comptroller Harold Bateman "pinch-hit" for Mayor R. Potter and others included representatives of service clubs, press and radio, members of the local hockey club, referees with a special guest being Sam Curry, Tweed member of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association executive, Bodnar Speaks

Gus Bodnar, front-line star of the Chicago Black Hawks in an informative address told the youngsters the requisites of a professional hockey player, plus some useful advice as to how to reach the ranks of the monied clan.

He stressed the importance of keeping in shape, continuous practice, skating and school.

Skating, he said, was one of the most important things to develop in a potential hockey player. It represents 95 per cent of a player's success. Stickhandling, too, was important but in his opinion good physical condition is one of the first requirements of a youngster if he is to make a career of hockey.

To keep in shape, Bodnar told the youngsters, "you must keep good hours, get plenty of sleep and do not relax athletics during the summer."

He urged the boys to "stick to their studies at school." Education, he said, was very important even to a professional hockey player, because his career as a player ends when he is still a young man, and his education fits him for the sterner tasks of life that lie ahead.

Some Good Advice

He reviewed his own hockey life as a youngster, saying that he at an early age made up his mind to become a professional. His advice was to "put all you've got into it. Try hard for perfection at all the time, practise consistently, watch more experienced players, and take their advice. He quoted Lorne Carr as being one of the best shots in the National Hockey League and who attained the position because he practised all summer shooting a puck at a tin can or some other target."

Boys Are Lucky

He concluded by telling his audience "You don't know how lucky you are to have such a fine group of men behind you. In my day I had to get my own skates, sticks and other equipment. You fellows are very lucky and I hope you appreciate what is being done for you."

Bodnar wound up with a quiz session and many questions were fired at him by the young puckists.

Bob Wilson, chief eastern scout of the Black Hawks also spoke. He hoped, he said, that at some future time he would see many "of you fellows wearing Black Hawk sweaters."

He said that the Hawks have a definite interest in Belleville and next winter would help to the extent where Belleville would have a contending junior "B" hockey team.

Presentations and Awards

Association president Ken McNaught was chairman for the evening and formally welcomed his guests. Presentations included the "Player of Distinction" trophy to Ernie Trumble, who was unable to be present; the O.H.A. Trophy for the most valuable player to Ross Mason, by Fred Elgie; Bantam mgr. valuable award to Bobby Hull, by Bill Holway; Midget most valuable award to John Hughes by Police Chief Walter Probert; Juvenile most valuable award to Don Barclay by "Red" Townsend.

Awards were made to junior coach "Smiley" Mercnek by Jack Yanover, and to trainer Lum Carson by the "father of hockey" Bill Cook.

The Bill Tobin Trophy emblematic of the bantam championship was presented by Bob Wilson to Harold Simmons, of the Elks Club, sponsors of the Elks Bruins which won the league title.

Black Hawks and BHA crests were presented to the bantam, midget and juvenile teams by Gus Bodnar, Bob Wilson and Don Stanton, Bill Bell and Bob Latham.

Brief addresses were given by Jack Yanover who expressed the association's appreciation to the Belleville Association, Sam Curry, Comptroller Bateman, Charlie "Chief" Baller" Lloyd. The draw for the hockey stick autographed by the Black Hawk NHL squad was won by Charles Kingston, Maple Leaf goalie.

The evening ended with the "feast" and the consumption of the aforementioned quantities of "dogs" and drinks.

ONTARIO'S CRIME PROBE

It is highly unlikely that the Ontario Legislature's committee will discover much more than the lower probe did in the United States. The one thing in common between Ontario and the United States is that we like to gamble, and machinery, wherever possible, will be and has been set up to accommodate their desires.

That is not to say that there is any comparison between the scope of gambling activities in Ontario and New York, for instance. In the United States, gambling operations are a highly-organized and very profitable industry, is maintained as such by a well-oiled syndicate. It is possible that the committee in Ontario will find that gambling is organized, but certainly not to the same degree.

It is interesting to note now and comment on the remarks made to the Belleville Rotary Club more than a week ago by the Hon. Gordon D. Conant, Q.C., Ontario prime minister, on the subject during the situation in the United States. He was saying that there was no place here for criminals who operate in political circles in the United States. "We must not let them get a foothold here," Mr. Conant said, and then continued to investigate the question of a Gaming Act, which would attempt to control gambling in the province. Enforcement of the legislation would be a problem, and whether it is wiser to have a law rejected to ridicule by flouting it, or not to have it at all, is a fit subject for argument.

The suggestion that the Ontario Provincial Police be expanded to further control gambling and other illegal pursuits would appear to be applicable only where local conditions could not be handled. Further, the argument advanced by Mr. Conant that if some people are bound to gamble in some manner and in some amount, they might as well do it legally, as illegally, merits consideration. But it is not to be assumed that gambling illegally is no control. Whether or not it will contribute to the lessening in the number of gamblers in the province or nation is something that could only be positively proved by practice, rather than the legalized gambling issue, perhaps the most central point raised by Mr. Conant was that the attitude of society towards legalized gambling — that there would be more minor crimes, and that the administration of justice was impaired because many people did not consider them of sufficient intent to warrant prosecution and apprehension by forces of justice.

Such an attitude destroys the work of the police in the community. The efficiency of any police force, be it municipal or provincial, depends to a great degree on the support and co-operation it receives from the community which it operates.

MATERIAL BOUND FOR THE WASTE-BASKET

The action of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association in condemning the flood of official releases to member news from Ottawa is nothing less than an expression of the feeling of newspaper editors across the country. For the benefit of daily journal readers, the majority of the releases go into the waste basket.

Every conceivable subject is brought into the publicity mill from official sources, and it is an unusual day when four or five releases do not meet their final end with the rest of the discarded material of a newspaper office. Indeed, more often than not, the number far exceeds four or five. Only rarely is any value.

The story behind the story is that these "blurbs" are written by men employed only for that purpose. They are paid, directly or indirectly, with public funds. Consequently, the taxpayer must appear that the people are getting full value for the expenditure. That is even more apparent when the waste basket overflows with the material.

Much of the writing in the releases is of poor calibre. It is written for newspaper consumption, but it is not written in newspaper style. Hence, it happens very often that a story worth telling is written in such a manner that it has to be rewritten before it can be published. And many times, there is no time available for the rewriting of the material. It then winds up with the rest of the uninteresting mail — in that ever-present basket again.

In short, through the advent of high-powered advertising and public relations and publicity firms, a trend has been established that has seen more and more agencies jump to employ men who can place their case before the public. The result has been a plethora, a veritable flood, of material sent out all across the country. Its value is almost nil, for what is considered "news" by the better part of the agencies does not fall into the real news categories of daily journals.

The money poured into these campaigns might easily be better used for measures vital to the economy of the country.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

There is something pathetic—both for me and for the Canadian Indians—the way, from time to time, parliament brings forth a large and solemn plan for the betterment of the Indians' lot and for the alleviation of our public conscience. It was the case with the penitence so often, it appears that the more consideration of the Indian problem.

While the recent bill was before the house in Ottawa, the press of the country gave it generous publicity. Editorials full of good round sympathetic phrases appeared, and somehow, somewhere, in the whole Indian question, there is something more than an Indian in the woodpile. It might also appear that there was, in bills and influential places in our country, a considerable number of hardheaded men who see to it that nothing sentimental, nothing sloppy and weak-minded be done with regard to our Indians. Nothing, in short, must stand in the way of the progress of the Spirit of Canada's great resources. And if we don't watch out, the Indian might stand in that way.

Not all the Indians have been confined to reservations and segregated villages. Of the 140,000 of them, still alive in Canada, from coast to coast, numbers are still free in the wilds. And they, too, have some claim still to their ancient heritage. That may be what irks the executive white man.

The opponent of Indian reform would be happy if all the Indians were confined to reservations and villages. Those who cannot then adopt the white man's way of life efficiently may well be disregarded. They were given a chance.

But to have Indians loose, and possibly multiplying, in areas rich with potential timber, mineral, power and other resources, from which they would have to be evicted, is only to prolong, in the opinion of these far-sighted promoters, the ugly problem that faced our Canadian forebears as they chivalrously, by proclamation, the Indian out of his ancient and lawful home.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHICH FAITH?

As we contemplate the world about us today, we find that there is growing up in the hearts of all of us that our religion has fulfilled another, else we would not be in such dire straits.

Communism, of course, is diabolical. It exalts evil into a principle of action and strength through perversity. Fascism, on the other hand, is a Christian nation. We acknowledge the God which the communists deny. We are bound by principles of honor which causes them to scoff at us as weaklings.

Yet when we come down to it, is our religious faith strong enough to stand against the fanatical devotion which the average communist has for the Marxian way of life? We may well ask ourselves whether our religion is just a pious custom, something we inherited from our forefathers, or whether we really mean what we solemnly repeat in church and what we assent to as we listen to the preaching of the Gospel.

There is something the matter somewhere, and we can be pretty sure that the trouble is not with our system of religion but with us. The next decade will certainly show which is the more powerful force in the world religion or the blind unscrupulous zeal of the communist which drives him to try to destroy everything we hold sacred.

Canada's First Horse Meat Shop Does Thriving Trade

By HANS GROTTKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton — (CP) — Horse meat is proving popular in Edmonton.

That's the word from O. P. Moore and E. S. Ferguson, co-owners of Canada's first horse meat store.

The shop — named The Pony Market — now has been in operation for several weeks and the owners say business is booming. They also claim there has been one serious complaint to date about their products.

"At first," Mr. Moore said, "our customers were mainly persons who like occasionally eaten horse meat overseas and welcomed an opportunity to purchase it again. Now they've got almost as many Edmonton-born customers as those of European descent.

600 Customers

"Why, last Saturday alone about 600 people bought meat in our store and many of them have told their friends about it.

The greatest attraction to budget-conscious housewives, of course, the meat's relatively low price range as compared to other meats.

Most cuts sell for about 40 per cent under beef prices. Top price for a horse tenderloin, for example, is 40 cents against $1.80 per pound for beef cuts of that class.

Loin steaks sell for 33 cents compared with 95 cents for good quality beef steaks in neighborhood stores. Boneless pickled hind-quarters cost about 36 cents a pound and ground horse meat is 25 cents.

The owners did not run into as much opposition as they expected when they first approached the provincial government with the idea of selling horse meat for human consumption.

However, the shop's opening was delayed until the Edmonton city council approved the issue of a retail licence and the Provincial Livestock Branch approved regulations governing the sale of the meat.

Numerous citizens protested to the council claiming they refused to eat horse meat and might get stuck with some if sale became legal.

Protests Brushed Aside

These protests were brushed aside by the council, however, after the city health officer said objections to sale of the meat were largely psychological.

Council ruled, however, that no meats were to be sold from the shop. It was to be clearly advertised as selling horse meat only.

The horses for the meat are supplied by a processing firm with plants in Swift Current, Sask., and Edmonton.

The Edmonton plant has been in operation for some years now and sold millions of pounds of meat to U.N.R.R.A. for export to Europe after the Second World War.

About 11,000,000 pounds of pickled horse meat went to fish farms in Russia and 60,000,000 pounds of canned meat was sent to the Belgian Congo. An additional 9,000,000 pounds of frozen hind quarters were exported to France, Belgium and Holland.

Letter to the Editor

Thinks Margarine Has its Place

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I trust you will grant me space in your paper to reply to Mr. Mac Robertson's letter on your "Margarine Editorial".

Your "Point of course, be obvious to anyone reading his article, that Mr. Robertson owns a dairy and is therefore accordingly one-sided in his views. I, as a citizen, was delighted when margarine was brought into Ontario, for one reason only, to control the price of butter because it is common knowledge that competition controls prices.

Remember butter was over 80 cents per pound and you either paid the price or ate dry bread now, thanks to a few sensible members of parliament we can buy margarine and I for one have not lost weight or felt violently ill since I switched. I would like to ask Mr. Robertson why butter should be protected. Can it be that he is interested in stock that his product cannot compete with a substitute, or is it merely the opposition as is usual in common masses to have a chance to buy something they can afford for a change?

Willis Jackson.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ONE INCREASING PURPOSE

Nothing so stimulates the mind and feeds incentive, as having a definite purpose in life and never varying from it. That purpose need not be of a spectacular nature, for after all it's our own inward urge that we must wish to satisfy and reward. "From none but self expect applause."

There is always something different about even the look of the face that is hidden within his mind and heart one increasing purpose, and to which he adheres through all the vicissitudes of life. For such a one temporary defeat only serves to make permanent effect. The objective remains.

The earlier in life that this purpose is formed the richer will be the experience. We do little, more or no wandering, when we know exactly where we are going! With definite aim we call set purpose controlling one's life, there is less temptation to waste or abuse one's abilities as well as opportunities. Thus it is that every morning is for us an inviting one, with an invitation to enlarge and improve this one purpose of ours.

I can understand the mind and purpose of that man, or woman, who has but one place, or opportunity wherein he may serve the most best, regardless of monetary returns. One's greatest joy in this world is to so live, love, and work as to bring the greatest happiness to others and the most personal satisfaction to self. Then we can't buy warmth of heart. You have to earn it!

A person with a definite purpose in life can ward off with rare courage much undue worry and mind-disturbing and even false accusations. It's like travelling a prepared road, your mind is so fixed as you know it is the right road and that it will lead you to what will take you to where you want to go.

We all have our dreams and are the better for them. But to make them serve us well through a definite purpose has been the secret urge that has made notable every outstanding character in human history. How remarkable that so many of the world's great arose from humble origin! But within them was the germ or seed of one incredible purpose.

Socialist High Command Favors Attlee's Policies

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

Prime Minister Attlee of British has spiked — at least temporarily — the guns of the left-wing rebels of his Socialist party led by Aneurin Bevan against the national rearmament program.

The Socialist high command yesterday published Bevan's objections and declared firm support for Attlee's policies.

Later, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison pledged that British will cut its standard of living to meet the rearmament program. This touched a high point of drama, since Britain only for many years has been living under a program of rigid austerity.

This revolt of left - wingers under Bevan, and part of the cabinet, a campaign to swing the Socialist party further left, has been serious. Hard Labor leader, resigned his important cabinet position as Minister of Labor to support Bevan's rearmament program.

Bevan and his followers charge that British couldn't rearm as quickly as the United States wanted her to. Bevan contends also that the United States is using so much raw material for her own rearmament that Britain can't get what she needs to avoid economic chaos.

The severity of the rebuke to Bevan by the party is one of the most drastic that his followers have been an influential section of the executive. The Bevan bloc is said to have battled bitterly to prevent approval of the rearmament budget.

What Bevan's next step will be is a question of international interest. It can hardly be expected that he will abandon his fight because of this initial setback.

After Leadership

Some "political observers say he is after leadership of the Labor party. If so, Bevan could be expected to proceed with care, not only because Attlee is the beloved chief of a strong following but because a grave indiscretion at present would be forgiven by the rank and file.

Bevan and his followers have pledged themselves to try to maintain the Attlee government in power pending a general election before long — perhaps by autumn.

The current political upheaval may help to determine whether Britain is to become an all-out welfare state, or whether she will return to capitalism.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Signed Letters, Not More Than One Page, or 100 Words long, Pertaining to Personal Health and Hygiene, Not Diseases, Diagnosis or Treatment, Will be Answered by Dr. Brady if a Stamped, Self-Addressed Envelope is Enclosed, Etc.

WILLIAM OSLER, M.D., AND HOBART AMORY HARE, M.D.

Recent allusions in this column to certain teachings of distinguished physicians of fifty years ago, whose teachings now seem quaint, have brought stern rebuke from readers who have great respect for the two distinguished physicians whose views I quoted as quaint and amusing.

The physicians were Dr. Wm. Osler and Dr. Hobart Amory Hare.

These were two of the greatest medical teachers who ever lived. Osler's Practice of Medicine and Hare's Practical Therapeutics are the most valuable medical books ever in my library. And the most used, as you might appreciate if you could see how carefully I have patched and repaired them from year to year.

I bow to no one in my esteem of these giants of American Medicine. At the same time, I am reluctant to no one for any allusions I have made to any of their teachings.

Set me down as a lowbrow for it if you wish, but as a teacher in my small way, I feel in duty bound to say what I think regardless of what any good doctor of the past may have thought or believed.

Unfortunately for my own complacence the majority of physicians even now, particularly the big shots, the leaders of the A. M. A.'s are only too happy to pass, if you inquire, their set notions about the effects of exposure to cold, damp, drafts, wet feet, sudden changes of weather or environment and "insufficient clothing" as peculiar, or perhaps not approved by the council on something or other.

And so you have me at a disadvantage from the outset when you choose to tell me off for my temerity in pointing out the errors or misleading teachings of medical theory and practice.

Not that my little tiffs with the fellows who call each other medical authorities are significant, but nevertheless, I find it comforting to recall, when they gang up on me, that they are only following the traditional custom of the professional—precisely as the old guard believed in respect to the outmoded teachings of Oliver Wendell Holmes and Semmelweis in the matter of puerperal septicemia (childbed fever, blood "poisoning" following childbirth). From that sad chapter of American Medicine my thoughts drift to the shotgun quarantine the great doctors of the early century advocated against yellow fever; the long association of malaria with miasmas or "unhealthy exhalations" or "noxious effluvia" that swamps or freshly turned soil putrescent matter, etc; the persistent practice of drying victims of real or intrangenic (doctor-produced) heart trouble with digitalis; the arbitrary insertion of teeth which are perfectly sound of which may be kept in good functional condition by modern dentistry; and by this time I pretty much feel that there's nothing for it but to drop everything and hie away to the bowling green.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Oatmeal

I think there is a great deal of difference between what we call oatmeal and the oatmeal porridge which is served. Most is flaked or rolled oats, while the oatmeal of Scotland is more the coarse corn meal of the kind called "pinhead oats" which is still carried by a few stores. (M. B.)

Answer—Thank you. I have no further information about it. If it is intended to "relish" oats for the namby-pamby trade, depend upon Yankee ingenuity to "improve" on it, and on to another and supply it ready-to-serve in a pretty package.

Color Blindness

Cure or help for protanopia? (E. K.)

Answer—I know of no cure for protanopia (red blindness) present at birth. In some cases acquired color-blindness may be helped by an optimal daily portion of natural vitamin A—say 25,000 unit capsule of vitamin A after dinner every day for at least three months; or to (8) the equivalent in cod liver oil.

Introspection and Spastic Colon

I have what is called spastic colon. What if anything. (G. C.)

Answer—Send 25c and stamped self-addressed envelope for booklet Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene. Reading and re-reading of this will help you. Provided you are not sure you know more than I do about it.

Need for Early Treatment Of Mental Disorders Stressed by Health Minister

Admitting that he was "hep-pressed" on the subject, Dr. MacKinnon Phillips, M.L.A., Minister of Health, outlined the need for early treatment of mental disorders in Ontario last night as he spoke to Progressive Conservatives in their club rooms. He pinpointed the mental health problem as being of high importance in the province and maintained that early supervision of the disorders would mean less costly treatment in mental hospitals later on.

More than 17,000 persons are in mental hospitals in Ontario now, with a 2,000 backlog. "Yet, building bigger and better hospitals is not the answer to this problem," Dr. Phillips said. "Of that number, 17 percent are over 65 years of age, not necessarily mentally incompetent" he said. Twenty-three percent are mental defectives, and 48 percent are schizophrenics. The latter class was singled out by the Minister of Health.

Need Early Treatment

Slow and retarded when young showing split personality symptoms at puberty, having hallucinations in their 20's, and not reaching mental breakdown until their 40's, these people make up the bulk of the patients today. "The best psychiatrists say that if that 48 percent were treated early in their lives, 75 percent of them could be cured in a very short time and never reach our institutions," he said.

"That is why we want to produce psychiatry on a community basis," he said, outlining a pilot plan now being instituted in St. Catharines to treat people early in life. Modern treatment has brought the average period of a patient in a mental hospital in Ontario to three or four months. 16 other days, the period approximated three years.

Outlines Treatment

Dr. Phillips outlined the treatment of today as being in three classes—electric shock, insulin comas, and surgery. The first is for emotionally upset people, and cures a large percentage of them. The second has cured "dozens" by increasingly larger doses of insulin, and the third is known as lobotomy or leucotomy, where the fibres of the brain are slit in an effort to promote better mental health.

Dr. Phillips indicated the importance with which the provincial department placed on the mental health problem by saying that $14.1-3 millions per year were spent on maintenance of hospitals, and only half that amount spent on maintenance of public hospitals.

The Minister of Health also took time to outline the three classes of illness that must be looked after on federal, provincial and municipal bases. The first is public health, which has been looked after by the state for many years; the second is the needs group, suffering illness, and which can be taken care of in good fashion by insurance or other schemes; and, 3, that made up of handicapped people.

One in 15 Handicapped

At present, there are some 800,000 handicapped people in Ontario, and the number is increasing by 15,000 each year. "That means," he said, "that one of every is handicapped, more or less. Some are able to work, some are not." He emphasized that these people have to be taken care of, no matter what government is in power, by federal, provincial and municipal governments, working with voluntary organizations.

Dr. Phillips reviewed the situation the province found itself in four years ago, and gave information he had given to the hospital board and city council in joint meeting 16 the afternoon.

The Minister of Health outlined the legislation pertaining to health passed in the spring session this year, and mentioned treatment for all out-patients.

He further reviewed and expanded on the shortage of nurses in the province, and quoted figures to show what contributions the province would make to Belleville General Hospital extension as entitled to the afternoon joint meeting.

Third Body Recovered From Lake Nipissing

North Bay, April 26 — (CP) — Final chapter to Lake Nipissing's first tragedy of the year was written Wednesday when searchers recovered the body of a third drowning victim at the West Arm.

Dragging irons handled by two Sudbury men picked the body of Mrs. Georgs Cooper from the weedy lake bottom. Discovery of the 37-year-old Garson woman ended a four-day search.

Earlier Wednesday dragging crews found the bodies of Milton O'Brien, 35, Sudbury and Verner, and Alfred Barton, Sudbury.

All three were drowned early Sunday. It is believed their canoe capsized on rough water.

IRAN QUIETER

Tehran, Iran, April 26 — (AP) — The Anglo-Iranian Oil Company reported Wednesday that labor conditions at Abadan, where its huge refinery was virtually paralyzed by a strike last week, now are back to normal.

Meanwhile, the Iranian parliament's oil commission met Wednesday for discussion of steps toward nationalization of Iran's resources, but adjourned without making any decisions.

Tweenie Girl

Saturday evening last, the Bowl-O-Drome was invaded by members of the Good Companions' Club, who were out for an evening of bowling or—in some cases—bowling.

Refreshments were served at the church following the bowling.

Mrs. Herb. Parkes, Holmes Road, accepted a small gift, presented to Mr. and Mrs. Parkes, who are moving to Toronto, as a memento from the club. Mr. and Mrs. Parkes will be missed not only by members of the club and Tweenie United Church, but in the city as a whole.

HOSTED BY FRIENDS

A shower was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McArthur, Rose Corners, in honor of their daughter, Phyllis and her husband, who were recently married.

During the evening music and cards were enjoyed, after which the bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Reunion, were presented with a fine occasional chair, by their friends and neighbors, for which Phyllis and Ford graciously expressed their appreciation.

Later refreshments were served ending a most enjoyable evening.

Club Activities

DOUBLE OR NOTHING CLUB

The Double or Nothing Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Aylsworth in Desoronto, on Sunday evening with 16 members present.

Devotional period was in charge of the Rev. F. Towns-end, the scripture reading by Doris Aylsworth.

Plans were discussed for final meeting and a supper with bowling after.

New treasurers are Mr. and Mrs. W. Schell to replace Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grange, who are leaving town.

Discussion was "How Radical are the Clergy?", led by Art Walker.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Women Urged to Take Greater Interest in Community Affairs

The annual meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held on Tuesday evening in the Kiwanis Centre with the President, Miss Joy Nichols, in the chair. Preliminary to the business of the evening, dinner was enjoyed by the forty members present. A brief summary of her particular activities in connection wit hthe club since its inception in February, 1950, was given by each of the following officers and committee chairmen: Miss Joy Nichols, president; Miss Evelyn Coulter, vice president; Miss Norma Arkles, recording secretary; Mrs. Eva Doolittle, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Isobel Wellbridge, treasurer; Miss Edna LaLonde, publicity; Mrs. Violet Burwash, ways and means; Mrs. Isobel Wallbridge, program; Miss Cecelia Sweetman, entertainment and Miss Kay Jones, membership.

During the past year the club has experienced a gratifying development from a small beginning to a present total membership of fifty and it is hoped this membership will be increased to one hundred in the near future. Miss Nichols was presented with a bouquet of spring flowers by Mrs. Isobel Wallbridge on behalf of the club as a small token of appreciation of her untiring efforts since its formation. Miss Marjorie Sherman read a paper entitled "Is This a Change for the Better" with respect to the so-called "hidden" taxes.

Gives Conference Report

The latter part of the evening was given over to a report submitted by Miss Mary Moult concerning the Regional District No. 9 Conference of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held on Saturday in Oshawa. The Belleville B. & P. W. Club's official delegate to this conference was Mrs. Isobel Wallbridge and other members who also attended were Mrs. Violet Burwash, Miss Kay Daly, Miss Minnie Diamond, Miss Gerry Dillon, Mrs. Mildred Norman, Miss Mary Moult, Miss Marion Nickle and Miss Grace Tucker. After welcoming address by Dr. Thelma Blair, president Oshawa B. & P. W. Club, and Mayor Michael Starr of Oshawa, the chairman of the conference, Mrs. Margery Pewtress, Cobourg, Ontario B. & P. W. president of the Canadian Federation of B. & P. W. Clubs, introduced the first speaker of the afternoon, Mrs Margaret Ashdown, Secretary and Canadian representative of the Coleman Lamp Co., Toronto, who gave a brief explation of Bill 136, "An Act to Ensure Fair Remuneration to Female Employees". Sparked by Miss Margaret Hyndman, K. C. Mrs. Ashdowne and other members of the "Equal Pay for Equal Work" committee of the B. & P. W. prepared a brief which was presented to Premier Frost. A bill was drawn up which passed unanimously and will now be on the statute book of the Province of Ontario.

The next item on the conference agenda was a panel discussion or Bill 119 making women jurors liable for jury service. This discussion was led by Mrs. Thelma Thompson, lawyer, of Lindsay and Mrs. Isobel Wallbridge, lawyer, of Belleville. "Projects — International, National, Provincial and Local" was the subject of the next panel discussion led by Mrs Margaret Jones of Cobourg. As an example of activity of an international level, through the cooperation of Business and Professional, Women's Federations everywhere, the Federation in Holland was able to defeat an act intended to prohibit the employment of married women.

Training Planned

A typical national project is the formation of leadership training groups to encourage women to participate in public affairs. Provincial projects are promotion of inter-club activities and the promotion of election of women to public offices. The conference advocated that a fact - finding committee be appointed in each club to investigate and report on the carrying out of the new legislation with regard to equal pay for equal work by female employees in each club's own locality.

In the evening a dinner took place in the Genesha Hotel with Dr. Thelma Blair presiding at the head table. Mrs. Gordon Conant introduced the head table guests who included the provincial executive of the Ontario Federation of B. & P. W. Clubs and the official representatives of the clubs participating.

Greater Activity Urged

Mrs. Margery Pewtress, Ontario vice president, introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. W.F. Bayley, Ontario president, who in the course of her address, urged women to shake off their apathy and take a hand in the affairs of their communities, cities, provinces and country. More than 50 per cent of all voters are women. Women control and spend most of the money and women bear the children. Yet, despite their potential power, women are not making their presence felt. This they can do through membership in a free club which will increase their voice and through which they can take a lively interest in the affairs of town and city councils, public utilities and other institutions.

Behind the iron curtain, men have banished women's organizations because they know them to be free - thinking and clean-doing. Women must give help together, pursue common interests together and close racial, religious and political gaps together. With over 130 clubs across Canada representing over 6,000 members, the Business and Professional Women's Federation has a tremendous task, but all effort stems from the thinking individual who is well informed and not merely "vogue on the outside and vague on the inside".

The responsibility for whole world peace falls right back on the individual in the community where the seeds of government are sown and if every individual is true to the ideals on which this nation was founded, maybe in our time, God will grant us the peace by which the whole world lives.

Frank Follwell Addresses Women's Liberal Assoc.

A capacity crowd gathered at the Kiwanis Centre Friday evening last for the euchre sponsored by the Women's Liberal Association of Sidney township with the president, Mrs. Morris Stickle as convener, and Maurice Callaghan ably directing.

Winners of the prizes were: ladies, Mrs. Burns, consolation, Mrs. F. Denyes; men, F. E. Reynolds, consolation, F. Brooks. Three drew for lone hand prize, Mrs. Meyers, Mrs. Doolittle and Mrs. Burns; the latter winning. Mr. Ben Bleecker as chairman then called upon Frank Follwell, M.P., who addressed the gathering, giving an interesting travel talk. He also introduced Mrs. Follwell, who graciously thanked all for a hearty welcome. Mrs. Herbert McCabe, president of Central Ontario Liberal Association, spoke briefly of her work, and commended the Sidney ladies for a splendid evening.

All enjoyed bountiful refreshments and a social hour.

Mrs. W. P. Youdale Speaks to Club On 'True Happiness'

The president, Mrs. Lent, presided for the April meeting of the Prince Edward-Belleville Club held at Y.M.C.A. and greeted members and several guests.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. L. Wannamaker read the minutes and gave financial report. Thanks for cards received also read.

An interesting program convened by Mrs. Osborne consisted of community songs with Miss C. Anderson at piano; two very fine readings by Mrs. S. Wannamaker and Mrs. A. Parliament, while Mrs. Morley Davidson with Mrs. E. Hobbs as accompanist, delighted all with two fine solos.

Always an interesting speaker, Mrs. Youdale chose as her subject "True Happiness—its source and appreciation."

This talk left her listeners with much food for thought.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Garbutt, Mrs. Green, Mrs. A. Parliament, Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Weese.

Bride-Elect Feted By Friends

On Friday evening a lovely miscellaneous shower was held at 37 Bramsey Street, in honor of Miss Joan Gilhooley, bride-elect of next month.

This delightful surprise was arranged for Joan by Mrs. Pat Tonase and Mrs. Ray Racette. About 30 guests were present. The rooms were tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers and wedding bells; the centre of attraction being the "bride's throne" arranged beneath a lovely pink and white canopy with three balloons filled with confetti fastened in the centre.

During the unwrapping of the many beautiful and useful gifts, the balloons sent a shower of confetti down upon Joan giving the pretty scene a real bridal effect.

When the last gift had been opened and admired, Joan gracefully thanked all present and expressing her surprise and thanks to the two hostesses.

Bingo was then enjoyed by the guests for the remainder of the evening with many useful prizes given.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. James De Genova, Mrs. Ray Racette, Mrs. Pat Tonase, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Ross, bringing a most delightful evening to a close.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A husband who's too interested in the other sex

"What does one do with a husband who seems overly concerned with the other sex?

"My husband wasn't like this before we got married, and in most other respects he is a good and wonderful husband and father. But now he is always either looking at suggestive pictures, telling off-color stories or wanting to go to burlesque shows. He comes from a very good family and I have tried not to let all this bother me and to take it in my stride, but after several years of it I am just plain fed up."

The wife who begins her letter this way is worrying because she's afraid she is no longer attractive to her husband, who, she says, sneaks home from the office and tells her about the girls he sees in his building or on the street, describing them in great detail.

"I realize," she says, "that almost all men look women over. In fact, I often get the eye and whistle myself. But don't you agree that he is overdoing it? Whenever we are in the car and he sees a couple necking in the car ahead of us, he gets as close as possible so he can see what's going on."

Money Needed For Glamor

This young woman is 22 years old, but says that while she still has a good figure, and is "far from an ugly duckling," a wife can't be a glamour girl if she has not the money to keep herself up. "How can I make my husband appreciate the fact that I do my own hair and make some of my own clothes so that we can keep within our income?" she asks. "I've never run up any bills for him, as we're buying our home and putting everything we have into it. So we have to go without a great many things. I wouldn't complain, though, if he didn't make me feel that he is dissatisfied with me. I love him and he says he loves me. But how much of that sort of thing I have to take can one's love stand? I'm getting really worried about my husband."

As this wife realizes, it's quite normal for any man to be interested in "looking the girls over" and he'll do it no matter how much he may be in love with his wife. That sort of thing is just part of the male nature, and no sensible wife pays any attention to it, other than to regard it with tolerant amusement. But I agree that when such things seem to occupy a husband's mind too much of the time, it's not unreasonable of her to feel worn down by it.

Confers With Doctor

If it really worries my correspondent, and she feels she can't ignore it or laugh it off any more, then I suggest that she have a talk with her family doctor and tell him about it. He can probably help her to achieve an attitude that may make her husband see how foolishly he is behaving. At any rate, such a talk would no doubt relieve her mind greatly.

I doubt very much if she is really losing her attractiveness or if her husband has lost interest in her. The truth probably is that he is going through a phase in which his perspective is a little out of focus. Hard as it is to take, if she can manage to be as patient as possible with him a little while longer, it's not unlikely he will suddenly return to normal. If he didn't show these traits when he was younger, and she says he didn't, they will probably subside again eventually.

BEAUTY

Grace of movement.

No woman should walk with her body tilted forward.

"She moves a goddess and she looks a queen," wrote the poet. Sometimes when you are watching shoppers scutting along the busy ways, you may think of that line. You will conclude it is likely, that there aren't any goddesses any more, and the queen-like appearance has been lost in the shuffle. Everybody is in a hurry. Everybody is intent on getting places and saving much about the face are tense.

Not the woman whose step is graceful, whose movements are beautiful and graceful, is a sweet sight, and a rare one, too. Let us offer another quotation on "Strength, natural, but grace is the growth of habit. This charming quality requires practice if it is to become lasting."

When a woman is togged out in her gala day goods, she is likely to pull up her backbone, keep her chest lifted, endeavor to walk in a distinguished manner. That is what she should do all the time, not just when she is on parade. Grace of motion begins in the mind. The thought must be her present. Self-respect should inspire a woman to look her best.

Poise is the first essential to an easy, graceful carriage. If the body is well balanced and properly proportioned the defects may be corrected. In the instance, the weight is out of proportion to the height, it must be reduced to proper ratio. If the torso is wide and heavy and the legs are small, the necessary means to bring them into accord with each other must be pursued. That means special exercise to trim down the upper portion of the body and to develop the legs to normal size. Fat we're sorry to say—and the heavyweights will feel like hurling bricks at us—is fatal to ease and grace of motion. Another reason for counting calories.

To stand properly, hold the body as tall as possible without rising on the toes. This same stance is necessary if one is to be a pretty walker. The trunk is given it fullest length; the inner organs are in position, and the head is balanced. No muscles are under strain. They are all working together harmoniously, which means that the step can be light; the movements free of awkwardness.

No woman should walk with the upper portion of the body tilted forward—a common practice. She must have a firm foothold. There is a simple rule: place your feet on the ground in such a manner that anyone approaching you will not see the slightest bit of the soles of your shoes.

Questions about funeral service details in Protestant church

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I went to a funeral the other day, in an Episcopal church, and I have several questions I wish you would please answer.

(1) My friend who died was quite a young married woman, in the centre of the top of the casket was a beautiful, rather high, arrangement of white and pink flowers, (as bright and joyous as her spirit always was). But under this, completely covering the casket, was something I had never before seen, a very handsome covering of what looked like velvet, crossed with wide strips of purple and red. If I have described this clearly enough to you, will you please tell me what this is, what it is called?

(2) At other Protestant funerals I thought I remembered that the family of the deceased sat in the first pew at the right of the main aisle (I mean the right, facing the altar). The members of the family at this funeral sat in the first pew at the left of the main aisle. Is there any rule about this?

(3) The usher who escorted me up the aisle did not offer his arm. Isn't it customary for an usher to offer his arm at a funeral, as at a wedding when he escorts a guest up the aisle?

(4) I also noticed, when I came from the church, that the shades in the cars directly following the casket were not drawn. What is customary nowadays?

B. H.

(1) This is called a pall, sometimes used in Protestant churches if you say it used; it sometimes is of brocade of the rich colors you noted, sometimes embroidered. It belongs to the church and before the casket is taken from the church the covering is gently and ceremoniously removed from the casket.

(2) Usually, it is true, the immediate family sit in the first pew at the right of the main aisle . . . but this is entirely according to their preference. Sometimes the family prefer to sit directly under the pulpit on the left.

(3) No. As a funeral when the usher escorts a woman up the aisle, he does not offer his arm as she should the woman take his arm. (Not as at weddings.)

(4) The old custom of drawing the shades in the cars following the coffin is not often followed today, but this is a matter of preference.

Her sister's Confirmation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) When my sister receives her confirmation, soon, should we give a gift to the sponsor?

(2) And would it be proper for us to invite the sponsor and her husband to dine with us at a restaurant after the confirmation instead of my mother's having to prepare dinner at home?

G. N.

(1) No. Generally it is the other way around . . . the sponsor gives a confirmation present to the child.

(2) Certainly . . . and sensible to relieve your mother of domestic responsibility on this important occasion.

Women should rise to show deference

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When men rise in honor of a prominent or outstanding gentleman as he enters or is introduced at a meeting or dinner, should the ladies present rise also?

M. V. C.

Yes. The women should rise to show the same deference as the men show by rising. It would be most impolite, socially awkward, unbecoming, for the women not to rise.

Fashion Flashes

DELICATE trimming accents brighten the newest hat. A little sailor of shiny Italian straw is appliqued all over with rhinestone-studded rosebuds and green leaves. Green velvet crown band and dimpy green veiling.

INTEREST increases in fabrics many highlighted with new textured surfaces and various contrast weaves. An otherwise simple shirtwaist dress becomes important because it is fashioned of satin-striped cotton batiste. It closes all the way down with sparkling crystal buttons—with tiny frills on either side of the buttons—and is done in a soft tatty color.

WISE PICKING if you choose a red bag, for it will go beautifully with gray and navy—the two big suit colors this year. Red calf for a handsome understem bag with gold metal leaf-shaped clasps.

IN KEEPING with the season, there are handsome new gloves. Tiny ombred violets decorate the back of a lilac suede handsewn shortie, while a pink glace glove has tiny rosebuds tucked into its turn-back cuff.

DISTINGUISHED for town wear is a long, snug jacketed sundress of black honan silk with a narrow, scattered design of tiny red roses and green leaves. The half-moon pocket and the curved collar and lapels are bound with narrow, red silk piping.

SPOTTED frequently at important evening events at Palm Beach is white fox for small wraps. A typical design is a two-skin stole of the fur with cuffed, pocketed ends. Another version is a tiered cape, the fur mounted on pleated, palest pink chiffon.

Former War Guest is Noted Cover Girl, Model in London

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London (CP) — Blonde Marianne Burwood came back from Canada with what she called "a terrible Canadian accent" and a fondness for bobby-sox, styles. But that didn't stop her from becoming one of Britain's best-known cover girls.

Although other models called her "Canada" and bidded fair to her striking resemblance to Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott, Marianne managed to "live down" the mannerisms she acquired through four years as a war guest in Winnipeg.

"I came back to London in the bleak days of 1944," Miss Burwood said in an interview, "and I must have looked really odd in my bobby-sox and sloppy-joe outfits. Who knows? Maybe my Canadian years even helped me in my modelling."

Now at 20, slender, soft-voiced Marianne is an experienced mannequin and has appeared in fashion films and on television.

It's a-like she hardly dreamed of during school days at Rupert's Land College for Girls, which she attended during the war years while staying with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thornburn, of (Colony Street) Winnipeg.

As a full-fledged, sophisticated model, the five-foot, six-inch Marianne has just one complaint. People still think she can't be more than 16 years old.

"I still feel guilty when lighting a cigaret in public," said Marianne. "Many times I've heard people complaining about that child smoking."

Attached to a well-known model agency (Gaby Young's) she travels throughout Britain showing teen-age clothes in retail showrooms. If anyone is needed to model school uniforms, Marianne is always chosen.

"I guess I just haven't got a sophisticated face," she said with a laugh.

At some shows she models older styles and is sometimes chosen to show the bridal gown. She well makes her look older.

Modelling keeps her busy these days, but ultimately she hopes to pay return visit to Canada and look up her old friends there.

ST. MARK'S W.A.

Allen's Mills — The April meeting of St. Mark's W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. R. Heath with a good attendance. Canon J. M. Brownlie opened the meeting.

Mrs. George Mumby read the Scripture Lesson.

The treasurer, Mrs. Brownlie, gave her report which showed a balance of $85.70 on hand. A letter from the Diocesan Board of Kingston was read by Mrs. Heath thanking the W.A. for the donation for the sanatorium at Obuse, Japan.

Canon Brownlie read and explained a chapter from the Study Book, entitled "The Moslem World," after which Mrs. Barlow gave an interesting program. A reading, "Tomorrow," was given by Mrs. Dave Wellman. Canon Brownlie sang "Bless This House." A paper was read by Mrs. W. J. Barlow, who also put on an apple contest, which caused a good deal of merriment. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The May meeting will be held on May 17th at the home of Mrs. Dave Wellman.

Burr's W.A.

Burr's—Mrs. Leon Caughey was April hostess to the W.A. on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Clifford Hough opened the meeting with a devotional period, assisted by Mrs. S. Clark and Mrs. R. Burr.

The treasurer's report was encouraging, following receipts turned in from the birthday supper and sales arena dinner. Thankyou notes were received from Mrs. B. Hough and Mrs. V. Squire and congratulation greetings from Wellington W.A.

Business brought up included an invitation to a W.A. rally at Consecon church early in May. It was accepted. It was also decided to serve a supper to Prince Edward County Teachers' Federation on the evening of May 9, at Allisonville Hall. A committee was delegated to look after repairing the church windows. It was requested that good used clothing be taken to the May meeting for overseas relief.

Twenty-five dollars was voted the secretary and buying committee.

The program consisted of two readings by Mrs. K. Blakely and Mrs. Ronald Burr.

Mrs. Simon Caughey, Mrs. Earl Caughey and Mrs. Clair McFaul were guests.

The May meeting was invited to the home of Mrs. H. Caldwell.

Mission Band

The Mission Band was held at the school on Wednesday afternoon. A bird talk and a singsong preceded the meeting. Eizie Sobla opened the service with quiet music. Doris Clark read the scripture and Donna Parks read "God's Garden" from the April "World Friends" Magazine. Mrs. Burr read the story of 220 families who are not an existence under Ten Water bridge in Tokyo.

Business included the receipt of $13.5 to the treasury from the Easter sale of cards. Five dollars was contributed towards overseas relief. A basket of gifts was purchased for a hospital in Korea. Members were asked to save stamps from all letters and parcels for the remainder of the year. Miss Tait and pupils dismissed the service with the school benediction.

Toronto's Subway Worms Under City for $104 an Inch

By DON FRACOCK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto — (CP) — It's costing $104 an inch to build the 4½-mile Toronto subway. Trains should be running by Christmas Day, 1953.

Canada's first underground rapid transit system worms its way from in front of Union Station on Front Street northward under, if not the city's main north-south artery, to Eglinton Avenue, near the city limits.

At approximately the half-way mark in the construction job, this is the picture:

A half-mile of completed two-track tunnel;

Two-thirds of a mile of finished tunnel walls;

Almost 2 miles of concrete floor.

Despite delays in delivery of steel, construction is still on schedule.

Costs Climb

The final cost, originally estimated at $30,000,000, climbs with increased labor and material prices. But only war, putting off steel supplies completely, now could delay the subway's completion.

The urgency with which it forges ahead is obvious from the symphony of heavy equipment at work and the bustling activity along the street all day and often late into the night.

Streetcars and other traffic rumble over heavy timbers that provide a temporary street surface above the excavation. Forty feet below, bulldozers and cranes labor with great energy.

Some downtown sections of Yonge Street are blocked off to traffic from time to time while timbers are removed and sand is dumped through the slots on top of the completed tube. The sand will provide a foundation for the new street surface to be laid as the tunnel is finished.

Spectators peer into the subway wherever there's an opening. Ramps slope into the excavation at various points and underneath, the rumbling of traffic passing over the decking is deafening.

Dim rows of light bulbs stretch far up the mammoth, covered trench, and as eyes grow accustomed to the gloom, the shapes of men toiling down at the building new forms for concrete emerge from the shadows. Sewers and water mains and the supports holding hydro and telephone cables along under the timbers overhead, also become visible.

Downtown Hub

Northward, toward the intersection of Yonge and Queen Street, main east-west artery of the city, a latticework of steel reinforcing rods, awaiting more cement, stretches across the floor where concrete ends.

Beyond this, a steep ladder leads up to a catwalk high over the rectangular cavern gouged in the earth. When the Yonge Street subway is completed, another under Queen Street is planned, and here the two-level deep cross-roads station of the lines will be built.

Queen Street trains east and west will pass under the Yonge Street tube, and escalators as well as stairs will connect the lower level with the surface. There will be 13 stations along the Yonge Street line. Feeder buses and streetcars will run from each station.

On top a great, blazing pile-driver lifts steel pilings into the ground at the end of the decking. A pneumatic drill rattles into the pavement ahead, preparing the way for more excavating.

And, as always, standing amid the interminable din of the construction, the sidewalk superintendent looks on. The Toronto Transportation Commission has recognized his status and published sidewalk superintendents' manuals — Grades I and II.

So far only one "superintendent" has met with mishap. A man leaned too far over a guard rail. He plunged four floors to a plate form 30 feet below. He broke no bones.

From an archaeological standpoint, the subway has been a flop. Only one "fossil" has been dug up. It was the shin bone of a cow.

P. E. I. Voters Casting Ballots For New Govt.

Charlottetown, April 26 (CP)— Prince Edward Island voters cast their ballots today to elect a new provincial legislature, only two parties—the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives — have enough candidates in the field to form a government.

The 245 polls around the island will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. AST (8 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST).

The Liberals have been in power for the last 16 years. If they win again today, Premier J. Walter Jones, 72-year-old farmer, will become the first party leader in P.E.I. ever to lead his forces through three successful election campaigns. His party is contesting all of the 30 seats.

RAWDON

Miss A. P. Lewis To Give Address On 'Historical Ontario'

Rawdon—Mrs. Roy Bush, president West Hasting's district Women's Institute, presided over a recent meeting held to that organization when delegates were chosen to attend "The Conservers' Conference of Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario" which is being held in Memorial Hall, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph on May 3rd and 4th.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville, R.R. 3, convener of community activities and public relations and Mrs. Fred Campbell, Foxboro, R.R. 1, convener of historical research and current events of West Hastings, District W.I., are two delegates appointed to attend this conference.

W.I. Work Covered

All phases of W. I. work will be covered and the delegates will carry home much helpful information for the branches.

The secretaries' history books containing records of each local community will be displayed and judged and this topic will be thoroughly discussed.

The new president of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario, is Mrs. R. G. Purcelle, 345 East Mary Street, Port William, and she will preside over several sessions. On the Tuesday evening previous there is a special "get-acquainted-party" in the O.A.C. gymnasium.

Special Speaker

Miss Anne F. Lewis, Director Women's Institute branch and Home Economics service, Toronto is giving an address on "Glimpses of Historical Ontario." The college chaplain, Rev. W. A. Young, will introduce the new Women's Institute song-book.

A symposium "The Museum in Our Centre" is being presented under three sections and will stress the preservation of local historical articles of interest. There is plenty of time for various discussion groups where all in attendance can present their problems.

Mr. Don Fairbairn and Mr. John Fisher of CBC; Col. the Honorable T. L. Kennedy, minister of Agriculture, and several editors of the farm press will be heard during the various sessions. The latter will deal with "Effective Publicity for Women's Institute Functions."

The delegates receive food and overnight accommodation in the college and those who attended last year were loud in their praise of this interesting event.

Each district in the province will be represented and the district agents will have a great deal of useful information to bring home to the various branches.

Study of Rodents May Help Humans in Arctic Living

Fort Churchill, Man. — (CP) — Can the lemming help make living here to thrive better in the Arctic? Miss Margaret Merry is trying to find out.

Lemmings are mouse - size rodents which live in colonies in the Arctic moss and peat. Miss Merry, a zoologist for the Defence Research Board, is trying to find out all she can about them. How they survive in Arctic weather and the effect of snow applications on them.

Miss Merry, who is in her 30s and comes from Victoria, B.C., said she doesn't know whether she will be able to unlock the secret of the remarkable migrations of the lemmings.

They are known to migrate in multitudes to the sea. There they plunge into the water en masse and are drowned. But sometimes the lemmings seem to have reached their destination, think they have turned and apparently taken to arctic roots.

In a cool room, filled with wire cages and tracking meters, Miss Merry is studying the energy - spending habits of the lemmings. Shrunken, furry cages have been set up. A pedometer and other scientific equipment record the distance the animals travel. This distance is then recorded by size, weight and sex of the individual lemmings on test.

Miss Merry collected many of the lemmings herself with traps she set out near this Hudson Bay military camp. Others she obtained from Southampton Island, 600 miles north, on a trip with the R.C.A.F.

Friendly Fellow

The lemming is a more likable fellow than the common field or house mouse, said Miss Merry who studies the latter while at the University of British Columbia. He has a soft white coat in winter, a brownish-grey one for summer wear. He has no ears, practically no tail. His head is short and rounded.

"They are very friendly and easily tamed," insisted Miss Merry despite the fact she sweeps half a dozen bites a week while handling the lemmings. When hungry enough, they'll set on one another although normally they are vegetarian.

In their studies of northern animals, Defence Research Board workers developed some useful scientific facts which the common frog. Said Dr. K. C. Fisher, chief biologist:

"No one thought frogs could survive in this cold. However, there is a point between the air surface and the permafrost where those cold-blooded animals do thrive."

Experiments have proven Dr. Fisher said, that snow keeps a protective insulating blanket over ponds, and sometimes in the city and the region the frogs survive.

Perhaps the most important point in regard to the study of man, Dr. Fisher said, is that he is "definitely a tropical creature and not adapted to cold. This includes the Eskimo.

Assault Case Is Laid Over

The [illegible] a long list of motorists with speeding appearances in the dock at this morning's magistrate's court. Most of the speeding charges had been settled out of court with fines and costs being paid by the offenders.

An assault charge involving two French-speaking Canadians working for a local bridge and building gang at Shannonville, was laid over by Magistrate T. Y. Wills, when it was found that the complainant had been taken by police from the hospital to appear in court. The alleged assault occurred last night at the bachelor quarters of the two men at Shannonville.

"What are things coming to?" enquired Magistrate Wills when he learned the incident occurred only last night. "Here a man is taken from the hospital to appear in court on such short notice." The case was enlarged and the complainant returned to hospital. The Crown explained the case had been called for today when it had been learned the defendant was leaving shortly for a job in another district.

The bench directed that the man be arrested on the charge. Bail was set at $100.

HEIRESS ENGAGED

Singapore, April 26—(Reuters)—Marmora Wills, 23, member of a guilt-millionaire tobacco family, became engaged yesterday to the first officer of the ship on which she is making a round-the-world trip. Her fiance, Chief Officer Mervyn Evans, is a 29-year-old Welshman making $50 a week. The Wills tobacco family is reputed to be worth close to $200,000,000.

Ancient Knitting Machine Proves Sound Investment

Kitchener, Ont., April 26 (CP) — An ancient knitting machine picked up second a hand while Robert H. Pritchard was serving with the RCAF in Calgary, has proved a sound investment.

From the yard-long hunk of metal have stemmed assets valued at $40,000 and a nationally-known line of woollen goods.

It began when Pritchard moved to Galt in a hectic period after the early '40s. There he enlisted in the RCAF and was married.

While in Calgary, the Pritchards discussed the possibility of a postwar venture in textiles. Bob brought an old knitter. His wife wanted to help so she took it to her parents home in Galt to learn the business.

At the end of the War they set up shop in Kitchener in part of a garage rented for $3 a month. Together they turned out 14 sweaters a week on the old machine. The business prospered and was eventually moved to larger quarters.

Forty-six employees now turn out over 1,200 sweaters a week and two new Swiss knitting machines worth $10,000 each have been added to the Pritchard plant.

NOT AFRAID TO DIE

Cincinnati, April 26 (AP)—If it comes to a showdown, people are not afraid to die, Dr. John H. Lazarri of Cleveland told the annual meeting of the Ohio State Medical Association. The question came up when the doctor pondered whether cancer patients should be told, of their condition. No decision was reached.

HALF OF ARMY IN KOREA

Taipeh, Formosa, April 26 — (AP)— The Nationalist China news said today at least half of red China's regular fighting force of 3,000,000 men is in the Manchuria-Korea area.

Formosa's only English-language daily said red China there has built a 900,000 man defence organization to guard mainland coastal areas.

The newspaper also reported a step-up in the red purge of counter-revolutionaries. It said executions are heavy.

Citizens Consider Ousting Quebec Mayor, Councillors In Fight Against High Taxes

Quebec, April 26 (CP)—The matter of a belated $1,500,000 in new or higher municipal taxes has left a group of Quebecers considering the possibility of ousting Mayor Lucien Borne and city councillors from office.

A meeting of several associations last night charged that the city's 1951-52 budget was introduced two years after the April 1 limit set by the city charter. The meeting said the penalty set by the charter is the ouster of the council members.

The meeting, called by the Quebec Taxpayers' Association, agreed to consult lawyers, if the charter is clear and there are no loopholes, briefs will be taken to deprive the elected council members from continuing in office.

Meeting Chairman R. P. Cimon, a real estate dealer, also set up a federation of economic groups for "the surveillance of the city's fiscal affairs."

Henri Cote, an accredited public accountant, presented the meeting with a report of a study he made of the city's financial statements at the request of the Landlords' Association.

He said that his study, covering 1938-50, showed that the city concealed $1,997,555 from its books "in taxes and other accounts receivable which were simply deleted from the city's assets."

He said this was done to the taxpayers' detriment.

Meanwhile, a meeting of labor groups dropped the question of calling a 24-hour strike to protest the new taxes. The Quebec Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.-A.F.L.) called the meeting to discuss its strike proposal. Want Taxes Dropped

Instead, the meeting, attended by delegates from the Quebec Central Council of Catholic Syndicates (C.C.C.S.) and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, passed a resolution asking the city fathers to drop three taxes affecting wage earners most directly.

The city-wide dispute between the taxpayers and city hall was the result of the city administrative committee's adoption of the 1951-52 budget calling for expenditures of $8,720,892.

City Treasurer C. E. Fontaine suggested a set of new or higher taxes to increase revenues and close the gap on an expected $1,500,000 deficit.

The budget was introduced to the council by Fontaine April 18 and adopted in first reading April 20. Second and final reading is scheduled tomorrow.

End War by U.N. Troops Going Home—Gromyko

Paris, April 26 — (CP) — Andrei Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, said Wednesday the way to end the Korean War is for United Nations troops to "go home."

Speaking to United States, French and British deputies, he said "there will not be enough room in Korea for the white crosses over the tombs of the interventionist troops if fighting does not come to an end."

It was the bitterest session of the deputies, in their eighth week of trying to agree on an agenda for a Big Four Foreign Ministers meeting.

British Deputy Ernest Davies said Gromyko had reached "the nadir of insulting banality in a speech not worthy of the dignity of a reply and I propose to treat it with the contempt it deserves."

Committee May Visit Proposed Seaway Site

Washington, April 26 (AP) — A lengthy House of Representatives hearing of a bill to authorize the St. Lawrence Seaway and power project virtually ended Wednesday.

The public works committee, after hearing several more opposition witnesses, adjourned until Monday when five Congressmen are scheduled to voice their objections.

That, a committee spokesman said, will end the public phase of the hearing which opened Feb. 20.

The committee will meet Tuesday behind closed doors to discuss a proposed visit to the seaway site and to Labrador.

One argument advanced by seaway proponents is that it would enable shipment of iron ore from Labrador to the United States.

The committee has heard scores of witnesses testify for and against the project.

President Truman, cabinet heads and military leaders have urged that the project be authorized by Congress.

The case against the seaway and power project has been made chiefly by spokesmen for railroads, east and gulf coast port cities, and coal interests.

A vote is not expected until after the committee returns from the proposed inspection trip.

Three Cabinet Ministers Resign

Pusan, Korea, April 26 (AP)—A South Korean spokesman today said three cabinet ministers resigned as an aftermath of the execution of 187 villagers suspected of aiding the reds.

The three are Home Minister Chough Pyong Okg Defence Minister Sihn Sung Mo and Justice Minister Kim Choon Yun.

The spokesman said the three were responsible for investigating the mass execution near Kochang, 60 miles southwest of Taegu, two months ago.

British Brigade Bears Brunt Of Red Attack

Tokyo, April 26—(CP)—Reuters News Agency today said the British 29th brigade bore the brunt of an attack by three Chinese divisions—24,000 men—in three days of Korean fighting north of Seoul.

The report said the British brigade was cut off for three days in a "flood" of communist troops, but fought its way clear.

It quoted high-ranking United States officers as saying the stubborn resistance was "an object lesson in fighting" and cost the Chinese 48 hours in their offensive time-table.

It said Britons in main-line positions today reported that stacks of Chinese bodies piled up before their positions in the hand-to-hand fighting.

Further identification and location of the units involved was impossible because of censorship.

The 29th brigade is a part of Britain's contribution to United Nations' Korean forces. Other British troops are with the Commonwealth 27th brigade, which also includes Canadian troops.

French Premier, Surviving Four Votes of Confidence, Faces Showdown on Elections

Paris, April 26 — (AP) — Strengthened by four votes of confidence, Premier Henri Queuille today faced a new showdown on the issue of new elections.

On the result will depend whether the election is to be held in June or in the fall, and whether the communists remain the strongest single party in parliament. Queuille wants a new election law that will cut their strength.

The votes of confidence were held late last night, and it was clear then that the six-weeks-old coalition cabinet won.

The detailed results were announced today.

All were on procedural questions—should or should not a series of debates be held before the budget and the election bill are completed. Queuille said no. The assembly decided by these comfortable margins to postpone debate on:

1. Making V-E Day a National holiday—320 to 239.

2. A labor code for the colonies—350 to 196.

3. Establishing a single wage minimum for all France—344 to 195.

4. A new law covering evictions—320 to 243.

The second big debate on the election bill started today. After months of bickering, the National Assembly last month passed a bill replacing the proportional representation system that gave the communists their strength.

It provided for a system of alliances that would favor the non-communist parties. The victory came by a small margin.

This bill was thrown out by the Council of the Republic, an advisory house. The council passed a bill that goes back to the pre-war system of run-off elections in districts where no candidate gets a clear majority.

To override the council's veto the assembly must pass its own bill with at least 311 votes — nearly 50 more than could be found the first time.

UN TROOPS

Canadians) preceded Ross from identifying the Soviet tank.

Wave upon wave, following the pattern of the first attack, hit the split second the enemy bombs and artillery lifted. Tuesday night and kept it up almost without let-up until early Wednesday morning. It was suicidal, but it was evident this tribute from one season of fighting.

"They're good. They were on top of our positions before we knew it.

They're quiet as mice with those rubber shoes of theirs and then there's a whistle. They get up without a shout to lift their guns over positions and come in.

"The first wave throws its grenades, fires its weapons and goes to the ground. It is followed by a second which does the same, and a third, and so on up. They just keep coming."

That was the sergeant who buried his bayonetted rifle like a spear when his ammunition gave out and then hurled it into the bayonet at the foe.

The sergeant's weapon held out by virtue of the slim remaining supply of ammunition until the enemy pressure eased.

Air Drops of Supplies

The young captain's company was supplied yesterday by "flying boxcars" which made air drops of supplies.

(This portion of Ross' dispatch indicated that the company was isolated.)

(Today's Eighth Army communique reported that an allied tank battalion broke through and lined up with surrounded U.N. forces northeast of Kwarange. "No report of satisfactions has as yet been received," the communique said.

(Ross said the U.N. forces whose soldiers he was reporting were northeast of Seoul. And he added: "Look at up-to-date battle map and the thick bury of resistance to the communist onslaught is in the centre.")

(Up-to-date Korean battle news show that the stiffest fighting is being waged at Chail, near Kapyong, just south of the 38th parallel which divides North and South Korea. This is almost in the centre of the Korean battle front.

One Chinese attack was broken trated dive from bombers, artillery, treated dive from bombers, artillery, machine-gunners. The cost to the enemy was heavy. Within inches of where those U.N. troops thwarted that attack— intended for some and final assault— I counted 17 dead Chinese yesterday. There were some 50 graves of enemy troops buried where they fell in the best of battle.

CONSERVATIVES

A few moments later, the chamber voted 147 to 56 against a Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion which claimed the budgetary tax increases would "inevitably increase the cost of living for all and especially for those least able to bear it."

The house now embarks on a detailed study of the resolutions giving legal effect to the tax changes.

Abbott Defends Budget

Mr. Abbott said that every Canadian, in the existing circumstances, should consider whether he is justified in asking for shorter hours. To keep up production, no one should contemplate working less hard than he now is working.

Defending his budget, he said he felt it was "a fair one." He had tried to spread the burden as evenly as possible.

To opposition demands for immediate price controls, he reiterated the government's view that price controls would not be effective at this time. Increased production was the way to bring down the high cost of living.

He denied opposition suggestions that he had deliberately underestimated his budget surpluses. He had tried always to make as accurate estimate as other governments had found that they were out on their estimates.

Mr. Drew, describing the sales tax as "atrocious" suggested that a provincial levy could be used as a barrier to trade between provinces. It could be applied against goods manufactured in this province.

At the same time, he urged Mr. Abbott to repeal the budget increase in the general sales tax to 10 percent for eight per cent and reinstated the exemption for "flexible" controls to bring living costs down.

The budget did nothing to reduce the cost of living or to combat inflation. The government merely had aggravated the problem with an inflationary budget.

"I think," he said, "the situation has reached a point where Parliament, and provincial ought to be used to control inflation."

Hopes For No Delay

Mr. Drew said he hoped there would be no delay in getting through the amendment that would allow the federal government to inaugurate a system under which pensions of $40 a month would be paid to all 70 and over regardless of means.

The conservative position was par; of the struggle throughout the world against communism. The government had aggravated the problem with an inflationary budget.

He charged Mr. Abbott with underestimating his budgetary surpluses and said that if the government was following a program of debt retirement it should outline that program in the budget.

He reiterated a demand for "flexible" controls to bring down living costs. Increased production would help best inflation, but to obtain increased production there should be increased immigration. The government was not seriously tackling the question of immigration.

Donald Smith (L—Queens-Shelburne) endorsed the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and Power development but suggested it be self-liquidating.

He said that those who used the power available from the waters taking should pay for its development, while those who used the seaway locks should pay tolls.

He did not agree with other Maritime members that the project would be detrimental to Maritime interests. It could make a real contribution to the economic development of the Maritimes and bring more business to the ports of Halifax and Saint John, N.B.

Mr. Smith, he suggested, the possibilities of power development in the Maritime should be explored.

DESERONTO

A. E. Sauer Addresses H. and S. Association On 'Civil Defence'

Deseronto — The Deseronto Home and School Association met in the principal's room last Thurs with 33 members present and Mrs. R. K. Jackson in the chair.

The meeting was opened with the reading of "A Perfect Code of Ethics," following which the president extended a welcome to all. Reports were heard from the sewing classes and the Hobby Club. Mrs. Jackson reported that efforts are being made to re-organize the Boy Scouts in Deseronto.

A letter from the pupils of Grade VII and VIII was read asking the Home and School Association to consider their petition to install their teacher, Mr. Mc-Ewen.

The president, Mrs. R. K. Jackson, requested it be recorded that the Home and School as an Association, has never at any time had difficulty with any teacher or principal or lacked their cooperation in carrying on their work.

Guest Speaker

Mr. A. E. Sauer, former Flight-Lieut. of the R.C.A.F., was guest speaker for the evening. "Civil Defence" was his topic, with the defence of England as his illustration.

Mr. Sauer made clear the need for civil defence in case of war and also showed how the people would carry out the plans.

Mrs. H. VanDusen expressed the appreciation of all present for the interesting and enjoyable talk.

Miss Bailey and Mr. McEwen's room tied for the attendance prize so each received $1.

Rev. Townsend closed the meeting.

MADOC

Trinity United W.M.S.

Trinity United Women's Missionary Society held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Muriel Burnside on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Johnston had charge of the worship service. The theme "Recruiting for His Three Services" was used. The Bible lesson which included verses chosen from Mark 10 and Matthew 5, was read by Mrs. Archie Adams. A poem "A Mother Wrote a Poem to Her Son" was read by Mrs. Johnston.

Business was conducted by the president, the roll call being "Quotations on Temperance", was responded to by 21 members. The program leader, Mrs. E. Moore, who along with Mrs. Delbert Carmen and Mrs. Lane, gave brief but fine reports on the presbyterial meeting held at Picton.

Mrs. P. H. Naylor reported the highlights from the Bay of Quinte Branch convention held at Belleville, recently.

Hymn story, based on "O Happy Day", was read by Miss Marion Love.

A pleasant social half hour followed with Mrs. P. H. Naylor, Miss Love and Mrs. A. Adams assisting the hostess in serving refreshments.

Trinity Ladies' Club

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Hulin opened her home to the members of the Ladies' Club. The president, Mrs. A. Adams, opened the meeting.

A short business discussion followed. It was decided to meet at the church along with the W.M.S. members, for the May meeting. The guest speaker will be Miss Ida McKenzie, of Toronto, field secretary of the W.M.S.

The remainder of the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Cassidy and Mrs. Lough with Mrs. Cassidy reading the scripture lesson. Two piano instrumentals were played, Miss Irma Burris playing "Hungarian Dance" and Miss Donna Devolin playing "Schubert's Serenade".

Mrs. Lough introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. James Keller, assistant librarian of Madoc Public Library, who gave a book review choosing "Night Runners of Bengal", written by John Masters.

Miss Joan McCurdy delighted the members by singing "Smile Through", and "Rose This House".

Mrs. Naylor on behalf of the members extended thanks to Mrs. Keller and all who took part in the program. A social half hour followed.

Home Cooking School

An enjoyable afternoon was spent by about 100 ladies of Madoc and vicinity, on Thursday last when Canada Packers put on a home cooking school in the Town Hall. Mackay, with their representative, Mr. George Brick, as director of ceremonies, and Miss Trenholme, as dietitian, Mrs. E. T. Naylor, president of St. John's Anglican W.A., who sponsored the school, spoke briefly giving a welcome to those in attendance and introducing those in charge.

Miss Trenholme prepared several tempting dishes, using Canada Packers products such as Maple Leaf, York, Domestic and Margene. She chose as her subject "Cooking with the Seasons", giving a special dish for each month of the year, for many timely suggestions and ideas. Some ladies were very fortunate in holding lucky tickets, taking home with them dishes prepared at the class. A special door prize, a glazed ovenized ham, went to Mrs. Jim Thomas. Others were, cake, Mrs. E. T. Naylor; bacon rolls, Mrs. Kel Kincaid; salad, Mrs. Percy Broadwell; butterscotch fruit pie, Mrs. Atkinson; upside down cake, Mrs. A. Empey; Margene, Mrs. W. Blakely, Mrs. R. Alexander and Mrs. Sherrow.

Mrs. Jack Baker on behalf of St. John's W.A., extended thanks to Miss Trenholme, all visiting Canada Packers, George Duffin for use of Frigidaire; Cotton Bros., of Trenton, for use of gas stoves. To conclude a pleasant meeting each lady was presented with gifts and a cook book compliments of Canada Packers Ltd.

FRANKFORD

Board Requests School be Built At Batawa

Frankford—A special meeting of ratepayers of Frankford, Sidney and Murray met in the council of the school board, to acquaint citizens with the problems existing in the public school system in public school attendance. In recent years, Harry Coe, chairman of the Public School Board, Frankford, explained, that the school board had carefully investigated the public school situation and recommended to the council that a new public school be erected in Batawa. Mr. Martin, of the school board then spoke, outlining reasons for their decision, and explaining the method of getting this school in reference to other suggested sites.

Mr. Mackhan, Public School Inspector spoke for a few minutes.

Col. Watson of the Department of Education in Toronto, superintendent of Public Schools, stated that he was not present to discuss any specific action which should be taken, but to satisfy such possible step. The meeting was then thrown open for discussion by Col. Watson, and he made the recommendation of the school board now goes before the Frankford Council. If approved by the council, the board will ask for a vote by the ratepayers.

Legion Considers Safety Measures on Canal

Frankford—The bi-monthly meeting of Branch 307, Canadian Legion was held in the Legion Hall on Friday night with a fair attendance, in the absence of President H. J. Madill, second vice-president, Kenneth Lawrence, presided. The meeting was called to order and a minute of silence observed in memory of those members who paid the supreme sacrifice.

Correspondence was read by the secretary and among letters of interest were letters in connection with the installation of the street signal system, recommended by the Frankford branch, to the Department of Transport; were read. Trenton branch joined with Frankford in recording their recommendations. A letter from Lionel Chevrier was read, stating that these suggested safety measures were being considered favorably, and that at least one of them was going into effect immediately.

A report was given on the current series of weekly card parties, and it was decided that these would continue for the present.

An order for supplies was received, as were a few outstanding accounts for payment.

A dispute has been obtained, and will be erected shortly. The building committee is proceeding with plans for completing the main stairway to the second storey of the hall. Work will be done shortly in finishing up the main auditorium as originally planned. Comrade Milford Manley, thanked the Legionaires for their help and co-operation with the MacAuley family in their recent bereavement.

Bowling League

A number of bowlers from the Frankford Bowling League accepted a challenge from Mr. R. D. McDonald, the manager of the Campbellford Bank of Montreal, to meet a bowling team from that municipality in Campbellford Monday evening. It was a hard fought battle all the way, with the Campbellford team taking the series by a grand total of 37 pins.

Miss Annabelle Sharpe spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Sharpe, Frankford, in Foxboro, and attended the film festival in Kingston.

The Rose Sound Club held a dance in the Batawa Recreation Hall Friday evening.

Mission Band

The Sunbeam Mission Band met on Monday afternoon in the Rose-Lowery Hall of the Frankford United Church, with president Sheila Patrick presiding. Mrs. Walter Morrow led in the song service.

The scripture reading was given by Rae Anne Wallace, Mrs. Carlisle told the children a story of Korea.

The program was as follows: Recitation, Irene Plevak; solo, by Bonnie Rowe, accompanied by Mrs. Rowe; reading, by Lillian Williams; solo, by, Sandra Morrow; story by Sheila Patrick; recitation, Shirley Bailey. The children also learned a new song, under the leadership of Mrs. Morrow. There were 30 present.

Mrs. Harry Pearce and Mrs. Frank Babel spent Thursday in Toronto.

Mrs. Bob Dean, of Hamilton, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. Mulligan in Batawa.

Sympathy of the Village of Rednes is extended to Mr. Charles Closs in the loss of his wife, Minka.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Westlake and Glenda, of Frankford, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stos and daughter Cathy, of the 6th of Sidney, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Westlake and son, John, of Carrying Place, spent Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Westlake in Batawa.

Miss Patsy Carlisle and Miss Audrey Vieau of Trenton spent the weekend with Mrs. Albert Carlisle.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reilly on the birth of a son, Saturday.

Mrs. W. Argyle and daughter Susan have returned from England to their home in Batawa after spending the past few months visiting relatives there.

A Cornish Mitch is a pattern in Belleville General Hospital. Friends wish him speedy recovery.

The social evening planned for last Friday night by the Canadian Legion, will be held this Friday evening, April 27 in the Legion Hall. All veterans and ladies are cordially invited to attend. An evening of cards, dancing, refreshments and entertainment has been planned.

Mr. George Montgomery is coming along well with his new building on South Trent Street, which will be the new home of "Montgomery Sales".

United Church W. M. S.

Frankford — The April meeting of the Frankford United Church W. M. S. was held on Thursday afternoon in the Rose-Lowery Hall, with an excellent attendance.

The meeting opened with quiet period, the "Hour in the Heart of [illegible]" conducted by Mrs. Bert [illegible] thought for the day was given by president, Mrs. George Spencer: "Our Lord's Last Command: 'Go Ye into all the world and Preach the Gospel to every creature—Ye Shall be Witnesses unto Me'—unto the uttermost parts of the Earth'. God had a Missionary for.

"Out of the Ivory Palaces, into a world of woes; Only His great redeeming love made my Saviour go."

Every Christian should think in terms of being sent — A missionary is one who is sent — whether he be sent across the ocean or only across the street. Missionary is not a matter of mileage but obedience. Christ fulfilled His mission. Have you fulfilled yours?

Warm Welcome Awaits

The officers and members were urged to set aside the day of W. M. S. meeting and to be in their places to worship and serve God. An invitation and warm welcome await all who would come to meet with the W. M. S. ladies. God needs all. No one can do your work. If you fail, it will remain undone. Luke 14:37 "And whosoever doth not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple."

Mrs. George Griffin acted as secretary for the meeting in the absence of the regular secretary. Mrs. Madill gave the treasurer's report and financial statement.

A report was given on a clothing bale for Japan, and Korea. Four large bales have already been sent, valued at better than $400. All donations are to be left at the home of Mrs. George Spencer, and will be sent later.

A vote of thanks was given for all the workers who had made this possible, and for the donations: To the merchants for cartons, Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Irvine Moore for twine, and Mr. Loucks for free advertising.

Three new members and a number of visitors were welcomed.

Mrs. MacEachern then took charge of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Jim Johns, Mrs. D. Mallory, Mrs. Gerald Dickson, Mrs. Bert Rowe, Mrs. D. Acton, Mrs. E. Johns, Mrs. H. Madill, and Mrs. G. Spencer.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lohnes visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lohnes, in Johnstone, Sunday.

The Frankford Boy Scouts held their weekly meeting in the community Hall, Friday evening. The Eagle Patrol took charge of the opening ceremonies, and flag break. Roll call showed an excellent attendance. Following the collection of dues, and a few items of business, the troop went outside for a couple of outdoor games. They returned to the hall for instruction for the balance of the meeting. Final plans were laid for the paper drive the next morning.

Paper Drive

The Boy Scouts paper drive proved most successful. In fact it was so successful that they were unable to handle all the paper which was left out, as the truck was fully loaded. They expect to be holding another drive shortly, which will include Stockdale as well as Frankford, when the balance can be picked up. The Scouts wish to thank the citizens of Frankford sincerely for their support, in particular "thank-you" also to a citizen of Batawa who gave them a good supply of paper, having missed the last drive which the Batawa Scouts put on. The boys are planning on purchasing some tents for the troop with the proceeds for their annual camping trips.

There will be a meeting of the Sidney Softball League Executive in the office of Gena Holmes on Thursday night, April 26, at 8:00 p. m. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

The United Church Sunday School will hold their regular quarterly business and social meeting in the Rose - Lowery Hall, on Monday evening, April 30th. Any person interested in the Sunday School is invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The Canadian Legion Social evening, planned for Friday night was postponed in respect for the late Comrade Lee MacAuley.

Mr. Earl Rose extends his sincere sympathy to Mr. Rose Turley and the Montreal Canadiens.

ONTARIO RENTALS ADMINISTRATION

By virtue of The Leasehold Regulations Act, 1951, the Rent Control Regulations now in force will not terminate on April 30th, 1951, but will continue with the same effect as at present until further order. Following the decision of the Federal Government to terminate rent control, many landlords of controlled premises gave notice to tenants to quit on April 30th, 1951. All notices to tenants occupying controlled premises given solely on the ground that controls would end on that date, are invalid and of no effect. Only notices given in accordance with the existing regulations are valid in respect of such premises.

The recent order of the Ontario Government (set out below) freezes rents for all housing accommodation and shared accommodation at the levels in effect on April 17th, 1951, except that a landlord may put into effect a maximum rental fixed on or before that date. The order does not affect the existing situation in respect of tenure.

REGULATIONS MADE UNDER THE LEASEHOLD REGULATIONS ACT, 1951

Order No. 813 of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, as amended by Order No. 818 of the said Board, is further amended by adding thereto the following section:

14.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in or done pursuant to this or any other of the Wartime Leasehold Regulations, no person on behalf of himself or another person shall let or offer to let any lodging or self contained dwelling at a rental that is higher than the rental in effect on the 17th day of April, 1951, for such lodging or self contained dwelling, and no person shall charge, demand, receive, collect or pay any such higher rental.

(2) Nothing in subsection 1 shall prevent any person from charging, demanding, receiving, collecting or paying the maximum rental fixed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board on or before the 17th day of April, 1951, for such lodging or self contained dwelling.

THE HONOURABLE LOUIS P. CECILE, K.C.
Minister in charge of Ontario Rentals Administration.

Missing Chief Of AP Bureau Held by Czechs

Frankfurt, Germany, April 26. (AP)—The Czechoslovak communist government announced in Prague today that it has arrested William N. Oatis, missing chief of The Associated Press Prague Bureau, for "activities hostile to the state."

Oatis vanished in Prague Monday. The United States Embassy there yesterday asked the Czech government for an urgent inquiry into his whereabouts.

The U.S. Embassy counsellor, Tyler Thompson, said he was informed today by the Czech foreign ministry that Oatis had been arrested on three charges:

"1. Activities hostile to the state.

"2. Gathering and disseminating information considered secret by Czechoslovakia.

"3. Spreading malicious information regarding the Czech state through illegal news organ, for which purpose he misused Czech citizens."

The Czech reply was telephoned to Thompson by Bedrich Rimge, assistant chief of the foreign ministry's press section.

Oatis, 37, came here to represent the AP last June. He was last seen Monday evening when he left his office. The U.S. Embassy said he had expressed fears the day before that he was being shadowed.

Oatis was disaccredited by Czech authorities last September, and was to have been replaced by another correspondent, but was allowed to stay on a week-to-week basis. Last Jan. 1 he was issued credentials valid to the end of June.

Last week one of his Czech employees disappeared, and two others are believed to have been arrested.

DIES OF INJURIES

Joliet, Ill., April 26 (AP)—A woman who suffered the loss of both arms and a leg last March when she was struck under a passenger train died yesterday. Mrs. John Hannah's left arm was severed at the shoulder, her right arm below the elbow, her left leg was cut off at the knee, and her right leg was broken.

Railways Apply For Increases In Car Fares

Ottawa, April 26 (CP) —The railways today applied for increases in sleeping-car and parlor-car fares to go along with freight rate increases they asked earlier this week.

They applied to the Board of Transport commissioners for higher minimum rates on standard and sleeping and parlor cars and for an across-the-board increase of 33 1-3 percent on the cheaper tourist sleeper rates. Standard car rates above the minimums would not be touched.

The proposed increases would yield the railways around $1,000,000 a year.

The higher passenger rates are sought in conjunction with a new freight-rate increase of 14 percent, which would yield about $64,000,000 a year. The board has set June 11 for hearings in the freight case.

The sleeping and parlor-car boosts would apply on short runs. In applying for them, the railways said there have been substantial cost increases.

LIVE LOBSTERS

First attempt to ship live lobsters was made from Nova Scotia to the Boston market in 1872.

Waters of River Recede Removing Fear of Floods

Walkerton, Ont., April 26 (CP)—Waters of the Saugeen River receded today removing fear of possible heavy floods.

Since raging waters surged over the Saugeen watershed Wednesday, railroad tracks and three bridges were washed out and a house undermined. The sudden flood followed an hour-long cloudburst.

Three families were forced to evacuate their homes and at least 25 houses were surrounded when the Saugeen and its tributary, Silver Creek, overflowed their banks.

No estimate of property damage was available.

A torrential rain which began at 6 p.m. and lasted for more than an hour was responsible for the flood. Silver Creek, already running bank-high, overflowed rapidly, inundating a large residential area.

The larger Saugeen River, also swollen by the normal spring run-off, swept over a portion of Walkerton's industrial district, flooding several plant basements before it receded.

A number of streets were under 18 or more inches of water for a short time as storm sewers proved inadequate to cope with the heavy downpour.

Silver Creek caused most of the damage. Two sections of railroad track were washed out and officials barricaded streets along the creek.

A cement bridge crashed into the Saugeen River and shortly afterwards a second bridge one block north tumbled into the river. A third bridge collapsed at 10 p.m. and other foot and road bridges in the area were threatened.

The Saugeen watershed which is made up of five rivers, was hit dead centre by the storm. It also hit Durham, Listowell, Neudstat, Cargill, Ayton and Paisley, but no damage was reported from these towns.

COSTLY WEEDS

Weeds are estimated to cost farmers in Canada perhaps $150,000,000 annually.

Kincardine Man Has Fallen Heir To $60,000

Kincardine, Ont., April 26 (CP) —Disabled in an auto accident in 1940, Robert Nesly, Jr., Kincardine painter, has fallen heir to $60,000 from an uncle in Ireland he never knew.

He welcomed the windfall because a leg injury keeps him from working full time.

The inheritance actually came to his father, Robert Nesly, 66-year-old retired railroader and furniture maker. But the latter died last week.

A Dublin court ruled Robert Nesly, Sr., the heir of an uncle he never knew. Its ruling set aside claims of a host of cousins in Ireland, England and Australia.

The uncle died in County Donegal, Ireland, leaving the estate—and no will. The elder Nesly was judged sole next-of-kin.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

A GUY CAN DREAM!

The wishful thinkers of the Ontario Hockey Association Major League came up with quite a program for next season at a meeting held last weekend. The boys sat back in the chairs and dreamed of a league which would consist of one Toronto team, Kitchener, Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Kingston Nylons and Syracuse, N. Y. And by way of dressing it up they nobly asked they gave out with the news that Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Peterborough and St. Catharines are interested.

The Peterborough scribe gives forth with the information, "It is no secret that Kingston Nylons — since obtaining their fine new arena a month or so ago, able to accommodate something more than 4,000 fans — plan to step up to senior "A" either in the Quebec circuit or the Major League. Of course they'll have to bolster plenty to hold their own in that company.

By such is the case, and we still are of the opinion it is a wishful thinker on the part of the Major League moguls in an effort to send into oblivion the dismal showing made by the new loop last season. It will mean not only "bolstering" of the Nylons and Peterborough but practically "gutting" of the Toronto material. The type that should compare in some semblance to what will be heavily-stuffed teams from the western and northern parts of the province.

Peterborough and Markham learned stern lessons about power-packed teams last season in the senior "B" playdowns. Markham eliminated the Nylons and the Brantford Burials, an alleged powerful combination to make hockey history, only to be the unmitigated Millionaires. Owen Sound Mercurys had little or no trouble dispensing with the group — winning Peterborough Petes in the "Allan Cup" playdowns.

There has been no confirmation from Peterborough or Kingston with regard to participation in this proposed major league setup. Just how the Petes would fare, if any, would need the heavy transportation and import costs with their Civic Arena's capacity at some 3200 (or 1400 if they 'pot 'em on the roof), is beyond our guesses. Unless of course that well-stuffed major need Memorial Centre springs into being before next season rolls along.

The same practicality applies to Kingston. The new Memorial Centre down there seats some 3200 with full capacity about 4,100. You don't get imports, at least the kind the Petes and Kingston would need in such a loop, for peanuts. And they would need plenty of support from the city as well as the western and northern fringes to maintain customer interest. There would have to be balance of power, or there would be a repetition of the ludicrous situation that was apparent in nearly all classifications of the Ontario Hockey Association last season.

Add that brings up the point, if Peterborough and Kingston did by some weird stretch of the imagination's wand, enter such a loop, where would Belleville be? True, some will have it that Bill city would be included in a group with Kingston and Peterborough teams composed of players just good enough for the Intermediate "A" ranks. And after all, that might be the answer. Teams in the senior "B" group hereabouts last winter did not fare so badly financially with the exception of Kingston in the early stages. A balanced group of fairly powerful teams in that district would answer the hockey fans' question. Rinks would be filled. And in any event it's time this part of Ontario's neck of the woods ceased being a "stooge for the wrestling" western Ontario organizations in both hockey and baseball.

SMITH'S FALLS IN COOL.

The last sheep (not the last, Mr. Compositor) has come into the Central Ontario Baseball League fold. Smith's Falls, last year's champions, after stating they were not interested, have had a change of heart, and have been admitted into the loop, making it a seven-team set-up.

According to league Vice President Jack Devine, the Fallers have settled whatever difficulties they had with other members of the league, and now sit in hunky-dory. Owing to the fact that opening dates had been arranged, and the possibility that some teams might vyie the entry, all squads were contacted and the consensus was "let 'em in". Hence, the opening day (May 24th) games stand as formerly arranged, with the Fallers idle unless they arrange for an exhibition game.

Owen Sound Mercs Have Hands Full With Fort Frances

Owen Sound, Ont., April 26 (CP) — Owen Sound Mercurys, who haven't lost a game at home this year, tonight take on Fort Frances Canadians in the first game of the best-of-seven series for the Allen Cup.

All games in the Canadian Senior hockey championship series will be played at Owen Sound. But Canadians, who arrived yesterday, won't be lacking in supporters. Some fans accompanied the north-western Ontario team and the city's 10,000 residents also came from Fort Frances in 1937 when an industrial plant moved there.

The Western Canada titleholders received a formal civic reception from city council, members of the arena commission and the Owen Sound Board of Trade.

Coach Bud Jarvis had little comment on the chances of his charges. He said they were a trifle weary after the long train ride but should be in fine shape after ironing out kinks today.

For their part, the Mercurys have shaken off the effects of the long jaunt to Jonquiere, Que., where they won the Eastern Canada title by defeating Dolbeau Castors 3-1 in a best-of-five series.

Both clubs are injury-free and both boast impressive records. Mercurys eliminated Stouffville and Peterborough in four straight games in their own group, won the Ontario Hockey Association title by beating Sarnia 4-2, then eliminated Sault Greyhounds 3-2 before meeting Castors.

Fort Frances Bluebirds, Kitchener and Nanaimo handily in gathering the western crown.

PLAY TIE GAME

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 26 (CP)—Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds and Nanaimo Clippers played to a 2-2 tie Wednesday night before 1,971 fans.

The game was the opening contest of a best-of-three exhibition series.

Ronnie Lay was the big gun for the Nanaimo in the fast-skating joust, hitting for both the Sault tallies. Gordie Miller and Eddie Shamlock were the Nanaimo marksmen.

St. Louis Cardinals Top National League While N. Y. Giants Repose Deep in Cellar

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

What's wrong with this picture? Tom Poholsky pitches St. Louis Cards their first game—New York Giants sink into cellar with seventh straight loss.

This is the year the weary old Cards were supposed to fade away. And—pennant talk flooded the Giants' training camp.

But nothing is sure in baseball, as Giant fans sadly are discovering. Nothing Durocher does works. The Bitters don't hit; the fielders don't field. Even his ace, Larry Jansen, has lost his last two starts.

And St. Louis reflects enthusiasm for the stout, complete-game pitching of Poholsky, Max Lanier and Brecheen, who have allowed the enemy a total of two runs in the last 27 innings.

Poholsky, a husky, 31-year-old righthander, and most valuable player of the International League last year when he won 18 for Rochester, did a job last night in his 4-0 shutout over Pittsburgh. Both Pirate hits were singles. He walked only two and blew down the last 19 men in succession for his first big-league victory.

Solly Hemus, Marion's short-stop replacement, drove home the first run and scored the second. Enos Slaughter nicked Cliff Chambers for his first homer in the sixth.

Ken Heintzelman snuffed out the Giants in the pinches to pitch Philadelphia past New York 3-1. Seven eight hits and walked six but left 12 stranded. Twice the Giants loaded the bases with only one out. And while Larry Jansen gave up only five hits, the Phils took full advantage of them.

Homer Cost Game

The old home-run ball, a Brooklyn Dodger hoodoo for years, rose up again to cost them a game. Sam Jethroe hit one into the seats with one on and two out in the ninth for a 6-5 edge over reliefer Clyde King.

Vern Bickford got the game for a pinch-hitter in the ninth, apparently a 6-6 loser. The Brooks went ahead in the eighth when Jackie Robinson, apparently trapped in a run-down, was permitted to score on catcher Walker Cooper's interference. So Bickford, a four-time winner over the Dodgers in 1950, was credited with the victory on Jethroe's homer and Chet Nichols' relief work.

Ted Kluszewski, deep in an early spring slump, snapped out of it with a two-run homer in the eighth for Cincinnati's 4-3 edge over Chicago Cubs. Ewell Blackwell, working on relief, picked up win No. 1 at Paul Minner's expense.

Spec Shea, New York Yankee star of 1947, was the big news in the American League with a four-hit, 4-0 shutout of Philadelphia. The big righthander walked five but left 10 A's stranded. Billy Johnson had a hand in all four Yank runs with a double, single and walk.

Chicago White Sox split two with St. Louis, winning 8-6 but losing 7-4 in a second game played under lights from the second inning on. The Browns had lost 13 straight, including nine spring exhibitions, to the Sox before they won the second.

Chief Sunl War Cloud, the sensational Wasak tribe Indian wrestler, will meet Jack Wentworth, hardy Hamilton grappler, in the opening wrestling bout of the season here. The colorful War Cloud's specialty hold is the Indian deathlock. He has starred on televised bouts and has drawn top attendances in the biggest arenas in the country.

Montreal Royals Open Season With Victory

(By The Associated Press)

Only Montreal Royals of the International League's "northern" teams got in their home opener yesterday. But it was a howling success.

A good-sized crowd of 12,468 braved a drizzle to watch the Royals conk Baltimore 8-4. The victory left Montreal in second place, half a game behind the leading Syracuse Chiefs.

Rain washed out the Springfield-at-Ottawa, Rochester-at-Toronto and Syracuse-at-Buffalo games.

Baltimore took an early lead on a two-run homer by Stan Hollmig in the first and were ahead 4-1 at the top of the sixth. Montreal routed Joe Payne with five runs in the sixth and battered Niles Jordan for three more in the seventh before Ken Trinkle took over.

George Byam hit a homer and triple for the winners and Bill Gilliam also had three hits.

Clarence Podbielan, lifted for a pinch-hitter in the sixth, was the winner, Payne the loser.

Quebec Cits Want Referees From the N. H. L.

Barrie, Ont., April 26—(CP)—Barrie Flyers were on their way today to a Memorial Cup encounter in Quebec City, while their coach filled the air with complaints of roughness.

Happy Rumm yesterday accused the Quebec Citadelles leader of inciting its team to try deliberately to injure Barrie players. The charge followed the wild fifth game of the best-of-seven series for the eastern Canada hockey title which Barrie won 10-1 Tuesday night.

All Barrie players emerged unscathed except for bruises. But Rumm said flatly that he didn't believe junior players would "stoop" to such tactics without instruction.

"I have never seen anything more deliberate in my life," he said. "It was a terrible exhibition."

Secretary George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, who was present at the game, said the C. A. H. A. definitely does not approve of the kind of hockey played Tuesday night, when 41 penalties were called, 22 against Quebec.

Dudley said he felt both teams were to blame but Quebec "ran wild" in the third period. He said that considering the type of game he believed that referees Pat Patterson and Percy Allen handled it creditably. He added both teams would be warned before tonight's contest.

Rumm charge further enlivened an already hectic series, which Barrie now leads 3-2. Bitterness followed an argument over the acts of the seventh game. If Barrie wins tonight, it won't even be played.

In Quebec, the Citadelles meanwhile sought National Hockey League referees to officiate tonight's game.

A spokesman for the club said request was made to Wilfrid Dumoucau of Montreal, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, to make arrangements for "neutral referees, preferably from the National Hockey League."

MAX BENTLEY SIGNS

Toronto, April 26 (CP)—Max Bentley signed his contract with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hokey League for next season, it was announced Wednesday. Previously, the ace pivot centre ice man had talked of retirement.

Joe Klukay, on the same forward line with Bentley, also signed, bringing Leafs' total signatures for next season to five. Previously goalie Turk Brode and defencemen Fern Flaman and Bill Juzda signed contracts.

Soccer Assoc. Picks Strong Team for Trial

(By The Canadian Press)

The Ontario Soccer Association last night picked a strong team to play on a Toronto and District all-star squad in a trial match May 5. From the game will be selected the outfit to represent Ontario against England's Fulham here May 9.

Four Hamilton players and one from Niagara Falls were included on the roster. Hamilton men are L. Johnston, T. Burgoyne, Joe Talbot and A. Murdoch. The Niagara choice was D. McMurtrie.

London promoter Jack Solomons announced Wednesday the projected heavyweight fight between Jack Gardner, British and European champion, and Argentina's Cesar Brion is definitely off.

The bout was scheduled for May 23 at Harringay arena here. Gardner injured his left thumb in winning the European crown from Austrian Joe Weiden a few weeks ago and it has not yet healed.

American tennis starr Wednesday gained second place in the men's semi-finals and all four berths in the women's semi-finals of the Paris International tennis tournament.

Dick Savitt, sixth-ranking American from Orange, N.J. reached the round of four with an easy conquest of French Davis cupper, Marcel Bernard, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4. Savitt, the Australian champion, will face Budge Patty of Los Angeles in the Wimbledon titlist in one semi-final match today. The other semi-final will send Kayes, Jaroslav Drobny against Bernard Destremau of France. Drobny was carried to the five-set limit 3-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-2, 6-1.

Braves Forward To Take Contest Against Sydney

Montreal, April 26 —(CP)— Sydney Millionaires and Valleyfield Braves go at it again tonight in the fifth game of the Eastern Canada Senior hockey championship for the Alexander Cup. The best-of-seven series now is tied 2-2.

The Braves are favored to take the contest but coach Hector (Toe) Blake isn't so sure.

He has predicted that the series will go the full seven games and "we will have to bear down more if we want to win this series."

The Braves, champions of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, bopped into a 7-0 lead Tuesday night, but just managed to hang on and chalk up a 9-6 decision.

Said Blake: "Our guys were over-confident after they got the seven goals and they nearly threw the game in the last two periods."

Jack Fritz, bench boss of the Millionaires, said the team came out of he fourth game without injury.

Handed the routine question: "Can you take them?" Fritz answered:

"That's what we are up here for."

When asked how come the Braves rammed home seven goals in the first period without a reply, Fritz answered:

"A combination of circumstances. Slags fright, penalties to Eddie Merchant and George Robinson, the strange rink, strange crowd. That's all.

"It was one of those things. They got us on the run and we didn't regain our balance until the period ended."

So it looks as though Toe Blake may be right at that.

Regina Stages Uphill Battle To Beat Monarchs

Winnipeg, April 26—(CP)—Regina Pats staged a brilliant uphill battle, have forced an eighth game in what was originally scheduled as a best-of-seven western junior hockey final against Winnipeg Monarchs.

Before 8,000 mostly-pro-Winnipeg fans, the Pats came from behind a 3-0 deficit last night to edge Monarchs 4-3 in overtime to even the series at three games apiece, with one game tied. It was the defending western champions' second straight victory. A tie or win in either games would have given Winnipeg the title.

The final game will be played Saturday night, with another sell-out crowd of 5,000 practically guaranteed.

If Pats win Saturday, it will mark the greatest comeback in western junior finals since 1948, when Port Arthur Bruins, down 3-1 in games, came back to take the next three from Lethbridge Native Sons. Bruins went on to win the dominion crown.

Captain Eddie Litzenburger stellar Pat right winger, scored the pay-off goal at 1:47 in the extra session—his second goal of the night. Tony Schneider and Brian McDonald netted the others. Gerry James, Bruce Ball and Dave Trainor tallied for Monarchs.

Monarchs led 1-0 at the end of the first period and 3-1 at the end of the second. Pats pumped home two unanswered markers in the third frame to send the game into overtime.

Litzenberger's winning goal came just after he had stepped onto the ice from a third period penalty which carried over to 1:40 in the extra period. Billy Papp was skating alone down the left boards, when he saw Litzenberger roar out of the penalty box. Papp relayed a rink-wide pass over and Eddie took in stride, then cut in on, goalie Don Collins, drew him out and fired the puck home.

One Goal Set

James opened the scoring at 4:46 in the first period when he slapped Ross Parke's pass-out past Bob Tyler. Monarchs got two more goals early in the second period—one of them a soft one. Laurie Mitchell and Bill Burega set up Bell at 2:34. Then Trainor lost control of the puck as he was going in on Tyler, but the rubber slid under the goalie and into the net.

The Pats got their first goal at the 12-minute mark, Schneider slapping in a double relay from Stan Smith and Gary Edmundson.

Winnipeg carried their 3-1 lead up past the three-quarters mark in the third period, when Litzenberger intercepted a poor clearance by the Winnipeg defence. He sent a sizzling drive past Collins at 16:31.

At 19:02, McDonald raced in to take Papp's pass and slam the puck past Collins for the equalizer.

Over the 70 minutes, Regina outshot Winnipeg 31-28. Pats drew eight of the 13 penalties.

The Canadian Family owes much to . . . . Wales

A Tribute from Calvert to Canadians of Welsh descent

CANADA has been a land of opportunity to settlers for many generations. Much of our strength stems from the blending of racial and cultural heritages from many lands.

It is a grand feat of nation building when so many cultures march cordially together, cooperating and making allowances, merging ideas and preserving ideals, linked by a common citizenship in the great Canadian Family.

One of the first Welshmen to come to Canada was Thomas Button who set sail in Henry Hudson's Discovery in 1610 to find the North West Passage. Another famous Welshman was David Thompson whose surveys are the basis of our maps of Western Canada.

The Welsh are a quiet, serious, devout and music loving people. Their industry in the fields of chemical and mining engineering, language and science teaching, manufacturing, editing and law has contributed much to Canada's progress.

Calvert, head of the famous Calvert family, founded one of Canada's first colonies in Newfoundland in 1622. The Calvert ideals of freedom and tolerance helped set the pattern of the democracy we now enjoy.

A bridge defender need not feel sorry for himself. He can show every type of hand that is opened in bridge, above. He simply uses different words, that's all.

A player may open the bidding with one in a suit. If he does, he shows a better-than-average hand; five tricks, among which are four honors cards, two of which are sure tricks.

When a player opens with one in a suit it is too late for the defender to open. Any call he makes is not an opening bid. It is a defending bid. And what if he has the good fortune to hold one?

He is unable to show it by a simple overcall. However, a simple overcall denies having four highs and two sures. So, he must employ some device for showing his hand is as good as an opener.

For this purpose he employs a conventional overcall.

He uses the bidding word of "double." A double in this spot is simply a signal for showing a hand which, if he could have opened the bidding.

This gives you a very definite understanding of the difference between a simple overcall and a double. Double tells you he could open the opening bid. Simple overcall: says I could not have opened.

Double says: "Partner, I have five tricks or more, or four highs and two sures." Simple overcall says: "Partner, I have tricks enough but my hand is either short highs or two sures or both."

South opened with a bid of one diamond when west held this hand:

♠ A K 6
♥ A Q 8 7
♦ 4 3 2
♣ J 7 6 4 3

It west bid one heart it would be a simple overcall; a bid that denies the high card and sure tricks promised by an opening bid of one. This would not be what west wants to show.

So, west says double. This tells his partner: "My hand is good enough to make an opening bid of one in something. So, consider me as partner in the game." Tell partner what you know.

Movie Column

Hollywood, April 26 (AP) — Take it from Buddy Baer, it's no fun being a comedian.

The former boxing behemoth is a personable guy who, while with 272 pounds of beef. While joint-sized men may look at him with envy, Buddy sighs.

"There's only one time when being thin big has an advantage: when you're watching a parade," he once told a friend, he added.

At all other times, he added, it's a terrible bother and an expense. "Why, the only things I can buy in a clothing store are handkerchiefs and ties," he explained.

All his other clothes must be specially made. His shirt collar is 18½, the sleeve 40 inches. His shoes are miniature gunboats—15 double e's. As for his suit size, he doesn't know; the numbers don't run that high.

Club Clowns, Too

Another hazard occurs in night clubs and other public places. Ordinary citizens, with the over-confidence that comes with an overdose of alcohol, often try to picky fights with him.

"They are always coming up to me and saying belligerently, 'aw, ya bum, you never could fight,' he said.

"I agree with them. I talk with them for 15 minutes and they usually go away happy."

Buddy, who has a pleasant baritone, has been touring night clubs. He reported he had been pretty lucky with the tough hecklers who bedevil cabaret performers. "I start out by telling them politely that you can't shoot me because bears aren't in season," he said.

Bad It Pays

Buddy's size has paid off in Hollywood, despite his wailings. He has landed a number of films and is now starring in a good role in "Flame of Araby."

"I'd like to do more pictures," the former boxer remarked. "I think I can handle the roles that Laird Cregar used to do."

Sarnia Sailors Defeat Weston Dukes by 5-2

Toronto, April 26 (CP) — Sarnia Sailing took a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven series for the O.H.A. Junior B championship Wednesday night defeating Weston Dukes 5-2 before 1,400 fans.

The victory was earned mainly on a fine goal-keeping performance by Tommy Hodgins who stopped 35 shots to 16 by Don Head of Weston.

Sarnia scorers were Rod McIlroy, Leo Houlihan, Dick Kirkland, Doug Philpott and Bill Slack. Both Weston goals were by Ron Ingram.

Ingram's second goal in the second period tied the score. McIlroy broke up a Weston rally four minutes later with the prettiest scoring play of the night. He rushed in to split the defence and pop a fast one past Head.

Weston wilted noticeably after that and Sarnia scored twice in third period with a 9-5 advantage in shots on goals. The final counter, by Slack, was a screened shot from the blueline.

Lou Boudreau Sits on Bench For Yankee Series

Boston, April 26 — (AP) When owner Tom Yawkey and Joe Cronin bid high to obtain Lou Boudreau as their Boston Red Sox much-needed "drawing card", they realized that 33-year-old veteran of 13 previous American League campaigns would be forced to miss many a game.

But they had high hopes that frequent rests would keep him physically fit for crucial series, especially those with the championship New York Yankees.

But here, for the first time this season, come the Yanks into Fenway Park today and the sparkived Boudreau will be ailing on the sidelines.

Lou suffered a bruised thigh during some aggressive action in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader with Philadelphia Athletics. Now that ailment has been aggravated by a heavy cold.

Until today and who had been pacing the slow - starting Sockers with a .333 batting average, can resume play, Manager Steve O'Neill must continue with little Johnny Pesky as his shortstop. That aggressive infielder has not played that position since 1947 and, naturally, he appears a bit rusty afield.

Not Good Infield

Even with Boudreau available, the Sockers were a little shaky in the infield. Their first baseman, Walt Dropo, has yet to hit a home run in New York.

And even with Lou in action, many keen baseball students have branded O'Neill's infield as "sieve-like." They report that grounders that ugly youngsters could change into double plays have kept going for hits, well beyond the fingertips of slowed - down Boudreau, Bobby Doerr, also 33, and tri-de-sack Eddie Joost.

"Put Pesky back on third base and move Stephens out to right field" they urge. That shift might work if Boudreau could be depended upon to play every day. But that appears to come under the heading of wishful thinking

Spec Shea Wins First Victory Since Early '49

New York, April 26 (AP)—Spec Shea beamed a wide Irish grin after his first big-league victory since April 30, 1949.

Rookie star of the 1947 New York Yankees and a sore-armed flop since, Shea edged back into the spotlight yesterday with a four-hit 4-0 victory over Philadelphia.

"I felt—nothing—funny," he said, patting his right shoulder, "Best I felt since 1947."

"Maybe you don't know how it is to make it big your first year and then—flop. It's a lousy feeling."

Shea picked up a spare tire during a winter of banqueting after his 1947 success. He injured his shoulder the next year and dropped back to the minors in 1949.

Shea ripped a neck muscle, falling away from a pitch in 1948. His arm ached when he combed his hair.

"I had to shot-put the ball up there," he said.

Shea came from a rookie 14-5 year in 1947 to 9-10 in 1948. The only game he won in '49 was no relief against Boston.

The Yanks shipped him to Kansas City before opening day last year. This spring he convinced Manager Casey Stengel he could make it.

Spec's first outing wasn't a success. Washington knocked him out in the sixth inning last Friday.

"What do you expect?" said Stengel. "The guy hasn't pitched in two years."

Well, he has now. He pitched yesterday, coming up with a job that stiffens the Yanks' shaky pitching staff.

Romance and Thrills Blend In "The Courtneys" and "Interrupted Journey"

Anna Neagle and Michael Wilding, co-stars of the record-breaking "Piccadilly Incident," which we voted the National Film Award winner, are reunited in Herbert Wilcox's latest production, a heart-warming story of a lovable family through the years from 1905. "The Courtneys of Curzon St.eet."

Anna Neagle's position as the first lady of the British screen is, of course, an established fact in the outfit. Michael Wilding as her leading man in the first-mentioned film was found to be a particularly happy choice and one of which audiences approved to the extending of attending the picture in unheard numbers. That the two are now together in a second production should be a source of great delight to film-goers.

They are supported by a large cast of experienced and well-known players including Gladys Young, Coral Browne, Daphne Slater and Jack Watling.

Full of interest, romance, curtain, gay and at times touched with a hint of pathos, the film is to give both Miss Neagle and Wilding the greatest roles of their respective careers.

"Interrupted Journey," Exciting An original and exciting attraction is "The Interrupted Journey" the 2nd worthy feature attraction on the same program, starring Valerie Hobson, Richard Todd, Christine Norden and Tom Walls.

"The Interrupted Journey" offers 90 breathless minutes that will keep you on the edge of your seat, an excellent jammed drama which certainly makes for good entertainment.

The latest Warner-Pathe News completes the program.

AT THE CAPITOL — James Whitmore, who clicked up outstanding hits in "Battleground," "The Asphalt Jungle" and "The Next Voice You Hear," now turns to comedy to team with Marjorie Main in MGM's latest film, "Mrs. O'Malley and Mr. Malone," the new film, now playing at the Capitol Theatre, is based on a serial story which appeared for helping out a poor old retired couple. On the same program, "Frontier Outpost," with Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnett.

AT THE CAPITOL — Marjorie Main, beloved star of Ma... Ma... Kettle, teams with James Whitmore in another hilarious comedy characterization in "Mrs. O'Malley and Mr. Malone," now playing at the Capitol Theatre. James Whitmore, in the new picture, plays Mike Malone, a small town housepaper who gets mixed up with bizarre characters in the same program "Frontier Outpost" with Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnett.

NEGOTIATIONS BREAK OFF

Toronto, April 26 — (CP)—Negotiations between pages making union and Canadian newsprint companies broke off Wednesday night with neither side able to bridge a gap on wages and hours. The unions indicated the dispute will be submitted to conciliation.

It would be the first time in 20 years that the parties concerned have been unable to reach a settlement without outside intervention.

The unions represent an estimated 15,000 pulp and paper workers in newsprint mills in Ontario, Pine Falls, Man., and Beaupre, Que.

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, April 27th, 1951

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Some restraint in matters entailing hard analysis, study, also in connection changes in business, health, etc., is favorable for the whole for your occupation and social activities.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Routine, study, research may be better particles, deeper consideration as will artistic matters but day should be advantageous for trades, industry in general and your job.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Good estimates, expensive commercial affairs under strict control. Not all creative efforts are favored but you are favored 24 hours in knowing duly advised matters.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Routine overestimating for big success is fascinating. How you accomplish now really depends to you, in matters with which you are familiar you can do better. Avoid extremes.

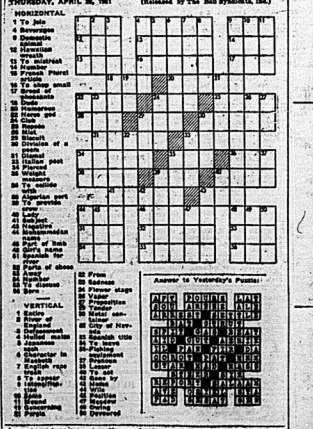
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Try to improve quality of work or output rather than just seek to have big changes or alterations things already started; plan next week's program. Day best favors family routine.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Authors, journalists, booksellers, researchers in science, medicine may find today's tendencies rather restricted but don't discourage. Ponder well, all. Other aspects most helpful.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—Minors favorable now for urgent routine and tasks not too new or difficult than for branching out into ventures that may prove unprofitable. Go along serenely, you will gain.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—The period for mechanics, miners, those dealing in lumber, food products, animals, should be expanded, repairs, sound real estate deals. Extra care for legal and written matters.

November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter benefic aspect augurs for plentiful returns for your earnest and smart effort whether in trade, profession, religious or other interests. Not by sensibly careful.



December 23 to January 22 (Capricorn)—Your Saturn's conjunction holds fresh promise for plans, general interests. Particular benefits are for occupational and domestic duties, all responsible hard work; but don't overdo.

January 23 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Favorable position stresses need for a more uniform distribution of day's tasks so that you may avoid strain, irritability. Not all favorable for personal gain but good work is always rewarded.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Real achievement depends largely upon day's decision, the importance, urgency of your position, commitments, and how you react. Money matters, mechanics, industry are newly favored.

CAMPBELLFORD

Rotary Speaker Gives History Of Alphabet

Campbellford—Ernest C. McKee was an interesting speaker at the Monday meeting of the Rotary Club here, giving the history of our alphabet.

There are about 30 alphabets in existence, all of which can be traced back to the Egyptian hieroglyphics. Gradually the picture became modified and grew to represent sounds and later or such modified pictures became representative of words. The letter "A" for example, originally represented an eagle.

The early hieroglyphics of the eastern civilizations have been found also in the land of the North American Indians. Methods of writing varied. The Chinese used a brush to make characters, while the Babylonians made a clay and later papyrus.

The Phoenicians, who were great traders and also apt imitators, carried the alphabets or writing of the Babylonians and the Phoenicians to Greece, whence they came to Rome. There is a marked similarity between most of the letters in the present alphabet as one traces it through the Egyptian, Hebrew, Phoenician, Greek, Classic Greek, early Latin and Roman characters. Mr. McKee skilfully traced the origin of some of our letters to their present form.

The election of officers for the year 1953-54 was conducted, which resulted in the following being named: Past president, Ed. Dingwall; vice president, T. G. DeCarrel; treasurer, Austin Putnam; secretary, Wm. Mallory; directors, Bud Davidson and Leo Doherty.

DECLINED TO ANSWER

Cambridge, Mass., April 26 (AP)—Lord Arthur Tedder, Britain's top airman, visited Harvard University yesterday but declined to answer questions on military or political Lord Tedder visited the university in his capacity as honorary chancellor-elect of Cambridge University, of which he is a graduate.

Three Hundred Enjoy Ladies' Night Banquet

Campbellford—The annual Ladies' Night and banquet sponsored by Golden Rule Lodge, A.F. & A.M. was held in the Masonic Temple recently. There was a record attendance for the event, which turned out to be a huge success. The ladies of the Parish Guild of Christ Church catered to nearly 300 people.

Harry Wright, W.M., of the lodge, welcomed the guests, turning over the chair to the director of ceremonies, R.W. Bro. O. C. Watson. The toast to the ladies was ably and effectively proposed by Bro. Gordon Whitehorne. Mrs. M. T. Pelsworth acknowledged the toast on behalf of the ladies.

Fine Musical Numbers

Bro George Nicholls conducted Lord Tedder and the Christ Church quartet of Messrs Hopping, Archer, Melville and Rothwell, contributed two numbers. Master Homer McAvoy's vocal solos were most enthusiastically received. Mrs. Don Bennett, Mrs. J. Quinton and Miss Anne Nicholls sang in beautiful trio number. All the musical numbers were heartily encored.

Rev. John McKibbon was most impressive in his presentation of the address of the evening, emphasizing the religious and social implications of a Mason's creed.

Bro. Sid Hopping voiced the appreciation of the visiting guests to all who had assisted in any way.

Cards and dancing were enjoyed, the latter to the Trentiers under the leadership of Bro. Jack Dunsmoor.

LEADS IN WOOL

Council Discusses Parking Problem

Sitting in a joint meeting of the council and local businessmen were held on Tuesday night, Reeve H. E. Wells presided over the meeting as the local parking problems and daylight saving were discussed. Sitting will go on daylight saving time from Sunday April 29 at 12.01 a.m. to Sunday September 30 at 12.01.

Speaking on the parking problem, Reeve Wells stated it was one in which every business man as well as members of council should be vitally interested. He stated council was willing to do its part, with the businessmen and would have the Mill and Front Streets marked for angle parking as soon as possible. He asked for suggestions as to ways of overcoming the problem and allotted time for open discussion.

Park all Day on Streets

It was pointed out that some of the men and their employees park their cars and trucks on the streets all day and contributed to the parking problem.

Mr. C. J. Hollis stated there was a parking lot at the rear of his store large enough to accommodate twenty cars and the public were welcome to use it. However, its use was often prevented by some thoughtless motorist parking so as to block the driveway.

Mr. J. C. McGee stated he frequently experiences the same difficulty in getting in the drive way leading to the rear of his store.

Several Suggestions

Several suggestions were offered on having limited parking on the streets but the consensus was that if the businessmen and their employees would get their cars off the streets a large share of the parking problem would be solved.

Reeve Wells thanked the businessmen for their attendance and the numerous suggestions offered and stated he would endeavor to work out some plan.

ARMS SHIP EXPLODES, SIX KILLED, SCORES INJURED

Enemy Forces Advance Closer To Seoul

U.N. Troops Fall Back on Both Ends of Front

Three U.S. Battalions Fight Way Out of Trap

Tokyo, April 27 — (AP)—United Nations troops fell back on both ends of the 100-mile-long Korean front today.

In the west they rolled back through Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul.

In the east they abandoned Yangyang and pulled back to the 38th parallel. This was the first Allied land loss in Korea on the active fighting front.

In both withdrawals U. N. forces broke contact with reds. The Allies also broke contact south of Hwachon reservoir, and withdrew so rapidly a "no man's-land was created on this west-central sector.

Little Contact Reported

Little contact was reported all along the front. But U. N. troops beat back attacks in the centre aimed at roads leading to Seoul. And in the extreme west, Allied forces fought a stubborn delaying action 14 miles northwest of Seoul.

On the northern approaches the fighting was about 10 miles from the old South Korean capital.

Allied losses were described as negligible. But there were losses. The U.N. withdrawal was a series of bloody fights.

Swarming communist masses repeatedly surrounded U.N. units,— Turks, Belgians, British, American. An Australian outfit fought, reds say, three sides. Canadians, Filipinos, New Zealanders, South Koreans and Americans pitched in each time to rescue trapped units.

(Bill Hunter, Canadian Press correspondent with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, said a U.N. battalion, which could not be identified because of censorship regulations, counted more than 160 enemy bodies near its position. He said that more enemy dead were likely carried back by their repelled comrades after actions Tuesday and Wednesday.)

British Text. Suffers

Most fought clear with relatively light losses. But one, the British Royal Gloucestershire 1st Battalion, lost heavily. It was overwhelmed by sheer numbers.

Associated Press correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported that part of one company survived. Only known survivors. Censors withheld the exact losses.

"There are not enough scenes up there," said an officer of the British British Brigade, to which the Gloucesters belong. "I saw a column of our tanks coming back, carrying dead and badly wounded with blood running down the sides. They were unarmored without armor or artillery, pitting sheer manpower against allied firepower.

"As soon as we'd shoot down one wave, they'd send up another one," said Capt. John J. Monaghan. "They walked right through our mine fields. We could hear them lying out there, wounded and screaming."

Gen. MacArthur Defends Policy In Chicago Talk

Chicago, April 27. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today headed for Milwaukee and another huge civic celebration after a Chicago demonstration climaxed by his speech defending his policy in Korea.

MacArthur, dismissed from his Far Eastern command two weeks ago by President Truman, in a fighting speech last night called for a "positive and realistic" Korean policy "to stop through strength the slaughter of America's sons."

His speech to Soldier Field highlighted the biggest and noisiest celebration Chicago has ever seen.

"Our losses there . . . have already reached staggering proportions," he said. "These losses are progressively mounting by thousands each month . . .

He said "the advent of the war with red China" has created "a policy vacuum heretofore unknown to war."

The crowd in the huge stadium — estimated at 50,000-interrupted the general several times with cheering and applause.

It was a fighting speech all the way. He said "that although my public life is now closed," he will continue "to advocate a positive and realistic policy in Korea, designed to bring the war to an early and honorable end."

MacArthur said that it was difficult to ask men to fight and die unless we give them a realistic mission and the means to accomplish it."

He decried interference with the American Far-East political policy "by nations with only token forces in the field."

U.S. Military Plane Crashes 11 of Crew Killed

Lisbon, April 27. (Reuters)—Eleven crew members were reported killed and five seriously injured when an American flying fortress crashed at Lagens field in the Azores today.

The Superfortress was carrying a crew of 16.

The crash occurred when the Super-Fortress, which was having engine trouble, attempted to land at Lagens airfield, reports said.

The plane was arriving from the United States.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, April 27 (CP) Synopsis: The dry weather of the past few days will continue over the eastern and southern Ontario as a low pressure system over the mid - western states is moving slowly eastward. It will bring scattered showers, especially over the western portions during the morning, and to most districts by the afternoon.

It will be mild tonight with minimum temperatures remaining above the 40 degree mark throughout most of the province. Strengthening southerly winds will bring warm air into the province on Saturday and maximum temperatures are expected to range between 70 in the extreme southwest and 60 in the northern districts.

Russian Scientist Hopes for Big Things in Longevity by Use of Soda

Moscow, April 27 — (AP) Stop worrying and start living longer—and drink with ordinary baking soda, that prominent Russian scientist.

Prof. Olga Lepeshinskaya told a Moscow Science Congress yesterday she hopes for big things in longevity from using injections or a bicarbonate of soda and baths in the stuff commonly used to stop burps.

Olga told the Moscow House of Scientists that the secret of eternal youth is to prevent thickening of the cell envelope and stop enlargement of the cell's albumen molecules.

Her treatment with sodium bicarbonate, she said, reduces muscular fatigue and steps up each cell's activity, reducing the size of its albumen molecules.

The report of her speech contained there are 30,000 persons in the Soviet Union who have passed the age of 100.

There is lively discussion in the press on who is the oldest person in the U. S. S. R.

The Kharkov Institute claims the honor has also been claimed by Vasili Tishkin, who it says is 145. Another claimant is Gabdulla Tukay, a mountaineer, claiming 154 years.

CANADA WANTS TO BE CONSULTED ON UN AIR STRIKES

Pearson Gives Viewpoint Of Govt. To Members

Ottawa, April 27 (CP)—Canada feels that she should be consulted before United Nations aircraft strike at communist air bases in Manchuria, though she concedes that such consultation may not always be feasible.

That viewpoint was placed before the Commons yesterday by External Affairs Minister Pearson in comment on a report that the United States has told U.N. European allies she plans to attack those bases if they are used to launch big-scale assaults on U.N. forces in Korea.

Mr. Pearson qualified his call for prior consultation by recognizing that "immediate retaliatory action, without consultation, might be unavoidable in pursuing enemy aircraft back to the Manchurian air base from which they came."

"The decision on the spot to take such immediate retaliatory action would, presumably, be based on over-riding considerations of military security," he said.

Have to Balance

However, on the question of "more general" retaliatory action involving governments, the final decision to authorize such action "would, as we see it, have to balance very carefully local justifiable considerations against the risk of precipitating a further extension of the war and the effect of such an extension on the security of the United Nations forces in Korea, and the accomplishment of United Nations aims there."

Margaret Truman Makes Debut As Actress

Hollywood, April 27 (AP) — Margaret Truman made her acting debut last night with a comedy performance that drew praise from her co-workers and approval from President Truman.

The President's daughter performed a role as James Stewart's wife in a radio version of the 950 film "Jackpot." She telephoned her father after the performance and reported: "He said I enjoyed it."

Stewart said "I think she could make a go of being an actress" and director Bill Carr said the performance was "equal to that of any of our first-line actresses, and better than some of them."

SPRINKLER SYSTEM USED

Detroit, April 27. (AP)— Police headquarters will remember the fire that was made by a telegraph engraved in a case of 76 grenades was put out yesterday. All the other 75 were touched off. Firemen and the sprinkler system finally doused them.

The poll was made after Clidelles balked at a rescheduling of the final contest from tonight to Barrie's home ice. They objected that the Barrie dressing room surface did not meet CAHA standards.

Today's verdict was the latest event in a confused final series which on Monday was temporarily awarded to Barrie after Quebec said it would withdraw over the CAHA's refereeing. The site of its albumen molecules.

Gloucesters Magnificent As Remnants of Regiment Make Way Back to UN Lines

By TOM BRADSHAW

Western Front, Korea, April 27 (AP) —"The chaps were absolutely magnificent."

A slim British captain, M. G. (Mike) Harvey, thus proudly hailed the remnants of his company. He had led them north to escape capture by the Chinese then brought them back south 15 miles to allied lines.

The survivors (number deleted) are all that is left of the 1st battalion of the Royal Gloucestershire Regiment. Their losses were nearly half of the casualties (number deleted) suffered by the 29th British Brigade in three days of attempting to stem the big red offensive.

The brigade took terrific punishment. But it inflicted an estimated 10 to 20 casualties for every one in their own unit.

Five of the 15 miles were covered in 90 minutes of walking, running and even crawling down rock-studded hillsides. The last 10 miles were a wild dash on U.S. tanks which the little company had met on the road.

The British infantrymen were under almost-constant fire during that 10-mile ride. Some were wounded and were helped on by their comrades.

A brigade officer said that between 70,000 and 80,000 Chinese hit the brigade front at the start of the offensive.

"It was just a simple case of too many of the blighters for us to handle. The overwhelming weight of the Chinese forces pushed the main body of the brigade back as the Gloucesters broke out."

The Gloucesters' regimental log carried this notation in the wording of Brig.-Gen. Thomas Brodie, brigade commander:

"Only the Gloucesters could have done it."

Trout Fishermen Advised To Take Along Their Raincoats On Opening Day of Season

Toronto, April 27. (CP)—Ontario's anglers by the thousands tomorrow will head the call of running water to wet their lines in the opening day of the trout season.

They will be advised to take their raincoats. After two days of warm sunny weather, Dominion weather forecasters predict rain early in the day in southwestern Ontario and rain by noon in central and northern Ontario.

Anglers can expect to find rivers and lakes well stocked with trout.

Last year provincial fish and game officials seeded streams across the province with 3,140,000 speckled trout yearlings, from four inches up to the minimum length of seven inches, and added another 1,167,000 smaller fingerling speckled trout. Also added were 400,000 brown and 52,000 Kamloops trout. They come from 18 fish hatcheries, and 12 game and fisheries official said that hardly a lake or stream was missed.

Each water is generally high throughout the province—not a good condition for fish. The larger streams are not too muddy. Ice has gone from all but the more northern lakes.

The majority of eager anglers will head for certain well-known spots.

Streams in Grey and Bruce counties, around Flesherton, Owen Sound and Chatsworth are well stocked.

Farther east and north the favorite spots are the Ganaraska River, which flows into Lake Ontario at Port Hope, Algonquin Park and the northern parts of Haliburton, Hastings and Lennox counties, waters in the Nipissing, Sudbury and Algoma areas, and the Nipigon Lake and river country.

Seventh Game Of East Canada Final in Toronto

Midland, Ont., April 27 (CP)— George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced today the seventh game of the Eastern Canada Junior hockey finals will be played in Toronto tomorrow night.

The best-of-seven series between Barrie Flyers and Quebec Citadelles is tied 3-3.

Decision on the site of the game was made by a telegraphic telephone poll of 23 CAHA officials across Canada. Dudley said the vote was 13 to 12 in favor of the Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto.

The poll was made after Citadelles balked at a rescheduling of the final contest from tonight to Barrie's home ice. They objected that the Barrie dressing room surface did not meet CAHA standards.

Today's verdict was the latest event in a confused final series which on Monday was temporarily awarded to Barrie after Quebec said it would withdraw over the CAHA's refereeing. The site of its albumen molecules.

Quebec club officials changed their minds and the team flew to Barrie where it was trounced 10-1 on Tuesday. Quebec evened the series on home ice last night with a 5-2 victory.

Citadelles have won all three home-ice games of the Memorial Cup semi-final series, while Flyers won the first game in Toronto and two others in their home arena.

PREMIER JONES, LIBERAL PARTY WIN IN P. E. I.

Likely Last Political Battle Jones Will Fight

Charlottetown, April 27—(CP) —Premier Jones and his Liberal forces swept back into power in yesterday's Prince Edward Island general election, winning what he described as his last battle of the hustings.

Liberals took 25 of the 30 seats, a gain of one more than they held after the 1947 general election. Progressive Conservative representation dropped to five. All five C.C.F. candidates lost their $200 deposits. Several by-elections since 1947 had not changed the House standing.

Here are the standings:

	1951	1947
Libs	25	24
PCS	5	6
Total	30	30

One Minister Defeated

One of Premier Jones' cabinet ministers, J. G. Campbell, minister without portfolio, lost his seat but others returned. Education Minister F. A. Large, however, won by only two votes.

The remaining seats in 1st Queen's had a margin of seven votes.

R. R. Bell, 50-year-old lawyer-farmer who took over leadership of the Progressive Conservative party last year, retained his seat with a six-vote margin after a close battle, undecided until the last poll was reported.

Liberal seats in at least some of these close battles were considered safe.

Former Leader Elected

Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, former premier who resigned the Conservative leadership last year because of pressure of other duties, retained his seat in 5th Queen's. His partner, D. L. Mathieson, a member of the last House, lost to R. Earle MacDonald, collector of Charlottetown port who ran under the Liberal banner.

Dockside Area At Gibraltar Flattened By Blasts

Pieces of Sheared Steel Rain Down on Streets of Fortress

Gibraltar, April 27 — (CP) — A Royal Navy ammunition ship exploded today and six were reported killed and scores injured as the dockside area was flattened.

Naval authorities said only one member of the 28-man crew of the 1,152-ton auxiliary Bedenham was injured but other reports placed the blast casualties as high as 100. They were apparently all civilian port workers.

It was reported from La Linea, just across the Spanish border, that 50 persons were taken to hospital there and to nearby Algeciras. Some were reported in serious condition.

The ship burst into flame in a great cloud of flame and smoke as it unloaded ammunition at a naval ordnance wharf. Debris was scattered over a wide area.

Two Ships Blew Up

(In London, W. J. Edwards, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons he understood that a lighter—a small vessel used generally for unloading purposes—alongside the Bedenham, also blew up.

(An admiralty spokesman declined to comment on the possibility of sabotage until an investigation. The Royal Navy blamed saboteurs for the blowing up last July 14 of nine ammunition lighters loading explosives for Korea. That blast, in Portsmouth Harbor, injured 19.

("The detailed information is available and the cause (of the blast) is as yet unknown," Edwards said. "But such information as I have indicates there is no reason to hope the casualty list will not be heavy.

("The extent of the damage to the dockyards and city is still not known.")

Early reports said the doors had been blown off the Roman Catholic church in the naval colony and the famous Rock Hotel was damaged. Fire was started in other ships in the harbor, windows were blown out of a school and several were injured.

Pieces of sheared steel soared hundreds of feet in the air and rained down into the streets.

Carro Touched Off

It is believed that preliminary explosions of the Carro ignited people into taking cover saved many lives.

Eyewitness reports said shells unloaded from the Bedenham first began to explode in the lighter alongside. Those blasts touched off the ship's cargo.

Ashore, citizens ran for basements and wartime air-raid shelters.

In La Linea, relatives of Gibraltar's 2,000 Spanish workers were barred by Spanish authorities from crossing the border, Madrid reports said.

A great cloud of black smoke billowed over the communities.

The Bedenham arrived in Gibraltar from Britain April 24.

Britain May Seek International Arbitration

Tehran, April 27 — (Reuters)— Britain hinted today she will seek "international arbitration" if Iran goes ahead with plans to take over British-owned oil interests here.

The British Ambassador, Sir Francis Shepherd, said today the contract of the Anglo - Iranian Oil Company was set up under free negotiations in 1933, it ran for 60 years, and can not be set aside by Iran alone.

The impending nationalization of the $500,000,000 installations in South Iran, was the first head last night when a parliamentary committee pushed through a resolution demanding immediate nationalization. It goes before the House tomorrow and will then need only Senate approval to become law.

Sir Francis told newspaper men that though Britain is sympathetic to the principle of nationalization of Iranian oil, she can not accept expropriation of the company. The British government owns more than half the company.

Workers Dissatisfied With New Wage Scale

Brockville, April 27. (CP) There is considerable dissatisfaction among Bell Telephone employees here as a result of the new scale announced last Friday by the Canadian Telephone Employees Association, it was learned here today.

Chief revolves around the difference in pay received by craftsmen in Toronto or Montreal and the amount the similarly classified worker is receiving in Brockville.

It was also stated that many craftsmen in such centres as Belleville, Kingston, Trenton and Smiths Falls are critical about the wage scale change.

'Free Discussion' Dodge Allows East Germans to Criticize Red Govt.

Leipzig, April 27 (AP) —Disgruntled east Germans have found a simple method by which to criticize their communist government and even get away with it.

They call this tiny outlet for dissent the practice of "free discussion." The phrase is an exaggeration; the conversation isn't free, it must be guided by a committee chairman. But open votes are sometimes taken which otherwise probably would send them in a concentration camp.

Here's a typical instance:

An East German traveling to Leipzig recently was telling his fellow passengers of life in the United States.

A dapper young man broke in: "What you report of America's economic achievements may all be very well, but we have are more interested in what you did to Dresden."

Destruction of large parts of Dresden by American bombers is a major theme in communist anti-U.S. propaganda.

A dental surgeon from Leipzig said, "well now, let's discuss this for a moment."

Of course, the communist replied, "this is a discussion."

These were magic words before which the fearful criticize. The dentist accused the east German system of authoritarianism denied that west Germany had been transformed into an American colony. The traveler let him also wanted peace.

The conversation argued back and when the train pulled into Leipzig departed amicably.

Only here the communists permitted this carefully fenced-in area of almost free expression!

Partly because of this public non-communist put it, "free discussion' is essential to the communists' far flung system of agitation by Stalinist missionaries. These are specialists well-schooled in the arguments for and against communism. Their business is to provoke discussion and seek converts on trains, in restaurants, shops and factories.

Belleville Club Bridge Tourney Much Enjoyed

The Belleville Club bridge tournament concluded last night with the team captained by J. E. McLean taking the pennant honors, defeating Harry Trapper's team by 139 points.

Taking the honors for the McLean team were Lt.-Col. P. R. Wills and W. J. Cook with George Curno and Bert Bryant representing the Trapper team.

Fifteen tables took part in the closing games following dinner served in the club. Prizes were presented to the teams winning the high net score for the evening.

The tournament extended over the winter months with play taking place once a month. Usually 13 or 14 tables were in play during the tournament.

It was arranged by Court Miller, chairman of the club entertainment committee.

Charles E. Staples Ordained Deacon By Bishop White

A beautiful service took place at Christ Church on Wednesday, St. Mark's Day, when Charles Edward Staples was ordered Deacon. His Lordship, Rt. Rev. Walter, retired Bishop of Honan, China, ordained the candidate. He was assisted by clergy of the diocese. Ven. Archdeacon Arthur Smith presented the candidate to the Bishop. Rev. Henry Hill sang the Litany. Rev. H. C Secker said Matins. Canon J. E. Reveille read the epistle. Rev. Rural Dean A. S. McConnell read the Bishop's gospel. Canon J. B. Creegan preached the sermon. Rev. Everett Smith was present. The choir of Christ Church sang William's setting of the Communion Service.

A large congregation was in attendance to pay their tribute to a young man of Christ Church parish, who took the first step of his ordination in the sacred ministry.

Following the service luncheon was provided by Christ Church Parish Guild and St. George's Guild for Rev. Charles Staples, his family, friends, the clergy and their wives. Addresses were given by Ven. Archdeacon Smith, Bishop White and Rev. Charles Staples. Canon J. E. Brownlie thanked the ladies of the two Guilds for the sumptuous luncheon. Archdeacon Smith conveyed the best wishes of our own Archbishop Lyons, who, because of illness was unable to be present.

Two Local Men Arrested On Perjury Charges

Arrested Thursday on perjury charges arising out of an auto accident on highway No. 3 at Bayside early in April, Thomas "Derby" Jeffrey, and Arlington Bell, both of this city, have been remanded for court appearance on May 4th.

Bail of $3,000 was arranged for Bell Thursday while bail of $4,000 was set for Jeffrey following appearance in city magistrate's court today. Bell's bail was reduced, Friday when he was due for the hearing will be set.

The perjury charges against the two men were preferred by provincial police after Jeffrey and Bell testified in county magistrate's court last week. Testifying for the defence on a careless driving charge against Bell, Jeffrey last week stated he had been driving the car at the time of the accident. This was corroborated by Bell and Magistrate T. Y. Wills dismissed the charge.

At the time of the accident Bell had told police and at least one eye witness that he had been the driver of the car.

Air Force Tests Parachutes Using Hard Rubber Dummies

Trenton (S/Special) — If you have been driving along the highway between Trenton and Belleville in the last week, it is not unlikely that your attention has been drawn to a big Dakota aircraft passing across the government airfield and spewing out what appears to be four-man parachute teams.

You watch the 'chutists float gently down to earth, the ground crews run to help them out of their harnesses, and the transport flips away toward the distant horizon.

Then, no doubt, you settled back in your seat and headed for your destination with a tale to tell of witnessing the latest parachute drop.

You're wrong, because the 'chutists you saw are nothing more than a chunk of hard rubber and steel. The parachutes and of parachutes carried out each year by the Safety Equipment Section of the R.C.A.F. Station.

A Toronto Flying Officer and a Sergeant, formerly of Belleville, with a complement of 15 airmen, shoulder the task of the S.E. section, are engaged in the exacting job of drop testing 150 parachutes for the air defence group at Bagotville, Que.

The rubber dummies, in the form of a man without limbs, are buckled into harnesses and loaded into the twin-motored Dakota. The static line is attached to the ripcord are hooked up to an overhead cable installed especially for the parachute dropping. Four dummies are made ready to go out the door from a specially designed slide.

In the first run across the dropping zone the dummies are dispatched earthward; the aircraft circles again and in the next run soon out the alpenteam while the airmen on the ground in their jeeps follow the rubber men onto a jeep trailer which returns them to the aircraft for the next test.

800 Foot Drops

The drop tests are made from an altitude of 800 feet while the plane is flying into the wind at about 110 knots an hour.

Three airmen are required in the aircraft to send off the test dummies while the airmen on the ground handle the job of collapsing the 'chutes and removing the harness from the dummies after they touch down on the airfield.

In a stiff wind, groundmen get more than the average amount of exercise chasing the 'chutes.

Air force routine for a new parachute is to test it before putting it into service. The next time it comes up for testing is four years later, providing it has not undergone any unnecessary stress or been submerged in water.

Testing Each Year After

Each year afterwards, until the 'chute is eight years old, it is opened by drop-testing and then it is written off and taken out of service.

During its life in service, a parachute is inspected daily by the pilot or crew member in charge of the aircraft used. The civilian listing for approved parachute packers who do time in service in the RCAF is $375.

From behind a highly polished desk in the corner of one of the huge hangars at No. 6 R.D., Flying Officer D. L. Campbell officiates as director of drop tests and the many other duties of the Safety Equipment section. He is capably assisted by Sgt. Gerry Gerow, a former Belleville boy, who has been in the service for 12 years with the RCAF, overseas and at bases in all experimental units in Canada.

Flying Officer Campbell served as a ferry pilot on active service in the last world war.

Aircraft from which the drop tests are made are a part of No. 6 R.D. Ferry Acceptance Flight under the command of Squadron Leader J. C. McCarthy, DSO, DFC and Bar, of St. James, Long Island, N.Y.

Can of Tar Poured Over Car On B. C. I. Lot

Mr. Alfred "Al" Cooper, band instructor at the Belleville Collegiate, today is wondering what he has done to deserve the feeling on the part of a self-invited prankster.

Thursday evening Mr. Cooper parked his 1951 model sedan on the parking lot at the Collegiate while he was engaged with rehearsals at the school. Later when he came to get his car he found to his distress that some destructive-minded person or persons had poured a can of tar over the top of his light-colored vehicle. The tar overflowed the car top and ran down the windshield.

It didn't make Mr. Cooper feel any happier that the prankster had also poured tar over several bicycles parked nearby.

Lamb Travels In Style To Butcher Shop

If you use the old saying "Like leading a lamb to the slaughter" you are definitely out of date.

It could be that wool prices are soaring or a tasty lamb chop is worth its weight in gold, but the fact remains that in some places they're not leading lambs to the slaughter. They're taking them in taxicabs.

"I'll be round to get you in a taxi, honey" probably is the theme ditty of a Prince Edward County sheep raiser.

It happened like this.

A city butcher purchased a sixty - pound lamb from a farmer with the proviso that it be delivered at his shop.

The other day the farmer walked in the shop and announced the arrival of the lamb.

Outside the butcher could see no signs of a truck or vehicle in which lambs are usually transported.

"It's in here", said the farmer, pointing towards a taxi that stood at the curb.

"In there?" gasped the butcher.

"Yep", said the farmer as he opened the trunk compartment of the car. There lay the lamb in all its woolly glory.

Oh yes, the farmer came from south of Cherry Valley, in Prince Edward County.

Extra Vacation To be Given Corby Employees

L. W. Vezina, president of the H. Corby Distillery Ltd., Montreal, announced last night, that all employees of the company with periods of fifteen years will be given three weeks vacation this year.

Mr. Vezina made the announcement at a banquet that featured the three-day convention of the company's sales organization being held in the Hotel Quinte.

Mr. Vezina's announcement, it was stated, will affect some 30 employees of the Corbyville distillery.

Some forty sales representatives from Vancouver, B.C., to Halifax, N.S. are here with head office executives and officials of the Corby Distillery for the convention. Ten new members were added to the sales force during the past year.

The convention agenda is a heavy one, with all phases of the sales department activities being thoroughly discussed, and reports from various representatives heard.

G. C. MacDonald, assistant manager of the Corbyville Distillery, headed tours of the Corbyville plant, with the convention being divided into two groups. Addresses on manufacture of the various products were given by Mr. Wilfred Laporte, Corbyville manager, and Mr. T. Dafoe. Mr. H. Smith, Montreal, addressed the convention on advertising with Mr. Vezina talking on sales promotion.

With Messrs. Laporte and MacDonald as hosts, the convention held a bowling tournament at the Recreation Alleys last night with Mr. James Boyle, Montreal, and well-known in this city being returned the winner. Tonight at nine o'clock the convention's annual bridge tournament gets under way.

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH — In loving memory of William H. (Bill) Smith, who passed away one year ago, April 27th.

But we still think of you daily,
Our dear one is passed away;
Memories are sweet and silently dark-ness keeps you company.
Rest in height and perfect day;
But we all hope to meet you in Heavenly
Over the grave of him we love.
Just one thing we wanted most him
In the better world above.
Always remembered by his brother
Clifford, sister-in-law Mary. A37

SMITH — In loving memory of a dear brother and uncle, Billy Smith, who passed away one year ago, April 27, 1950.

Time 'let so suddenly, your thoughts
Leaving a memory we are proud to
There is still an ache in our hearts
That countless years won't
Sadly missed by sister Mary Smith and Ivy, Jane and Ronald. A37

SMITH — In loving memory of my dear husband, William H. (Bill) Smith, who passed away April 27th, 1950.

In the evening when all was still
God gave His great command
And silently you passed away
Into a better land.
God took him without warning
The reward was never said.
But in our hearts remembered
When we say hello instead.
Always remembered by brother
Paul. A37

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 27 CP) —Prices climbed steadily as the session progressed on the stock market today.

Industrial advances ranged from fractions to more than a point.

Papers led with a wide list of issues higher. Featuring the group was Great Lakes paper with a $1.50 jump to a new high at $50. Steels, utilities, agricultures, constructions, refining oils, liquors and retail stores were all so ahead.

Base metals added fractions. Facing the list were Wallc Amulet, United Keno Hill, Steep Rock Sherritt Gordon, International Nickel, Consolidated Smelters and Golden Manitou.

Western oil advances ranged from pennies to the 25-cent increase of home oil.

Golds lagged behind the pest of the market with almost no activity. The section was mostly mixed with little change.

Anti-Gambling Laws Protested By Presbytery

Belleville, April 27 (CP) — The Belleville Presbytery of the United Church Thursday condemned a suggestion that federal anti-gambling laws be relaxed to permit operation of lotteries and raffles by church and other charitable groups.

The Presbytery held a special meeting to discuss a suggestion made by Deputy Attorney-General Clifford Magone in testimony before the Provincial Crime Investigation Committee.

Earlier Thursday in Toronto, the Christian Social Council, representing 10 Protestant churches and organizations in Canada, said it was "surprised and deeply shocked" by Mr. Magone's suggestion.

Pouch Tobacco To be Raised Three Cents

Montreal, April 27 (CP)—Edward C. Wood, President of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Limited, Thursday announced the price increase on pouches or packages of cut tobacco will be three cents as a result of the budget tax increases April 10.

He said the increase is on stock manufactured on or before April 10 and therefore is subject to the higher excise taxes of the budget.

He also announced that when this stock is exhausted "new sizes (of packages) will be introduced." He gave no further details.

A package of cut tobacco presently sells for 25 cents.

HOME DAMAGED

Danville, Va., April 27. (AP)—The home of another non-striking employee of Dan River Mills was damaged by an explosion last night. Police said dynamite ripped the back porch and blew out the windows in the home of Herbert C. White, a maintenance worker. It was the second explosion in 24 hours affecting the residence of a non-striker. No one was injured.

Rapists Given Life Sentences

Montreal, April 27 —(CP) — Ross Valliant, 26, today was sentenced to 125 consecutive years in prison on charges of rape and 18 strokes of the lash. His brother, Ovila, 28, was given life on one rape count and five years on 13 other charges of rape and attempted rape, all to run consecutively.

Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure said in sentencing the brothers that he seriously considered sending Rene to the gallows. The Valliants were convicted of a total of 66 crimes, including rape, attempted rape, conspiracy and theft.

Mr. Justice Lazure described them as "monsters and specified that all prison terms were to run consecutively.

Two Year Search

The sentencing of the Valliants climaxed a police investigation that started two years ago when a women reported to police she was attacked by two men who forced her into a taxi.

Case after case was reported during the next 18 months in the west end. Police finally arrested the brothers and two juveniles who were sent for trial to Social Welfare Court.

Rene was charged with 46 crimes and Ovila with 20. They pleaded guilty to a total of 17 charges after Mr. Justice Lazure ruled that a jury must receive their pleas because of the seriousness of the crimes.

After their pleas were heard, the remaining charges were laid and both pleaded guilty. However Rene changed his plea on two of the counts to not guilty and the two charges were dropped.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Oakville, April 27 (CP)—Leo Marion, 18, of Brantford, Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter in the death of two pedestrians in his automobile on the Queen Elizabeth Way April 7.

Lois Young, 19, and Donna Harris, 18, both of Brantford, were killed and two other passengers were injured when Marion's car collided with a parked truck.

GET NO MORE RUBBER

Los Angeles April 27. (AP)—Red China and Russia will get no more rubber from Singapore, James Roche, commercial counsellor to the British Embassy in Washington, said yesterday. Export licences for rubber which were approved April 9 will preclude any possibility of communist countries getting Malaya rubber.

Britain to Buy All Cheese it Can From Canada

Toronto, April 27 (CP) —The British Food Ministry, whose contract last year for 77,000,000 pounds of Canadian cheese was not filled, will buy all the cheese it can this year from Canada, officials of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, said Thursday.

Two members of the British Food Mission, Sir Andrew Jones and W. J. Rodden, were in Toronto Thursday to negotiate a new contract with the Ontario Association, headed by C. N. Heath of Belleville.

Members of the Cheese Producers' group said they are seeking an increase over last year's price, when Britain paid 23 cents a pound and the Canadian government paid a three-cent subsidy.

Producers said that because supplies are insufficient, and because last year's contract for 77,000,000 pounds was not filled, no similar figure will be agreed on this year.

Negotiations on a contract will continue next week in Belleville.

IN THE HANDS OF THE REDS

The Korean war issue, as far as the United States is concerned, has now been left entirely in the hands of the communists. If they should decide that they want to continue and spread the war, then they must count on opposition from the western world. The only peaceful settlement of the conflict can come from their desire to promote it.

The president of the United States told the world yesterday that it was clearly up to the bosses of communism. Immediately, international experts interpreted his statement to mean that the United Nations would strike back outside of Korea if large enemy air attacks came. In effect, this is a reinforcement of western democratic feeling, and serves to cancel out the most recent piece of communist propaganda spouted by Andrei Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister. Mr. Gromyko, from Paris, had a simple solution for the ending of the war. All United Nations troops should go home; the problem is thus solved.

Mr. Gromyko, speaking to the meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers, told them that there would not be enough room in Korea for the white crosses of the "interventionist troops" if the war is not ended. What Mr. Gromyko failed to say was that no crosses would be erected for the Koreans made victims of communist aggression if the United Nations troops did pull out. He did not mention that Korea would be under the complete domination of redism, and that its people would be subjected to the hardships and purges that communism provides. He did not admit that it was communist aggression that started the trouble in Korea, and that it is the same policy that keeps the war going.

The communist forces have now been swelled by Chinese troops, and the third big drive from the north is on. Thus far, the forces of the United Nations have been forced to withdraw before overwhelming strength. But it is only a matter of time until the reds are stopped. Their first big onslaught was marked by the actual invasion of South Korea. They ran wild through an almost undefended and definitely bewildered republic, and if the U.N. had not intervened, South Korea would now be another link in the chain of Soviet satellites.

The second big push came in November, when hordes of troops smashed into the front lines of the U.N. forces, and by sheer weight of attack, drove again into the southern sector. Since that time, the battle tide has turned again, and the forces of aggression have been thrown back to their original bastions in the northern part of the country. Now, the third push has started, and it is quite likely that the western world will wonder again how long it must go on. As yet, no definite permission has been given U.N. commanders to bomb communist bases in Manchuria. It has been said that General MacArthur was fighting a war he could not win. It now seems that his successor has been placed in the same unenviable position.

It is time that a definite policy on the war in Korea was established by the western nations. Until that happens, and until the Soviet realizes that there is a firm policy, we cannot hope to conquer communist arrogance.

WHY TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS?

Again the whys, wheres, hows, and whens of traffic accidents are set forth by the Travelers Insurance Companies in their annual booklet on the subject, which this year bears the thought-compelling title, "Rest in Pieces." As the booklet went to press the total of our 1950 traffic victims suffering death or injury, 1,830,300, was thirty times greater than the total of the dead and the wounded or missing in Korea. The only comfort to be drawn from such a record is that there was a slight drop in the pedestrian figures from the year before.

Exceeding the speed limit was the principal cause of both death and injury, accounting for 49.8 and 39.3 per cent, respectively. How careless we have become is indicated by the fact that driving on the wrong side of the road was responsible for more than 17 per cent of the traffic deaths. So far as pedestrians were concerned, crossing between intersections was the principal cause of both death, 39.8 per cent, and injury, 26.1 per cent.

There were slight but disturbing increases in fatalities for the year as compared with 1949, in ages under 4 years, between 5 and 14 years, and over 65. In the injury category these age-group increases loomed still larger. Insurance premium penalties on young drivers clearly were borne out by the statistics of their proportion of accidents. Drivers under 24 years of age represented considerably less than 20 per cent of all the persons at the wheel, yet they accounted for more than 27 per cent of 1950's fatal accidents and more than 22 per cent of the drivers involved in non-fatal accidents. This serves to emphasize again the necessity for driver training at the high school level. Any complacency which one might have about the situation, however, goes out the window when the statistics show that 98 per cent of drivers in fatal and 97 per cent of those in the non-fatal accidents had been driving for a year or more. — New York Times.

BEST OF TRIBUTES

I won a smile, and I'm proud as can be.
No greater tribute could monarchs pay me.
A smile, which to strangers small babies deny,
Was bestowed upon me and a stranger was I!
Such an honor as that isn't often allowed
And when granted, I say any man should be proud.

Few babies are pleased by the fuss o'er them made
And of neighbors and friends they are plainly afraid.
They may tickle their chins with their old finger tips
But the best they will do is to pucker their lips.
Should to hold them a moment one venture to try
They'll snuggle to mother and start in to cry.

But I won a smile, and so boast
it I must.
I'm proud to be one that a baby would trust.
I held out my arms, thinking
surely he'd cry,
But he smiled, and happy old fellow was I.
And I thought if a baby will smile with delight,
Notwithstanding my faults, I must still be all right.

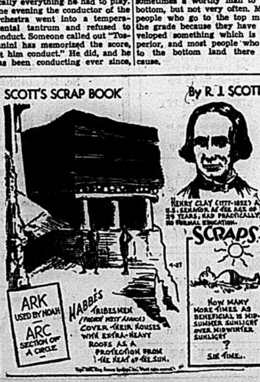
Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WORTH WILL OUT

Many stories are going around now about the great Toscanini, whose musical competence is rated by musicians as something quite unusual.



Toscanini in his youth was very near sighted. He played in an orchestra, and in order to make sure that he would be able without fail to follow to different musical numbers, he memorized practically everything he had to play. One evening the conductor of the orchestra went into a temperamental tantrum and refused to conduct. Someone called out "Toscanini has memorized the score, let him conduct." He did, and he has been conducting ever since, to the world's great delight.

Abraham Lincoln once said that he would prepare himself for life as best he could, and maybe someday he would be used. Toscanini tried to make himself competent as a member of an orchestra, and so sincere and diligent were his efforts that by a turn of fortune he suddenly found himself at the top.

Once in a while an empty-header nobody goes to the top and sometimes a worthy man to the bottom, but not very often. Most people who go to the top make the grade because they have developed something which is superior, and most people who go to the bottom land there for cause.

OUR TOWN

HOW TO RELAX

These are sure enough funny times.

Before the war, if you can remember that far back, everybody was giving advice on how to be a success, how to make that golden buck.

Dale Carnegie was telling us how to win friends and influence people, which really boiled down to how to move merchandise.

The advertisements told us seductively how we might make big money in the hotel business or peddling subscriptions to the Saturday Evening Post in our spare time.

The man of the hour was the fellow in the advertisements who used to be a bum, learned all about diesel engines from a correspondence course and now had 43 employees.

Self-improvement was the cry of the day and the Book-of-the-Month clubs could sign up millions of people by giving them, Free three pounds of translations from the Chinese and other strange literary fruit.

We were all push-overs for git-up-and-go. Even the 97-pound weaklings might dream of a body swathed in Charles Atlas' muscles.

Today all this is changed. The whole emphasis now is on how to emulate the three-toed sloth, how to slow down, how to hoard that valuable energy we once burned with such careless rapture.

Dale Carnegie is back—indeed I always fancy him poised tippytoe around the nearest corner waiting for the moment we poor prunes will need his syndicated advice—but now he cares not a fig for the making of friends or the influencing of customers.

Instead, he and his host of imitators are now concerned with soothing us or, in effect, trying to slip into reverse all that vitality and ambition we worshipped in pre-war days. Newspapers and periodicals in both Canada and the United States are devoting more space to our worries and nervous disorders than any other single subject, including the cost of living and Rita Hayworth combined.

Git-up-and-go has become a thing of the past. In its place has blossomed the philosophy of slow-down-and-sit.

'Listen, Eyes'

There are some pretty obvious reasons for all this. The threat of another world war and all of the inlaid irritations it has brought to our personal lives, including the cost of sirloin steak, has left us with nerves like banjo strings.

My own are so taut that they play four choruses of "Old Black Joe" if I just look at a newspaper.

But what interests me more than the disease are the suggested cures which have brought to this continent a weird combination of mesmerization and Tibetan yogi.

The other day, for example, if you reached with trembling finger for old Doc Carnegie's bedside chat you'd have found him advising you to have a little heart-to-heart talk with your eyes.

"Read this paragraph through", suggested the Doc, "and when you've reached the end, lean back, close your eyes, and say to your eyes silently, 'Let go. Stop straining, stop frowning. Let go. Let go.' Repeat that over and over very slowly for a minute. . . . "

Or, if this seems a little silly to you then you can try the advice of Norman Vincent Peale, who is a sort of theosophical Dale Carnegie and has written a book on how you ought to be living. I am particularly fascinated by some of the advice in the chapter titled "Learn to Relax Your Body".

"Imagine that you weigh four hundred pounds," Doc Peale recommends, "and that this enormous weight is resting squarely on the chair. You are not trying to hold it up. You are letting the chair do that. Raise your right arm high above your head. Make it entirely limp. Then let it fall inertly on your right knee.

"Practise relaxing the muscles of your face, letting your face go limp. Repeat to yourself, 'My face is limp, my face is limp, every muscle is easing itself.' Imagine that little weights are attached to your eyelids. Let the . . . "

But I see that you are now nervously plucking the lint from your lapels and rolling your eyes. And for good reason. Its often hard to tell which is worse, the disease or the cure.

A Discovery

I have given a good deal of thought to the care and feeding of 1951 nerves, or the kind that cause you to leap like a shy gazelle at any sudden sound, and I think I've reached a rather interesting conclusion.

It seems to me that we all ought to take the advice of Dale Carnegie and the rest—not today's, but the advice they were giving out a decade ago!

We all ought to stop talking to our eyes and coaxing our faces to go limp and, instead, get away from ourselves and into a six months' course on advanced diesel engines.

If we'd just stop babying our minds for awhile, stop having them pretend that our bodies weigh 400 pounds and set them to work on some translations from the Chinese, we'd be less liable for an early date in the booby hatch.

Show me a man who is pretending that little weights are attached to his eyelids or sitting in a chair letting his arm drop inertly to his knee or repeating over and over to himself, "My face is limp," and you show me a man with the moral stamina of a backward titmouse.

My advice to you is to ignore these mental quack doctors who would have you believe that the way to escape the strain of these times is to play games with yourself. For heaven's sake, pull yourself together and learn the hotel business or something.

Highway Route For Four-Lane Road Chosen

Toronto, April 27 —(CP) — Route for the western half of a proposed four-lane highway from Windsor to Toronto has been chosen and work on grading the first 10 miles may begin within a few weeks, it was learned Thursday.

Ontario Department of Highways surveyors have plotted the exact course from Windsor to a point near Woodstock, a distance of about 150 miles.

The highway will start on the outskirts of Windsor and run east and slightly south to a point near Tilbury. That section will run between the present No. 98 and No. 3 highways although closer to 98.

From Tilbury, the highway will run northeasterly midway between No. 2 which goes to London and No. 3 which goes to St. Thomas. It will run between both these cities and between Ingersoll and Tillsonburg farther east.

The highway then will bear north to a point about five miles from Woodstock.

Eventually, the highway probably will break into two branches at this point, one going straight east to Hamilton and connecting with the Queen Elizabeth Way, the other going north and then east to a point in Toronto's northern limits.

The branch direct to Toronto will pass through the heavily-populated Kitchener-Galt Guelph area but will skirt those cities.

Eventually a connector highway will take traffic across the northern part of Toronto to a junction with the proposed four-lane highway to Montreal.

Detroit Woman Given $55,000 In Judgment

Hamilton, April 27. (CP) — Finding that Samuel H. Greisman was killed and that his wife was seriously injured through no fault of their own in a collision on the Queen Elizabeth Way at the Bronte Bridge, nearly two years ago, Chief Justic J. C. McRuer, Thursday, awarded Mrs. Nettie Greisman, of Detroit, over $55,000 and costs as compensation.

The judgment is believed the largest ever handed down in favor of a single person in a local court.

It resulted from an accident involving two cars and a Gray Coach Lines bus operated by James A. Harrison. The driver of one of the cars is still unidentified while the other was operated by Mr. Greisman.

Mr. Griesman was thrown under the wheels of the bus.

GIVEN WELCOME HOME

London, April 27 — (Reuters)— London newspapers gave a warm "welcome home" today to the Cambridge University boat crew just returned from rowing victories in the United States over Yale, Harvard and Boston crews.

The Daily Graphic said their trip abroad had strengthened the friendship between Britain and the U. S. at a difficult time.

TRICK SPECIALISTS A DIME A DOZEN

I have just read your article and it really makes me quite angry (writes a reader, and I don't blame her for it). Do you have any idea how difficult it is in these days to find an "ordinary" or "family" doctor? It took us four years. We thought we had found such a doctor, from his talk, when we first called upon him. But then early one morning our daughter wakened screaming with pain and with a temperature of 104, we discovered our mistake. The doctor refused to come, said he did not make emergency calls, and besides he had a class to teach at 9 o'clock. We finally got an elderly doctor who "burned up the road" getting to us. Daughter had pleurisy and this fine old doctor called every day until she was well. Fortunately for us we finally found a fine family doctor in our own village, but —please don't say that we are (illegible word) to go only to specialists. Sometimes we have no choice. So many doctors are now specializing that the blame should be laid upon the medical profession. Certainly "ordinary" or "family" physicians are scarce these days.

(Signed)

Except your practice of taking temperatures, which I consider mischievous in any case unless your physician instructs you to do so, I might have written your letter myself. The situation you describe fairly enough makes me quite angry, too, and I have laid the blame upon the American Medical Association.

The doctor's lame excuse for evading the early morning call reminds me of the time I served —or I should say my first wife served, for the hardships of those days were worse for her than they were for me—in Penn Yan when village and country highways alike were inches thick with mud through most of the winter season. Farmers on the telephone line had a way of trying home remedies or nostrums until night fell, and then they would become alarmed and call the doctor. Not only that, but when their own doctor chose to be unavailable they would call the new doctor—but for one night only—next day he would learn that he had served only as a stop gap.

The actual statistics are filed somewhere, and therefore lost so far as I can tell without hours of bootless searching—but I have cited them here several times, that is, the latest enumeration of physicians in the United States showed something like two specialists for every five general practitioners. Isn't that absurd? I repeat, the American Medical Association is to blame for this sad failure of American Medicine. The organization has fostered specialism to the limit of popular credulity — and Yankee credulity in health and medical matters goes a long way, as the American Medical Association well knows. Take the "clinic" racket, for instance.

What this country needs is a good five-year probation period for doctors who wish to become specialists. That is, regardless of what certificates the doctor may hold or what post-graduate courses the doctor may take, he should be required by law to serve at least five years as a family physician or a general practitioner before he may hold himself out as a specialist.

Questions and Answers

Mineral Oil

I have heard that constant use of mineral oil internally robs the body of vitamin A. Is this true? If so, shouldn't doctors warn the public about it? (Mrs. E. K.)

Ans.—It interferes with assimilation of vitamin A and vitamin D in food and with the absorption of minerals too. It is pretty stupid taking mineral oil internally. Send 25c and stamped self addressed envelop for booklet The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene.

Climate

Effect of climate on tuberculosis —which States you recommend. (C.R.)

Ans.—Climate is good for tuberculosis, I think. I recommend the State or Province where the patient can or will spend the most time in the open air.

Margarine is Wholesome Food

Food specialist here says the use of oleomargarine in place of butter will cause liver trouble and other disturbances. (Mrs. F.H.A.)

Ans.—Untrue. Oleomargarine is wholesome food.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INSPIRING TRAVELLERS

Going through my library shelves, sorta shaking hands with my book friends, it dawned on me what interesting travellers books often become. First the book lover is introduced to them in a book shop, or is presented with one, or buys one at a book auction sale. Many are the bookplates of others among the books in my library.

How many years many a book that I have was once a guest in another home. For years I have done what I could to give lonely books a happy home. I have even sent many of them to college! Thousands of books keep travelling from library to library, and from one lover of books to another. I came home with three new wanderers today. I bought them second-hand,, but we were sure happy all around.

A friend of mine once went around the second-hand book shops in New York and collected a most interesting lot of books, paying no more than ten cents a copy—among which were classics and many first editions. The easiest thing in the world is to make friends with a lonely book in a quiet book-shop!

Some of these books that we see in selected places have been great world travellers. Often a dozen or more owners have from time to time invited them into their hearts. I saw a tattered copy of a famous cook-book, some three hundred years old, at a friend's house. I took it in my hands and speculated upon its long life and, undoubtedly, its strange experiences.

I never mail a book to a friend without wondering about its reception, and imagining just when its journey will be at an end. Often one of these gift books doesn't stay long in one place but is "loaned out" gathering experience at every call. I like the idea of books moving about, acquainting new people with their message. A great book never grows old. Give it a new suit of clothes and it may appear as though but born yesterday!

J. M. Barrie once said of Sir W. Robertson Nicoll: "He was so fond of books that I am sure he never saw a lonely one without wanting to pat it, and give it sixpence."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At a school entertainment lately, one of the features of the concert was the performance of a rhythm band of very small fry, maybe five and six years old. Lustily, they beat with sticks upon drums, wooden blocks and metal triangles. They made a hilarious and perfectly ravishing sight, as, with that dignity and purpose characteristic of six-year-olds, and all flushed, they whanged and banged and beat out the rhythm to a tune being played by a teacher upon the piano.

The function of these rhythm bands is manifold. It teaches co-ordination of mind and body. It inculcates the spirit of co-operation. It has in it the first seeds of the community sense. Schools all over the world have swallowed the rhythm band idea, hook, line and sinker.

The first evil thing about it is that it starts to condition children from infancy, to the mechanical life that lies ahead of most of them in our technological world, in which they will have to spend their lives going through mechanical motions heartily, cheerfully and in wholesome agreemnt with all their fellows.

The second evil is that it persuades the child to conform, at a time in the world's history when millions of human beings are forced to conform by the threat of prison, torture and death. The biggest rhythm band in the world is surely in Moscow, with children and adults both beating out the time.

In this quaint little band at the school concert, there was one dunderhead. He was a chunky little boy with wiry blond hair. He was entirely and enthusiastically off beat. The teacher frowned down at him from the piano. The other children glared accusingly at him. But he thumped joyously, his own rhythm, occasionally taking a swipe at the instruments of his neighbors. I bet he will be a bank president.

INDIA'S MILLIONS ON STARVATION DIET

Pathetic victims of India's grain famine are the father and child, left. The limbs of the infant are terribly swollen from undernourishment and the father is half blind. The overall food ration in Indian cities is now also cut-back per person per day, and dietitians estimate ounces to sustain a working man. Millions of Indians face starvation unless food arrives to carry them through the months until the autumn crops can be harvested. Right, at the Indian embassy in Washington, Her Excellency Madame Pandit, ambassador to the U.S., views a delegation headed by George Weybright, an Indiana farmer. Weybright stated in his presentation speech that this "token" ton of wheat is merely symbolic of the feeling of thousands of North Americans and expressed the hope that it is only the beginning of relief to famine sufferers in India. — Central Press Canadian.

ROSSMORE

Mr., Mrs. W. Belnap Celebrate 59th Anniversary

On Monday evening, a dinner party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Boulter, Rossmore, in honor of the 59th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Boulter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Belnap.

The bride of 1892, formerly Miss Martha Herbert, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Herbert, and the bridegroom, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Belnap, both families having resided in the neighborhood of the Rossmore district.

Mrs. Belnap, who is 77 years of age, and Mr. Belnap, who will celebrate his 82nd birthday on May 27th., are both enjoying good health. Mr. Belnap still likes to hoop-net fish in the spring and fall, and when the day is right, may be seen enjoying his favorite sport.

Mr. and Mrs. Belnap have three children, two girls, one of whom is deceased, Mrs. Ben Foster, (Una), and Mrs. P. Boulter, (Clarabelle) of Rossmore, and one son, Claude R. ("Pete") Belnap, of Belleville; twelve grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, one of whom, little Paula Foster, died recently.

A unique part of the anniversary was the presence of two sets of four generations: Mr. and Mrs. Belnap, their daughter, Mrs. B. Boulter, grandson, Bill, great grandson, Tommy Boulter, granddaughter Barbara Drum, and great grandson, Teddy.

Mr. and Mrs. Belnap were the recipients of several fine gifts as well as cards of congratulation from their many friends, extending to them good wishes for many future years of happiness together.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma and pop were eating breakfist by ourselfs on account of ma being over at Mrs. Hewy's house to stay with her while Mr. Hewy is away on bizness, and I said, G, pop, it seems funny around here without ma, dont it?

Yes, funny without being jaffable, pop said, and I said, Well, Jimminies pop, why don't we both write her a letter on different sides of the paper and tell her how mutch we miss her and how grate she is?

By gollies that's an idea, pop said, and I said, What are you going to tell her, pop?

I'm going to tell her the room seems empty when I wake up in the morning, even with me in it, pop said. I'm going to tell her the house has lost its sunshine, its music and its flowers, not to speek of a certain cherrible something that has to be gone to be appreciated. What are you going to tell her? he said, and I said, I'm going to tell her she's the swellest mother any guy ever had, and if any guy tells his mother is even sweller, I'm going to give him a bluddy nose for being stuck up. But G, pop, she'll be back home today, as the letter won't get here in time, I said.

Then we'll stick it under Mrs. Hewy's front door ourselves in person, pop said.

Which just then who walked in but ma with her suitcase, saying Here I am, I thought I mite as well come home this morning, as long as I was coming this afternoon anyways.

Being one of the best sites we ever saw, and told her what was in the letter instead of writing it.

WEDDINGS

ROSS—MOORE

Dressed in tailored suit, white stocks formed a lovely background for the marriage of Betty Marie Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Moore, of Belleville, to James Hamilton Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ross, also of Belleville, which took place in Christ Church, Belleville, on Saturday, April 21, 1951.

The Rev. Canon J. F. Creeggan, B.A., rector of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. J. B. Leddingham, church organist, rendered the traditional wedding music and the soloist, Mr. Jack Dunn, sang before the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her wedding gown of white faille taffeta over satin, fashioned with ballet bodice buttoned down the back and bouffant skirt with full train. Her long tight-fitting sleeves ending in points over the hands, and the skirt was gracefully full ending in a train. Her fingertip length veil of net and lace was held in place by a halo of matching lace, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations, white hyacinth bells, white snapdragons and white net.

Miss "Bud" Bergeron, of Belleville, was maid of honor, becoming in pale green taffeta with matching floral halo, and carrying a bouquet in coral arrangement of blue iris and orchid and lavender sweetpeas and green net.

Miss Lois Ross, of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom, also wore pale mauve, nylon with matching floral halo and carried a similar nosegay in circular arrangement.

The groom were fashioned on similar lines with stand-up collar, molded jacket and full floor-length skirts.

Mr. Bill Williams, of Demorestville, was groomsman. Ushers were Mr. Moore, brother of the bride, and Mr. Harold Babcock, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

At the reception, which was held in the Parish Hall, the bride's mother, gowned in grey lace with grey and green accessories and corsage of yellow roses received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore deep wave faille taffeta with white and gold accessories, and corsage of white and yellow roses with gold ribbon.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Morris and the grandmother of the bridegroom, Mrs. C. M. Baker, both were present and wore corsages of tiny red rosebuds, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tier, blue bird wedding cake, topped with blue forget-me-nots and sweetpeas, was surrounded by a fluff of blue tulle and flanked by tall blue candles in silver candelabra. White sweetpeas, white hyacinth bells, white asters, white gladioli in sterns carried out the bridal effect. The guest tables had mauve sweetpeas and ferns.

The bride's gift to her bridesmaids and maid of honor were necklaces and to the flowergirls and mothers are born and cared for. The pre-natal section has been in operation for 23 years and is supported by the I.O.D.E.

Twelve years ago Dr. Molony was transferred to Prince Albert and in 1945 to Saskatoon.

Lists Qualities Teachers Should Possess

Mrs. Helen M. Ward, executive secretary of the Federation of Women Teachers of Ontario, told the spring meeting of the Hastings South Women's Federation in Prince Charles School, Wednesday night, that they must possess four qualities to be first class teachers. They must be ethical, loyal, understanding and co-operative.

Mrs. Ward outlined the Federation as being more of an organization working for the benefit of teachers, trustees, parents and children, and less of a union. It helps to raise the standard of education by interviewing students who wish to enter normal schools.

Mrs. Ward was introduced by Mrs. Helen Shetler, and thanked by Miss Beryl Gilbert, of Trenton. Other speakers on the program were Inspector H. Macklem, Inspector Hastings South; L. A. Kells, inspector-administrator of Belleville Public Schools; Miss Clarke, of Port Hope, 1st vice president of the provincial federation.

Entertainment was provided by Gail Juby, Shannonville, and Linda Lennox, of the city, who did two dance numbers. Prizes and awards were served by Federation members, and a tour of the school was made.

Baby Race Outcome Of House Shortage

Richmond Surrey, England. (CP)—Britain's housing shortage is resulting in a sort of "baby race", Councillor P. W. Pengilly told Richmond council.

To qualify for a house or flat, couples seem to concentrate on having the greatest number of children in the shortest possible time, said the councillor.

Pengilly said he has personal knowledge of such cases. For instance, one couple who married three years ago admitted they deliberately had children in the hope of improving their accommodation.

Another couple, living in one room with two children, was told by the authorities there would be a greater chance of a house if there were three children. They obliged—and called again at the council offices the day after the third child was born.

Pengilly warned that such child rates only one point under the priority system giving the much simpler to get housing priority points on things like overcrowding, war service, or separation."

Mr. and Mrs. Cl[illegible] outstanding musicians of Chicago, ministered in song marimba and violin, to the near-filled auditorium of the Alliance Tabernacle on Wednesday evening.

Following the introduction of the musicians by the pastor, the Reverend Wm. Cleary, the audience enjoyed old hymns as Mr. Jordan played the unusual arrangements for the marimba and violin, while Mrs. Jordan's rich soprano voice added much to the program. Mrs. Olive Kirkpatrick was accompanist.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are making a tour of Ontario and the New England States before leaving for Quito, Ecuador, where they will serve on the music staff of HCJB. Previous to the message, colored films, "The Call of the Andes" describing the work of that station in the broadcasting of the Gospel, were shown.

Mr. Jordan's text for Mr. Jordan's message was that thirty years from now what will we be doing for God? Let us surrender our lives and hearts to God now, and thirty years from now we will look back and know we made a right decision.

In closing, Mrs. Jordan sang the missionary hymn "Lord Send Me" accompanying herself on a piano of Christian witness through music, song, picture and word.

Gold Service Valued At $100,000 Shown

Montreal—A $100,000 gold tea and coffee service hand-made by Adie Brothers Limited of Birmingham, England, went on display at Morgan's, where it will be shown for a week.

One the first visitors to view the fabulous "Windsor" set was Mary Pickford, star of silent films. Tiny and with an air of perennial youth, the attractive blonde film personality who is now a producer in her own right, was shopping in the store when the display opened, and dropped around for a visit.

Miss Pickford won fame on the screen as "America's Sweetheart". Smartly turned out in a checked box jacket, the former star was keenly interested in the seven piece service, and bombarded an attendant with questions.

The set, which contains a total of 427.275 ounces of 18 carat gold, consists of, a large coffee pot; two and a half cup capacity; a hot water jug, two and a third cup capacity; a sugar basin and cover, cream jug, waste basin and serving tray.

Service Hand-Chased

The service, the design of which is based on a set dated 1728 now in the collection of historic English plate in Windsor Castle, is delicately and elaborately handchased. It was designed by Fernand Piret, chief designer for Adie Brothers for 37 years, and was completed last June to mark the 600th anniversary of the institution of English Hall Mark on silver and gold wares.

The mark is a guarantee of quality and craftmanship. It was started in the fourteenth century to indicate origin, purity and date of an article. The story of the Windsor service is said to be the largest piece of its scope and size to be hallmarked in Birmingham.

In England, every finished item of gold or silver ware has to be sent to a government assay office for testing as to quality. With this set, the spout of one of the pots failed to measure up to standard, and so had to be removed and redone.

A case made of amboyna wood from South Africa and Honduras mahogany, lined with red silk and velvet, is used to display the service. It has been shown in more than 50 United States cities, and is now touring Canada. It will be flown back to England at the end of next week, where it will be featured at the Festival of Britain.

Miss Olive Sparling Addresses Rally On 'Child Life'

One of the most successful rallies in the Belleville Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, was held on Wednesday, with Miss Olive Sparling, B.R.E., M.A., secretary of younger groups, and leader of the Mission Circles, C.G.I.T., Mission Bands and Baby Bands.

Mrs. F. R. Harback welcomed the assembly in Tabernacle Church in the afternoon, under the sponsorship of Mrs. W. B. May, presbyterial secretary for Mission Bands, and Mrs. O. Bertrand, presbyterial secretary for Baby Bands. Mrs. May repeated the fine worship service that Mrs. Harback had recently given at the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch on "The Meaning of Service."

Right Leadership

Miss Sparling read the "Beatitudes for Teachers of Children", and said that "people who work with groups of children are the hardest working folk in the church if they give the kind of leadership that the children need, strong, healthy convictions. Our job of the Christian fellowship and service will come the desire to give. In order to be a leader today one must have much help and preparation. No one ever comes to the place where she knows all there is to be known. We have to be growing people in order to lead growing children. Training is important."

She pointed out the necessity for Christian education and a missionary educational program to give nothing short of the best there is to give that childhood today may be in adult life tomorrow, such splendid Christian characters as known in the works of Gladstone, Tennyson, Abraham Lincoln, Chopin, Mendelssohn and Elizabeth Browning.

"Buzz" Groups

Miss Sparling broke the assembly up into six "Buzz" groups of eight or ten persons from the Eight Baby Bands and 36 Mission Bands. Here, timely discussion centered into what the resume showed dozen of different projects had been adopted in individual bands. These were listed on a blackboard and dealt with when the "Buzz" groups reassembled. So interesting was this phase of the work, that discussion continued on during a refreshing cup of tea served by the Afternoon Auxiliary of the W.M.S.

The rally of the C.G.I.T. and Mission Bands in Bridge St. United Church was sponsored by the presbyterial secretaries, Mrs. Harback and Mrs. Bertrand, Davidson respectively. Miss Sparling gave a brief address in which she stated that the program of these groups is a democratic one which teaches girls to live together as Christian people and help to understand the world about them.

The Church at Work

"In our missionary study we have the opportunity to learn and see the work of Christ at work across the world and it deepens our loyalty to our church. Our missionary program is alive and interesting and there is much need and great opportunity for the young people who dedicate their lives to the Christian Church. It is just as normal a thing to be a church worker as it is to be a nurse or a doctor or that of any other vocation."

Again Miss Sparling broke the gathering up into groups of Mission Band groups where much information and help was given.

Holloway Street Mission Circle conducted worship service under the leadership of Beth Davis, Lenore Wilkes and Kay Jones presenting the story of Silas Marner, a man who tried two ways of living; his early life was spent accumulating gold, later through the way of service he not only helped the community but discovered an abiding happiness and peace of mind. Helen Griffith, accompanied by Ruth Bidwell, sang "The Stranger of Galilee".

Mrs. Ralph Morden expressed the thanks and appreciation to Miss Sparling for the inspiration and guidance that she gave.

Miss Sparling met with the Afternoon Auxiliary of Gilead Church on the Carlton circuit on Tuesday afternoon and from there she went to Tabernacle where she was a guest speaker at a Mother and Daughter C.G.I.T. and Explorer banquet in Grace United Church. On her visit to Belleville, Miss Sparling was entertained by Mrs. O. Bertrand, Corbyville; Mrs. C. D. McLellan, Napanee; Mrs. A. C. Drysdale, Belleville, and Mrs. F. Wilson, O.S.D.

Crisp Salads Fine Fare For Spring Meals

By KAY REX
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, April 27 — (CP)—In the spring, a crisp salad is excellent fare for jaded appetites.

And it's still too young in the season for the stores to have great variety in the way of fruits and vegetables — lucky ones that is — tomatoes and head lettuce still are fairly plentiful.

And a tomato - and - lettuce salad is good news any time.

To have those leaves crisp and green, soak the lettuce in cold water. Then dry in a clear tea - towel. Separate the leaves, cut to size, and place in a salad-bowl.

A brief soaking in hot water will loosen the skins of the tomatoes, making their removal an easy job.

Slice the tomato and mix with the lettuce.

Now, fish your wooden salad - spoon out a dash of salt and pepper (an additional dash of dry mustard adds a piquant flavor.) Fill the spoon with salad oil, plus a little vinegar. Mix with the salad - fork and pour over lettuce and tomatoes.

Repeat amounts of oil and vinegar according to the proportions of lettuce and tomatoes. Avoid using too much vinegar.

Toss the salad.

This, by the way, is a favorite among connoisseurs of French food. Good too. And more important — it's easy to make.

Palate Freshners

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, recommend diced cooked beets and diced canned pears served in a cabbage cup and blended with mayonnaise.

Other basic recipes for salads:

Shredded cabbage, grated Canadian cheddar cheese and cooked peas combined with French dressing.

Canned peaches, pears and diced apple served with cottage cheese or cheese balls.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Love is love—or thinks he is—to the wrong girl . . .

Dear Miss Fairfax:

What is a fellow to do when he is in love with a girl and she is engaged to marry? She is 18 and I am 18, and whenever I go out with her she tells me all about the only guy for her. Yet when I ask her to break her engagement to the other one, she keeps holding back. Maybe it's because he has money and a new car, while I only have an old tin lizzie. She's always telling me to get a new car, but I still go to school and can't afford one.

I hadn't seen her for a month until the other night at our annual school prom. I had asked another girl to go, and when we got there the first girl and the boy she is engaged to were already there. She came over and asked me to dance, and while we were dancing, she told me she did not know she really loved me until she saw me with this other girl. I felt stiff after words to break her engagement.

Should I keep trying to get her to break her engagement, or go steady with the other girl who tells me she loves me, too?

W. C.

Dear W.C.:

My advice to you is neither to keep nagging at this girl to break her engagement or to start going steady with the second one. Your better nature is perfectly clear that neither you nor the girl who is engaged know your own minds. If you are going to play around with [illegible] and tries to keep you dangling, then she is not very serious about her fiance and shouldn't be engaged to him anyway. And if you, as a girl, suggest, would be just as content going steady with the second girl, then your affections aren't very deeply involved, either.

I think you should stop having anything to do with a girl who doesn't want to marry someone, unless she is honest enough to make the decision that she really doesn't want to marry him and free herself to go with others. As for you, the most sensible thing you can do is to go around with a number of girls, until you are older and ready to make a mature decision.

Accused of stealing her friend's sweetheart

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 15 years old and recently went to a play with my folks and my girl friend. We met a fellow there that she said she liked, and because I have a broken leg, he offered to carry me into the theatre.

The next day my girl friend accused me of trying to steal this boy, just because I was talking to his sister on the phone. How am I going to get her to believe that I am not stealing him, and how shall I tell this fellow that his girl is jealous of him? She has accused me of stealing him four times since we were at the playhouse?

A. S.

Dear A.S.:

Don't keep arguing with your friend about this matter. Since you've told her that you have no intention of stealing her boy friend, let it go at that and make sure that you don't give her any reason to think otherwise.

Then have too much sense to say anything at all to the boy himself about the girl's accusations. It would not only be very disloyal to her to do so, but would make you look foolish. Also, if your girl friend found out that you had told him any such thing—and it wouldn't be at all unlikely that he would tell her himself—she might feel she had reason to suspect your motives.

MARIO ... in his distinctive feature about FOOD ... What's Cooking?

"It tastes just like sausage," the young lad said when he first ate pineapple. He was given the fruit by Frederick Williams III of Germany.

The young lad was simply trying to describe a new taste in terms of an old one. Since sausage was a luxury, this new luxury must also be sausage.

Although pineapple is a familiar food known to millions as a dessert, it is still unfamiliar as a garnish for meat and poultry. The exception is ham with pineapple, which is widely served.

But the tart, sweet fruit enhances equally well such things as broiled lamb, creamed chicken or smoked tongue. Rich tasting meat, such as liver, is delicious when garnished with pineapple.

As a change from the usual fried liver and bacon, serve the liver broiled on a metal skewer with alternate chunks of meat and fruit. Brush the skewer with a French butter sauce just before serving.

Liver and Pineapple on Skewer. Serves 4.

1 lb. calf's liver or beef liver
No. 2 can pineapple chunks
2 slices bacon, half cooked
Salad oil
Salt—pepper
1-4 cup dry white wine
1-4 teaspoon crushed whole pepper
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons finely-chopped parsley
Toast

Wipe liver with a damp cloth. Cut into cubes about 2-4 inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Drain pineapple well.

Cut bacon into squares about 1 inch.

Divide the liver, pineapple and bacon into 4 equal servings. Fasten alternate pieces of each on metal skewers. Brush lightly with salad oil.

Preheat broiler. Broil about 6 to 8 minutes. Turn to brown evenly on all sides.

Put the wine and crushed pepper in a small saucepan. Cook until wine has been reduced to 2 tablespoons. Remove from flame. Add the butter and parsley. Stir until butter melts.

Put the skewers on toast. Spoon the sauce over the skewers just before serving.

Delightful For Daytime

—Tissue faille frocks

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

CAFE au lait tissue faille is used for a very charming dress that should be smartly at home anywhere during the day, from luncheon on. The tiny collar is so handled that it permits a necklace to slip through the curved cut-out. A gathered and puffed bertha describes the yoke line. The sleeves are of five-eighth length. The remainder of the line is slim save for the slight drapery at the kneeline.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

Memo for table manners

You should wipe your mouth before drinking. Then no smudge on the edge of the glass. P.S.—Mothers, you should teach your children this very important (and attractive) rule of table manners.

Invitations, plans, for spring shower

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. The shower I am planning to give would be in the afternoon, and I will serve tea, fancy sandwiches and small cakes. I would also like to serve cocktails to those who wish them. When should I serve the cocktails—before the shower? And what do you suggest I serve with them? What would be a suitable hour for me to suggest that the guests arrive?

2. What kind of invitations do you suggest? Do you approve of the regular shower invitations? Should I mention "Tea" on the invitations?

W. N.

1. I suggest that you name three o'clock as the hour for the arrival of the guests (or, for a small shower, three-thirty, if you prefer). When they have all arrived, begin the shower-procedure; the presentation of the gifts to the guest of honor, and the opening of the gifts by the guest of honor and her expressions of appreciation. Don't rush this part of the party . . . make it leisurely, chatty, "sociable". Then comes the serving of the tea (and/or coffee, usually nowadays); and after that, the cocktails. That brings the service of the cocktails approximately where it belongs, pre-dinner. (For cocktail accessories, have dishes of nuts, potato chips, and other tidbits.)

2. The kind of shower-invitations favored usually depends on the number of guests to be invited. For a small number, the invitations are given informally verbally or by telephone. Or she may write informally on semi-note paper or on the inside pages of her informals. Or, for a festive touch, she may send shower invitations to be filled in with the information details. These shower invitations are indeed entirely correct . . .

and nowadays you can find these cards changingly designed, bright and gay, and with a certain dignity, too, that formerly was too often lacking.

If, on your invitations, you name three or three-thirty as the hour for your shower, I am sure that the guests would take for granted tea or other late-afternoon refreshments would be served after the shower. However, you may call your shower a "Shower-Tea" if you wish.

Eating the fruit in a fruit drink

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When drinks are served with fruit in them, should the fruit be eaten? And, if so, what should you do with the rind?

T. I.

The fruit in a fruit drink . . . always tempting . . . may certainly be eaten if you can capture it after you have drunk the drink itself, pick up the cherry or stick of pineapple or slice of orange or lemon, or whatever, and eat it with as much "social assurance" as possible.

Chapman W. I. Elects New 1951 Officers

Tweed—Recently, the annual meeting of Chapman W.I., was held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Countryman, with 12 members and five visitors present; three of whom joined during the meeting.

Election of officers was the main order of business, these being—president, Mrs. Albert Martin; 1st vice president, Mrs. Sam Dafoe; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Harry Coulter; secretary-treasurer Mrs. Robert Wheeler; district director, Mrs. Howard Countryman; branch directors, Mrs. Stanley Bateman, Mrs. W. A. Countryman, Mrs. Wilbur Bateman; pianist, Mrs. Harry Foster; auditors, Mrs. W. LaBerge, Mrs. Thos. Lynn; conveners of standing committees, Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. Bernard Hunt; Historical Research and Current Events, Mrs. John Rannie; Citizenship and Education, Mrs R. Clarence Graham; Home Economics and Health, Mrs. Stanley Webb; Community Activities and Public Relations, Mrs. Lorne Cunning; Resolutions, Mrs. Sam Dafoe; flower committee, Mrs. Roy Hall and Mrs. Stanley Bateman.

Cooking School

Robin Hood Flour Mills have offered to conduct their cooking school at a future date, Mrs. Howard Countryman was delegated to contact the theatre management to see if the theatre would be available for that purpose. In connection with the Girls' Club, it was decided to present each girl completing her project with a silver spoon and to pay leaders' expenses to Training School, Achievement Day and Fairs which the girls must attend. The new project "Meat in the Menu" will not be pursued by this Institute.

Leaflets describing the Co-op Hospitalization plan were distributed among the members. Those wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity of having the protection of this hospitalization plan should attend the May meeting where it will be discussed at length with the object of forming a group in this Institute.

Under Standing Committees, Mrs. John Rannie and Mrs. Borden Countryman read the reports of their year's work, as compiled for the district conveners.

Equal Terms

The first number on the program, prepared by Mrs. Borden Countryman, was a paper given by Mrs. Bernard Hunt which stressed the need for meeting on equal terms. If nations would meet on equal terms there would be no need for wars. One can learn from the ignorant as well as the educated. Intolerance is the curse of the world. Mrs. Stanley Webb gave a very amusing reading, "Miranda on Wages for Wives".

The roll call, "Written Suggestions for Next Year's Program" brought in many helpful suggestions, two of them being to have both a grandmothers' and a girls' meeting sometime during the year. It was also suggested to hold a birthday party at the May meeting, this to be an annual event, as the W.I. was organized in that month. Roslin Institute is to be invited to the first birthday party, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Bernard Hunt, on Tuesday, May 15.

Mrs. Mitchell Rannie, Mrs. Bernard Hunt, Mrs. Harold Foster, Mrs. John Rannie and Mrs. W. A. Countryman then served refreshments while all enjoyed a social half hour.

TEACHERS GET RAISE

Port Colborne, April 26 (CP)—Port Colborne high school teachers Wednesday accepted a $600 yearly salary raise from the Board of Education—$100 less than they had demanded.

Maximum annual salaries are now $4,500. Specialists receive $4,800 as against $5,625 asked by the teachers.

The agreement was approved after teachers met with their negotiator, I. M. Robb, field secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation.

RATIONING BLAMED

London, April 26 — (AP) — Food rationing was blamed today for wrecking the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Brooks.

Mrs. Brooks, who is Irish, went to Dublin with their two children five years ago. Charging desertion, Brooks offered one of her letters as evidence in his divorce suit:

"I will not, with the kids, share semi-starvation with you in England. We are staying where the food is."

The divorce was granted.

CANADA WANTS

On that question, Canada feels [illegible] countries with forces in [illegible] should be consulted. Canada told the U.S. five months ago that she considered it important "that no military operations take place outside Korean borders without specific authority from the U.N."

Mr. Pearson said Canada has not yet been asked to concur "in any proposal to authorize U.N. retaliation on enemy bases outside Korea, possibly for the very reason that there has been no massive enemy air bombing from Manchuria."

Wary Spotlight

Mr. Pearson's statement, made at the House opening, took the spotlight away from a slow-moving repetitious debate on resolutions to implement the government's 1951-52 budget.

That debate continued opposition attack on the increase in the general sales tax to 10 per cent from eight per cent. It included suggestions that the government withdraw the increase and replace it by a boost in taxes on liquor.

The Chamber voted 75 to 37 against a motion, introduced by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre), which would have done that very thing—substitute a new hike in the liquor tax for the increase in the sales levy.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to finance minister Abbott, repeated Mr. Abbott's budget declaration that he felt the point of diminishing returns had been reached in liquor taxes and that another increase would encourage bootlegging.

Wants Filibuster

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, asked the C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative parties to join his group in a filibuster against the sales tax increase. They could force the government to withdraw the increase by keeping the Chamber "here until Christmas".

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the sales tax was "wrong in principle" and struck heavily at those who lived on pensions and other fixed incomes.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) said that while the cost of living was going up the government gave more "speed to the merry-go-round" by adding to the sales tax.

George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley), joining those calling for a liquor-tax increase, suggested such an increase would neither reduce consumption nor encourage moonshine liquor.

PREMIER JONES.

Douglas MacFarlane, 34-year-old president of the provincial C.C.F. party, said the vote the party's candidates received was "highly encouraging". He himself did not contest a seat but his father, W. H. MacFarlane, ran in 4th. Prince.

Mrs. Hilda Ramsay, defeated under the C.C.F. banner in 3rd Prince, was the first woman to contest a provincial election.

Premier Jones and his party's candidates were better campaigners and his government had kept itself youthful "even though I am 73 and have said I will soon retire."

Mr. Jones had previously made a similar statement when he accepted nomination in 4th Queen's but he did not elaborate. There have been rumors he will either go to the Senate or retire from active politics.

Mr. Bell said he was bitterly disappointed with the returns from the rural areas. The election, he said, was called at a "very inopportune time and many voters were unable to reach the polls due to weather and road conditions."

Almost complete tabulation by The Canadian Press of the party vote for assemblymen—the closest approximation to a population vote compilation — showed that Liberals polled 51.5 per cent, Progressive Conservatives 46.1 and C.C.F. 2.4.

Assured of Victory Early

In early returns last night, Conservatives jumped into a lead. But Liberals picked up and were assured of election at 7:39 p.m. AST. The 245 Island polls closed at 8 p.m.

Some of the ridings were decided on the last polls.

A newsboat had to be used to collect the results of the deciding poll in Mr. Bell's riding. Slippery roads, made difficult by a driving rain—a feature of Island life at this time of the year—and a power failure delayed returns in other crucial ridings.

Conservatives took three seats previously held by Liberals but Liberals captured four held by Conservatives since 1947.

Platforms of both the older parties featured promises of assistance for the Island's two primary industries— farming and fishing.

Papers, Radio Used

The campaign, covering only 26 days after the surprise dissolution of the House March 31, was conducted mainly by newspaper and radio.

Both parties held out the possibility that this may have been the last contest under the Islands unique electoral system.

Under this system two types of representatives — councillors and assemblymen — are elected although there is no distinction in the House.

There are varying qualifications for voting for the two, however, and it is possible for one voter to ballot for all 30 candidates. In fact many persons do vote in more than one riding.

The Liberal platform did not elaborate on what reform was possible but speculation is that the assemblyman—councillor designation will be abolished and 30 candidates elected for 30 new ridings.

At present two candidates, one assemblyman and one councillor, are elected from each of the five districts in the three counties—Prince, Queen's and King's.

HISTORIC RITES

More traditional ceremonies are re-enacted yearly in London than in any other city in the world.

MINTO

Minto—On Friday evening, in the Orange Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reid were tendered a farewell party by their friends and neighbors of this community, before leaving for their new home. Mr. James Johnson, president of the Cheese Company, acted as chairman for the evening and expressed regret on losing Ernie and Peggy from the community, but wished them every success in their new location.

After a short program Mrs. Frank McGee read an address, following which the presentation of an occasional chair was made to Mr. and Mrs. Reid and toys to the children.

Each made suitable replies, inviting everyone to visit them in their new home at Evergreen. "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", was sung, after which refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Personals

Miss Colleen Colden has secured a position in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Verney Heath and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan and Beverley were Wednesday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hagerman called on Mr. Harry Mayo, who has been ill, last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clenhenta, Ivanhoe, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Courtney.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON OF THE WEEK

Let's Ask for Mountains

By ROY L. SMITH

There are those who dismiss the Old Testament rather airily as if it had no value for men who live in the atomic age, just because the allusions it describes are ancient and the customs it pictures are hard to pronounce.

Those brave men who fought out great issues in the midst of primitive circumstances, however, have much to teach a generation that is accustomed to escalators and air-conditioning. The case of Caleb, a heroic old Hebrew, is especially interesting.

The Old Hero, Caleb

The Hebrews, who entered the desert with Moses, were a terrified, unorganized, undisciplined horde of slaves. Forty years of conflict with the desert made of them a hard-bitten nation abundantly able to cope with nature in the raw and enemies even more savage.

The nation which swarmed into the Promised Land won it by the hard way, and when it came to dividing up the land that had been wrenched from the Canaanites it was perfectly natural that every man was determined to get the best farm he could lay his hands on.

The whole land of Palestine has never been good agricultural country, with the exception of one small valley in the south. But the narrow valleys did provide limited acreages for crops and room for vines and orchards. There was a wild scramble for the best farms.

The Sunday School lesson for April 29: "The Settlement in Canaan." Joshua 11:1-9; 14; 24; Judges 1-3; 21:25.

Among the leaders of the Hebrews there was one—the old hero, Caleb—who had borne the brunt of the battle, and whose first concern was for the welfare of the state. To him the prosperity of all the people came ahead of the fortune of any one of the people, especially if he was that one.

Greatness Stood Aside

It is the more to consider the contribution that Caleb had made to the welfare of the state, he would be compelled to say that the old man had earned the best farm in Palestine. No one, not even Joshua perhaps, had served the people more faithfully or more unselfishly.

His speech, in which he recites his labors on behalf of Israel and his devotion to the national cause, is one of the most dignified and noble in all the Old Testament. Even Moses himself never showed up to better advantage than did this old son of the desert as he declared his loyalty to the cause of the Hebrews.

But he could not bring himself to unseemly contention for power or private benefit. Let others seize the valley farms, where the livings were easy and the crops might be abundant. Let others climb to fortune over the shoulders of their fellows. Caleb desired to keep the peace of his own soul and stand aside.

He Asked For a Mountain

While others bickered and brawled Caleb turned to Joshua and said—with his eyes on the barren cliffs that towered against the sky: "Now, therefore, give me this hill-country!"

Those who are truly great never ask for the valleys. They always petition for the mountains, where the livings are scanty, the dangers are real, and the heights are inspiring.

A clever and discerning newspaper reporter, telling the story of a pioneer in the state of Tennessee said, "He was one of those men who went through life putting up doors for opportunity to knock on."

A careful reading of history reveals the fact that opportunity has usually gone to the mountains in search of doors to knock on.

"Now, therefore, give me this mountain!"

Here is the 1951 CONSUL, the newest, most outstanding British car in Canada—British-built by Ford. Here is an all-new car, new even to its name—new flowing dynamic body lines from bumper to bumper—new from the ground up—new all-steel body—new interior styling—and a new economical, powerful 4-cylinder engine.

Never before has any British car included all the desired features in low-cost motoring. When recently introduced at London's famous English Motor Show, the brilliant new CONSUL created a sensation.

The CONSUL is backed by the traditional high gasoline mileage (up to 37 miles per gallon) of Ford's British-built cars. Built on a 100-inch wheelbase for economical operation and ease of handling, the CONSUL'S advanced engineering offers big-car spaciousness. It's built for comfortable, restful motoring over every type of road in any kind of weather and especially designed to withstand the extremes of Canadian climate.

Examine the CONSUL inside and out. Notice the outstanding beauty of line and proportion. Open the big wide doors and step down into the well-appointed interior with harmonizing genuine or art leather upholstery. Look at the one-piece windshield and rear window, both curved to eliminate glare, which provide increased visibility. And the CONSUL offers the latest, most advanced type of fresh-air heating and ventilating system.

Yes, the CONSUL is an exciting, sensational new car. See Ford's 4-door CONSUL—it's destined to become Canada's favourite British-built car.

DISTINCTIVE INTERIOR BEAUTY—The CONSUL interior is richly finished and blends with smart exterior styling. Genuine leather or art leather upholstery. Plenty of room-ins, leg and elbow room—front and back. The front seat is spring-balanced, easily adjusted.

FORD'S British-Built CONSUL OFFERS SO MUCH MORE!

He Came to Kill

By Adeline McElfresh

November rain slanted against windows and November mist penetrated the bleak old house on Thorne Hill until not even the roaring flames in the fireplace could banish the cold.

But it was more than physical chill that sent a mental shiver to Peter Thorne's inmost mind. It was the grim, bitter, frightening knowledge that Pops had been terribly right. She shouldn't have come here. No amount of money—not even the magnificent salary Miss Maggie was paying her to act as companion — was worth living in the same house with these Thornes who, though they were her kin, hated her.

One of these days—

Purposefully, Leeana blotted out the thought. Let the Thornes dissemble; certainly their battles were no concern of hers, unless they were directing one of their frequent attacks at old Miss Maggie. Then, and only then, did they rouse the slightest attention in Leeana. Perhaps that was why they hated her so, Leeana told herself. Because she stood between them and the matriarch of the Thorne clan.

Sighing at memory of the most recent set-to, Leeana reminded herself that more were to come. Then Peter came, for instance.

Peter Thorne was due to arrive in Thorne city on the 4.43 train. Coming from New York on some errand of his own, he had given no information in his terse wire except the time of arrival and "meet me." No "please." No "love" to round out the 10 words. Just "meet me."

But that, as Leeana gathered, was the way Peter Thorne was. At least that had been the impression she had gotten from Miss Maggie when she had relayed the message, telephoned out from town, to her.

"How like Peter!" the old lady had said in her high, thin voice that sounded eerie no matter how pleasant she tried to look. "I wonder what he wants this time." So Peter was like the rest of them, Leeana had thought then—and now. She supposed he looked like them, too—at least like his brother, Jasper, who, though he was short and heavy-set, had a pinched air of face that belonged on a thin wiry man of early-old age. But Jasper was only 45, so Peter might resemble Agatha, Miss Maggie's "young" sister and Jasper's other aunt.

Miss Aggie, who was 74, laid permanent claim to 51—and managed to look it. She kept her hair in curlers at night and spent hours each day primping before any mirror that happened to be handy. If she didn't stop using that horrid red-purple lipstick—"Leeana!"

Miss Maggie's thin voice rose and fell like bagpipes in a stiff wind. Leeana went scurrying up the wide, shining walnut stairs. Agatha heard Miss Maggie, she'd come too and there would be a scene. Miss Maggie didn't want people feeling sorry for her. Leeana paused in the hall outside her employer's door, took a deep breath and went in casually.

"You wanted me, Miss Maggie?"

"Would I have called if I hadn't, young woman?" was the tart reply.

"Of course not." Leeana gave a placating smile. "But it's almost time for me to go to town. Do you still want me to meet Peter?"

"Certainly I want you to meet him! You think I want Jasper running to him with all sorts of lies—or Sondra?"

Leeana busied herself about the room. Poor Miss Maggie, with only a few months to live. Well, she thought, I'll be nice to her—kind to her. The others were so obviously—just waiting.

Miss Maggie's anger died away as suddenly as it had sprung to life. She smiled and reached out a scrawny hand.

"You don't hate me, child. I can be sure about you."

"Of course you can, Miss Maggie." Leeana never called her "aunt" although the old woman was her grandfather's sister, the feeling of kinship just wasn't there.

"Then run along and meet Peter. And don't forget to find out if you can—what brought him here." She laughed, her voice cracking with bitterness. "Certainly it isn't love for his old aunt or the decent desire to see her—just once more!"

The 4.43 was late. Leeana prowled around the platform, talking with the few villagers whom she knew, watching the expressmen manoeuvre their wagon into place beside the track, anything to keep from thinking how she would ask Peter Thorne what are your intentions, old boy?" Golly! What an assignment Miss Maggie had given her this time! It was worse than stealing her to the sheriff's office to finagle suppression of the record of Jasper's arrest last month. That hadn't worked at all; she wondered if this would be any more?

"Well, here's your little Miss Fixit!"

The voice was laughing, poking fun at recalled embarrassment. Leeana felt the first sensation of freezing vanish in a wave of red that swept to the roots of her short-cropped brown hair.

U.N. FORCES RETREAT, TRADING GROUND FOR ENEMY LIVES

The long expected "human sea" offensive of hordes of Chinese infantrymen has rolled back U.N. forces all along the Korean front. At (1) the reds captured the eastern hub of Inje. (2) Mongol infantry aided in the capture of the Seoul-Chunchon road. In the west, Chinese regiments infiltrated behind Allied lines and forced troops out of the road centre of Yonchon (3) and smashed farther down the road to Uijongbu. The enemy also occupied Kaeson (4). Allied headquarters described the fighting as serious, but their retreat was part of the tactics calling for trading of "real estate" for enemy lives. Canada's Princess Pats are fighting northeast of Seoul. — Central Press Canadian.

Meat Shortages Turning Up Across States

New York, April 27 (AP) — Meat shortages are turning up here and there across the United States, Packers say they're only mild so far in some places, but the worst since the Second World War in others.

Mostly the shortages are blamed on "partway" price controls which have disrupted normal meat distribution.

An Associated Press survey of large dealers in 15 cities showed:

Lamb scarce almost everywhere—partly a seasonal condition before spring lambs reach market in volume.

Beef and veal supplies below normal to tight in New York, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Charlotte, N.C., Chicago, Richmond, Boston, Cleveland, Hawaii, Conn., and Baltimore. (The Dominican Republic information office in New York announced plans to fly 450,000 pounds of beef into the New York Market in the next month because of the shortage.

Adequate supplies (except lamb) in Detroit, Atlanta, San Francisco, St. Louis and poultry apparently is in normal supply.

Most packers blamed the shortages on the fact that livestock prices were allowed to go on up after the general price freeze last January put ceilings on meat.

They said small processors with higher ceilings were able to buy animals away from the big packers, taking meat supplies out of normal channels in many areas.

Some slaughterers and packers caught in the squeeze have been forced to reduce or suspend operations.

HAND OF CHIMPANZEE

Danver, Mass., April 27 (AP) —A hand found in the gutter here was identified yesterday as that of a chimpanzee. Police said the hand—at first thought to be that of a woman—probably came from a South American monkey hide, many of which are used in local tanneries.

FIVE-TON WEIGHT, 20 FEET LONG— THIS IS THE ATOM BOMB

In this copyrighted drawing the 1951 version of the atom bomb is pictured for the first time. It was drawn by cartoonist Jim Berryman, one of the first civilians to have flown on an A-bomb test mission and the first authorized to illustrate and describe the missile's exterior for the public. The report was cleared through the U.S. air force for security reasons. The bomb, it was stated, is approximately 20 feet long; 9 to 10 feet in diameter, and weighs 10,000 pounds. It can be set to explode 40 seconds after its release.—

Railway Board Orders Stiffer Regulations Aimed at Getting Greater Use of Rail Box Cars

Ottawa, April 27 — (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners today ordered stiffened regulations aimed at getting greater use of scarce railway box cars.

It increased the penalties levied on shippers and consignees for delaying the loading and unloading of cars beyond specified times.

The board, acting on application from the railways, granted part of their request for tougher regulations. The new penalty charges it ordered were not as high as those sought by the railways.

The Board also turned down a request from the railways for a prohibition on haulage of freight cars unless they were loaded to capacity.

The regulations sought by the railways, which were aimed at overcoming the current shortage of boxcars in Canada, would have been similar to wartime rules which were continuous until 1949.

In partially rejecting them, the board said that only a "limited emergency" exists now. It also said it was not satisfied the proposed maximum car loading regulations could be adequately policed.

The railway application called for:

1. Ordering shippers sending carload quantities of freight to load cars to their maximum capacity under penalty of having them refused by the railways.

2. Providing "penalty demurrage" — fines levied by the railways — on shippers and consignees keeping cars on sidings beyond specified times. The penalties would be about twice as stiff as normal demurrage charges.

The application was opposed by several groups including the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Those opposing it said that on the basis of last year's operations, the railways would get about $1,000,000 a year in fines, and they contended the value of the measures was questionable.

Municipal Authorities Cut Down on Proposed Taxes

Quebec, April 27 (CP)—Quebec municipal bosses sheared $500,000 from a proposed $1,200,000 in new taxes last night following solid opposition to the original plan from an aroused population.

Mayor Lucien Borne, presiding a meeting of the city's administrative committee, put through a new plan to make up for a big deficit in the $8,720,000 1951-52 budget.

The plan calls for a $505,000 municipal loan, and a boost in the real estate tax paid by landlords expected to yield $220,000 annually.

This plan eliminates proposed tenants and motorists taxes, and brims down from $60 to $25 a proposed increase in taxi licenses.

But the municipal upheaval that started when the 1951-52 budget was handed down last week is not over with the budget cuts.

The Quebec Landlords' Association today is scheduled to start action in superior court to oust the council from office for violating the city charter.

Stand Termed Scandalous

Theatre owners, who promised they will close down if a municipal amusement tax is adopted, learned that the tax will stand. The mayor termed their stand "scandalous".

Other proposed taxes that remain in the revised budget are the business and garbage-removal taxes.

Demands for the elimination of taxes on tenants and automobile owners were granted after the Quebec Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.-A.F.L.) threatened a 24-hour strike.

Counsel for the landlords will inscribe what is called a "quo warranto" brief under Quebec's civil code. If granted, this action will vacate the city's 17 aldermanic seats.

Taft Says Republicans Do Not Want To Run War Want to Prevent Appeasement

Washington, April 27 — (AP)— Senator Robert Taft (Rep., O.) said today he and other Republicans don't want to tell military leaders how to run the Korean War but do want to prevent "appeasement" of the Chinese.

Taft, who told the Senate yesterday the joint chiefs of staff are under the administration's thumb, said in an interview he does not believe Congress should try to enforce the military strategy proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"I'm interested in stopping any appeasement of the Chinese communists," he said. "I don't believe Congress can tell the joint chiefs of staff how to run the war—that they should bomb Manchurian bases, for instance.

"But I do think Congress can tell the administration what it ought not to do in the way of appeasing the Chinese communists."

The Ohio senator, who heads his party's policy committee, expressed his views on the objectives of a forthcoming investigation into President Truman's firing of MacArthur.

The Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees will inquire next Thursday into policy differences which led Truman to fire the general as Pacific commander.

MacArthur's scheduled appearance before the committees continued to be a subject of controversy.

Senator Ricard B. Russell (Dem., Ga.) chairman of the hearing, fought for closed sessions with security - checked testimony to be made public later.

Senator William F. Knowland (Rep. – Calif.) an armed services member, said that system won't do at all.

"For five years there has been too much discussion in private of policies which should not have been at all," he said. "Unless the public gets the maximum amount of information, this country is going to be divided worse than it is now."

NEW AIRPORT PLANNED

Singapore, April 27 (Reuters) —The British government has approved plans for a new airport for Singapore at a cost of 20,000,000 Malayan dollars ($6,000,000). The airport will have a 7,500-foot runway, long enough to take the De Havilland Comet, the world's first jet airliner.

Fanatic Young Officers Sent To Train in Korea

Berlin, April 27, (AP)— East Germany's communist police-army plans to send fanatic young officers to Korea for battlefront training with the Chinese reds, authoritative East German sources reported Thursday.

The first contingent will leave in June from a Russian war college where they are studying, the source said. They also reported that Russian-occupied East Germany is shipping supplies, including weapons, to Korea for communist troops.

Small groups of officers will move to the Korean warfront throughout the summer and fall, the sources said. Each group will spend about three months with the Chinese reds. Then the officers will return to East Germany to take high posts in the militarized 50,000-man Bereitschaften (alert units) it was said.

Allied officials said this information fitted with other reports that East Germany's communist bosses are stepping up the training of Bereitschaften officers.

These officials said more than 200 officers have been sent to Soviet war colleges for advanced training since February.

PICTON

Four-Year-Old Boy Suffers Burns on Legs

Picton— Garry Westervelt, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Westervelt, yesterday suffered severe burns on the leg when his clothing caught fire. The little boy had been watching his grandmother Mrs. John Westervelt, burn some papers. The bon-fire was apparently out when Mrs. Westervelt returned to the house. The child apparently walked into the embers and his pant leg caught fire. As he ran to the house, the blaze spread and the pant leg, stocking and underclothing were burned off. Mrs. Westervelt prevented greater injury when she wrapped the boy in a rug, extinguishing the flames. She suffered slight burns on the hands in doing so. Following medical attention, the boy was taken to the home of his parents.

Concert Proves Popular Event At Cherry Valley

Picton—A Shantymen's concert proved a popular event this week attracting overflow audiences to Cherry Valley hall on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Since seats were available at the admittance, the show is being repeated there next Monday night. Thirty men formed the cast, presenting a wide variety of entertainment in the episodic manner of setting. Lamps, saws, axes and other woodsmen supplies provided a background for the colorfully garbed men, while a huge lifelike black bear, occupied the front of the stage and provided the basis for many stories.

Features included a tall tales contest in which feats were related that rivalled those of the famed Baron Munchausen. A dance operation followed when a woodsmen was stricken with apoplectitis. Timber records were set in a log-sawing contest, the bobbing caddie of the show, showed them all up. Almost every kind of musical instrument was played, choruses, quartets and duets were interspersed with skits and comedy bits.

Proceeds of the show were donated to Salmon Point Church. On behalf of the W.A. Mrs. L. Fenwick expressed thanks to all who contributed and presented the producer, Phil Dodds, with a gift as a mark of appreciation. Proceeds of next Monday night's show will be given the Women's Institute for improvements to the township hall grounds.

WON'T ORGANIZE AGAINST ATTLEE

Aneurin Bevan, former minister of labor in the Attlee government, has followed up his resignation with the announcement he would not attempt to form an opposition bloc to the government. With him here is his wife, Jennie Lee, also a prominent figure in left-wing labor circles. — Central Press Canadian.

DESERONTO

Young and Old Fireman's Dance

Deseronto—Friday evening saw over 230 people at Camp Sunnidale for the Fireman's Dance to the music of Don Johnson and his Serenaders. Couples from Deseronto, Tweed, Marmora and intermediate points danced the hours away in modern and old-time rhythm.

Everyone was a fireman for the night, by wearing a fireman's hat made of red plastic, which added color and gaiety to the occasion.

Fine Orderly Dance

No small part of the enjoyment of the evening came from the orderly conduct of the affair as a whole. The boys of the Deseronto Fire Department, should be congratulated on putting on such a dance as can be enjoyed by everyone young and old in the community.

Reunion of four teen-agers as to title good time they had, are no contradiction of remarks from Ronald Fish. One of the latter said, "I never so enjoyed a dance before." Ladies' prize, a vase. The door prize was won by W. W. Hawley, R.R. 6, Napanee.

The firemen intend to use the proceeds to help purchase uniforms which will add to the morale of the brigade, and the dignity of the fireman's official status which is representing Deseronto in Ontario, and the United States at Firemen's meets and conventions, as well as on duty.

IVANHOE

Beulah Young People Present 'Singin' Bill Of Blue Ridge Hill'

Ivanhoe—Sponsored by the Ivanhoe W.I. "Singin' Bill of Blue Ridge Hill", a comedy in three acts by Harry Moreland, was presented by the young people of Beulah United Church, in Town Hall, on Friday evening last to a capacity audience although this was the second presentation of the play here.

Mr. R. Beckel acted as chairman for the evening's entertainment. During the intermission music was supplied by Mrs. Reg. Haggarty and Mrs. Milton Shaw sang "I'll Sail My Ship Alone".

This play was well cast and the different characters portrayed in skilful life-like acting. When different members of the cast suffered mumps, measles and "flu, according to tradition, the show went on and has been played 13 times before appreciative audiences.

Deserving of Praise

Mrs. Boyd Beckel, who directed the play merits well deserved praise. In several days' time a short notice gave a creditable performance playing the part of Carrie Green, a domineering old maid, on another occasion she played equally as well, the role of Katie Green, who was domineered by her sister.

In the absence of Pearl Lovibond, on Friday evening, she appeared in the role of Francine Bordelaise, a French secretary, and gave one the impression this part had been made for her.

Mr. Beckel on different occasions played with ease the role of "the young minister", and that of "Newton Ellis", originally taken by Elymer Rollins and Charles Keeble.

At the conclusion of the program, Mr. B. Beckel expressed grateful thanks to the cast for their splendid co-operation; to Mrs. Elymer Rollins, who assisted; to Mrs. Reg. Haggarty for instrumental and to Mrs. Milton Shaw, for vocal selections.

Mr. Sherry Lovibond, on behalf of the cast, in paying tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Beckel, said without their aid the play could not have carried on.

Mrs. William French, president of the W.I., spoke briefly, thanking all who had contributed to the success of the evening. The proceeds amounted to $78.

MARMORA

Choralians Present Fine Concert

Marmora—Under auspices of Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. a delightful concert was given by the Campbellford choralians in the town hall on Monday evening before a fair sized audience.

Assisting the choralians was Miss Mignon Maynecord, concert pianiste, who was greatly applauded for her bird impersonations and her seven whistling solos.

The Choralians were entertained by the I.O.D.E. at the close of the concert.

BISHOP IMPRISONED

Hong Kong, April 26—(Reuters)—The Chinese communists have imprisoned Bishop Rene Rotalen, 50, the French Roman Catholic bishop of Iping, Szechuan province, Catholic sources said today. He is the fourth foreign Roman Catholic bishop known to have been jailed by the Chinese communists, they said. Huguenin and two foreign priests in his diocese were arrested March 10 on charges of spying and other "acts against the people's government."

MADOC

Mr., Mrs. Gene Jordan Show Colored Films At Youth Rally

Madoc—On Monday evening a "Youth Rally" was held in Trinity United Church, Madoc, with a fine attendance, the pastor Rev. F. J. Lane was in charge and the meeting opened with a song service led by Miss Rodgers with Mrs. Donly at the piano, Rev. Mr. Bustch led in prayer.

Mr. Lane introduced Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jordan, missionaries, who are preparing to take up their duties in Quito, Ecuador, South America, early in the summer. With their service of duet and instrumental selections by Mr. Jordan, a mirambo soloist, a fine program was given.

Inspirational Music

Mrs. Jordan's rendition of several sacred solos were an inspiration as well as Mr. Jordan's mirambi selections. Sound and colored pictures on "The Call of the Andes" gave an idea of the fine work being carried on through the medium of radio in South America among the natives as well as broadcasting to other countries.

With the hope of attaining a 100,000 watt broadcasting station, the missionaries hope to broadcast to many foreign countries throughout the world, at present they are broadcasting in 17 different languages.

Following the pictures and musical program, Mr. Jordan gave an address on his work and plans for the future. The evening was worthwhile and long to be remembered by those who were privileged to be present at the service. While in Madoc they were entertained by Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Lane.

MOIRA

Moira — Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McIlroy and Mr. Willard McTaggart spent Thursday in Kingston visiting Mrs. McTaggart who is a patient at Kingston General Hospital.

The Young People held their monthly meeting in the vestry on Wednesday evening.

Glad to report that Mr. George Eilarby, who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital, is able to come to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bill Hazzard, where he will remain for a time before returning to his home in Moira.

Several of the children are confined to their homes with the measles.

Rev. M. Clarke was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kellar, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McIlroy were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace.

A rousing charivari was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grabowski (nee Doris Kellar), on Friday evening when they returned from their honeymoon. Mrs. Kellar served a bountiful supply of sandwiches, cake, tea and home-made candy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewold and sons of Belleville, have moved on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kennedy. All welcome them to this community.

Mr. Gordon McInroy has been appointed the annual conference of the Junior Farmer's Association of Ontario, in Guelph.

Moira W. A.

The April meeting of Moira W. A. was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Joe Kellar with a large attendance. A delicious pot-luck dinner was served at 12:30. The president, Mrs. Wesley Farrel opened the meeting.

A discussion period followed, after which the program was presented including a reading by Mrs. Steven Welsh, "The Spirit-filled Life in Relation to Mission". A solo by Mrs. Donald Holbert, Scripture and did a Golden Dead. A hymn closed the meeting.

MADOC

Mrs. J. McCaffrey Gives Talk On 'Cheesemaking'

Madoc—Madoc W.I. was recently privileged to hear two interesting addresses at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. S. R. Beatty, one of which was "History of Cheesemaking" given by Mrs. J. McCaffrey, whose husband (now deceased) was president for many years of Alexander Cheese Factory.

Mrs. McCaffrey quoted Biblical references to cheesemaking and followed through to the present day modern and large scale method of production.

The speaker described the process and progress of the industry, telling many personal and humorous incidents. "Cheese", she went on to say "differs with different curds and pastures — Hastings county is one of the best cheese producing counties in the province."

At the annual meeting of Madoc W.I. held at Mrs. G. C. Moon's, a life membership certificate was presented to Mrs. Charles Whytock, who has been an active member of Women's Institutes for many years, and a member of Madoc W.I. for 40 years. Mrs. Moon, in making the presentation, spoke of the wonderful work Mrs. Whytock had done in Institute circles, and how everyone had benefited by her leadership and help.

At the meeting, 28 members paid their fees and splendid reports were given by all conveners of standing committees. The financial report showed a satisfactory balance and the auditors reported the statements correct. The retiring president, Mrs. K. Nicol, thanked all members for their co-operation and help and asked the same be given her successor, Mrs. D. Keyworth.

It was decided to hold a Navy League tag day on May 26th. Delegates were appointed to attend the District annual convention at Bancroft on June 5th where the hostesses will be members of the three north branches, Madoc, Mills Corlow and Paudash. It is hoped that all other members of North Hastings branches may be able to travel by bus to attend this meeting.

Representatives Appointed

Mrs. J. Aylesworth and Mrs. G. Love were appointed branch representatives to attend the Guelph conference in May. Mrs. W. Stewart gave a "Current Events," while Mrs. K. Nicol read an interesting paper on "School Grants." A "25 year wedding anniversary" card was signed by all members and sent to Mrs. Reilly. Words of appreciation and thanks to Mrs. Love for her program and to the hostess and her assistants were extended by Mrs. G. Hill.

Officers Elected

Mrs. S. R. Beatty conducted the election of officers for 1951-52 as follows: president, Mrs. D. Keyworth; 1st vice president, Mrs. K. Caskey; 2nd vice president, Mrs. R. Negler; secretary treasurer, Mrs. F. Phillips; district director, Mrs. G. C. Moon; standing directors, Mrs. R. Lewis, Mrs. J. Henderson, Mrs. W. Stewart, Mrs. Elvey.

Conveners of Standing Committees:

Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. Nathan Bronson and Mrs. Albert Bailey; citizenship and education, Mrs. Allan Johnston and Mrs. Charles Whytock; history research and current events, Mrs. J. Aylesworth and Mrs. W. Stewart; committee activities and public relations, Mrs. Gordon Love and Mrs. K. Nicol; home economics and health, Mrs. W. Forestell and Mrs. E. Moore; resolutions, Miss Van Eleck; sick and flower, Mrs. W. Parks, Mrs. J. Reid, Mrs. R. Wood; memorial, Mrs. Geo. Hill, Mrs. Chas. Whytock; plants and music, Mrs. W. Hulin, Mrs. B. Tanner; press reporter, Mrs. J. McGowan; auditors, Mrs. C. Rose and Mrs. B. Bailey.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Don't tell me that Belleville suggests do not rank the sports scene. The average American kid, not Canadian too, for that matter, can tell you who's batting for Joe DiMaggio plays for, but show me the small-town Yankee youth who will tell you what the new famous "five-for-two" player trade between the Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks involved, and we'll give you a free pass to the prom box for the rest of your life.

Good-looking Gus Bodnar, Hawk star who sidetracked the Leafs' hockey hopes with a goal in overtime night was amazed at the type of questions hurled at him in the post-address quiz session.

They fired 'em at him from right and left, and from the floor. Gus came back with some of the answers, but there were some he threw at which he took "evasive action".

A tousle-topped redhead rang out "Who got the best of the five-for-two deal, Gus?"

Bodnar hesitated a moment and answered, "I think it was about even".

The youngsters quizzed him on various players. He told one Glenn he thought Kennedy of the Leafs was the best centre in the loop, shading Milt Schmidt of Boston. And Gus' second was Howe and a trifle, and possibly by no more than a post round, Sid Abel of Detroit. "He's the best goalie in the NHL!"

Bodnar did not hesitate on this one. "Lumley" he said. He has always considered Harry of Boston and Mortell did not like this answer very much. Bodnar explained that he had played against Lumley between 90 and 60 shots a game and lot two or three got by him. Broda, Rollins, Mortell and Sawchuk only had 15 or 20 fired at them".

He told the youngsters-through queries that Pat Egan and Roy Conacher packed the hardest shots. The best coach? Gus said Dick Irvin, the silver fox of the Canadiens, and the type in his estimation, a player could not complain napping when a gum-chewing blonde bantam shot at him.

"Whaddya think of Conn Smythe"

"Mr. Smythe", Bodnar said "is a great man. He is 'Mr. Hockey' to Canada and the hockey-playing United States. I have the greatest respect for him".

* * *

Then came the query awaited by the most of us.

"What's the best right winger, Richard or Howe?"

"They are both great hockey players, but different types" Gus told the kids. "In my opinion, Howe is the better, but Rocket Richard is a great player, too. He is young and has years ahead in which to improve. But my choice is Richard".

Bodnar pleased only thirty of the seventy - game schedule, being off due to severe injuries that included a fracture, torn muscles and severe concussion.

Tolusko, he said, played a major part in the Hawks end-ing in the cellar position. Several of the teams' stars were laid low by the injury jinx. Stewart, Hawk defenseman was out for a long time with an injury that put the Hawks' main component back double. With several promising rookies lined up for next year and with the veterans back in harness, the Hawks will be a much better squad next season than last, Bodnar felt.

The Chicago Black Hawks lost no prestige and gained a lot of new friends here with the visit of Bodnar and other eastern boys. Bert Wilson, Cards are splendid fellows, proud of their or-ganization and willing to help their hockey associates in every manner possible.

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT,

One of the smoothest, cleanest-cut wrestlers in the sport will be up against one of the roughest, most explosive men in the ring in the grunt-and-groan first headliner of the new season in the Memorial Arena, when Lord Athol Layton, of Surrey, England, clashes with Lee Henning, of Iowa. Layton is tops in the speed, science and skill department, while Henning has a claim to fame all his own in the surreal, snarling style. Both are 180, strong men — Layton 256, Henning 250 — so that this should be a real test of vastly different wrestling styles.

Chief Suni War Cloud, the colorful and capable Wasak tribe Indian wrester, who specializes in the fearsome Indian deathlock, will oppose burly Jack Wentworth, of Hamilton, in the semi-final. First bout of the card will see Tommy O'Toole, of Washing-ton, go against Sonny Kargis, Columbus, Ohio, star.

Connie Marrero of Senators Throws One-Hitter at A's To Become Toast of Loop

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Everybody likes Christy Mathewson, the Philadelphia A's are in town. Now it's Connie Marrero, Washington's chunky Cuban with a one-hitter.

Marrero picked up where the Yanks Eddie Lopat and Spec Shea left off. The Latin missed his shutout last night on Barney McCoskey's first home run since 1947 but he pitched the major's first one-hitter of 1951.

The fun-loving little Cuban stuffed a seventh straight loss down the A's throats, 2-1, winning on Lonbers by Mickey Vernon and Gil Coan. It was his second victory over Philadelphia.

Saturday: Springfield at Ottawa; Rochester at Toronto; Baltimore at Montreal; Syracuse at Buffalo.

Little Connie retired the first 10 A's in order. Then McCosky hit his homer in the fourth. He walked only two and fanned four in the rest of the way.

The loss gave Paul Pettyjohn's Joe Coleman hooted Washington into a first-place tie with the fifth Cleveland Indians in the American League.

Headline Stuff

In the National League the shocking failure of the New York Giants is headline stuff, however.

Manager Leo Durocher is getting tasty as his team continues their slump. Just before last night's eighth straight loss, he bolted over to newsmen covering the club.

Asked to explain his benching of second baseman Eddie Stanky for rookie Artie Wilson, Durocher said:

"Wilson is playing second, that's all. Too many writers distort what I have to say. I'm not explaining anything any more."

Stanky or Wilson. It made no difference. They just lost the same.

Johnny Sain shut out the Giants 3-0, with six hits as Boston spoiled Sal Maglie's 34th birthday. A two-run homer by Roy Hartsfield, followed by Sam Jethroe's fifth home run, broke open a scoreless game in the eighth inning.

Important Victory

It was an important victory for Sain, his 100th in the majors and No. 1 of the new season.

Robin Roberts' blasted the Philadelphia Phils into a first place percentage tie with the fifth St. Louis Cards by whipping Brooklyn 2-0. The Phils made only three hits count while the Dodgers wasted eight.

The four western teams in the National and American were not scheduled.

The Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees played a real day-time slugfest at Fenway.

With Billy Goodman slugging four hits and knocking in three runs, the Red Sox knocked off the Yanks 13-7 in a three-hour, 30-minute struggle. There were 30 walks and 22 hits off a parade of pitchers.

Collingwood Wins From Fort Erie In Intermediate A

Fort Erie, April 27 (CP) — Collingwood Shipbuilders won the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A championship Thursday night by defeating Fort Erie Chevs 4-1. The victory gave them the best-of-seven series 4-to-3.

The last two Collingwood goals were scored on an empty net when Fort Erie coach Mickey Owens pulled goalie Ray Zimmerman in attempt to get the tying goal. The score stood 3-1 at the time.

Female Jockeys Ride at Pimlico In Special Race

(By The Canadian Press)

The top female jockeys of the east and west coasts, Joyce Goldammer and Mrs. Wanda Davis, will ride in this year's "Powder Puff Derby" at Pimlico.

Pimlico announced Thursday agreement by Mrs. Davis for Redlands Calif., to ride in the sixth running of the race on May 11. She'll hook up again with Miss Goldammer of Baltimore and other women jockeys.

Mrs. Davi. who has won against such known men jockeys as Johnny Longden, Glen Lasswell and Jack Westrope, beat the 24-year-old Miss Goldammeh in a special race at Agua Caliente in Mexico last summer. She is 34 and the mother of a 10-year-old boy.

There'll be no betting allowed on the "Powder Puff Derby" which will be at a mile and sixteenth.

Mighty Citation, in the twilight of a brilliant racing career, ran third at Bay Meadows in the Bay Meadows Handicap six-furlong sprint. He was beaten by Panchito Marrero and Al Lamb.

The time was 1:09 4-5.

Big Cy closed strongly but could not cut the speed laid down by the winner and second-place racers.

Cy was beaten by the same two last week in the first start of the 1951 comeback try at boosting his earnings to the $1,000,000-mark.

Russia intends to take part in the Olympic Games next year, Knonstantin Andrianov, vice-president of the Moscow Sports Committee told a correspondent of the Swedish evening paper Aftonbladet Thursday.

"We intend to send teams to the winter games in Oslo, Norway, and the summer games in Helsinki, Finland," Andrianov added.

The Soviet Union set up a National Olympic Committee recently and two days ago cabled the International Olympic committee secretariat in Lausanne requesting membership.

No one who has reached his 35th birthday will be allowed to box in Maine from now on, the Maine Boxing Commission announced Thursday.

The commission said it was a safety rule, following the line of other recent changes in the Maine rules and prevailing practice in other New England states.

Pitcher Gene Bearden was sold by Washington Senators Thursday to Detroit Tigers for an undisclosed amount.

Bearden, who pitched Cleveland to the American League pennant in a playoff game at Boston in 1948, has been off form this season.

Alexander (Bud) MacLean, 62, former amateur hockey star, died Thursday in hospital from injuries suffered in an accident April 13. He starred on Ontario Hockey Association championship teams in Toronto in 1913 and 1913.

The International Ski Federation's Congress Thursday picked Sweden to be host to the 1954 world ski championships. The Congress decided to hold its 1953 meeting at Innsbuck, Austria.

The delegates also approved participation in the 1952 Olympic Games at Oslo and selected the events for the games.

In setting the Oslo program the Congress decided to eliminate the Alpine combined — aggregate classification of downhill and slalom events, It also approved holding the women's downhill race which previously had been reported cancelled from the Olympic Games.

NEED ONE GAME

Weston, April 27 (CP)—Sarnia Sailors moved to within a game of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B championship Thursday night defeating Weston Dukes 5-3. Sarnia now leads the best-of-seven series 3-1. Fifth game will be in Sarnia tonight.

Sailors led 1-0 at the end of the first period, made it 3-1 in the second and outscored the Dukes 2-1 in the final period.

Bob Dunham, Chuck Glash, Pep Thomas, Rod McIlroy and Bud Philpott were the Sarnia scorers. Don McIntosh and B. Harris were the Weston goal-getters.

Owen Sound Wins Over Fort Frances in First Contest

Owen Sound, Ont., April 27—(CP)—Down one game in the best-of-seven series of the Allan Cup finals, Fort Frances have hinted they are not altogether satisfied with the plans to play all games of the best-of-seven series in Owen Sound.

Owen Sound Mercurys unbeaten this year in their own rink, ran the home-ice winning streak to six games last night when they defeated 6-3 victory over Fort Frances in the Allan Cup final game.

Officials of the Canadians said after the game they will seek to have some of the games played in Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. There was no immediate reaction from Mercurys to the idea.

Owen Sound had to come from behind to keep their home ice record intact and it was left winger Mike Bilcheski who tied the score with the last two goals for the winners. Centre Frank Brennan was top performer for the western representatives with two goals and an assist. He got the only score of the first period when he beat Owen Sound goalie Bob Gibson at 4:30 on a passing play with Ray Blizard who made it 2-0 shortly before the halfway mark of the second period.

Pick up Mountain

Mercurys began to pick up momentum at that point and defenceman Bill Allum beat Harry Lumsdon for Owen Sound's first goal, followed slightly more than a minute later by centreman Tommy Burlington.

The teams entered the third period tied 2-2 but with less than three minutes gone Dale Ackaski got his first goal on a passing play with centreman Doug Gillespie. Bukaczeski and Gillespie also teamed up for the dashing counter at 12:37.

Quebec Citadelles Deadlock Memorial Cup Semi-Final By Defeating Barrie 5-2

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Quebec, April 27 (CP)—Quebec Citadelles last night sent the Barrie Flyers' Memorial Cup final to the seventh and deciding game with a 5-2 victory over Barrie Flyers. The teams are tied 3-3, winning their home games.

The crowd, estimated by officials at about 14,000—the record is 14,284—booed Flyers constantly and showered the ice with oranges, rubbers, balloons and other debris several times.

Penalties played a big part in Barrie's defeat, although only 11 were handed out—six to Barrie and five to Quebec—compared with 41 in Tuesday's wild game at Barrie.

Henri collected the game-winning marker early in the last period while Quebec again had a one-man advantage.

Bernie Guay and Copper Leyrite scored the other Citadelles goals.

Doug Powers and Real Chevrefils scored for Barrie in the first period to put Flyers ahead 2-1.

Close-checking left little work for the goalies. Barrie's Jim Rowes handed 31 stops compared with 29 by netminder Willie Gauthier. Territorial play was about even.

Score in 13 Seconds

Guay whipped in the first goal after 13 seconds of play on a pass from Jean-Marie Plante who carried the puck from Barrie zone after the opening faceoff.

Late in the opener, Barrie scored two quickies to go ahead 3-1. Powers backhanded the puck past Willie after Hagan and Ivan Irwin in a faceoff deep in Quebec territory. Chevrefils topped a three-way passing play with Leo Labine and Jack White, racing in from left wing to pull Pulfe out of position and lift the puck into the net.

Late in the second period, Henri scored after the Barrie goalie made successive stops on Gervais and Leyrie.

Gervais knocked in the winner early in the third period on a goal-mouth pass from Henri who intercepted a pass in front of the Barrie cage. Henri's second goal was a deflected shot late in the game.

Leyrie pushed the puck into an empty net on a breakaway after Rowes was lifted for a sixth forward with 33 seconds to go.

Kentucky Derby Picture Cloudy As Ever

Lexington, Ky., April 27 (AP) —Just in case anyone is trying to dredge a Kentucky Derby winner out of the mud of the Blue Grass Stakes, it might be well to stretch out in a quiet corner and think it over.

Not that this will guarantee anything, but the Kentucky hardboots still insist that the $100,000 derby May 5 at Louisville is as unpredictable today as it was six months ago.

Cornelius V. Whitney's Maneluke staged a brilliant come-from-behind race to nail the three-division of the split Blue Grass Stakes yesterday at Keeneland. Mrs. Emil Denemark's Rube was beaten a nose by the King Ranch's Sonic in the second division, but was moved up to first place when Sonic was disqualified for obvious interference.

Nevertheless, the trainers, owners and jockeys of horses finishing out of the money probably still are convinced they have some red-hot derby haters in all.

Many Kentucky followers of the business generally take this view:

1. If the track at Churchill Downs is fast on derby day, keep an eye on the Greentree Stable's Big Stretch. Heavy rains yesterday morning slopped the Kentucky strip, and Big Stretch isn't a horse liking an off track. He finished loose and six lengths in back of the unlucky Sonic, and Ruhe.

2. Maneluke convinced a large majority that if it comes up an off track derby day, he may be the big horse.

HOPE'S ENTRY ACCEPTED

London, April 27 — (Reuters)— Bob Hope last night was accepted to play in the British amateur golf championship which begins today.

Validity of his entry depended on a certificate from the United States Golf Association that he is a good enough player. This has not arrived yet but British officials let him in on the strength of assurances the certificate was on the way.

SPLIT WINNERS OF PLATE

Yonkers, N.Y., April 27 (AP)— Rhapsody, a $75.00 for $2 long shot, and Silver Faith, its favorite, won the split divisions of the Larchmont Trot at Yonkers Raceway last night before 14,063 harness racing fans.

Rhapsody beat Dandy Dick by a nose while Harry Deo finished second to Silver Faith. It was Silver Faith's second straight victory.

Six Canadians Rated Among Top Of Racing Drivers

Columbus, O., April 27 (AP)— Six Canadians are rated among the top 50 harness racing drivers in North America by the United States Trotting Association, it was announced yesterday.

The six—three from Ontario, two from the Maritimes and one from Quebec—tied for fifteen special licences indicating their standing among the top 50.

The Association, governing body of harness racing in the U.S. and part of Canada, has adopted an achievement award system whereby licences earned one to 50 will be issued annually to the leading dash-winning drivers of the preceding season.

Licence number one this year will go to John Simpson of Chester, South Carolina, who topped the list in 1950 with 111 winning rides.

Two of the six Canadians landed among the top five. They are Joe O'Brien, diminutive, from Prince Edward Island, who ranked third with 103 winning heats, and Billy Harvey of Anaster, Ont., who finished fifth with 92 wins.

Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., and Warren Lewis from Cape Breton tied for 11th place with 74 wins. Johnny Chapman of Toronto and MacTavish of Lachute, Que., tied for 26th place with 60 wins each.

Other drivers in the first five are Del Miller of Meadow Lands, Pa., 2nd with 106, and Harry Burright, Mendota, Ill., 4th with 95.

Toronto, Ottawa Win Openers Of Int. League

(By The Associated Press)

Ottawa's debut in the International League attracted 7,480 fans, far cry from the old-style openers in Jersey City. But the turnstills count from now on is the important factor.

Stumping attendance, despite the big openers, forced New York Giants to move their International League farm from Jersey City during the winter. This was their first home start.

With John Tomasic pitching 4-hit ball, the Little Giants pulled out of a last - place tie with a 5-3 victory over Syracuse. Ex-Giant Johnny Sullivan from third. Ken Wild was the loser.

Montreal moved into a first-place tie with idle Syracuse by whipping Baltimore 8-3. Home hits by Al Glonfriddo, the ex-Dodger, led the Royals' attack. Anse Moore homered for Baltimore off winner Bob Alexander.

Syracuse and Buffalo were idle.

Chandler Ready Now That Mulbry Is On Way Out

New York, April 27 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler is ready to step in and in a few days now he has assurance that his enemy, secretary-treasurer Walter Mulbry, is quitting too.

Chandler refused to comment on yesterday's Associated Press story that baseball's executive council has accepted Mulbry's resignation at the commissioner's demand. But was learned Chandler will stick to his promise to resign.

The former Kentucky governor and senator, who twice lost his fight for a contract renewal, steadfastly has refused to quit unless Mulbry, his former side-kick, also was relieved of his post. The once-strong friends of 30 years standing, fell out recently.

Chandler handed his Mulbry ultimatum to John Galbreath, president of the baseball club, who talked with Chandler for five hours Saturday in Cincinnati. Galbreath had been sent by the executive council with orders to "get Chandler to resign immediately."

A member of the council, who requested anonymity, admitted Chandler has agreed to resign if Mulbry goes too.

"We did yield to Chandler's wishes," he said. "Because we felt this thing cannot drag out any longer. It is an impossible situation when you've got a man you don't want running your business for you.

"We are anxious to get this thing cleared out to clear the way for the election of a new commissioner. It's about time the fans began reading and talking about the players instead of the troubles of baseball."

In Cincinnati yesterday Mulbry said "my going or staying does not appear to be world shaking. I am agreeable to doing whatever seems to serve the best interests of baseball. This is in contrast to Chandler's attitude."

Double Penalty To Sydney Paves Way for Victory

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, April 27 — (CP) — A double penalty to Sydney Millionaires in the first period last night paved the way for Valleyfield Braves' third victory in the best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior hockey final for the Alexander Cup.

A crowd of 8,050 saw the Quebec Senior Hockey League champions post a 3-2 victory over the Martlmers. The triumph gave the Braves a 3-2 edge in games with the sixth contest scheduled here Sunday night.

Andre Corriveau provided a one-man army in the close - checking contest when he cashed in for two assists and the winning goal. He set up Jean-Paul Bisaillon and Jack Irvine midway through the first stanza and keyed Irvine's drive to a 2-0 lead. Then he fired the winning goal in the second period on a power play. Irvine, aiming to the middle session with Bill Hunter, scored George Robertson firing the goals.

It was a tense crowd that sat through the dramatic third period when Millionaires threw caution to the wind and moved five men deep inside the Valleyfield end. However, goaler Paul Leclerc, who suffered a broken nose in the second period, came through with a sensational performance, making just a steady stream of rubber.

In the last two minutes of play, Sydney replaced netminder Nick Pidsodny with an extra forward. But Braves stalled the time and made eight face-offs within a period of a minute and a half.

Over the full route, Braves held a 36-25 edge in the shooting department while collecting five of nine penalties.

Sydney's troubles started after Fred Hildebrand and Dean McBride were waved off with minor penalties. With a two - man advantage the Braves poured on the power and Bisaillon converted Corriveau's assault from the corner at 9:23. Twenty-nine seconds later, Corriveau again worked into the Sydney territory and fed a pass to Irvine who blistered a 10-footer past Pidsodny.

Millionaires staged a free-wheeling offensive in the middle session, connecting for their first goal at 1:19. Dinning sinking a pass from McIntyre. The puck deflected into the net off the netminder's pads. However, two minutes later, Corriveau got that marker back when he converted Bisaillon's pass from 10 feet out.

The final goal of the game came at 8:26 of the same stanza when George Robertson rapped in a rebound from Cliff Rosch.

BOY DIES AFTER HEROICALLY SAVING GRANDMOTHER'S LIFE

10-year-old Gerald Blair, of Renfrew, Ont., is fatally injured by 3-ton truck after pushing elderly woman of road

1. Young Gerry Blair's devotion to his grandmother was proven one day last November in an incident that had a tragic ending. Walking along the Queen's Line road from Cotnamon, about 20 miles from Renfrew, Ontario, they were so deep in conversation that they paid little attention to the approaching truck. Suddenly they found themselves in a terrifying position. A 3-ton truck was coming in the other direction!

2. The boy realized in a flash that there would not be room for the southbound truck to pass between them and the car. He realized, too, that in a matter of seconds they would be in the path of the fast-moving truck. Quickly he stepped in front of his grandmother and, using all his strength, shoved her off the roadway. But it was then too late for him to get out of the way . . .

3. Knocked unconscious by the terrific impact, Gerry was rushed to the hospital but failed to rally. He gave his life so that another might live. The instinctive heroism of this 10-year-old boy merits the praise of all Canadians. We are proud to add his name to the list of those who have won THE DOW AWARD for outstanding bravery.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and fortitude, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, April 27. (AP)—The current Washington hearings on communists in Hollywood are certain to have one result—a decrease in all kinds of political activity by movie stars.

The results can be seen already.

Stars are shying away from comment on controversial matters and are reluctant to lend their names to any causes. They fear such activities may mean the end of their careers.

New Problem

A study of Hollywood history shows that political activity by stars is a fairly-recent development.

In the early days, a star's personal life was shielded from the public. A Hollywood axiom said stars were not supposed to have babies or opinions.

Gloria Swanson was the first to break the jinx against having babies. Her career continued to thrive despite her motherhood.

But the prejudice against opinions remained for years. Some stars even refused to vote, for fear their politics might be revealed.

New Era

Then the Franklin Roosevelt era ushered in the period of political activity for movie stars. There were several reasons for this development:

1. The President's birthday balls for the March of Dimes brought many stars to Washington. This contact with the personality of F.D.R. had a profound effect on many players.

2. With the increase of income taxes, many Hollywood people became payers of huge taxes. Because of this, they felt they should have some say in how the affairs of the U.S. are conducted.

3. The issues of a depression-wracked nation and a strike-torn world affected many stars. They felt the responsibility to give their time, money and names to various causes.

4. Many stars were sincere in their politics, but others participated because it was "the thing to do." Discussing politics became a fad in some circles just the same as canasta and the charleston.

But whether fad-conscious or serious about politics, most stars are remaining out of controversial issues. Most of them feel they would be endangering their popularity to take a stand on any issue in these times when politics is so explosive.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Cut out any confusion you may have about defensive bids. This you can do by taking a common sense view of what they tell. Compare them with what you know about opening bids.

A defender shows one type of hand that an opener makes no true attempt to announce. It is a simple overcall (non-jump in number) to show tricks without the highs and sures of an opener.

Aside from this, what an opener shows can be shown by defender. Except that they use different words for announcing the same kind of hands. Words, however, that are in the bidding vocabulary.

Take an opening bid of one. It shows five tricks, four of which are high cards, two of which are sures. If defender also has a hand as good as this, how will he show it to his partner?

He must not use a non-jump numbered bid. This would be a simple overcall. And a simple overcall denies having four highs in which are two sures. Instead, a different bidding word must be employed.

The defensive word selected for this purpose is double. So, if a defender says double he is telling partner his hand is as good as an opening one bid; five tricks, four high cards, two sures.

South opened with a one bid on a heart when west held this hand:

♠ A Q 9 5 2
♦ A K 8
♣ J 8 4

West is tempted to say one spade. It looks as if he is bested off in spades than anything else. There is the strong desire to tell partner about this good spade fault.

If he bids one spade, however, partner must assume he lacks the qualities that make up an opening bid of one. Is this what the west player desires to have his own partner believe! No, of course not.

There are many reasons why this kind of strength should be told partner. Giving him confidence to help defend is only one of them.

Keeping partner in suspense shows a lack of common sense.

LAWYER DENIES REPORTS

Paris, April 27 (AP) —Pierre de Nizot, lawyer for Prince Aly Khan, repeated today that reports Aly is being divorced by Rita Hayworth are "just publicity."

"Miss Hayworth is a kind of prisoner of her impression," he told a reporter. "For publicity purposes she can't deny those rumors."

"I have been informed of no proceedings of any kind," he added.

He repeated that there is "no reason for a divorce."

"The prince is very tired of all this," he added. "He is going to make himself invisible for a while."

ESCAPE METHOD

An automatic seat to eject pilots in case of trouble is being developed in Britain for high altitude Jet fighters.

AT THE BELLE

"The Courtneys" and "The Interrupted Journey," Splendid Bill

London-born Anna Neagle, the daughter of Scottish-Irish parents, is today Britain's first lady of the screen both in the opinion of her millions of followers and by virtue of her unequalled success in a series of record-breaking pictures.

Remembered above all, perhaps, for her brilliant portrayals of Queen Victoria in the films "Queen Victoria" and "Sixty Glorious Years" she has since proved her wide versatility by appearing in a detective drama, "The Yellow Canary", a moving war story "I Live in Grosvenor Square," and the National Film Award winner, "Piccadilly Incident."

Now Anna appears in "The Courtneys," a dramatic love story set against the background of events during the first 45 years of the present century, a picture which has been hailed as one of the most ambitious and spectacular to come from a British studio, and one which gives the lovely actress one of her greatest opportunities so far. Produced and directed by Herbert Wilcox, the entertaining film is showing at the Belle Tonight for the last times.

Co-starring in "The Courtneys" is Michael Wilding, while the supporting cast contains many well-known and popular screen players.

Excitement Jammed 2nd Feature

An original and exciting attraction, "The Interrupted Journey", the 2nd worthy feature attraction at the Belle Tonight, starring Richard Todd, Valerie Hobson, Christine Norden and Tom Walls.

"The Interrupted Journey," is a thrilling drama which certainly makes very good entertainment. The Warner-Pathe News completes the program.

AT THE CAPITOL — Marjorie Main, beloved star of "Ma Kettle" comedies, has a new team-mate in James Whitmore, the tobacco-chewing star of "Battleground." Both are a HIT in "Mrs. O'Malley and Mr. Malone," showing at the Capitol Theatre today and Saturday. On the same program is "Frontier Outpost," with Charles Starrett and Smiley Burnette. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00.

AT THE CAPITOL — Charles Starrett and his comedy stooge, Smiley Burnette in their newest western, "Frontier Outpost," showing today and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program, "Mrs. O'Malley and Mr. Malone". Continuous show Saturday from 1.00.

NOT IN GOOD STANDING

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — The Ontario Teachers' Federation Thursday declared that two school boards in Whitby and Westmeath are "not in good standing" and for the first time invoked an Ontario law to keep any of the federation's 27,000 members from accepting employment from the two school boards.

The boards, named Thursday in an announcement by Nora Hodgins, secretary — treasurer of the Federation, are the Whitby District High School Board, five miles west of Oshawa, and the Westmeath Continuation School Board, 10 miles east of Pembroke.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

For Saturday April 28, 1951.

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—Aim at complete control of important matters. Uncertain period in some spots. Facts are indispensible, don't be ashamed to acknowledge you lack some, but think only accuracy.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—can be very productive, satisfying day if you are on the job, not too sure but more careful. Excellent vibrations for manufacturing, farming, contracting, general wise investments.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Trend to essential duties, work to be done, clever methods can be your day's achievement. This very benefic wave of vibrations can carry you and others, toward fine results.

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—No time to "take the bull by the horns" until you have put your own house in order. Live and let live, don't contend every little thing. It only brings grief unpleasantness.

July 24 to August 23—(Leo)—Many indications could hardly be better. Success from properly managed effort. Take things at sensible pace, what you are set, know the way, step up tempo. Romance favored, in turn.

August 24 to September 23—(Virgo)—Your sign shares fine vibrations with the top-notch today. Keep hindrances down to minimum, you can. Step ahead in business, other interests. Watch trends closely.

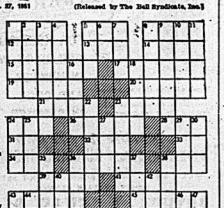
September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—Chief offenders likely to be impatience and a tendency to act without forethought. You know we all find trouble when we go in search of it. Keep Libra's sense of humor on top.

October 24 to November 22—(Scorpio)—Take the safe and sound way. Even if you think you know all the answers, the best are often mistakes, so take heed. Smile your way around, tackle only what you can handle well.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius)—By not giving worry room in your mental life you should make good headway. May be inadvisable now to undue excitement. Moderation, calmness urged for all. Secrecy may not pay!

December 23 to January 21—(Capricorn)—By studying problems well, making intelligent beneficial resolves, you can realize progress in business, professional matters, selling, teaching, students should benefit especially.

January 22 to February 20—(Aquarius)—Aspects favor your particular talents, and need sincere honest effort. Forget setbacks, that which has gone over the dam, get what is offered from today's good possibilities.



February 21 to March 20—(Pisces)—Using your keen intuitive sense, conferring when in doubt will bring happy results. Gains if you should go forth confidently. Stand pat on gains, welfare of future security, they are your duty.

YOU BORN TODAY: Executive ability, leadership qualities, ticality and capability are innate gifts of you of this Taurus natal period. How you cultivate and use these assets are what is important to success, contentment. Pray daily for fortitude, patience, guidance. Don't permit any lackadaisvancement or dwarf your ambition. You can reach high attainment if you stick faithfully to your life's work, avoid worry and have faith in God. Birthdate: James Monroe, 5th U. S. pres.; Wm. Harrison Fauber, inventor.

MILK IS RESPONSIBLE SAYS CENTENARIAN

Louis Soucie of Ottawa is 103 year old, a veteran of the Riel rebellion. He credits his longevity to the fact that he drinks milk, not spirits. "My brother drank liquor," says Mr. Soucie, "and look what happened to him. He died when he was only 86." He would marry again if he "found the right woman." — Central Press Canadian.

MOUNTAIN VIEW

Miss Huff Pupils Hold Enjoyable 'At Home'

Mountain View.— On Monday evening, Miss Mary Huff and pupils, held an "At Home" in the school room. There was a wonderful display of art, craft, sewing and writing. This was arranged around the school room. After everyone had viewed and admired this display, Miss Huff and pupils presented the following program:

Interesting program

"O Canada"; Chorus, "The Birdies' Ball"; Junior choral story, "If I Had a Windmill"; film conservation, "Look to the Forces"; double duet, "Mockin' Bird Hill" by Elsie and Ila Luffman and Audrey Morris and Donna Trumble; film, "Are You Popular?"; Junior songs, "Twenty Froggies", "Down the Stairs", and "The March Wind"; film, "Eye Witness"; Senior two-part chorus, "Apple Orchard in the Spring," and "O Dear, What Can the Matter Be?"; film, "Silks and Sulks"; folk dance.

There was a door prize which was won by Mrs. Grant Minaker.

TWEED

Food Clinic

Tweed — Last Friday afternoon, Miss Jean Trenholme was in charge of the Food Clinic presented by The Canada Packers, under the auspices of Tweed Kinettes, at Victoria Theatre. A large audience was in attendance and samples of Canada Packers products were distributed.

Miss Trenholme conducts the Food Clinic for the company at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, and she has just returned from Newfoundland, where she conducted a similar series of cooking schools. A number of fine prizes were won by different women in the audience.

Fire Destroys Home

Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed a large frame house on a farm owned by Percy Badgley, near Lost Channel, last Tuesday night. The fire started about 10 o'clock and it gained such rapid headway, that neighbors could do little to save it when they arrived.

It was originally owned by Cosmos Tufts and he sold it to Wilson Lumber Co. After the timber was taken off, the farm was purchased by Mr. Badgley. The Masters family lived there for a short time before moving to Stoco last Autumn. The house was not wired for electricity and the cause of the fire is unknown.

A delightful birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. W. S. Gordon at her home, Restholme, on Saturday by her daughter, Mrs. Alan McLaughlin.

LEAF SPOT and BROWN ROT
on SOUR CHERRIES
with GREEN CROSS
BASI-COP
(TRI-BASIC COPPER SULPHATE)

Here's a powerful copper spray material developed by Green Cross Insecticides. Basi-Cop is twice as concentrated as ordinary Copper Sulphate or Bluestone, is easier to use and less injurious.

Basi-Cop mixes readily with Lead Arsenate, Calcium Arsenate and Nicotine Sulphate for combination sprays. Work Basi-Cop into your spray calendar wherever copper sprays are called for.

A SUGGESTED SOUR CHERRY SPRAY CALENDAR:

CHUCK SPRAY (for leaf spot, brown rot and plum curculio)

Basi-Cop	2 lbs.
Hydrated Lime	4 lbs.
Lead Arsenate	3¾ lbs.
Water	100 gals.

FIRST COVER SPRAY (12 days after Chuck Spray — for leaf spot, brown rot and plum curculio.)

Basi-Cop	2 lbs.
Hydrated Lime	4 lbs.
Lead Arsenate	2½ lbs.
Water	100 gals.

SECOND COVER (10 days after 1st. Cover — for leaf spot, brown rot, plum curculio and fruit flies).
(Same formulation used in Third Cover.)

THIRD COVER (Spray Montmorency and Morello when former are beginning to colour — for leaf spot and brown rot.)

Basi-Cop	2 lbs.
Hydrated Lime	4 lbs.
Water	100 gals.

POST HARVEST (Shortly after harvest — for leaf spot).
(Same formulation used in Third Cover.)

NOTE:—When aphids become troublesome add 1 pint of nicotine sulphate to any of above spray formulations.

Scientists Use Geiger Counters To Tab Skeeters

Fort Churchill, Man. —(CP)— Mosquitoes will be impregnated with radioactive phosphorus this summer. Then scientists from the northern military camp will tail them with geiger counters.

The scientists, from the staff of the Defence Research Board, hope to obtain information helpful in controlling the pest in populated areas.

It is not new. For the last two summers Canadian and American entomologists have used this method to check migration of mosquitoes from their breeding grounds.

"Further work is anticipated," said Bill Beckel, an official of the Research Board.

Radioactive phosphorus is sprayed in ponds and it stays with the mosquito from egg to adult stage. Millions of mosquitoes are later caught by net near Fort Churchill.

The mosquitoes are spread over a table, examined with a geiger counter. Those which react are then known to have come from the sprayed area.

"We may know the distance it is necessary to control the mosquitoes from the camp," Mr. Beckel said.

"Blood Meals"

Right now his job is to establish a colony of northern mosquitoes at the laboratory and observe their behavior. Guinea pigs will be used for their "blood meals."

For although a mosquito is a plant feeder to a great extent, said Mr. Beckel, it seeks blood in preference to nectar and plant juices.

"The majority of northern mosquitoes must have blood to produce fertile eggs. Only the female mosquitoes go after blood."

A blood meal lasts a mosquito about three days and, contrary to popular belief, she doesn't die after one helping.

Mr. Beckel says the black fly is a worse villain than the mosquito.

"He doesn't pierce. He literally tears a chunk out of you with his teeth."

MANY NATIVES

Of New Zealand's population of nearly 2,000,000, about 100,000 are Maori natives.

CAN APPLY FOR LOANS

London, April 27 (AP)—Britain's Labor Government announced last night it will aid financially-distressed lords and ladies who live in the country's mire-stately mansions. Destitute gentry who can't keep up "these national heritages," the government said, can apply for cash loans from the treasury.

DENTIST GROWTH

First organization of dentists in Canada was the Dental Association of Ontario, formed early in 1867.

AUSTRALIA'S ANTI-LABOR GOVT. RETURNED

Labor Party Picks Up Five or Six Seats in House

Record Turnout of Voters Seen in Exciting Election

Sydney, April 28. (CP) — The Coalition government of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies returned to power in today's Australian parliamentary elections despite gains by the Labor opposition.

With final figures still to be tallied, Menzies appeared sure of 66 of the 121 seats in the House of Representatives. This compares with the 74 the Liberal-Country group won in the last election in December, 1949, when the Coalition wrested power from Labor.

In a jubilant mood, the 57-year-old leader of the anti-socialist forces predicted he would also gain victory in the 60-member Senate, but other observers were not so sure. Counting of votes for the Senate where Labor had a 6-3 majority after new 5,000,000 voted in a record turnout for a new House and Senate—Australia's 20th Parliament.

Menzies himself and his principal opponent, Labor leader Joseph B. Chifley, both appeared certain to have retained their seats.

Labor Minister Harold Holt in a broadcast two hours after the polls closed at 8 p.m. (9 a.m. EST) said:

"There now is no doubt the McMenzies government will be returned with solid majority."

Observers at the polls reported a slight strengthening in the Labor vote, but said it was apparently not enough to threaten the hold of Menzies' regime in the House of Representatives.

The outcome of the Senate vote, where Menzies is trying to wrest control from the LLabor party, may not be known for days due to the complicated counting system.

Had 2-1 Edge

Both Menzies and Chifley had a 2-to-1 edge over their opponents with votes to hold of the votes counted in their respective election districts.

Australia's Country Labor leader, Herbert V. Evatt, former president of the United Nations General Assembly, apparently was having a tough time defeating Sir Earle Page, Country Party leader. Mrs. Nancy Wake, in Sydney's Barton district of Grayndler, Labor, a widow, parachuted into France in the Second World War and is one of Australia's most decorated women.

The first man known positively to be elected was William Hughes, 86, Australian prime minister during first World War. Hughes, running in Sydney's Labor-dominated North Sydney, had an overwhelming 25,056 votes compared with 6,555 of his Labor party opponent. A total of 43,342 electors were enrolled in Bradfield.

Scientists Investigate Use of Electrified Air to Retard, Halt Cancerous Growths

By FRANK CAREY

Cleveland, April 28 (AP) — Two Florida scientists today said they are investigating the "possible use" of electrified air to retard or halt cancerous growth.

Drs. Boris Sokoloff and Walter H. Hoag of Florida Southern College said the studies still are limited to rats and mice.

But they said the American association for cancer research that malignant growth in these rats can be considerably retarded and in some instances tends to disappear" when the cancerous tissues are kept in an atmosphere of "negatively-ionized air."

Since the electrical particles created in air when a neutral ion gains or loses electrons. When electrons are lost, the particle is positively electrified; when electrons are gained, the particle becomes a negative ion. Air can be ionized in either way by artificial means.

The scientists said their studies indicate that cancerous tissue has a different electric charge from that of the surrounding normal tissue. Apparently these electric charges make the membrane of the cancer cell more permeable than a normal cell so that "foodstuffs" and other fast-growing diseased cells faster than do normal cells.

Their concept is that exposure of a cancer sufferer to oppositely-electrified air would retard the abnormal electrical conditions within cancer cells, and thus retard the growth of the malignancy and perhaps even halt it at some point.

Their studies indicate, they said, that electrical changes take place in the body cells and tissues preceding the formation of cancerous tumors. They suggested that a "predisposition to cancer in animals or humans" may be combatted to some extent by changing the electrical content of the air they breathe.

They stressed, however, as to how such a "predisposition" could be recognized

Uijongbu, Vital Road Hub, Falls To Communists

Further Withdrawals Made Under Heavy Red Pressure

Tokyo, April 28 (AP) — Communist troops today captured Uijongbu, on the historic invasion route only 11 miles north of Seoul.

The United States Army announced the vital road hub was in enemy hands, but gave no details.

Allied forces on the Korean western front began falling back through Uijongbu Friday. Allied artillery in Seoul fired throughout Saturday at the onrushing reds.

United Nations forces continued pulling back on central and eastern fronts but reported no contact with the reds.

The red Korean Pyongyang radio said Saturday night that communist reserves had reached the battle front. The official communist station usually reports developments at least three days after they take place.

Allied battle-front sources said the withdrawal was in good order.

All along the 100-mile-long front allied forces have pulled back into South Korea. They have killed or wounded more than 41,000 reds on the way, front dispatches said.

Chunchon, itself still in allied hands. But it was in the path of another 100,000 reds.

Field dispatches said of pressure on allied troops falling back from the Hwachon reservoir area northeast of Chunchon.

Apparently all allied troops were safely south of the 38th parallel in that sector.

Nowhere, except in the east coast region were United Nations forces still inside North Korea.

Lieut.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander was not telling the reds just how far south the U.N. forces would withdraw. But Friday he said his men could wheel and hold the reds until they bled white — or just south of Seoul.

That the Chinese killed or wounded 4,680 Chinese and North Koreans by official estimate. This just compared with 3,000 in the offensive at 41,565 killed or wounded in 5 days.

Despite these losses, the Chinese reds made their longest continuous push since last November.

C. I. O. FAVORS SEAWAY

Washington, April 28—(AP)—The C. I. O. Friday advised senators to approve the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Anthony Smith, chairman of the C. I. O. maritime development committee, sent telegrams to all the senators having anything to do with the seaway legislation, saying that it is vital to the defense of the nation.

The C. I. O. has endorsed the project at recent conventions.

Dr. H. J. Cody, 82 Former Chancellor Of U. of T., Dies

Toronto, April 28. (CP)—Dr. Henry J. Cody, distinguished scholar, clergyman and educationist, one-time Minister of Education for Ontario and later chancellor of the University of Toronto, died at his home here last night.

He was 82 and had been in failing health for almost a year. Just a few hours before his death he had been re-elected president of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada by a meeting at Ottawa.

A country lad from the Western Ontario village of Embro, Henry John Cody had a brilliant career during which he received more than a score of degrees from universities in Canada, the United States and Britain.

At the height of his career he declined two bishoprics in the Anglican church, preferring to give his life to more than one field of public service.

He spent more than 30 years at the University of Toronto, helping shape its destiny first when he served in 1905 on a Royal Commission which resulted in its reorganization, later as a member of the Senate, chairman of the Board of Governors, for 13 years as president, and for three years as chancellor.

As a member of the Ontario Legislature, Dr. Cody became Minister of Education in the Conservative Administration of Premier William Hearst in 1918, a post he held for one year, when he resigned to become rector of St. Paul's Anglican church in Toronto.

Five Provinces Ready to Take Over Rent Controls

(By The Canadian Press)

All Canadian provinces will have provision for rent controls as of some date in May 1, under federal controls expire.

Canadian Gallup survey showed that five provinces — Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia — will take over for the first time, with powers drawn up by the entire country during the wartime September 1945 freeze and kept in force during the post-war housing shortage.

Saskatchewan entered the field of tenant-landlord relations a year ago when the federal government first opened the control field to the provinces.

Newfoundland is continuing the rent controls begun during the war before it became the 10th province.

The legislatures of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick last lead recently passed legislation now is considering it governments to put on local controls.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, April 28 (CP) —Synopsis: During the night there was a general rainfall in Northern Ontario and thunderstorms were reported at the Sault, Timmins, and Geve By. Early this morning rain clouds had penetrated as far south as Sudbury, and London and were continuing to move rapidly eastward. . . . . .

The weather today will be associated with a low pressure system now centred over the southern Michigan. This system will move through the province later today and with it passage the rain will end.

There is no cool air in sight. Temperatures this afternoon are expected to range from the 70s in the southern parts of Ontario to the 60s in Northern Ontario and it will likely be warmer on Sunday

GOVT. ANNOUNCES HIKE IN FLOOR PRISE FOR BUTTER

Will Guarantee 58 Cents Pound for Two Years

Ottawa, April 28. (CP)—A five-cent-a-pound hike in the floor price for butter—to 58 cents from 53—was announced in the Commons yesterday by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

At the same time, in a move to stabilize butter prices, he announced that the new support price will be in effect for two years, instead of one year as previously.

There is a further move to keep prices from climbing too high, he said, the government has bought out the Dairy Products board to buy butter from other Commonwealth countries if, in the winter months, Canadian supplies run short.

Mr. Gardiner also announced that Cheddar cheese will be supported at 28 cents a pound for another year. This is the same support price for cheese as in 1950.

He said Saturday night that the government will buy butter at 58 cents a pound during the summer months of heavy production if the manufacturer finds the price falling below that point on the open market. Later, when supplies run short, the government puts its stock-piles to the trade.

Imports Not Enough

Last winter, when domestic supplies dwindled, Canada imported 4,500,000 pounds from New Zealand, but this was not enough to keep prices from soaring to 69 cents a pound. This problem will be overcome by the authorization to the dairy products board to buy butter supplies abroad.

The government's floor price is based on No. 1 creamery butter wholesale in Montreal. It may fluctuate slightly on deliveries to storage points elsewhere.

Much-Subdued Prisoner Turned Over to Police

Ottawa, April 28 (CP) — A much-subdued prisoner was turned over police Friday night when they were escorted to the Rideau Street pastry shop of Frank Isaac Nemec. Mr. Nemec is the former Czechoslovakian ambassador to Canada who renounced his country when it became communist dominated.

Arrested in connection with a charge of armed robbery was Gerard Charlebois, 36.

He didn't have much fight left in him when police took him away.

Security Albert Klovic, 34, manager of the pastry store, told police Charlebois had attempted to pull off a "stick up" but Klovic caught him off guard, pounced on him and gave him a beating.

Anthropologists Find Bones Of World's Oldest Men in Iran

Tehran, Iran, April 28 (AP)—Perhaps 75,000 years ago three cave men warmed themselves around a fire and gazed toward what is now the Caspian Sea.

This month their shattered bones were dug up by a university of Pennsylvania professor and his Harvard graduate. Their discovery in northern Iran, amid Stone Age implements of the earliest age, is bound to stir up the scientific world.

It is the two jaw bones they found may have belonged to the oldest human beings ever found. And they may prove that modern man goes farther back than has been believed.

Dr. Carleton S. Coon of Devon, Pa., curator of the Mediterranean and far eastern section of the University of Pennsylvania's museum, says the pin-headed Aspian men had most of the physical characteristics of modern man except that their brain chambers were smaller. Geological evidence indicates they lived even before the Neanderthal man.

This theory might upset the contention that modern man descended from the so-called apeman through the Neanderthal stage. Coon says the discovery indicates that a true human being existed at the same time as the earlier species.

Found with the skeletons in a cave near Bisitun, about 40 miles south of the Caspian Sea, were other objects adding to the scientific find. They consist of knives, agricultural tools, pottery and other traces of primitive civilization.

Coon's assistant, Louis Dupree of Harvard, says the find offers one of the earliest evidences of man's use of fire as well as what may have been one of the beginnings of agriculture.

Coon believes the Caspian area probably may have been one of the so-called "ancient" regions where cultures flourished while they lagged in less-favored parts.

Koreans by Sweat of Brows And Stoutness of Hearts Win Esteem of Canadian Soldiers

By BILL BOSS
(Canadian Army Staff Writer)

With the Canadians in Korea, April 28 (CP) —Slowly, by the sweat of their brows and the stoutness of their hearts, Koreans are winning their way into the esteem of Canadian soldiers.

It has taken a long while.

Men of the Princess Patricias have not been able to go out and meet Koreans. They've been busy in camp or the front since hitting the theatre.

The races met on the soldiers' ground, the front, where the ships are down and a man is judged by what he does.

If Canadians have been able to concentrate on fighting from mountain to mountain, ridge to ridge, it is because, in and in day out, long lines of Korean bearers have trudged up to the Canadian positions, carrying troop rations, ammunition, water, mail and batteries for their walkie-talkies.

More than 175 Korean boys and men—high school students, university students, farmers, merchants, the owner of a gold mine—serve as porters with the Patricias. Conscripted or volunteers, they live in the battalion area, are on its ration strength and have served under fire to supply it.

Takes Six Hours For Trip

Up in the hills, where the rifle companies have been for eight and nine days at a time, the "riceburners" arrival is the daily event, the only contact with the world below and behind.

Six hours' painful plodding up steep, treacherous and often icy trails are needed to deliver the goods to some ridges. With loads varying from 75 to 100 pounds fastened to their back with straw ropes, often woven that morning by their own hands from rice-straw fibres, they suffer and puff and sweat.

Up top, though, they stink of the front and they get a good soldier's welcome. It's "cigarets all around" and gladly the word is flashed back to the main headquarters below: "Riceburners have arrived."

American Business Executive Freed From Communist Jail

Nickelsdorf, Austria, April 28 (AP)—Andrew A. Vogeler, 56-year-old American business executive, was freed today from a communist jail in Hungary where he spent 17 months on charges of spying for the United States.

Vogeler arrived at this Austro-Hungarian frontier village and was whisked away in a car by American officials to a reunion with his wife, Lucille, and their two young sons in Vienna.

Pale but trim, Vogeler smiled at reporters who met him near the border post.

"Nobody can be happier than I am."

Vogeler was met at the frontier by Arthur Shower, American consul-general in Vienna, and Halvor Eckern, a member of the United States legation staff.

Mrs. Vogeler, 34, advised that her husband was on the way home, had had a telephone conversation saying:

"I must go wash my face and get ready for dinner."

Price Paid for Release

Simultaneously with his release, the Hungarian government in Budapest announced the price that was paid for Vogeler's free-dom:

1. The United States promised to open the Hungarian consulate, in New York and Cleveland, that were closed last year.

2. It will lift the ban on travel by American citizens to Hungary.

3. The voice of America will stop using the new length of wave to Munich for its broadcasts.

4. The U.S. government will help the Hungarian government carry carried off by the Nazis in 1944 to the now American occupied zone of Austria.

The terms were not confirmed immediately by American officials.

Still held by the Hungarian government are Robert Enders, a British subject and a colleague of Vogeler's. Sanders was arrested at the same time as Vogeler, in November, 1949, also on charges of espionage.

Sanders was sentenced to 13 years in prison, after both pleaded guilty at the conclusion of court. They were tried in the same room and by the same judge as was the case of Cardinal Mindszenty a year before.

Vogeler was convicted on charges that British authorities have had any success in negotiations for Sanders' release.

Eight Killed, Three Missing In Gibraltar Blast

Gibraltar, April 28—(CP)—Explosion of the Royal Navy ammunition ship Bedenham left in its wake today a casualty list of eight killed, three missing and 33 injured in hospital.

Residents of the British base today cleared debris and broken glass which littered the area when about 500 tons of ammunition went up. Every building in the area was damaged.

Hundreds were hurt but none of the dockyard staff was said to be injured. The crew was able to abandon ship before the major explosion.

Residents of Gibraltar-spent a sleepless night. Many shared rooms with friends or relatives whose houses had not been so badly damaged by the morning explosion. Others went over the border into Spain.

A naval court of inquiry into the cause of the disaster will be held. Gibraltar civil authorities declined comment on newspaper reports that naval and intelligence experts had flown to Gibraltar to investigate the explosion.

TV TO ATTRACT TOURISTS

Toronto, April 28 (CP) —The Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity predicted television this year to attract American tourists.

FOUR ARE KILLED IN TRUCK-AUTO CRASH IN QUEBEC

Four Others Injured At Sturgeon Falls

Beauharnois, Que., April 28—(CP)— Four persons were killed last night and two others are in hospital, result of a highway accident near this centre, some 25 miles southwest of Montreal.

Killed in the truck-automobile crash were Rene Leduc, 23, driver of the car; Mrs. Edmour Vaillet, 24, and her three-year-old nephew, Jean-Claude.

The fourth victim, who died in hospital at nearby Valleyfield, was Edmour Vaillet, who succumbed to head injuries.

In hospital in "Fair" condition are Mrs. Rene Leduc, 24, and her two-year-old son, Andre.

Henri Page, driver of the truck, escaped serious injury.

Force of the impact hurtled young Jean-Claude from the window of the car. His body was found in a water-filled ditch. Leduc, his wife and two children were killed beneath the car.

Police said the two vehicles, travelling in opposite directions, collided on a narrow stretch of highway.

First police reports from the scene of the crash said that Mr. and Mrs. Leduc had died in the collision with their son and that Mr. and Mrs. Vaillet had been taken to hospital.

Employment At High Level In Province

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — Employment in Ontario, with a record labor force, continued at a high level, the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research reported Friday.

Only in the North Bay-Parry Sound-Bracebridge area and at the lakehead were there any declines in March, the bureau said. This year and those were slight.

The average weekly wage in manufacturing across the province broke through the $50 mark for the first time. It was at $49.08 in January and went to $50.18 in February.

The Bureau reported construction contracts valued at $215,000,000 were awarded in March during the first three months of 1951.

This figure was more than three times the amount awarded in the same period for 1950, the Bureau said.

Defence contracts awarded in Ontario between Nov. 20, 1950 and March 15, 1951, were valued at $33,550,000, the Bureau said. Of the contracts went to greater Toronto and district.

Smart Teamwork Between Forces Earns Praise

With the British 29th Brigade in Korea, April 28. (Reuters)— The British 29th Brigade has glowing praise for the support it received from the United States Air Force during its three-day battle and escape against overwhelming communist forces.

The brigade, comprising the Gloucester Regiment, the Northumberland Fusiliers and the Royal Ulster Rifles, fought a rear-guard action on the western front, bearing the brunt of the main communist surge by a Chinese army corps.

"The Yanks dropped their napalm bombs and strafed and rocketed the Chinese within yards in front of our boys," one Gloucester soldier said.

Others told of only a few minutes' lag between hitting of the British artillery, machine-guns and appearance of the American bombers. "American air support was high praise for the Britons, too. Wonderful troops."

Lieut.-Col. D. Ferrer, head of the U.S. tactical air group party stationed to the British brigade said:

"They're wonderful troops. We've been with them before and they were throwing everything they had at the Chinese, but when the Chinese began getting too close I had to call for an air strike."

With their tongues in their cheeks, rubber boots and rubber coats in their duffle-bags, a number of trout fishermen left here last night and today for the northern haunts of the year's piscatorial dish. The season opens today.

HASTY FEES MEMBERS WILL BE GUESTS AT FILM SHOWING

Members of the Belleville and Trenton companies of the Hasty Fees will be guests of the Capitol Theatre management Monday evening when the film "The Steel Helmet" scheduled for a three-day run at the theatre, a thriller of the war with Korea based on battle conditions in Korea. Personnel of the local and Trenton reserve units will form up at the local Armories and will march to the Capitol for the showing of the film.

HONORED PADRE OF HASTY FEES TO VISIT BATTLEFIELDS

The continued rainy weather is making more than the farmers unhappy as it is also causing trouble for the commercial fishermen.

At least that is the story told today by commercial fishermen and hucksters selling fish on the Belleville streets.

Today the price of muddcats was quoted at 35 c per lb., an increase over the price asked last week. The reason is a scarcity of the fish.

Rainy weather it seems causes the water to rise, and muddcats leave the shore and the muddcats seek deeper water, with the result that fishermen cut on the volume of their catch.

Course for Census Supervisors Will Be Held in City

A full week's instructional course for census supervisors and commissioners will be held in the Hotel Quinte from April 30th to May 5th, it has been announced by M. C. Bessey, census commissioner for Hastings South. Census supervisors and commissioners from Hastings South and the counties of Northumberland and Prince Edward, will attend the course at Belleville, it was stated.

Hastings South has been divided into 60 sub-districts for the taking of the 1951 census and will require a staff of 60 enumerators.

Fresh home-grown rhubarb made its initial appearance of the season on the Belleville produce market with vendors asking 15c per bunch. Lettuce, and winter vegetables brought a dime or three bunches for 25c.

Strawberry plants were offered at $1 to $1.50 per hundred, while blue raspberry canes were quoted at $2 per hundred.

Eggs held steady on the inside market yesterday. Quotations quoted at 60c the dozen and pullets and medlums ranging from 55c to 58c per dozen. Broilers were 65c per lb. with mature birds ranging from 55c to 60c per lb.

Potatoes were still $1.50 per bag; parsnips and cooking onions sold at 4Oc the small basket and carrots at 30c the basket.

The quantity of apples being offered has fallen off. Basket lots of Russets, McIntosh and Sweets sold at 50c with 60c being asked for Spies.

Young pigs sold at from $14 to $15 each.

Plenty of Good Seats Available For Kinsmen Show

Despite the fact that there was a big rush to secure tickets at the advance seat sale for the Kinsmen production of "Ghost Boat Days" there are still plenty of good seats available for all three nights of the show, it was reported today. The show is being staged May 2-3-4 at the Belleville collegiate auditorium.

There was a long lineup of anxious ticket seekers on hand at Bill Gibson's store, where the box office for reserved seats opened and since the initial rush there has been a steady demand. There are still good seats left but they are going fast and Kinsmen expect a complete sell-out by curtain-time next Wednesday evening.

Thieves Enter Home of Sports Promoter Gorman

Ottawa, April 26 —(CP) Thieves entered the home of sports promoter T. P. Gorman Friday night and, without finding any clue to how they got in, escaped with a 500-pound safe from the second floor. Police were told the safe contained $300 in cash, personal papers and bonds.

The robbery was discovered by Gorman when he returned home. A series of scratches on the staircase gave police their only clue as to the method employed in removing the big safe.

A close check by police failed to reveal anything indicating that the house had been forced and police suspected that a pass key may

Fine Hobby Fair Presented By Queen Alexandra Home And School Association

Webster's definition of "hobby" as "something pursued with zest and delight" was fully exemplified last evening by Queen Alexandra Home and School Association in the presentation of their "Hobby Fair," both in magnitude, its exceptionally fine handicraft, as well as in its artistic arrangement.

Fine Murals

On entering, the eye was immediately held by the lovely cutout appliques lining the entrance walls, where the great and colorful bowls of peonies seemed to grow from loveliness to loveliness as each step was mounted into the next room. Here, running along one entire wall was an almost three dimensional mural, depicting little boys and girls dressed as the quaint figures of yesteryear dresses, playing beneath the shady trees of a great park. Some were swinging upon real swings, others were playing ball, and skipping ropes while the boys, either watched or were playing baseball, or basketball, as the fancy took them. Some little girls were picking the pretty tulips and golden daffodils that grew so profusely at their feet. And Front Street with the "Grand" and "Grand Shop" was realistic. Everywhere spring was the keynote of the whole room scene, with the trees along the corridor, daffodils and tulips growing in profusion, bordered from window boxes, and big fat robin redbreasts sang from the branches.

In an adjoining room, the school work of the children was displayed which included samples of writing, cut-out silhouettes, both in color and in black; crayon drawings of still life, and pastoral scenes, and snow scenes, and an interesting technique of necktie assortments complete with color. These all ranged through the various grades from the lowest kindergarten to grade seven and eight. The entire work included the murals described above and the art work was under the convenership of Miss Olive Elson of the staff, assisted by all the teachers and pupils.

Tropical Fish

In the assembly room another lightful exhibit was that of the tropical fish showing several varieties from the red gold fish, with their feathery tail fins, some other were striped like zebras which were shaped in the manner of sunfish, but paper thin when viewed longitudinally, long trailing feelers hung from the undercsides of the mouth. These moved likes spirits through the lighted waters without any apparent motion. Another variety was netted, other round the green shrubbery in the

Other aquariums contained specimens of tiny fish no longer than an inch, but with more than 2/16 having lateral stripes running from nose to tail. The exhibit was perhaps the most pleasingly arranged with the tall sea-weeds and glistening white sandy bottom which was being kept immaculately clean by large boys following. Mr. T. Schwab, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sills, Mr. C. Heard and Mrs. W. Douglas, who had been guessing contest was also a drawing card for both boys and those guessing, and was in charge of Mr. C. C. Scott and Mrs. F. Yeallard. Mr. C. C. Scott and H. Bonter; also Mr. Whitfield had the oversight of the aquariums. Mr. D. Osborne and Mr. C. Howie of the ice cream and coke barn.

The general chairman was Mr. Ray Lennox and the general treasurer, Mr. J. Purdy. Mr. Fred Dier won the radio in the bean guessing contest.

A hobby fair of outstanding merit, splendidly conveyed.

72 Assessment Appeals in Parkwood Heights Allowed by Revision Court

Seventy-two assessment appeals by Parkwood Heights residents against their 1951 assessments were allowed by the court of revision which sat at the local city hall earlier in the week. The decision of the court on the appeals was announced yesterday.

Executive of the court of revision report was a confirmation of an earlier decision by Judge Wilfred Lazier, K.C. Picton, and later by the Municipal Board.

In his decision on the assessment appeal by seven Parkwood Heights bungalow owners in 1948, Judge Lazier reduced the assessment of the bungalows as compared with the 1 1-2 and 2 2-4 storey residences in the same area. Since then the assessments have been used.

Obituary

LATE JOHN E. DOOBER

Campbellford.—Funeral services were conducted at 9 a.m. on Thursday morning for John Ernest Doober, of Campbellford, who died suddenly at his home on Friday.

Mr. Doober was born in Londonderry near Smiths Falls, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John and Elizabeth O'Reilly. He had been confined to his home the past six months. He lived in Lanark village prior to moving to Campbellford about 34 years ago.

An employee of the Campbellford Cloth Company for about 30 years, Mr. Doober was quite active in union activities connected with his trade as spinner in the textile industry. He was past president of Local 745 in Campbellford of the Textile Workers' Union.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. V. Waters (Evelyn) of Toronto; Mrs. Alvin (Hawkins (Bernie) of Fitzroy Harbor; Mrs. Leo Begg (Mavis) at home. Three sons: Harold and Jack at home; Harry, of Madoc. A cousin, Mrs. M. Ashcroft resides in Belleville, Mr. J. Moloney of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Campbellford, officiated at the service, conducted services. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Lorne Storie, Joseph Poulton jr., Tobias Forrest, Joseph Gunn, Peter McMillan and Walter Lowe.

LATE MISS MARIA WEBB

Stirling—The funeral of Miss Maria Webb held on Thursday afternoon in St. John Anglican church, Stirling. Her pastor Rev. H. C. Secker conducted the service.

Bearers were Messrs. Edgar McKeown, Thomas McKeown, Charles Vance, Karl Fox, Percy Lake and Claude Tucker.

Interment was in the family plot in Twelfth Line Cemetery in Rawdon township.

GILBERT ROBLIN
(Toronto—Sidney Twp.)

After an illness of more than a year, Gilbert Roblin, retired farmer of Sidney Township, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ross Ketcheson, Ottawa while on a visit to the capital early this Friday morning.

He was born in Sidney Township, 67 years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. Roblin and for many years farmed in the township. He moved to Toronto 2 years ago, to live with his daughter in Toronto.

He was a member of the United Church and surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Lena Reid of Toronto, Mrs. Gordon (Gladys) Ketcheson of Ottawa, and one brother, Percy Roblin, Sask., and one brother, Harry Roblin of Sidney. His wife, Jennie Nettle Thrasher, died some years ago.

Resting at the Grant Funeral Home, the funeral arrangement is made elsewhere in this edition.

JOHN GILBERT STEVENS
(Madoc)

Following an illness of two years, John Gilbert Stevens died at the home of Mrs. Nellie Henry, Madoc, on Friday afternoon.

He was born in Madoc village, 67 years ago, being the son of the late Samuel and Elizabeth Stevens and had resided in Madoc for the past 20 years. He previously farmed in Rawdon Township and then moved to Belleville before taking up permanent residence in Madoc. He was a member of the Trinity United Church and surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Bud (Vera) Bateman of Belleville and two sons, Samuel of Madoc and Ernest of Toronto.

Resting at the Duffin Funeral Home, Madoc, the funeral arrangement is made elsewhere in this edition.

Bombers Used With Good Results On Terrorists in Malaya Jungle

From the British Aircraft, Society

Strike-aircraft are playing an increasing important part in the campaign against terrorists in Malaya. Air supply of the ground forces has always been a vital part of the campaign and now accurate air strikes are also being intensified.

The army ground forces (who bear the main weight of the campaign) are being supported by light bombers. The army is systematically clearing the Malayan Peninsula of insurgents are by areas—a plan initiated by General Briggs. The ground and air forces have worked out a close and harmonious arrangement by which bombers are always available to attack any marauding bands of terrorists.

The bomber squadrons are constantly ready for operation—immediately on landing they are rearmed and refueled in readiness for the next strike. Ground and air forces call them into action by radio and direct them to the target radio-telephone. Most experienced operas at about 6,000 feet and dive on the jungle targets of their bombs, following up with a direct rocket- attack and heavy machine-gun fire.

These targets are extremely difficult to find. They are hidden deep in the Malayan jungle. The whole landscape—500 miles square—is virtually a sea of vegetation with matted undergrowth and trees—most of them 150 feet high. The jungle rises in some places to 7,000 feet and there are mountainous swamps with no real clearings. The ground forces themselves find it extremely difficult to locate the insurgents by the army and air patrols have passed to within 50 feet of bandit headquarters without spotting them. Even when the ground forces have located a target and passed its position to the bomber squadron, the difficulties are by no means overcome. On the early morning during the northeast monsoon the thickly wooded hills are covered by a thin layer of cloud which lifts toward noon and turns into stormclouds. Even beneath this blanket of cloud the ground is featureless and targets are difficult to pinpoint.

The air force pilots usually spot their targets by first of all locating the nearest definite landmark—perhaps a rubber plantation—and then flying a fixed course from it guided by information passed to them by the army. The ground forces keep in touch by radio and where and when possible help the air-crews by marking colored-smoke markers or firing mortars. At night they use searchlights.

Bristol "Brigand" light bombers are carrying out the majority of these attacks. In one recent month a squadron of Brigands of the Far East Air Force made 50 air strikes against terrorist targets. The Brigands have sufficient endurance to enable pilots not only to cover their entire area from home base but also to circle any suspected area for a considerable time.

Air support is vital to the campaign because it gives the ground forces the initiative. Bandits are kept constantly on the move by the fear of an attack. Air Vice-Marshal Sir Frank Meilersh has stated that without air support "the bandits would pass entirely to the insurgents."

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B.

'When Morning Gilds the Skies'

When morning gilds the skies
My heart, awaking, cries,
May Jesus Christ be praised!
Alike at work and prayer
To Jesus I repair,
May Jesus Christ be praised!

In heaven's eternal bliss
The loveliest strain is this.
May Jesus Christ be praised!
The powers of darkness fear
When this sweet chant they hear,
May Jesus Christ be praised!

Be this, while life is mine,
My canticle divine,
May Jesus Christ be praised!
Be this the eternal song
Through all the ages long
May Jesus Christ be praised!

Somewhere in Germany, early in the nineteenth century, this glad morning hymn was written but the identity of the writer never has been discovered. It was published anonymously in a German song book in 1828 and was translated into English in 1854 by the Rev. Edward Caswall, distinguished English clergyman.

Caswall, and Dr. John Mason Neale, another eminent English minister and author, have given English-speaking Christians some of their finest hymns through translations made from German and Latin texts. Dr. Neale is best known for his English version of St. John of Damascus' hymn, "The Day Of Resurrection;" and the hymn, "Art Thou Weary, Art Thou Languid?" written in an eighth century monastery by St. Stephen, the Sabaite, John of Damascus' monastery.

Caswall's most popular hymn, apart from "When Morning Gilds The Skies," was his "Jesus, The Very Thought Of Thee," an exquisite translation made from an early Latin poem of Bernard of Clairvaux, a twelfth century Cistercian monk.

Born at Yately, England in 1814 Caswall was graduated from Oxford University in 1836 and was ordained a deacon in the Church of England in 1838. He became perpetual curate of Stratford-and-Castle, near Salisbury, in 1840 but resigned as a pastor of the Established Church six years later to embrace the Roman Catholic faith. In 1847, he became a priest in the Congregation of the Oratory at Birmingham, a church group which had been established by Cardinal John Henry Newman, an earlier convert from the Church of England. Newman wrote his immortal hymn, "Lead, Kindly Light," just before accepting Catholicism.

tried very hard to catch offenders, or perhaps were busy breaking laws themselves. Whether the Germans actually believe this, or whether it is just an attempt at justification, is a good question. Some Germans have given went so far as to say that they hated the sight of a French uniform, but in fact the French said the same about the Nazis.

They will agree that the communists are a great threat to world peace, but add that they have always considered them as such, and why did we not do the same. This statement is true, for all during the Hitler regime, the communists were persecuted along with the Jews. The fact was that too many people considered the Germans the surest defence against the Russians and large sums of money found their way to Germany.

The German - Russian treaty of non-aggression was just like an agreement between two crooks; neither side intended to keep it. I explained that much as we welcomed Hitler's dislike of everything with a red colour, we found that he was a still greater menace at that time, and we grew tired of his saying "This is the last piece of territory that I want." We had to deal with one thing at a time, and National Socialism was definitely the greatest danger. During the war Hitler made one attempt to arrange a treaty with the Western World, so that they could help him against Russia. Now the Germans ask, "Why did you not accept this offer, for you must have realized how dangerous Russia actually was?" The answer to that is rather obvious.

Crossroads

Today the German people are at the crossing of the roads. On the one hand there is still the dislike of the Western Powers, a dislike which is all too slowly disappearing. On the other hand is the fear of the communists. What the Germans decide to do is strictly up to them. If they decide that their hatred of the French is getting them no place, perhaps the situation will improve. If they let the French interfere with all their decisions, any hope of full co-operation is rather faint.

Women's Institute

PHILLIPSTON-ZION W.I.

Mrs. Don Sills was hostess to the ladies of the Phillipston-Zion Women's Institute for the April meeting. The president, Mrs. Ernest Simmons, presided.

During a discussion of a much needed room for the city of Belleville, it was unanimously decided that a resolution pertaining to this matter be forwarded to the district annual meeting and that the need be again brought to the attention of the city council.

It was also decided that a reception be given to the European families who have recently come to the community, and the following committee is in charge, Mrs. Ernest Ellis, Mrs. Floyd Ray, Mrs. W. Phillips, Mrs. Don Sills, Mrs. Clifford Ray and Mrs. Kenneth Denyes.

Communistic Menace

An article, depicting the communistic menace in South East Asia, was contributed by Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. W. Phillips. One of the most important of free nations is to prevent communistic countries taking possession of this territory, which would make available to them 90 per cent of the world's supply, 60 per cent of the tin; 10 million bushels of rice annually, besides fabulous resources of coal, petroleum, and quinine.

Mrs. Harry Ketcheson and Mrs. Earle Sayers dressed as Mrs. 1897, and Mrs. 1951, presented a skit portraying the changing fashions of yesterday and today.

A resume of the year's activities was most encouraging. Approximately $100 was raised by

FRANCE AND GERMANY
(Article No. 17)

St. Gallen, Switzerland (Special to the Ontario Intelligencer) — These days, one reads quite a bit about discussions taking place concerning the rearmament of Western Germany as a link in the defence against Russian communism. This is only one example of how fast time flies, for only seven years ago, the Germans were our worst enemies and the Russians our best friends. At present General Eisenhower has the gigantic task of trying to knit together twelve countries into a defensive unit. When we remember that France and Germany are traditional enemies, we realize that any plans which call for the combination of the troops of these two nations are going to carry a big "if" with them.

Western forces are getting experience fighting together in Korea, but there are no Germans fighting with them. It occurred to me that it might be interesting to discover how the Germans are reacting to this rearmament talk, and if their feelings, if any, have changed in the last few years. It was with this purpose that I visited the French zone of Germany to try to find answers for a few questions. It was not too difficult, since the Germans feel inclined to tell their troubles to anybody who will listen, and this I was prepared to do. The results I obtained were not very encouraging but the situation is not hopeless.

Invaded Three Times

Three times in the last 100 years, the French have been invaded by the Germans. Twice they have been defeated. Although they recovered from the first defeat in record time, it will take many years of peace before France can hope to recover from the second one. The French have not forgotten this, and with the record of the Nazis in France during the occupation being what it is, one can understand if the French are inclined to dislike or even hate the Germans, and wish to retaliate for what had happened to them.

Their chance came in 1944 when the French were given one zone of Germany to occupy. What the Germans claim has happened since that time does not make for good relations between the two countries. Many of the French officials and soldiers brought their family with them, down to the last uncle (so claim the Germans). What they did was to pick out certain houses that they wanted and gave the Germans occupants twenty-four hours notice.

Because of the acute housing shortage in Germany, this act was not appreciated by anyone, least of all by the evicted families. This is the German point of view, but the French answer to it can be easily imagined. In addition, French military drivers are rather impolite, preferring to consider the entire road their own, and using their horn to excess. Reports such as these do not make the Germans any happier.

Promote Education

However, on the whole, I found the occupation rather orderly, and not what one would call excessive. The French government has promoted education in the zone, and are partly responsible for the rise of the German standard of living. When one suggests to the Germans that the cause for some unpleasant events might be German behavior in France, they reply that their occupation was carried out in an orderly fashion, and any German caught breaking laws was punished.

I don't imagine their police were bought for the community hall.

Assistance, financial, was given to the Girls' Club. All are pleased to report a most successful year in this work which was directed by Mrs. Percy Ray and Mrs. Clifford Ray, who are again in charge for the coming year.

THE SPECIAL FORCE SHOULD BE EXEMPT

News that the government intends to collect income ...rom men serving in the Special Force in Korea has ...pitated no little objection and opposition in veterans' ...ps in Canada. And the objection, it would seem, has ...e earmarks of being legitimate.

One group, the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, ...orwarded a strong letter to Defence Minister Brooke ...ton, asking for a reversal of the decision, so that men ...e front lines of the battle may be exempted from the ...ent of income taxes. The letter called the action of ... government in this instance "shocking and ...gnant." The answer to the missive was given Wednes... by a government spokesman. In brief, the govern... does not intend to reverse the decision, and the ...e must pay.

The factor behind the refusal seems to be that Douglas ...ott, Minister of Finance, has refused to exercise dis...ination among Canadians. He feels, and has gone on ...rd, that no group should be exempt in the collection ...come tax. A blanket statement that no group should ...empt can be construed as either being fair or short...ed. In normal times, it might be fair. At this time, ...ms shortsighted, and small reward for men who have ...nteered to fight for Canada and other countries on ...gn soil.

Certainly, if there is one group in any way, shape or ... connected with Canada that should be given extra ...ecial privileges with regard to income tax, it is the ...ial Force. Many of these men tore up roots that were ...y sunken underground after the Second World War. ...y had just begun to settle into civilian life, with some ... of normality facing them after service in the 1939-45 ... They threw over all the security they had started ...uild, to join the armed services again. Many did so ...ly because they felt that a battle now would eliminate ...r later.

It would seem that those facts comprise their case for ...e tax exemption. They could have no more power... facts in an age when communism threatens world ...ination. These men have volunteered to fight for ...y Canadian, and every man, woman and child whose ...tries are connected with the United Nations. They ...putting into effect the feelings of the free areas of the ...d — that communism must be halted, must be shown ... democracy will fight for right.

Reconsideration of the demands that Special Force ...bers be exempt should be included in the govern...t's future discussions. By their own actions, these men ... established themselves in a special class. They ...ld be given special privileges.

THE CONSERVATION BATTLE BEGINS AGAIN

Most men do a few things to excess. Some smoke, ...gamble, some are addicted to alcohol. And some men ... For weeks, the fishermen have been casting anxious ...at the calendar, counting the days and nights until ... could don the appropriate togs and hurry to their ...ite stream or lake.

LOOKING BACKWARDS
GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
April 28th., 1931.

James Parker, K.C., prominent Toronto lawyer, and formerly of Stirling, has been appointed a junior judge for York County.

Mr. J. V. Doyle, druggist, is spending a few days in Toronto on business.

Ald. George H. Griffin spent yesterday in Toronto.

Mr. Fred Rawson of this city will leave shortly to visit his former home in England.

Mr. J. Hibbard is spending a few days at Niagara Falls, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hayes have returned to Toronto after spending a few days here with his father, Mr. P. Hayes, Catherine Street.

Provincial Police Constable Gray of Marmora was in town today.

30 YEARS AGO
April 28th., 1921.

The executive committee will recommend to the city council that the tender of Harris Forbes Company of 96.719 for $210,504 bonds under date of April 27th. be accepted. The bonds are for twenty years bearing interest at six per cent.

Mr. Sidney Nelson is visiting friends in Colborne.

Mr. W. R. Stock of Toronto is spending a few days here with friends.

Mr. M. R. Allison of Picton has been appointed Crown Attorney for the County of Prince Edward. He succeeds Mr. R. H. Hubbs who has been appointed Registrar of the Supreme Court and Clerk of the County Court.

40 YEARS AGO
April 28th., 1911.

The fact that four of the civic committees did not meet on Thursday evening should be another strong reason for abolishing the ward system. Too many members create confusion.

Mr. J. Nevin Doyle and Dr. John Doyle are home from New York City on a visit.

Mr. E. Botterill of this city will leave shortly for Regina, Sask., where he intends to reside.

Mr. Burton Asselstine has returned home from Queen's University, Kingston, where he was successful in passing the final year and received the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Mr. James L. Tower, son of Mr. John Tower, William Street, has passed his second year in medicine and has also received the degree of Bachelor in Arts at Queen's University.

50 YEARS AGO
April 28th., 1901.

Mr. T. S. Carman is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. D. B. Robertson, City Clerk, has resumed his duties at the city hall, after a brief absence.

Mr. Thomas Stewart has returned home from Toronto where he spent several days on business.

Mr. Michael Corrigan and family, residents of Brockville for the past ten years, have come to this city to make their home. Many friends in Brockville regret their departure.

Many citizens visited Victoria Park yesterday. It is very attractive at the present time.

Mr. Charles Steward of this city has returned home after a business trip to Montreal.

YOUR CREED IMPORTANT

Someone made a statement ...ly impressed me, not because there was anything new in what my hearing recently which great... the man said but because he set forth an old truth which needs continually to be pondered.

What the man said was this: "Deeds must be rooted in creeds." Sometimes we hear that the other way about, namely, that creeds must be rooted in deeds. And all this is true. But it is also true that if our conduct is going to be substantial and and continuous, if it is going to please God and make us helpful to our fellows, it must rest upon the sure foundation of religious faith.

There are some good people who are not religious, but we can be pretty sure that these people got their goodness by coming under the influence of people who had religious faith. The churches of this land keep our moral life wholesome, and every other factor in national life combined could never take the place of the church in doing this.

The church sets forth creeds, and, on the basis of these creeds, preaches and tries to promote morality.

Your creed is very important, even though you do not think it is. And you have a creed, even though your creed may be agnosticism and denial.

TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HOW TO BE INTERESTING

Interesting people are rarely lonley! This undoubtedly is due to the fact that others are always on the lookout for such people. People who read a great deal, about what they see and whom they meet are interesting people.

If you have something worthwhile to say, and say it with sincerity and feeling, you will have listeners and you will be interesting. The more things you can talk about, the more people you know, and the more things you become interested in—these are what make an outstanding personality, one that always attracts attention.

People who are always interested in other people themselves become interesting, for nearly everyone is first interested in himself. It takes genius to impart one's personality. Not merely the interesting talker, but the intelligent listener, often becomes the most inersting one in a group. People who keep heir eyes on ... is thinking.

The more we all know the more interesting we are to ourselves, and that makes people hunt us out. Dull, stupid people are not interesting, but there is many a failure who is far more interesting than he one who boasts success. People who strive are interesting, whether they win or lose.

You can become interesting the moment you begin to take an interest in other epople. You can arouse their interest in something that has greatly interested and profited you, such a person will listen to you with an open and willing mind. Cheerfulness, enthusiasm, unselfishness, and a happy outlook upon life, go far toward waking one interesting.

So many people today habitually complain and find fault that when you meet a person who is full of hope and kindliness, and who takes life in its stride, you feel like embracing him on the spot! It gives me a spiritual lift to meet a person who seems to spark everyone met. How to be that sort? Just decide to be—

OUR TOWN
By JACK SCOTT

THE U. S. CURTAIN

So now the good old Yewnited States has rung up its iron curtain, with a big clanking and banging, and barred from the home of the brave and the free a little man in a tilted straw hat. Hurray for democracy! Hurray for our side!

The barring of Maurice Chevalier, once popularly known as "France's Ambassador to America," adds still another unsavory aroma to the peculiar fragrance caused by the lid-lifting on the graft and corruption in that powerful, child-like nation. I am all in favor of a free border, but it's too bad there isn't some way to de-odorize these occasional breezes from down there.

I have become convinced—and the Chevalier affair adds further evidence—that official or bureaucratic America is a full century behind the people of America.

In three months of travel throughout the United States last year—north and south, east and west—I was agreeably surprised to find so many people of tolerant, broad-minded views and this sort of personal discovery was the theme for many columns I wrote down there.

It is only on the government level that you find the hypocrisy and the shallow philosophy for which the U. S. is becoming noted throughout te world.

The face America turns to the world is very often a face with the cunning eyes that close together and no vistage of a forehead and this is a tragedy because, Americans as a whole, are of finer stuff.

When I read of the refusal to grant a visa to Chevalier my mind went back to the kitchen of a farm house in Maine. At that time Pablo Picasso had been confronted with the "Keep Out" signs and I was discussing this with John Longmore, school teacher, farmer and Republican.

"Hell," Longmore said, "I'd like to have Picasso in my home, like to hear his ideas on things. I reckon I'm old enough to hear all sides of a question without getting contaminated. Sometimes I wonder if they hven't gone all plumb addled down in Washington.

Not everyone thinks that way, by any means, but Longmore's view is a good deal more truly American than the kind of noises that come from the higher slopes.

Easy Target

The Chevalier business is just another drop in the bucket in the growing reaction of the United States, but because it involves a beloved man it incites closer inspection.

Chevalier was not barred as a member of the communist party, but merely because he had allowed his name to be linked with the so-called communist-front organizations. It's a noose in which many personalities are being hanged without trial in America today.

I have been among those who take the stand that non-communists who join such groups—notably the phony "peace" organizations—are woefully naive. But in most cases there is no doubt of the sincerity of their motives.

In our own parts many men and women have joined the "peace" movement out of a kind of desperation because the communists have been clever enough to provide such a convenient outlet for their prayers.

Apart from this, Chevalier—like any other famous personality—is under constant pressure because of his associations.

Although he served with distinction in World War I (he was wounded at Outry, escaped from a German hospital and was decorated with the Croix de Guerre) he was branded by the French resistance movement as a collaborator after World War II because of certain concerts performed in Paris.

Later, Chevalier was cleared completely of these charges but no court can ever wipe out the shadow of doubt that lingers after such accusations. It is the nature of our press to headline the charges and to bury the acquittal.

Like most artists of great talent, Chevalier is exposed to all manner of charges. Gracie Fields once described him to me as "that most natural man" and he is by temperament a person who lives more by heart than by prudence.

He was a sitting duck for another moronic demonstration by the United States of the evils of communism.

Not For Sale

As an example of how to make friends abroad the Chevalier incident is surely a new low. The one dominant characteristic of the French is a spirit of independence. They have accepted Marshall aid, for example, with an odd, but understandable, mixture of gratitude and pugnaciousness.

"We appreciate the help the United States is giving us," a Paris journalist told me when I was there a couple of years ago, "but we are not for sale."

By suggesting that a Frenchman with his own views is unacceptable to Americans the U. S. is obviously demanding more interest on the loan that it is going to get.

Whether the United States likes it or not, one of every three voters in France is communist. Communism is a force there, as it is elsewhere, because the so-called free enterprise system failed miserably.

Chevalier, himself, was born in the squalid slums of Menilmontant, Paris' east side, and knew the meaning of dark poverty. He was 11 years of age when he went to work. Like Charlie Chaplin, he has never forgotten those bitter days and, like Chaplin, has never given his support to the far left.

By closing its borders to such men America makes a mockery of freedom and democracy and, indeed, moves many men a notch closer to the enemy.

Churchill Will Not Make Trip To United States

London, April 28 (AP)—Winston Churchill today cancelled a planned trip to the United States because of the British government crisis.

The Conservative opposition leader and wartime Prime Minister said in a letter to Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, that "events have happened which make it difficult for me to speak at the university May 8."

Churchill apparently was referring to the upheaval in the Labor government cabinet which many observers feel opens the possibility of a general election.

Churchill did not mention the cabinet crisis in his letter. But it was clear the oppositon leader wanted to avoid being out of the country at such a critical time.

Churchill wrote Stassen:

I appreciate the invitation with which you honored me to speak at the bicentenary of the University of Pennsylvania library on May 8. Since your arrangements were made, events have happened which make it difficult for me to fulfil the engagement now. I hope, therefore, you will allow me to postpone for a while my visit to Philadelphia to which I look forward keenly."

THREE CHILDREN DROWN

Grenville, Que., April 27 (CP)—Three children were drowned in the Ottawa River near here Thursday when they became panic-stricken in a rowboat that broke its mooring and was carried away by the swift current of the flood-swollen river. 10-Year-Old Girl Victim of Attack For Second Time

Toronto, April 28 — (CP)—A 10-year-old girl Thursday was the victim of a sex attack for the second time in three days.

Police said the first incident occurred Tuesday night when the child came home drunk from a birthday party after being absent 14 hours.

Thursday, police said, the same girl was playing in the street near her home when a man took her to his room, tried to force her to drink gin, and then removed her clothing. The child screamed and ran into the street.

William Flawn, 35, was charged with indecent assault.

In the birthday party case, William Sturgeon, 25, was charged with having carnal knowledge and Elsie McLennan, 32, who police said was Sturgeon's common-law wife, was charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Pair Sentenced For Robbery

Toronto, April 28 — (CP) — William Cole, 25, Friday received a 10-year sentence after being convicted on an armed robbery charge in the holdup of an east-end gun shot April 11. Vernon Levy, 21, was given five years.

Cole and Levy were felled by gunshot wounds when employees of the shop opened fire on their car as they attempted to make a getaway. Police are seeking a third man who escaped on foot with firearms and ammunition.

Magistrate O. M. Martin said he originally had decided to sentence Levy to seven years, but gave him a shorter term after two brothers testified he had been a youth leader in Halifax. The magistrate described Cole as "obvi-

PASSING OF THE PLATE-GLASS SETTING

It took thirty years of ridicule, caricature and burlesque, together with an occasional snicker from a so-and-so health columnist, to bring American hospital managers to realization of the absurdity of the men-in-white, plate-glass setting in lying-in institutions and nurseries.

Speaking from his experience with "compulsory rooming-in in the ward and private newborn service" in an up-to-date hospital (rooming-in means keeping the newborn infant in bassinet at the mother's bedside where she can nurse the baby whenever she wishes, observe, play with or take care of him—all of which makes for a contented baby and a happy mother), Dr. Angus McBryde reports, in J.A.M.A. March 3, 1951, that this modern method protects the newborn infants from infection more effectively than the old-fashioned plate-glass nursery isolation ever did. That is to say, it reduces the contacts of all the babies with one nurse or one set of nurses who might be carriers and who could thus infect all the infants they attend. Explosive nursery epidemics of infectious diarrhea, impetigo and other diseases can often be traced to an attendant, Dr. McBryde reminds us.

Rooming-in has caused marked changes in the attitude of many fathers toward their babies, says Dr. McBryde. The fathers begin to share the responsibility at once and therefore do not feel that care of the infant is completely in the mother's province during the early months.

Disgusting, isn't it? The very idea of a person of the opposite sex feeling concern about the welfare of his baby!

There was published in many newspapers last month a telephoto of a partly paralyzed mother in her wheelchair smiling at her newborn baby. The baby is in the arms of a nurse. The young mother stretches her arm toward the baby—but that's as near as the old-time hospital people deem it safe for her to approach. Her fingers rest on the plate glass barrier that excludes heaven knows what germs a mother might carry. An appealing picture—posed, I'm afraid, but it gives one's heart strings a twang anyway — your heart-strings, perhaps.

The picture just provokes this outburst on my part, because it illustrates perfectly the sheer hokum of the plate-glass still used by lying-in institutions and hospitals whose managers think more of impresing the gullible public than about the welfare and safety of patients. You see —or probably you don't see, but I tell you—there is something wrong with the picture.

Let me point out what is wrong with it. The plate glass protects the baby from any infection the young mother might carry—at least for the time it takes to get the picture. But the baby is not protected against any infection the nurse might carry—the hospital management evidently chooses to ignore the fact that nurses infect the newborn infants in most nursery epidemics —for the nurse does not wear a mask.

I hope this interesting picture was printed in most of the papers that received it. There could hardly be a better exposition of the truth of what I try to teach, namely, that home is the safest place to have a baby.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Apocryphal

Is it possible for a person's hair to turn gray overnight through fright? (R. E. G.)

Answer—It is as likely to happen as a mouse's nest in a cat's ear.

Belly Breathing

It would take pages to mention the teachings of your column which have been of inestimable value to our family. I believe the one which has helped me most is belly breathing to relive tension. (A. M.)

Answer—Thank you. The physiology and technique of belly breathing (natural breathing) is given in the booklet How to Breathe—for copy send 25c and stamped self addressed envelope. Please do not use clipping.

Shall We Call it a Spade?

Would like some advice as to shock treatments for nervous breakdown. (W. M. T.)

Answer—I don't know what "nervous breakdown" means.

Doctored Bread

Please (I have asked you twice before without getting an answer) tell what you think of these chemicals added to bread: Sodium Propionate to retard spoiling. (R. J.)

Answer—As long as the doctored flour is approved by the council on something or other of the American Medical Association, why worry about the chemicals the food manipulators put in it? Why not invest in a hand mill for grinding wheat for your everyday use—such as one made by Landers, Frary & Clark, New Britain, Conn., or one made by The Straub Co., 4059 Ridge Ave., Philadelphia 29, Pa.

THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

It being fairly safe to assume that all those interested in fishing having, by today, already gone to lake and stream, it might be possible in their absence, to discuss behind their backs and free from interruption, some aspects of the sport they pursue.

The first thing that strikes the average non-sportsman is this curious myth of the "fighting" fish. Both Lord Byron and Dr. Samuel Johnson took a crack at that. If you went to the barnyard and cast a hook at a chicken and succeeded in sinking it in the bird's wing, would not that chicken fight? Even if it were not a game chicken, but an ordinary Buff Orpington or White Leghorn, would not put up a battle that would test to the limit the tackle and skill of the angler?

A hen weighs about the same as a three or four pound trout. When it comes to fighting, the odds are in favor of the hen. With regard to large game fish, such as a lake trout weighing fifteen pounds, or muskies weighing forty, one might consider going into the barnyard and hooking a large domestic gander, or even a fine young pig at forty pounds. Let us suppose the angler, being very skilled, could set his hook in a pig's ear. Ah, now, there would be a fight! I very much doubt if the sportsman could land the pig.

When you consider the art of venery over the centuries, observing from generation to generation the various changes and mutations in the sporting activities that have captivated the human imagination, it is courious that not once has anybody conceived the idea of fishing for chickens, ganders or pigs.

No: the poor fish is the sole victim. And the reason for the choice may well be that the fish neither cackles, honks nor squeals while fighting.

It is the fish's silence that has been his doom. A man likes a fight: but not with something that can protest vocally. After all, man is at least trying to be humane. To himself.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By R. J. SCOTT

Pearson Believes Friendship Will Stand Challenge

Ottawa, April 28 (CP) External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday that there will be disagreements between the United States and Canada but he is convinced the friendship between the two countries will stand the challenge of the trials and turmoil of our time."

But he warned that "firm and sure though his friendship between our two countries is, it should not, however, be taken for granted.

"Friendships between countries like friendships between individuals, must be kept in repair."

The minister, in an address prepared for delivery to a luncheon meeting of the Ottawa Canwealth Club, said there is now call for United States action on the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Canada, he said, is convinced the development of the seaway would be mutually advantageous to both countries, particularly in expansion of needed industrial capacity. It is the "strong rope, and indeed the expectation of the Canadian government that favorable action may at last be taken on this project" by the United States.

He said non-action by the United States on the navigation and power project aloned by the two countries in 1941 was one important field in which progress had been long delayed.

It could be expected that Canadian policies would sometimes be under criticism in the United States and United States policies be under criticism in Canada. Such criticism might be considered irresponsible and resented in the other country.

"We will then, not be able to avoid some disagreement over the policies to be followed," he added. "Nor may we be able entirely to avoid, I am afraid, invidious comparisons about the sacrifices and contributions of the various allies.

"After all, we are free and democratic peoples and we are not going to forego the right to talk and even to wrangle. But let us do our best in our talk to keep a sense of responsibility, a sense of proportion and even a sense of humor."

WEST HUNTINGDON

Miss Myrtle Peck Gives Inspiring Talk

West Huntingdon—The April meeting of the Endeavors' class was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. McCurdy with a good attendance.

The inspiring program was prepared by Mrs. Frank Hammond and Mrs. Philip Carr and was presided over by Mrs. M. Earle. Miss Myrtle Peck of Belleville, was the guest speaker and brought a most inspiring and helpful Bible message based on the 91st Psalm.

Readings were given by Mrs. George Ashley and Mrs. John Moorcroft. Mr. Alex McCurdy read the scripture lesson and gave the exposition of same. Mrs. Frank Hammond conducted a Bible quiz and the Rev. and Mrs. Morley Clarke favored with two duets.

Mr. Philip Carr voiced the appreciation of class to the guest speaker and to Mr. and Mrs. McCurdy for opening their home for the meeting also for the excellent refreshments provided by Mrs. McCurdy.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Spencer were chosen to prepare the next program.

S. S. Executive Meeting

The Huntingdon township Sunday School executive met recently at the home of the president Mrs. John Holden. The purpose of the meeting was to make plans for the annual convention which is to be held in the Standard Church at Tanbos on June the 5th. At the close of meeting Mrs. Holden and daughters served refreshments.

Mr. Russell Sills and Mr. Glen Wilson attended the Junior Farmers' conference held at Guelph on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Sheldon Osterhout of Hallowey, spent a few days with Miss Sarah Wilson.

Miss Myrtle Peck and Mrs. W. Gay of Belleville, were Thursday evening guests of Mrs. Philip Carr.

Explosions, Plane Crashes Kill 41 Across World

(By The Canadian Press)

Explosions and plane crashes scattered across the world killed at least 41 persons and injured hundreds more Friday.

Major blasts occurred at Gibraltar; Reyes, industrial centre in the north of France; Glasgow, Scotland; Villa Maria, in the Argentine; and in strife - torn Iran.

Eleven crew members of an American B-29 Superfortress were burned to death and five others injured when the bomber crashed in the Azores.

Thirteen more American airmen were killed when a giant B-36 bomber, and a Mustang fighter collided in the air near Carney, Okla.

The worst explosion was at Gibraltar. The rock fortress was shaken when 500 pounds of explosives blew up in the hold of the Royal ammunition ship Bedenham. The death toll was put at 10 and it was feared it might go higher. More than 1,000 were injured, many by flying glass.

In Rouen, four died and as many were injured when a coal gas explosions wrecked a factory.

Three men were killed when more than 800 pounds of dynamite exploded in an army depot in the Argentine.

Scores of exploding gas cylinders blew the roof off a Glasgow factory, 100 feet away, and injured five workmen.

An army barracks blew up at Shiraz, southwest Iran, 120 miles northeast of Bushire. First reports said it was a "grave" explosion but gave no details.

outstanding orator with a fine sense of humor, he was ordained a priest in 1904 and became curate of St. Paul's, the largest Anglican Church in Canada. He became acting rector in 1920 and rector in 1921. In 1925, on the retirement of Sir Robert Falconer, he was appointed president of the university. The same year he left the pulpit of St. Paul's, his first and only pastoral charge, to devote full time to his educational post.

He was president from 1932 to 1945 during one of its most difficult periods. During the years of the Second World War Dr. Cody, was president of the National Conference of Canadian Universities, a prominent part in framing regulations for students and legislation providing for veterans' education in the post-war period.

Tribute Paid

At his death, Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Anglican Bishop of Toronto, paid tribute to Dr. Cody as a scholar and preacher without peer.

"It is true, I think, to say that in his lifetime he has been the most outstanding figure of the Church of England in Canada," said Rt. Rev. Beverley.

Dr. Sidney Smith, now president of the University of Toronto, paid tribute to Dr. Cody as "an illustrious graduate and an outstanding leader."

"Dr. Cody's contribution to the welfare and progress of the institution has been unsurpassed, and it is difficult to imagine that it will ever be equalled," he said.

Dr. Cody is survived by his wife, the former Frances Blackstock. His son, Maurice, was drowned in 1927.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m., Monday in St. Paul's, with burial at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Car Plows Into Truck

Sturgeon Falls.—Four persons were taken to hospital here this morning following an automobile accident near the village of Verner, 11 miles west of here on Highway 17.

In St. Jean De Brebeuf hospital are Stewart Floyd, 48, with cuts on his face and undetermined injuries to his left hip; Mrs. Floyd, 43, cuts on face and injuries to the left leg; Doreen Floyd, 18, suffering from shock and bruises; Mrs. Charles Jacovone, 40, suffering possible fractures of the right elbow and right ankle.

All the injured were from Crystal Falls six miles north of here. The accident occurred when the car driven by Floyd plowed into a truck and car which were on the side of the road. The car was almost completely demolished by the impact. The Floyd family and Mrs. Jacovone were returning from a dance at Warren, west of Verner.

Daniel Maloney, 37, of (86 Elm Street) Sudbury, was on his way to Ottawa when his car went into the ditch. A highways department truck driven by Gordon C. Combig, 29, Toronto, came along and started to pull him out. Floyd apparently failed to see the truck and car and piled into them. No one in the truck or car was injured.

The accident is being investigated by provincial police.

Mr. Gardiner said the new policy is expected to ensure the farmer a fair return during his high-production summer season and the consumer of a fair price during the high-cost winter season.

Of cheese, Mr. Gardiner said it has been decided to encourage producers and the trade to market their cheese. The government did not agree with their request for a 30-cent floor.

Not Good Enough Claim

Outside of the Commons, Mr. Gardiner's announcement drew from H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, a statement that the new floor prices are "not good enough".

The Chamber resumed study of Transport Department estimates and heard John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) and Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) urge the government to increase the basic pension of retired Canadian National Railways employe'es who receive less than $40 a month.

Transport Minister Chevrier said the question of a revision of the C.N.R. pension system now is being considered by a committee of C.N.R. officials and employees. The matter should be left in the hands of the committee.

Later, Mr. Chevrier told the Chamber the government's civil aviation program is being patterned to supplement defence requirements. A departmental committee co-ordinates civil aviation developments with defence needs.

A quick turn-around, with full water cans exchanged for empty, used batteries loaded in place of old, and the line winds back to some easier trek back down.

They laugh, they joke. They exude the happiness that comes only from work that is appreciated. Onto them has been rained the thanks of fighting soldiers.

And they in turn love the Canadians. Explains Lieut. Yong-Jo Kim, 23 years old and a year ago a political science student at Seoul University:

"Canadians are considerate. They treat our people well. They are human."

Proof is adduced by Pte. Masao Kawanaf of Hamilton, the regiment's link with the 'burners.'

"Last time we went out to rest" he says, "we organized them all into leave parties and transported them back to their hometowns. When we went back to pick them up we had double loads: They'd all brought relatives and friends who wanted to work with the Canadians."

Force Increased

A force of 80 has become one of 175.

And it is guarded—by fellows like Pies, Paul Roland of Toronto, Henry MacAulay of Saint John N.B., Ted Fischer of Guelph Ont., Jim O'Hara of Vancouver and Lee O'Connor of Alexandria, Ont.

But the guard is needed, not to keep them in their barbed wire but to protect them from kidnapping by flanking units envious of the "better workers the Canadians have." Kawanaf already has had to rescue one hijacked group.

The "pooks" — and with the Canadians it is a term of affection, not derogation—toil and suffer willingly for the Patricias because they have caught a spark of understanding that tells them their sacrifice is legal tender in a common cause. With the Canadians they've kept their dignity and self-respect.

Reach Summit Barefoot

That's what keeps them climbing when footwear, long since replaced by their own frail, hand-made straw sandals, gives way and they reach the summit barefoot, their bleeding feet shredded on the rocks and shrieking for the ministrations of medical Corporal Ross Anderson of New Westminster, B.C., who improvises footwear for them out of shell dressings.

The Koreans are paid 1,100 Korean won (approximately 16 cents) and a package a day of cigarets. The Patricias are their only outfit in the theatre which allows them a cigaret ration.

I've seen them persevere with wrenched muscles and backs, and through downright exhaustion, to get their loads to the men above.

Wallbridge W. I. Observes 50th Anniversary of Founding, Five Charter Members Pre[illegible]

One half century of service, working toward the betterment of rural living conditions was officially recognized Friday evening when at a special banquet held at the 4th of Sidney "Stone Church" members of the Wallbridge Women's Institute observed the 50th anniversary of the organization of their branch.

It was back in 1901—just four years after the organization of the first W.I. branch in Ontario at Stoney Creek—that 69 women in the Wallbridge area banded together and formed their organization. It is the oldest W.I. branch in the district.

Five Charter Members Present

It was a big night for Mrs. Sam Lloyd, 4th concession Sidney, who was first president of the Wallbridge W.I. She and four other charter members, were present to celebrate the 50th anniversary. Mrs. Lloyd, as first president, cut the anniversary cake.

The toast to the charter members was given by Mrs. Lawrence Ketcheson with Mrs. Lloyd making the reply, "I was one of 69 Wallbridge district Women who back in 1901 met at the home of Mrs. G. Thrasher at Centenary and formed our organization," she said.

Fittingly enough the provincial president of Women's Institutes, Mrs. R. G. Purcell of Fort William was a guest at the banquet. She brought greetings from the provincial board and expressed appreciation for the branch's efforts during the past 50 years and extended best wishes for the future.

Fashion Show Presented

One of the features of the evening's program was the fashion show, presenting the trend in women's styles from before the turn of the century until the present day.

Twenty-eight girls and young women, many of them granddaughters of charter members of the Wallbridge W. I., modelled the costumes of former years.

The bridal gowns worn by Wallbridge district women more than half a century ago taken from their trunks and modelled by today's young women were seen again in all their glory. And strangely enough some of their bridal gowns of fifty or more years ago, were quite similar in style to the gowns worn by the modern young bride.

The trend of styles followed down through the year, the men of the audience getting a real "kick" out of the dresses of the flapper age. Then skirts were well up from the floor and waistlines were on the way down—and girls had started to roll their stockings. A modern note was struck by the uniform of the RCAF Women's Division, popular during the war years.

History Given of Gowns

Commentator for the fashion parade was Mrs. Jim Sine, who had the history of every gown shown. Humorous incidents, both real and imagined, associated with the gowns, were also related.

Current president of the institute branch, Mrs. Everett Phillips, presided over the banquet program. Mrs. Albert Fisher lighted the candles on the birthday cake, while Mrs. E. B. Finkle, secretary for the West Hastings W. I. blew them out. She commented on the 50 years' achievement reached by the W. I. and referred to several of the projects which had been undertaken.

Mr. Clem H. Ketcheson gave the toast to the county with Warden Harry Coulter making the reply. The toast to Sidney township was by Mrs. Bert Bush and the reply by Reeve Lee Gorlis.

Mr. Grills paid tribute to the Women's Institute noting that much of the good work of this organization went unsung.

Greetings from the West Hastings area were brought by its president Mrs. Roy Bush who assured it was a privilege to express appreciation to the oldest branch in the district. All branches in the area started from the Wallbridge hub, she said,

Church, Branch Closely Knit

Rev. C. W. Neelands, United Church minister for the Sidney circuit noted that the church and the W.I. were closely linked—both in membership and in purpose.

Guests at the head table included charter members Mrs. Nell Davis, Mrs. Judson Kelly, Mrs. S. Lloyd, Mrs. Walter Tucker and Mrs. Frank Treverton. Greetings from other charter members unable to be present were read by Mrs. Harold Phillips.

The toast to the Women's Institute was given by Mrs. Jim Sine who noted that the W.I. was the largest rural women's organization with a membership of over five million members in 20 countries. The reply was by Mrs. Clarence Holmes, past president of Federated Women's Institutes for Ontario. Mrs. Holmes noted there were now 80,000 W.I. members in Ontario whose aims and objects included many factors for the betterment of rural life.

Toast to Ladies

Greetings from the Belleville area W.I. were brought by Mrs. Kenneth Faul. The toast to the ladies was by Sam Nicolson with the reply being given by Mrs. Cecil Sine.

A list of the names of all the presidents and secretaries of the Wallbridge branch was read by Mrs. Sam Nicolson as well as a complete history of the branch.

A movie "Let There be Light" filmed at the 50th anniversary celebration for Ontario Women's Institutes held four years ago at Guelph, was screened during the program.

Cannifton, Corbyville W. I. Re-Elects Officers

On Monday evening, the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Philip, Corbyville. The meeting opened in the usual manner with Mrs. Mathews, presiding.

It being election night, Mrs. Leslie took the chair for the election of officers. Last year's officers were re-elected for the coming year with five new conveners: Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Cora Richards; Citizenship and Education, Janet Latchford; Home Economics, Ruby Post; press reporter, Betty Dafoe; flower-card convener, Iona Jarrel.

Mrs. Charles Farm gave an interesting talk on her trip to Florida, describing her journey from the time she left until she returned, pointing out the many highlights of her trip and the interesting parts of the Southern States she had visited. The picture of her trip was enjoyed by all.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Leslie for attending the meeting.

After the meeting closed dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Philip, and her lunch committee. A social half hour was enjoyed.

Women's Institute

The annual meeting of Eldorado-Bannockburn Women's Institute was held at Mrs. William Chamber's home, with the president, Mrs. Russell Empey, presiding.

Fees were paid for the new year. Fourteen member, four visitors and four children, were present.

The financial report was given and showed a favorable balance on hand after the expenses were paid.

Plans were completed for catering for opening of Eldorado Cheese factory on April 20.

The reports of the Standing Committees were given by the conveners.

Election of Officers

Mrs. Kenneth Bateman conducted the election of officers, prepared by the nominating committee, and read by Mrs. Beryl Carman as follows:

President, Mrs. Russell Empey; 1st vice president, Mrs. Clayton Blackburn; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Arthur Brownson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Bert McCarey; district director, Mrs. Clayton Blackburn; branch directors, Mrs. Harry Gawley, Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. Cecil Blackburn; sick committee, Mrs. Kenneth Bateman, Mrs. Ed. Wanamaker, and Mrs. Oscar Wanamaker; school committee, Mrs. Frank Palmer, Mrs. George Palmer, Mrs. Douglas Pigden and Mrs. Harold Chambers; press reporter, Mrs. C. D. Carman; pianists, Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Mrs. Bert McCarey; conveners of Standing Committees — Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. Arthur Robinson; Citizenship and Education, Mrs. Beryl Carman; Historical Research, Mrs. Hugh Barker; Home Economics, Mrs. Clayton Blackburn; Public Relations and Community Activities, Mrs. B. Bateman, Mrs. K. Bateman; resolutions, Mrs. Melvin Johnson; Girls' Work, Mrs. M. Johnson, leader and Mrs. Reg. Peats, assistant leader.

Neat Clothing Rids Youthful Character

Winnipeg —(CP)— Neat clothing contributes greatly to character building in boy and girl alike, says Corporal A. G. Boncey of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. And sloppily-dressed children, he told a meeting here, often show the result of weak parental control.

Cpl. Boncey lectures in Winnipeg schools on discipline. His theme is that good manners and proper treatment of others has to be taught in the home.

Discourtesy causes 50 p. p. of fatal accidents among pedestrians and motorists, he believes, and this discourtesy often is a hangover from early childhood training.

"It is not enough for a parent to hand out money for some community training scheme and leave it at that," he said. "He should and must mingle with these children to set a good example in daily discipline."

Cpl. Boncey has lectured in many schools, and apart from the question of manners he was most disappointed in evidence of ignorance of Canada's stature among the nations. Many young persons lack any conception of their nation's status and the meaning of its flag, he said.

Advises Caution in Use Of Drugs for Childbirth

Auckland, N.Z. — (CP) — Sir William Gilliatt, chief obstetrician to Princess Elizabeth, believes that anaesthetics should be used sparingly in childbirth.

Sir William, who inaugurated the New Zealand Regional Council of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists, is one of the world's leading authorities on his subject.

"I am in favor of anaesthetics for childbirth providing it is used used by someone who knows the dangers as well as the assets," he said here. "All drugs hinder the involuntary muscular action and anaesthesia makes the job longer. In some cases it increases the possibilities of hemorrhage. It is not a panacea that can be handed out indiscriminately. Pain is a most important signal to the doctor. He can tell how far the patient is advanced and it lets him know if the birth is proceeding normally."

She William said he had experienced two or three cases when the woman did not feel any pain at all. This had been a disadvantage during the birth.

Baby Affected

"It must be remembered that the baby is usually affected to some extent by the drug," he added. "This can affect the baby's respiratory action. Many babies have lost their lives because of the use of drugs.

"I believe it is correct to save women pain, although it says in the Bible 'and we shall bring forth in pain.' There is a great deal of sense in that statement. However, pain varies considerably with every woman and some do not even know what is happening. The advantage of anaesthesia is to save pain, which after all is the doctor's business, but in my experience I have found that although pain is exhausting it deters only about one per cent from having other babies."

The relief of fear was more important, Sir William said. It was a necessary factor in the doctor's curriculum. "It is up to the doctor to gain the confidence of the woman, in order that she may put her trust in him to see her past her difficulties," he said. "I think it is also necessary to tell the woman, from time to time, just what is going on. This helps her to lose any fear she might have."

It was wise for a woman to have her first baby away from home, Sir William said. She could usually have her second, third and fourth at home if necessary, but if she had any further children it was safer for them to be born in an institution.

Meat Saw, Knife Help Housewives to Save Food

By VIVIAN BROWN

Quebec —(AP)— Women can't be lazy if they want to save on their food bills, says chef Louis Balters.

"Buy a little meat saw and a sharp knife," is his advice to housewives.

"Then when you go to the butcher shop, buy your meat in chunks and don't pay for the butcher's labor. You can buy a half-loin of pork and cut the chops yourself for much less than you can buy the same number of pork chops already cut.

"A leg of veal can supply cutlets, stew meat and bones for soup. A loin of beef will furnish many steaks, much cheaper than butcher cuts. Leftovers of any meat can be ground at home for hamburgers, croquettes and meat pies."

A Little More Effort

Housewives concentrate too much on bying choice cuts of meat, Balters says. Much can be done with other inexpensive cuts if the time and trouble are taken to evolve good recipes. It takes a little more effort perhaps, than boiling a porterhouse steak, but Balters says its worth it.

In his kitchen at the Chateau Frontenac, where he has been chef de cuisine with 100 odd helpers since 1926, Italian-born Balters manages to please Canadian, United States, French and English appetites.

When the 1945 United Nations food conference met there he satisfied representatives of 30 nations with foods ranging from "keftedes and kokoretsi" for the Greeks to a dish called "sidesalat"

When the king and queen visited in 1939, it took 2,000 boned snow birds for "petits oiseaux blancs de l'Ile d'Orleans en belle Vue."

Tasty Recipes

Here are a couple of his suggestions for inexpensive main dish recipes that housewives will find a real treat:

Canadian pork pie: put two pounds of lean pork from the shoulder, two small onions, one pound fresh back fat, one ounce of salt, a little pepper, nutmeg and all-spice through the meat chopper. (Medium grind) put in a saucepan with one cup of water and cook half an hour on a moderate fire, stirring often to prevent it from sticking to the pan. Remove from the fire and add three cups of white bread crumbs, mixing well and letting cool. Fill like an ordinary pie and serve either hot or cold.

Beefsteak and kidney pie: Cut a pound of rump in big cubes and flatten with the cleaver. Slice about the same quantity of beef kidneys one-quarter inch thick. Fry these separately over a quick fire and drain in a colander. Put in a pot together with some chopped onions, salt and pepper and moisten with brown stock (or beef consomme). When nearly done, thicken with some brown sauce and a little tomato paste. Five minutes before removing from the fire add a small bunch of parsley with one bay leaf, chopped. Put in an individual dish or large pan. Cover with pie paste and bake until the crust is done. Serves four.

If a potted vine needs a trellis, place a flat stick in the center of the pot, and attach several spring-type clothespins to it horizontally. These may be painted a bright color if you wish.

WHAT'S IN A BASEMENT?

People are doing the most exciting things in the basements of the new houses. The modern basement is developing a personality. It is the place where crafts and art and science are taking root in the houses of the nation. No matter where you go in the newer sections of our cities and towns, a visit with a family is no longer complete without a tour of their basement.

This is a far cry from the old days when only the men slipped down behind the trap door in the kitchen and emerged hours later in happy mood. People are making of their basements workshops and studios instead of storehouses for canned tomatoes and jelly.

It is in the basements of houses that the creative ability of its dwellers enjoy the freedom of working out ideas. It is into the basements that people are going to forget the scare of war and the high cost of living. And as in the air raid shelter, it is there that they find freedom from fear in a sanctuary where peaceful dreams are not shattered by the noise of the world outside.

Last night some friends took us on a tour of their lower regions which brought us into a fairyland of railways. Electric engines puffing smoke and miniature freight cars hand painted in exact replica of the big worldly variety, buzzed along a maze of track on several levels spanning the whole basement. Mind you, this was no child's play. This was a setup where the man of the house was at the controls and putting his trains through a variety of tricks while we watched quite amazed at the whole business.

Another basement we were ushered through after a game of bridge, contained a small pottery kiln, where the lady of the house turns out some beautiful pieces. Another is fixed into a photo studio. One woman has a puppet shop, and another mends beautiful old china in a suitable workshop.

We would certainly draw the line at anybody getting the slightest notion of going through our basement. We use our cellar for the odd smelly bag of potatoes, old bottles, that fireplace basket we don't use, quart sealers and mouse traps. . . . We dread the day the man comes to read the electric meter because he always has such difficulties climbing over the fruit baskets and stove pipes to get close enough to see the dials. All the same, we couldn't live without our cellar any more than these people with the clean, artistic basements. It's our trash and for now, we like it that-a-way.

Fur Fashions

At the annual Canadian Fur Industry's fashion show in Toronto with Kate Aitken commentating, there was a chance to get a good look at the fur coats coming up for sale next fall. . . . Five style points were obvious: (1) Cuffs will be adjustable in length from the elbow to the wrist. These full, wide cuffs, called "cocktail cuffs" are something definitely new. They provide a short sleeve for evening wear with long gloves or long sleeves for daytime wear.

(2) Shoulders are either slightly padded, or not at all. Shoulders are narrow and rounded. (3) Tuxedo fronts are in, many of them made with a contrasting fur. (4) Pockets are large and patched onto the outside of the coats usually with a contrasting fur. (5) Coats are styled in the lines of a pyramid. That is, they are pointed up at the top and flare down in four or five soft flares to a wide, full line at the back.

Most popular of the prize-winning designs at the show were made of grey Persian lamb and beaver. There was an attempt to bring back Hudson seal in a few odd styles. Most of the coats were three-quarter length.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The working wife

I am not one who has always had a burning desire that the modern idea of a wife and mother should be a regular 9 to 5 job. I wanted a real wife and good one.

It's such situations as that described in the following letter from a 26-year-old wife that keep the double alive in my mind.

She writes:

"I've been married almost five years, and have a little girl nearly four. For the last three years, I have had a job. My husband and I wanted to have a home of our own, and our plan was that I would work until we had our home paid for, then stop. That plan, however, has worked out in a very bad way. I never expected and has created a problem that I never expected to have.

"The trouble is, that my husband now works only when he feels like it, and recently, after becoming a problem drinker. He still works at several months and then quit, while I go on working and never miss a day unless one of us is sick. He is very good and kind to us, never becoming ugly even when he is drinking, but although he realizes that his drinking habit has grown to unusual proportions and that he should do something about it, he appears to be unable to do so. My family are fond of him, but sometimes they get bitter at him for the way he has been doing and so do I. But I do love him; and I have been wondering if I would help matters if I quit work and threw all the responsibility for support of the family and keeping up the payments on house on him. I believe it might make him feel more needed, and also admire himself more, if he were doing it all himself. On the other hand, I hate to stop working right now when we have almost half of our home paid for and could clean up the rest of it so much faster if I kept on."

Should Wife Continue Working

Now here is a very intelligent letter, showing a wonderful grasp of the danger that lurks in almost every home where the wife assumes economic responsibility. Mostly, it's taken for granted these days that if a woman wants to go on working after she's married and also children there's no reason in the world why she shouldn't. In fact, the privilege to work every day better than she likes staying home and looking after the house and children, and if either her husband can pay for someone to take over these things for her or her earnings provide the necessary money, it's held to be downright foolish to do what she prefers.

That's all very well, and sounds fine on the surface, but a nice idea that if one courses of action makes one happier and less dismay that's the one you should follow.

But in practice sometimes—and more often, I suspect, than working wives are usually willing to admit—the theory doesn't work out quite according to plan. On the contrary, instead of finding herself happier, the working wife is very apt to discover, to her astonished dismay, that she's mistaken the road to happiness and defeated her own ends.

Don't get me wrong, now. I don't mean that a wife working in happiness in every case where a wife goes out to a job. I simply mean that in a good many instances of women fool themselves into thinking such occupational bliss as described in the letter quoted are the direct result of the wife having gone to work. The inherent happiness depends upon her husband's character, which make him behave as he does, obviously must be the real reason for her happiness and might very well have caused the same sort of trouble whether his wife worked or not. On the other hand, if right from the beginning she had had the full responsibility for supporting his family and keeping up the payments on their own, that responsibility might have strengthened those traits and developed him into a more reliable character.

Speculation as to what might have been, however, is not going to help this particular wife right now. Things are as they are, whatever may have brought them to such a pass, and she's not interested in her marriage caught its illness but in what she's going to do about it. Not the alarming symptoms, and, if possible, cure the disease.

It seems to me that her own suggestion of quitting work is the very best thing she can do at this point. Actually, she has nothing to lose by doing so—except, perhaps, to lengthen, by a few years, before the house would be paid for, and that, after all, is a small consideration compared to the more urgent problem—and she may have much to gain by staying home and letting her husband be the sole wage-earner. Some work she can try something else—which she would undoubtedly have to do anyhow if matters don't improve.

Tact Needed

She'll have to be very tactful, though, in what she tells him about the reason why she is not going to work any more. If he suspects that it is simply a new way to try and get him straightened out, he may well resent the artificiality of the thing and become more of a problem than ever. The most convincing way of handling it would be to get her doctor to tell her husband that the double strain of running a home and going out to work is too much for her and that she needs a rest which she certainly must. And she might also consult the local group of Alcoholics Anonymous on what she could do to influence her husband to take the first steps to conquer his drinking. If she does not know where to find the nearest group, a letter to P.O. Box 450, Grand Central Annex, New York 17, N.Y., will give her the information.

So there is her beginning. It she goes on from there, feeling her way carefully and patiently, it is quite possible she will reach a happy ending.

HOW TO PLANT AND PRUNE ROSES

Soil: The ground should be deeply prepared for roses. An ideal method is to dig a trench about 2' deep, at the bottom of which put fresh manure, leaves, clippings or gravel to provide good drainage. Above this put about 5" of garden compost. In the above diagram it's shown the method of pruning and mounding each bush after it has been planted with fresh soil to retain moisture in the stems.

Planting: Roses can be planted at any time when they are dormant. In areas where the climate is severe in winter, roses should have some measure of protection. Spring planting is successful, if the following proper procedure is followed. Dig best plants are two year old, field grown, budded stock. They should be well cut back at planting time taking away at least two thirds of their tops. Remove all weak or unsuitful roots. Dig holes large enough to keep the roots from drying out while they are being handled, and then to tramp the ground firmly around the bushes after they are planted.

Care Through the Season: Keep the rose beds cultivated at all times. Water when the weather is dry and cultivate as soon as the surface dries out. In the fall where winters are severe, it is best to mound the soil 8" high with loam to help keep the roots warm with leaves, straw or evergreen boughs. Avoid any materials which will pack into a soggy wet mass.

Pruning: In the spring, after the winter covering has been removed, cut out the dead wood first with sharp pruning shears, leaving no stubs. The time to prune climbing roses is immediately after flowering. All old canes which have borne flowers should be removed to make room at the base of the plant in order to stimulate wood for next year's crop of flowers.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is scoffing to that date.

For Monday, April 30, 1951

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—Unusual, if sensible, matters favored now as are artistic efforts, dealing in electronics, inventions, new and advanced ideas and methods. Nursing, surgery honored.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—Travel for business, government interests, study and research encouraged by benefic influences. Personal matters, creative ideas also in position. Tact and diplomacy.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Although stimulation says be mental alertness and unique ideas are prolific, there is warning to curtail your action within sensible, reasonable bounds. Think, then act.

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—Useful changes, journeys by water, for business, health, favored through friends sponsored by Moon and Uranus rays. The usual, unexpected can happen. Be alert, receptive to good ideas.

July 24 to August 23—(Leo)—Stars show a grand day for activities and interests of worth, honor, usefulness. Good chance for you to promote your versatility and advance in general. New, familiar matters rate.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo)—Practical domestic affairs under fine aspects. Also sponsored are creatives, decorative matters, new ideas to aid your community, government interests. Write, create!

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra)—Matters of finance, security, military preparedness, other vital activities take a step forward, more intimate and homey matters take their honors too. Sturdy day. Meet its challenge!

October 24 to November 22 —

FIRST MINT

The first United States mint was established at Philadelphia in 1792 by Act of Congress.

Yes, that's right! Acousticon, the world's first and oldest manufacturer of electrical hearing aids, now makes a popular-priced aid for folks like me — who can't afford a higher priced aid. And am I thankful! One-piece, small, and light-weight, too this aid is wonderful for me. Why don't you drop in, or write to the Acousticon people just like I did.

New trend: divorced parents jointly issue daughter's marriage announcement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter's daughter —it's hard to say correctly after months ago. Her father and I were divorced several years ago, and we have both remarried. All the circumstances of the divorce were as friendly and dignified as possible, and our daughter, our only child, has lived part of the time with my present husband and me, and part of the time with her father and his present wife, both of whom are very good and generous to her.

She has been living with them while she was going to college very near them; her engagement was announced to a young man we thoroughly like and approve of; but apparently the confusion about the divorce has made it possible to have this secret ceremony.

Her father and I want very much to make the announcement jointly, just as we have always tried to make all of her social and welfare jointly, and also to present a "united front" to the world, since our disapproval of the marriage (even though not the secrecy).

(1) We think this is a permissible form, considered more or less correct?

(2) What would the exact form be? Could we possibly use "have the honor of announcing the marriage", a form I have always preferred to the bare "announce the marriage"?

(3) Yesterday they established themselves with the aid of both families) in a very small apartment. Would it be permissible to enclose "At Home" cards in the announcements? If so, the form needed, suggest, please.

P. E. S.

1. Today when so often the circumstances are the same as yours or similar to yours, the divorced-and-remarried father and the divorced-and-remarried father of the girl jointly issue the announcement of the marriage. This form does make sense, and gives the best possible background of "unity". I suggest that you and your daughter's father follow this form. Let the two of you draw and send these announcements, even though they are not "yours".

2. Yes; it would be correct to use "have the honor of announcing" as the form you prefer. This is the form:

Mr. George Davis Smith
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robins have the honor of announcing the marriage of their daughter Elizabeth
to
Mr. John Baker Browne
Tuesday, (date of the marriage)
Nineteen hundred and fifty-one
Heaven, New York

3. Yes. . . a correct and excellent idea. To my taste the best and most practical form for the "At Home" cards that are enclosed with the announcement have only the name and address engraved on them, No "At Home" words.

And these cards, so engraved, have a great variety of uses. The form:

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker Browne
Two Pleasant Street
Heaven, New York

Gift to reception for serviceman on leave?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son, a close friend of mine is in the service, and he is coming home soon on a 24-day furlough. He is planning to have a reception for him on a Sunday afternoon while he is at home. Does one have to take a gift to such an occasion?

R.

No. However, if you wish, it would be thoughtful and generous of you to give (or send) a gift to the serviceman before he departs after his furlough. You might ask his mother what she thinks he would most welcome as a present.

Women's Activities

TABERNACLE E.W.A.

The Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Tabernacle United Church, held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Dougherty.

Mrs. W. Cowles was in charge of the devotional period. During the business part of the meeting, Mrs. Lockyer and Mrs. Burton gave reports on the Belleville presbyterial held at Picton, in May. Mrs. Burton reported by Mrs. C. Bailey, that $3 had been sent as payment for shipment of bales of clothing sent to Europe and Japan.

Temperance Poems

Two poems dealing with temperance were read by Mrs. Lockyer. A skit dealing with "Post War Education in Japan", was presented by Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Eakins, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Shane, Mrs. Irvine and Mrs. Pettifore.

A pleasing refreshments were served by Mrs. Eakins and Mrs. Dougherty, and enjoyed by all.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Gooch, 225 George Street, early in May.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Women's Guild was held on Tuesday evening, in the Sunday School hall. The president, Mrs. H. Elvidge, opened the meeting. Mrs. Elvidge expressed the peril our during which Mrs. F. Townley read a passage of scripture. A short business period follow ed when the usual reports were given.

The program was in charge of Mrs. R. Ketcheson's group and consisted of a group of humorous readings by Miss H. Sulman.

Mrs. Elvidge expressed the appreciation of the Guild to Miss Sulman for her entertaining contribution.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Bell's group and a social half hour enjoyed.

Census-Taking of Migrating Birds Yields Surprising Figures on Varieties

(Written for The Canadian Press)
By PERCY GHENT

When immense flocks of robins, cedar waxwings, warblers, thrushes, bluebirds and the various species of sparrows wing northward in the spring with scores of other bird species that are returning to their native land.

A vast percentage of the native North American birds nest and breed in Canada and during the time when their acquaintance can be made most easily. It is always interesting to make a check list to see how many you can identify.

Observe 142 Species

This census-taking can yield surprising figures on occasion. On a spring trip sponsored by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, a party of bird observers, amateur for the most part, registered a score of 142 species in a single day. They ranged from majestic eagles to tiny warblers, all seen in the woods and marshland at Long Point, on Lake Erie, approximately at ideal time. But even in a recognized migration route, first prize for the day's census may be excellent when eyes and ears are trained to recognize plumage, flight habit and song. At Bracebridge Ravine, cutting through a busy residential and business area of Toronto, was visited by a young naturalist a total of 89 times over six or seven years. His list of species observed reached a total of 167. Included were eagles and ospreys, herons and hawks, as well as the smaller birds from warblers and kinglets to cuckoos, sandpipers and woodpeckers.

From Newfoundland to British Columbia, Canada at any time, and especially in spring time, will be a wonderland of beauty, music and unstudied interest for those who take up bird study in more than a casual way. And the number of such adherents grows rapidly year by year.

Woodland Comedian

Like his gorgeous relative the blue jay, the Canada jay of woodnet, black and grey plumage is a comedian. Life in many a lonely camp of the Canadian wilderness is enlivened by the antics of the whisky jay, better known as the "Whisky Jack," the inevitable white man's adaptation of the Indian name, "Wiskedjak."

A thieving clown, this jay is a picker up of unconsidered trifles," victims of any shiny variety have an irresistible appeal for him. But his greatest publishing is the jay's scope of appetite. Everything from cold moose meat to shaving soap is grabbed for a meal.

Mockingbirds in Canada

Probably the finest singer of all native American birds, the mockingbird is found only in the southern species. Yet, for some years, there have been annual visitors to the Canadian shores of Lake Erie, especially the western end.

Canadian ornithologists report that single pairs have been seen in southern Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and in southwestern British Columbia.

Whenever and wherever seen in Canada, the occurrences should be reported in as full detail as possible to the nearest available ornithologist. Evidence of the permanent settlement of mockingbirds in Canada would be a great value.

SHALLOW LAKE

The deepest sounding in Lake Erie is 210 feet, compared to 1,-290 feet in Lake Superior.

DAIRY PRODUCTS MAKE Your FOOD DOLLARS GO FARTHER

COST OF LIVING INDEX
BASE PERIOD
AVERAGE PRICES · 1935-1939

Every housewife these days is fighting the "battle of the home budget". She is quite aware that food costs have soared, and was not surprised when the Cost of Living index at March 1st. last showed food at 244.4 compared with 100 for the base period of 1935-39.

The Dairy Farmers of Canada, faced with rising costs like everyone else, are pleased to draw attention to the fact that Dairy Products in the same index stood at 200.1 while other foods in the index were 247.5.

The price of Dairy Products is not at all out of line with other items in the Cost of Living Index, nor with wages in industry. While milk, butter and cheese stand at 200.1, clothing stands at 196.6 and home furnishings at 199.3. Wages based on hourly rates of pay in Canada stood at 226.8 as of Dec. 1, 1950, according to Department of Labour Statistics.

By using more of Nature's Fine Foods—Dairy Foods—the housewife can serve wholesome, nutritious meals and make her food dollar go farther.

Which flatters a chubby chassis?
☐ Slinky black ☐ Canary yellow

If you're collarbone-conscious, what helps?
☐ A library card ☐ More upholstery

Is it fall, cold or colour?

'Emagic—how a colour can fool the eye. The right hue can pare down paunches, help deflate a "pear" figure." But don't think slinky black's the only answer (plain for teens). Also, avoid dazzling shades. Wear what's in colour hints, deep green, violet, preferably in darker tones. And never let colour-clothes discomfort deflate your poise. Choose Kotex for softness that holds its shape—comfortably made to stay soft while you wear it.

Got a lean-and-hollow-look around the collar? Tie, add "upholstery," but don't overdo the cover. And do this: Sit very straight, with a blanket roll behind shoulder-high. Keeping elbows back, slowly breast books forward, then slowly sweep lower them—20 times daily. You can boost your confidence with the special safety centre of Kotex. And those fat pressed ends of Kotex instantly vanish—giving outlines — keep you blush proof.

3 ABSORBENCIES: Regular, Super, Junior

More women choose KOTEX than all other sanitary napkins!

R.T.M. Reg.

How to prepare for "certain" days?
☐ Buy a new kit ☐ Pack up your overshoes

Before "that" time, be ready! All 3 answers above can help. But to assure extra comfort, buy a new Kotex sanitary belt. Made with soft-stretch elastic, it's cool, Kotex belts non-twisting. Stays flat even after many washings. Drive pronto! So doo's wait . . . buy a new Kotex belt now. (Why not buy two—for a change?)

P.S. Have you tried Dainty? Dainty's is the new bathroom tissue that's softer because it's softer. It's the tissue of Kotex gentleness. It's soft, soft absorbent as Kleenex. (We think that's the nicest compliment there is.)

by
E. WINIFRED B. WILSON

THE BANDING OF BIRDS

Since the early 19th century, when Audubon placed silver wires around the legs of fledglings, there has been a vast improvement in the method of bird banding. In 1920 aluminum rings were first used, but lack of system resulted in great confusion until in 1919 the United States Bureau of Biological Survey began supplying all bands and keeping records for the U.S.A. Soon afterwards an agreement with Canada to use a common set of numbers smoothed out any difficulties. Now the volunteer banders send their findings to the Dominion Wildlife Service in Ottawa, while Washington remains the central clearing station.

Only people who can prove their capability are permitted to do banding. The aluminum bands are in all size to suit all species, yet each bears a serial number as well as the address to which it should be sent if later on the bird is found. When a band is returned to Ottawa, the bander is notified of where and when this recovery was made, so that he may enter it on the filing card. The finder is told the names of both co-operator and bird, with the date and place of banding.

At first very young birds, being easiest to catch, were most often ringed. Then it was realized that it was unwise to take nestlings: as the little leg grew the band became too tight. It became necessary to devise ways by which adults might be trapped without injury. Birds that nest in colonies are comparatively simple to catch, as are those that nest in holes, or on the ground in the open.

Movable Traps

Traps of different styles, suitable for all birds, are now the thing, many being movable. Most are nothing more than baited wire enclosures into which birds can make their way, but are prevented from leaving. A white feather will attract a tree swallow, a pat of mud a barn swallow, running water is held to resist, and a pestling is almost sure to entice the parent which will come to feed it.

One method of calming a frightened bird is to cover it "with an old hat"; another is to hold it in your hand on its back. A leg is pulled backwards, towards the tail, while the band is quickly affixed with a tiny pair of pliers. This must be done neatly, that no rough corner will catch on vegetation, and fitted exactly, so that the leg will not be pinched, nor will the "toe leg" it is actually between the heel and foot of the fowl. Before being released, each bird is thoroughly examined, measured, and weighed, and the information written on an index card sent to the government.

Dept. Boosts Rents Charged For Halls' Use

Ottawa, April 28—(CP)—C. M. Drury, deputy defence minister, said Thursday the defence department has boosted the rents charged for the use of drill halls for social events and he explained why.

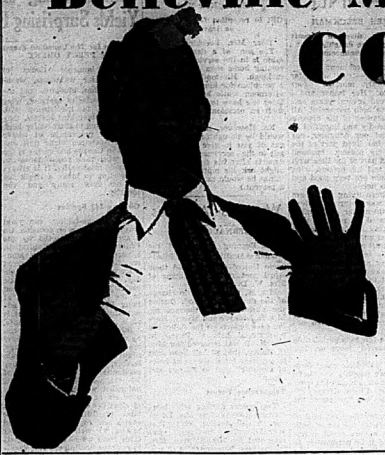
He was answering G. K. Fraser (PC — Hastings - Peterborough) who complained in the commons public accounts committee that the rents are too much for a lot of organizations who use the halls to raise money for charitable or other good purposes.

Mr. Drury said the rents used to be nominal but since one uninsured hall burned down during a social gathering a new policy had come into effect. This meant that the organizations were charged by overhead and insurance.

The department still made no profit, but it was protected against loss.

ATTEMPT TO FREE FREIGHTER

Massena, N.Y., April 27 (AP)—Salvage crews from Kingston, Ont., Thursday were attempting to free the freighter F. V. Massey from an island shoal in the St. Lawrence River, eight miles west of here.



The Massey, owned by the Seaconsfield Steamship Company, Limited, of Montreal, went aground early Thursday. She was reported to have escaped damage.

The Massey was bound upstream and was empty, her crew reported.

HEAVY ENEMY LOSSES

Washington, April 27 (AP)—The U.S. army today estimated the Chinese and North Korean communists have lost 35,700 men in their present offensive in Korea. This loss for the period April 22-26 raised total enemy war casualties to 561,200.

He Came to Kill

By Adeline McElfresh

"Good afternoon," she said, without looking at him, and went on writing. "I'll be with you in a moment."

"Andy, Mr. Dupery," Sheriff Martin Preston said, and pointed toward Turnie Hill and everybody there quite plain. So you're the new lawyer?"

Martin Preston grinned down at her in the same infuriating manner with which he had refused to let Miss Maggie's, the associated—requested humbly for Jasper.

"No, someone is going to Thorne Hill. Have we any power of attorney?"

Leeana ignored him.

"Wouldn't be Peter Thorpe would it?"

"It would," coldly.

"A-ha!"

"Stop that, he insists. Leeana flung at him. "It's indecent!"

"Not for a good young woman, so it is very nice to hear about her," said Miss Maggie indecent. And so is the way she feels about the nonsense you're talking about Jasper."

Leeana opened her mouth to protest, but a long drawn-out, piercing whistle, followed by the approach of Peter's train and she turned instead to the window and looked out. Mart Preston was standing in the station doorway, watching her with quizzical, brown eyes. A moment later she was being asked if she "may say charming had come from dash-dash Aunt Makgaret?"

Leeana bited not to show her surprise. Peter was too good looking, the immediate past to have finished a long train trip, too—English. He couldn't be Jasper's brother! He was more of a match for Sondra.

And certainly he bore no resemblance to the wizened little woman who was "dash-dash Aunt Makgaret."

Leeana introduced herself.

"Ah, yes," he said expansively. "Jasper's daughter. Of course. How is poor old Rog these days?"

It was an insult the way he said it, coupled with the wise, wry smile that said so many things. Leeana felt her brain racing.

She said hastily, "Pops is fine, thank you."

"Still—ah—newspapering?"

"That's rather a drasty way to put it," Leeana retorted. Realizing, that they had not moved from the spot where she had been standing when Peter first spoke and that Martin Preston still was watching from the doorway, she suggested "the car's this way, Peter. Have you luggage?"

"I checked it through. Will you see if it's come, please?"

He thrust baggage checks into her hand and strolled off toward the car. Leeana stared after him.

"Your mouth's open."

"Too astounded to be angry — even with Miss Maggie," Leeana stammered. "well, of all the — Ahhh-ahh," warned the tall young deputy sheriff. "Little girls must'l cuss."

"I would. Ye gods! Who does he think he is?

Martin Preston's laugh started deep and ran out heartily. "Come on, youngster," he said. "I'll help you with the gentleman's bags."

Sondra Thorne, Jasper's wife met them at the door.

"Well, Peter, was her greeting. "So you've come home."

"Only for a little while, Sondra, old girl. A very little while. You don't begrudge me that, surely."

His voice taunted her, the cold blue-gray eyes turned to granite as they met hers. But the amused smile did not flicker on Sondra's lips. Peter Thorne's sister-in-law was very, very sure of herself, Leeana thought — and wondered what besides their mutual hatred of old Miss Maggie, was between them.

"Of course I don't," Sondra spoke now in the tone Leeana privately referred to as "purring." It's just that I doubt that anyone could have a sane legitimate reason for coming back here. Especially you, Peter."

Leeana's eyes went to the girl's face, but she could see little but the tightly controlled mouth.

"Oh, don't worry about that," Leeana said airily. "I'm immune to the handsome men who feel sorry for themselves."

"Indeed! And do I?"

"You must. Why else would a rising young lawyer be soured on the world?"

"Of all the impudent—" For a split second, Peter Thorne's accent slipped, revealing a broad Scottish twang that more than repaid Leeana for antagonizing another of the Thorne clan. "I must be recaptured it and added, "undoubtedly I will see you later, Cousin Leeana."

"Undoubtedly. Miss Maggie relies on me quite a bit."

Conscious of Peter Thorne's puzzled eyes following her, Leeana went in search of Jasper and old Arthur Jones, who had been "Thorne" man-of-all-work for so many years he had forgotten just when he did come to Thorne Hill.

Jasper was in his study at the far of the long east wing of the rambling old house. He looked up from his typewriter when she paused in the open door.

"Oh," he said. "It's come, has he?"

"Yes."

"And Sondra has met him, I suppose?" Without giving Leeana time to reply, he said, "I knew she would. She can't forget that she could have been Mrs. Peter Thorne instead of Mrs. Jasper." He laughed hollowly.

"Would that have been—better, for?"

Jasper Thorne's round little eyes looked more like ice-blue marbles than ever, but his face became carefully blank.

"Sondra thinks she's buried here, Leeana. Maybe she is."

"Fiddlesticks! You just lock up your things, Jasper and go along to Miss Maggie's room. Peter's there now, I think, and—"

Jasper sprang up. Ignoring what probably was another letter to the editor of the Thorne City Gazette he brushed past Leeana and almost ran down the hall. Leeana felt no curiosity regarding Jasper's manuscript—she had seen too many of his letters before, Quite rabid, they were, on any subject.

She pulled the door shut and went outside to the garage. Arthur Jones was there, busy with his pottering while he waited for Leeana to drive him to the Thorne home. If they didn't, he said, Leeana would, and he would not have her to be set to work.

The old man was not morbid about his employers' illness, but he was, Leeana had learned, inordinately fond of gossip. He ventured now:

"Try Miss Maggie's powder, Arthur. I really think it would help her headaches. Or a—a—a—"

"Pill?" Arthur supplied. "I see time he was going to bed."

His grim old face grinned down at the bottle of pills. Leeana's quick vision juice at his previous perusal.

"Miss Leeanda," he said, "don't let him fool you."

Miss Maggie was in complete control of the situation even though Peter, Jasper and Sondra were present. Leeana glanced at her in their regal Queen Anne chairs and felt herself composed in the door of the room stopped in consternation.

"Miss" she said then, mocking-ly, "It's the warden, I suppose we will be banished."

"Nothing of the kind," the mistress of Thorne Hill relented, but her eyes flicked to Leeana long enough for the girl to see in them the fear that belied her words. "You may go when I have finished with you—and not one minute before!"

Leeana felt Sondra. There's hate-filled eyes on her, but she did not turn her gaze from Peter who had gone to stand by the window. His back was pugnacious, his hands ground deep into his pockets, but there was about him the alertness of a cornered animal.

"Leeana." Miss Maggie put out her thin, gnarled hand in a gesture that was almost a plea. "Leeana, fetch me my briefcase."

Ignoring the enmity that seemed to reach out for her, Leeana went into Miss Maggie's study. The briefcase was in the bottom drawer of the massive old oak top desk, unlocked now because Miss Maggie had been using it.

"You're done all right for your self, cousin mine," Peter Thorne said softly as she passed him to hand the briefcase to her employer. If Miss Maggie heard, she gave no sign.

"Now!" she crowed as though carrying the mental pain she was causing. "Now, my dear nephews you shall hear how my new will is going to read."

"You're changing your will?" The startled yelp was Jasper's although Leeana was sure the question was on the tip of Peter's tongue, too. And Sondra's.

"Surprised, aren't you?" the old lady asked brightly. "I thought you'd be." Her fingers fumbled with the catch and she lifted the flap, extricating a folded paper from the briefcase without taking her eyes from the white faces of her kin. "You thought, I suppose, that I would die without making things right. Didn't you, Peter?"

She smiled maliciously.

"Now, now, Auntie. You know I meant no harm. Why, I'm—"

"You're brother Pete's boy exactly!" Miss Maggie spoke sharply. "So is Jasper, but Jasper made his biggest mistake when he married Sondra. I've often wondered, Jasper, how many times you've regretted your marriage."

Leeana remembered Jasper's bitterness toward Sondra, but none of it was visible now in his face. Or in his voice as he said, "I love my wife, Aunt Maggie."

"I wonder." Was Miss Maggie's voice kinder? "I wonder, Sondra, dear," she said in a soothing but an endearing tone, "if you remember why I left the land, was silenced. He swallowed hard, and said:

"Thy Miss Maggie's powder, Arthur. I really think it would her headaches. Or a—a—a—"

"Pill?" Arthur supplied. "I see time he was going to bed."

His grim old face grinned down at the bottle of pills. Leeana's quick vision juice at his previous perusal.

She smiled maliciously.

"Now, now, Auntie. You know I meant no harm. Why, I'm—"

"You're brother Pete's boy exactly!" Miss Maggie spoke sharply. "So is Jasper, but Jasper made his biggest mistake though the old woman's heart had shriveled along with her wasted body—still human kindness no longer remained.

"If I were, my will would not be valid. Is that the point you're trying to make Sondra?" Miss Maggie's laugh was a thin, mirthless cackle. How wrong you have been to hate me all these years—all of you. Leeana, read it." She handed the girl the folded sheets she had taken from the briefcase, and lay her arms across her knees.

Obediently, Leeana unfolded the paper and began reading. After the preliminary statements that she knew Miss Maggie had copied from some previous will, she stopped.

"Miss Maggie," hesitatingly, "I don't think—"

"Nonsense! Read on."

Leeana shot a swift glance around the room. All eyes were on the pale, boring coldly into her. She read:

"Setting aside all previous wills made by me, Margaret Annabelle Thorne, I hereby leave to my niece-in-law, Sondra Pearson Thorne, the sum of $3000, this on the condition that she regain possession of my mother's sapphire-and-diamond bracelet which I have reason to believe she stole and pawned. Said bracelet must then be presented to my sister Agatha who is its rightful owner under the terms of our mother's will."

Leeana broke off her reading of Miss Maggie's will at a strangled cry from Sondra, then continued reading: "To my nephew, Peter—"

Leeana's eyes flew ahead, taking in Miss Maggie's spidery hand-writing. Her words rang out steady as she read: "In view of his wandering affections and his penchant for getting into trouble I leave my collection of certain cancelled checks, identifiable by their endorsements. In addition to this $5000 will receive the sum of $5000."

"Read on child," Miss Maggie instructed when Leeana paused, chocked speechless by what she saw.

Leeana shook her head. "I—I'd rather not, Miss Maggie."

"It doesn't matter. The injustice was so unexpected as was Miss Maggie's suddenly rejected cheeks. "I hope you enjoy living in Thorne Hill, Leeana. Perhaps your father can do that book he used to dream of—hope that he will have a hundred thousand dollars."

"You mean," Peter Thorne crooked, his Oxford accent suddenly forgotten, "Rog gets a hundred thousand dollars?"

Miss Maggie nodded briskly, her eyes bluer, rounder, made like ice than ever as they pinned her nephew on the barbs of her dislike. "I mean exactly that, Peter," she snapped. "It's my money, isn't it? I can do with it what I like."

"You can't leave it to Rog!"

There was more than greed in Jasper Thorne's tenseness. There was desperation—a desperation that was dreadful to see as it showed after the pinched-in cheeks and the thin, tight mouth, and made his eyes look like a stranger's.

"Certainly not," said Sondra coldly. "Aunt Maggie, that would be an insane thing to do—cut off your own brother's son that way. Peter, dearest, what is Aunt Agatha that—"

"Aggie knows all about it. She has her own money."

"Not," was Sondra's frigid rejoinder, "a hundred thousand dollars."

"We'll let Agatha worry about that, Sondra," Miss Maggie said quietly. "If you don't mind."

Sondra's Thorne given to ladylike moves, but held her temper.

Peter did not. Addressing his brother, he said, "well, Jap, old man I should think you could have looked out after our joint interests better than to have let Cousin Leeana move in so completely."

Jasper looked at the floor, then at Leeana. His dark face had gone as pale as the curtains that were creamy-white in the soft light from the lamp at Miss Maggie's elbow.

Then, without a word he bolted. The door, slamming after him jiggled the doodads on the corner what-not.

Afterwards Leeana collected bits of common sense which had been thoroughly routed by the scene following Jasper's departure. She hadn't been great so much by Sondra's undisguised hatred as by the spiteful, calculating look that took possession of Peter Thorne's handsome face. Or perhaps it had been a combination of these emotions complied with Miss Maggie's obvious delight at shattering their dreams of inheriting the Thorne fortune.

The Thorne fortune which, actually or impressively, it proved to be a big one. Leeana had seen much dipping into the family and not nearly enough replenishing. It is hard to guess on for decades. The Thornes—the gone now living—were penniless. Miss Maggie had fixed Peter and Jasper, Sondra, and the battle had flared there.

The tiny buzzer hissed. It was 9 o'clock. Miss Maggie's bedtime. Leeana hurried down the hall.

Miss Maggie's door was locked and the old lady called out for her to come in through Agatha's room and the bath that connected them.

"Sister has the jitters," Miss Aggie announced when Leeana entered the room. Turning over in bed, she propped in best like into her pillow. "She thinks she shouldn't have told them. I told her not to. That Peter—" She stopped, her eyes widening "Leeana, how long ago—Hour, last?"

Obediently, Leeana went back and looked the massive old [illegible]

OUT OF THE BAG

The typewriter and tonsil experts of National Hockey League cities came up with their 1951 all-star baby yesterday and quizzical eyebrows are being raised in some places. Whether or not it settled the argument as to whom is the better right-winger Howe or Richard is not known but the lads gave Gordie Howe a substantial margin over the Canadiens' flash, unseating the Habs' star after he had held the berth for six consecutive seasons. Milt Schmidt, veteran Boston centreman got that berth for the second time in his career and he with Defenceman Red Kelly of Detroit were the only two unanimous selections on this year's aggregation.

Four Detroit players, Sawchuk, Kelly, Howe and Lindsay with two Bruins, Schmidt and Bill Quackenbush form the team. Not a Maple Leaf made the squad but Jim Thomson, Sid Smith and Teeder Kennedy made the second squad, along with Chuck Rayner, Rangers, Sid Abel and Leo Reise of Detroit and the "Rocket".

Curiously enough Turk Broda and McNeil got very few votes.

The 1950-51 N.H.L. All-Stars were picked by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six League cities. Eighteen ballots were sent into League Headquarters, three from each city. Points were awarded on the basis of five points for a first choice, three for a second and one for a third. A unanimous choice polled 90 points. Each member of the First Team is the recipient of $1,000 from the N. H. L., while each member of the second squad receives $500.

* * *

Terry Sawchuk, rookie Detroit goalie, was named to that position on each of the 18 ballots. He was the first choice of 10, second choice of six and the third choice of two. His 70 points were 30 more than his closest rival, Chuck Rayner of New York Rangers. Rayner was named on 14 of the 18 ballots. He had five first-choices, three seconds and six third-choices. Al Rollins, Toronto Maple Leafs' rookie goaltender, was the only other netminder to garner a sizeable number of points. Rollins polled 36 points.

* * *

Red Kelly, Bill Quackenbush, Jimmy Thomson of Toronto and Leo Reise of Detroit stood head and shoulders over the rest of the defencemen in the balloting. The rest of the rearguards weren't even close in the voting. Kelly, the red-headed Irishman, was the first choice on all 18 ballots and he had a perfect score of 90. Quackenbush was the first choice of nine, the second choice of seven and the third pick of two. His total of 68 points was more than polled by Thomson. The Toronto defender had eight firsts, six seconds and four thirds. Detroit's Leo Reise partnered Thomson on the Second Team, Reise polled 50 points. He had 16 second - place selections and two third-place choices.

Milt Schmidt was the first choice on all 18 ballots for the center position, while Ted Kennedy of Toronto and Sid Abel of Detroit ended up in a dead heat for the Second Team. Kennedy and Abel each had nine second - choice votes and eight thirds for a total of 35 points. Max Bentley of Toronto was the only other player to receive any recognition at centre and he polled two third-place votes.

* * *

Gordie Howe moved up to the First Team this year after holding down the right wing berth on the Second Team for the last two years. He polled 81 points to Richard's 63. It was strictly a two-man battle for right wing honors. Ted Sloan of Toronto was an automatic third choice on all 18 ballots. Howe was the first choice on 13 ballots, while Richard was the first choice of four. They split one first-place selection.

Seven players earned points in the balloting for left wing but only three were considered seriously. Ted Lindsay made the First Team handily when he amassed 86 points, but the voting was closest for the second squad where Sid Smith of Toronto nosed out Chicago's Roy Conacher by a single point, 33 to 32. Lindsay, the peppery Detroit wingman who is the only repeater from last year's First Team, had 17 first-place votes and one third selection for 86 points. Smith was the second choice of nine, and the third choice of six which gave him a point total of 33. Conacher polled one first, eight seconds and three thirds for his 32 points.

* * *

This is the first N. H. L. All-Star Team for rookie Terry Sawchuk, and it's the first time that Red Kelly and Gordie Howe made the First Team. Both were members of the Second Team a year ago. It marks the third time Bill Quackenbush has gained a spot on the First Team. He was awarded a defence post in 1947-48 and 1948-49 while a member of the Detroit Red Wings. Ted Lindsay is the only other three-time performer on this star-studded six.

NEARLY OVERCOME

Peterborough, April 28 (CP)—A 12-year-old boy and an elderly man were almost overcome by illuminating gas escaping from a stove. Roger Williams, 15, found his brother Donald almost unconscious in his bedroom from the effects of the gas. The elderly man, Philip Cloutier, was found slumped in a chair beside the stove. Both have recovered.

CLAIMS SCHEME UNFAIR

Cobourg, April 28 (CP)—Canada's old age pension scheme is unfair because it penalizes thrift, Welfare Minister Goodfellow said at the annual meeting of the Cobourg Women's Progressive Conservative Association. Mr. Goodfellow said provincial authorities had gone along with the federal pension scheme because "half a loaf is better than none."

Washington and St. Louis Surprise Teams in Major League Baseball Races

By [JACK] HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Washington Senators and St. Louis Cardinals are the real surprise clubs of the early 1951 season.

Bucky Harris' Senators were consigned to the second division in pre - season polls. The experts smiled politely when Manager Marty Marion and owner Fred Saigh talked about the "contending" Cardinals. Today both are in first place.

Washington's dazzling spurt on sensational pitching shot the Senators to the front of the American League. Six of Bucky's eight starting pitchers went the route. One was lifted for a pinch-hitter after eight innings. Gene Bearden, the only starter to be knocked out, was sold to Detroit.

"Go the route or get out seems to be Bucky's new deal. Sandy Consuegra, the second half of Bucky's Cuban rhumba twins, did his stuff on the sorry Philadelphia A's last night, with a five-hit 6-1 job. Thursday night his countryman, Connie Marrero, stuffed a one-hitter down the A's throats.

Washington historians claim the Senators are off to their best start in history with a 7-1 record. Of course, the A's were convenient four-time victims. In the last four games, Philadelphia has scored a total of two runs. Thy have lost eight in a row.

Pitching Excellent

Marion's pitching has been even better than Washington's with five complete games and two shutouts in seven starts.

Gerry Staley yesterday shut out Chicago 3-0 with six hits for his second route-going job against the Cubs. He has allowed only one run in 18 innings, and the entire St. Louis staff has yielded only two runs in the last 37 innings.

While the Cards and Senators were rolling along, New York Giants continued to squirm under the load of their nine-game losing streak.

A couple of ex-Giants, Willard Marshall and Sid Gordon, made life miserable for New York with home runs in Boston's 7-3 victory. Marshall's came in the sixth with two on to send Boston on top for keeps. Warren Spahn was the five-hit winner.

Hodges Continues Hitting

Gil Hodges continued his power hitting with two homers and a double in Brooklyn's 11-5 route of the Phillies. Bubba Church, first of four pitchers, took the brunt of the attack. Joe Hatten, although knocked out in the ninth, was the southpaw winner.

Ralph Kiner's first homer wasn't enough to save Pittsburgh as Cincinnati grabbed a 7-5 decision. Ewell Blackwell picked up his second win although he needed relief help from Howie Fox after six innings.

In the American League, all the western teams were idle. The only action in addition to Washington-Philadelphia was Boston Red Sox' 4-3 victory over New York Yankees.

Mel Parnell became the first Boston pitcher to go the route, allowing nine hits including Joe DiMaggio's first homer. The Sox ripped into Vic Rachi, who shut them out opening day, for all their runs.

ATOMIC POWER

Britain is building the first electric generating station to be powered by atomic energy.

'Shotgun' Shuba Off to Fine Start For Montreal

(By The Associated Press)

George (Shotgun) Shuba, 26-year-old outfielder of the Montreal Royals, is off to another fine start.

Shuba broke in with a bang in 1946, socking seven homers in little more than a week before he tapered off.

Yesterday Shuba whacked a homer, triple and double, driving in four runs to spark the Royals to an 8-2 victory over Baltimore Orioles.

Royals remained in a first-place deadlock with Syracuse Chiefs, who trounced Buffalo Bisons 12-1.

Rookie Ray Moore limited the Orioles to four hits including a home run by Buddy Hicks. Moore walked 10 and fanned seven.

Jack Robinson tamed the Bisons on seven hits as the Chiefs spoiled the opening day for 13,799 Buffalo fans. The Chiefs clubbed four Buffalo pitchers for 10 hits. Ed Shokes batted in five runs and rookies Loren Babe and Vic Power collected three hits for Syracuse.

Toronto Maple Leafs took a wild and woolly 9-8 decision from Rochester Red Wings. The Leafs scored seven runs in the seventh inning and a single in the eighth. Frank Colman slammed a two-run homer for the Leafs.

In another ragged game, Springfield Cubs downed Ottawa Giants 7-5. The Giants committed six of nine errors to sabotage the pitching of Frank Fanovich, Al Corwin and George Heller.

Alan Ihde went all the way for the Cubs, granting six safeties. Ihde drove in three runs on as many hits.

Chip Removed From Right Wrist Of Billy Flick

Toronto, April 27 —(CP) —A bone chip was removed Thursday from the right wrist of Billy Flick star forward who played for Lethbridge Maple Leafs in their recent European tour in which they won the world amateur hockey championship for Canada.

Flick, a member of Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen who was sent overseas with two teammates to bolster the Maple Leafs, suffered a compound fracture in a game in London.

The fracture is healing without complication but an operation at a Toronto hospital was necessary to remove the chip.

Flick expects to return to his home in stratford this weekend.

DOG RECEIVES MEDAL

Toronto, April 27 — (CP) — Mitzi, a two-year-old German shepherd owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Odle received a medal, inscribed "for bravery" and a king - sized bone at the annual meeting of the Toronto Humane Society yesterday. Mitzi rushed to the aid of 14-year-old Jean MacKay who broke through the ice while skating last January, and held onto the girl's arm until she could be brought to shore.

Barrie Flyers Agree to Play At The Gardens

Toronto, April 28—(CP)—Location of playoff games in junior and senior hockey playoffs was settled last night, but the smoke is still rising.

Coach Hap Emms of Barrie Flyers agreed to play the seventh game of the best-of-seven Memorial Cup semi-finals with Quebec Citadelles at Maple Leaf Gardens tonight.

But he was displeased—to put it mildly—with the decision of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials in moving the game from Barrie.

At the same time a request by Bud Jarvis, coach of Fort Frances Canadians, that at least two of their Allan Cup final games be played elsewhere than in Owen Sound also was rejected.

His team dropped the opening game of a best-of-seven series with Owen Sound Mercurys 4-3 Thursday night.

In announcing the decision, W. B. George, C. A. H. A. first vice-president, said Mercurys have been playing to good crowds at home, whereas in any other city the series with Canadians "just wouldn't draw."

It was also George who wired Ontario Hockey Association president, Jack Roxburgh the decision of the Barrie squawk.

Decision Final

The telegram said: "The C. A. H. A. executive has given its decision against my rule. That decision is final." signed, "Baldy George."

Failure of Quebec earlier to agree with a seventh game in Barrie had led to Flyers' being declared eastern Canada champs. Emms and Barrie had agreed to re-open the series only after George assured the seventh game would be in Barrie.

"If we can't trust the word of a C. A. H. A. representative then I'm certainly through with hockey after this season," Emms said. "I never heard of such a raw deal in all my life.

"We consented to let Quebec back in the series because we didn't like the idea of winning by default,' he added. 'Had we known the seventh game would be taken away from Barrie arena, we certainly would not have agreed to re-opening the series."

The Solunar Tables

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

The year 1951 marks the eighteenth year since the Solunar Tables were first made public in the outdoor magazines. Also, it is the beginning of the seventh year of the publication of weekly schedules from the Solunar Tables in the newspapers of the country.

While a great many fishermen and hunters throughout the United States and Canada are familiar with the Solunar Tables and know how to use them to best advantage, there are about as many others who are not so familiar with them and who write in, asking questions.

We have tried to select the most common of these questions. Here are the answers, as well as we can shape them.

What are the Solunar Tables?

The Solunar Tables are the sportsman's schedule of the times of the daily cycle of activity and feeding periods of all wildlife. Activity will begin, as a rule, at the times scheduled and continue for anywhere from half an hour to three hours thereafter.

What is the cause of these Solunar Periods?

To be honest with you, we can't answer this one completely. We know that these activity and feeding periods among wildlife—fish and game, not to mention reptiles, insects, etc. — are in rhythm with daily moon and sun positions in relation to the earth. That is how we figure out the schedule in advance.

We think we know why this is true. However, until we are definitely positive that we are familiar with the entire process, we feel that it would be better to say simply that we are not sure and let it go at that.

How are the Solunar Tables useful to fishermen and hunters?

This one we can answer.

First off, you know perfectly well that you don't have good fishing or top-notch shooting every day you go afield. Some days the fish are more responsive and the game is more plentiful than on other days.

By knowing in advance, each day of the year when to expect all wildlife to be active and feeding, your chances for good sport are much better than if you simply go out blindly and trust to luck.

Plan Each Day

Form the habit of planning each day in the open with the aid of your Solunar Tables. That way you have a distinct advantage over the fellow who is content to start out and hope for the best.

Do the Solunar Tables work just as well in salt water as they do in fresh water?

Yes, they do. Not a few party-boat captains use the schedules to find better fishing for their patrons. Moreover, several commercial fisheries are using the Solunar Tables with good results.

Do the Solunar Tables "work" on some days and not on others?

No. To a man who is a good observer and who is familiar with the effects of the Solunar Periods on wildlife, response to a Solunar Period is quite evident every day, regardless of conditions. After all, activity among wildlife from day to day and from time to time during each day is comparative.

Don't make the mistake of regarding your Solunar Tables as a short-cut to a filled creel or a limit bag of game. Regard them rather as a guidepost to the best sport that each day has to offer.

Do the Solunar Tables work in rainy weather?

Yes, they do. But remember — there are several kinds of rainy weather. Your guide in heavy weather is the barometer. The trend of the glass, not the level, seems to be the deciding factor.

Barometer Tells Story

If the barometer is steady or rising, you will probably have good fishing. If the glass is unsteady or falling, the chances are that you won't have good fishing, regardless of the Solunar Tables.

In general, you can't expect miracles in the face of adverse conditions. Temperatures that are abnormal — to high or too low; high winds; abnormal water conditions; adverse winds; storms; all of these things can and often do spoil a day's fishing.

Even so, you will find that if you do manage to find some sport under unfavorable conditions, the probabilities are that it will be during the Solunar Periods.

There are some things you should know which generally are not included in the questions that come in. Not all users of the Solunar Tables are sportsmen or sportswomen. Bird watchers and naturalists use these schedules to aid them with hobbies or work. Song birds and birds of prey are every bit as responsive to the Solunar Periods as are fish and game.

Rise to Surface

One of the peculiarities of fish which is brought out by the use of the Solunar Tables is their tendency to come to the surface during Solunar Periods. All of them, from goldfish in a bowl to the larger species of game fish, show this characteristic.

Fishermen can capitalize on this bit of information. During Solunar Periods a surface lure will usually produce better for you than an under-water lure. Between Solunar Periods the under-water type probably will take more fish for you.

Incidentally, we have never claimed that fish can't be caught or that game can't be found during times outside of the Solunar Periods. What we do claim is that it is a rare day during which you will not find your best sport at the times listed in the Solunar Tables.

Give them a fair trial — not once or twice but throughout the course of a season.

Empire Society 'Rassle' Idol Lord Athol Layton, Egad, Wins Over Hated Henning

By GEO. R. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

"Do you know" said Gerald, a perfect gentleman, when he speaks, "I detest wrestling and everything connected with it periodically".

Gerald removed his monocle and carefully dusted a spec of dirt from his umbrella, a sign of standard enjoyment, if seen, Gerald is suffering from nervous quivers while the "Marquis" is at ease.

Gerald was quite perturbed. His beloved "Marster" one Lord Athol Layton, a 6-4 debonair British lad, who, to the tune of "Rumpelt" title dubbed Leering Lee Henning in the main bout of the evening at Memorial arena last night.

Gerald, who His Lordship was cheering and taking punishment. Gerald died a thousand horrible deaths. He was positively gutted, flattened, hamstrung, throttled and bitterly disappointed, his beloved "marster" was given the accolade of victory at the end of the second fall.

Lord Layton, a handsome hunk of British beef, weighing in at his dinner jacket the champion-ship ribbons of Singapore, Malaya and points adjacent, where he served and "rose" days and England, got to the mid-day meal" is quite a lad.

Quite a Bloke

In fact the bloke stands six-foot without benefit of hose and the scales at will over two hundred pounds and with the body control that knocked the "starred" slats from under the hated Lee.

But His Lordship absorbed quite a spot of punishment you know. Down from the upstart Oregon, Ohio or wherever the "Lee" gets his spell, had the British social lion in difficulties on several occasions and from the press box we expected to hear the dreaded notes and fifer of '76 come parading down the aisles tooting "Yankee Doodle."

But the crafty Gerald, seated on his little stool a few feet from the ringside wigwagged the umbrella, a throwback from Chamberlain and Athel, egad, whirled out of the mess, disdainfully tossed aside the incendiary efforts of one Henning and strolled to his corner where Gerald, cool, grew him a spell of cold tea.

A Real Bloke

But with all this Empire-comma plus Gerald, don't sell this chap Lord Layton short. And don't think for one minute the title is a pseudonym. It is not. His Lordship is a bonafide member of British society with big estates in Surrey. But that is beside the point.

Athol, is quite a wrestler. And he has performed in places that are quite devastating, as one Mr. Henning discovered last night. Lee, the Lee, still one of the best "rasslers" at the ring, was up to his old tricks and doing everything but the Wayside Inn, Queensway Hotel and the Fair Grounds grandstand at "'is blinkin' nibs" as one bloke put it, but the tall darky from Ohio found Bellisher came back with a favorite hold to win the main bout in two straight falls.

Indian Favored

Chief Sitni War Cloud, a full-blooded Wasak Indian from California emerged, clad in paint and feathers. The chief, a university graduate from a California college, proved himself a wrestler of no mean ability. In fact, he nearly had a win his feet in defeating Jack Wentworth with the fact he is not of main bout calibre. The brawny "injun" demonstrated his famous "death-lock" on Wentworth promptly gurgled "Uph" and that was that.

It was a fine show for the opener with Whipper Billy Watson being around meeting old friends and looking after things in general.

OBSTRUCTS POLICE

Timmins, April 28 (CP)—Mrs. Alphonse Portelance was charged with obstructing police and allowing a vicious dog to run at large after officers tried to take her dog to the city pound. The officers said Mrs. Portelance brandished a hammer and ordered them from the house, when they came to get the dog, ordered animal when it bit a four-year-old boy.

Tree-Top Rigger Spry 64-Year-Old Recalls Old Days

Vancouver—(CP)—Archie Linten, with an Irish twinkle in his eye, is a spry 64 years old. He's had to be spry to claim the title of the oldest rigger on the continent.

A rigger is the logging term for the man who trims the tops of trees.

Linten works in famed Stanley Park, a region full of tall trees. All the giants in the park with neatly trimmed tops are samples of Archie's work.

Young Outlook

With a back as straight as the trees he climbs, and a pair of legs that have spurred up cedars and firs with the best of them, Archie is as young in ability as a 16-year-old.

"Started tree work in Oregon in 1915," he said. "Came to B. C. in 1917. Them days you could count the high-riggers on the tips of your fingers Nobody knew any more than anybody else, but I liked climbing and that's the job I got."

He snorted at the way loggers are "mollycoddled" nowadays. "Why I remember when we packed our own blankets and mattress. If there wasn't any straw we went out and cut some cedar boughs. Spent 10 hours a day in the woods, too.

Hazardous Work

In his close-to-40 years topping trees, Archie has fallen twice; broken a leg twice; an arm twice, an ankle once. One fall was 90 feet and he was laid up eight months.

"Doc said I had a permanent injury," recalls Archie. "So the compensation board gave me a life pension and I went firing a donkey engine."

"That was back in '28. Never thought about putting the spurs on again, but one day a set of spar blocks needed changing. There was no one else to go up. The higher I climbed the better that right ankle felt.

Lost His Pension

"Lost my pension but I've been climbing ever since. Figure I'll quit this fall, though. Take a little holiday."

Archie knows where he's going right now. He picked the spot back in 1912.

"Bought a gallon tomato can full of silver teeth from an old Indian at Alert Bay for $21 in silver," chuckled Archie. "Took a little trip for nine months down to New York, Florida and New Orleans selling elks' teeth to Elk lodges."

"Wound up with $50 in my pockets, too, and I sure did some spending."

"But that New Orleans—sure would be a nice place to spend next winter."

Sports From Britain

By EDWIN C. JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 27—(CP)—After two years of fact-finding, the royal commission on gaming has given the green light to the little guy who likes to have the occasional "flutter" on the horses, greyhounds or football pools.

In its report, a massive volume of more than 100,000 words, the commission has absolved the small-time punter of any taint of lawbreaking or moral lapse. It finds, in fact, that four out of five adults in every walk of life have gambled at some time, even if only at such trivial things as raffles, whist drives or a private sweepstake.

The investigators saw absolutely nothing wrong with that.

Answering those who denounce gambling as leading to juvenile delinquency, crime, poverty and diversion from work, the report says: "It is extremely difficult to establish by abstract arguments that all gambling is immorally immoral, without adopting views as to the nature of good and evil which would not find general acceptance among moralists."

Keep Within Bounds

It agrees, however, that gambling, like other indulgences such as alcoholic drink or tobacco, should be kept within reasonable bounds and controlled with prudence.

Some eye-opening figures on the extent of gambling in Britain are contained in the report. It estimates that more than 15,000,000 people last year wagered about £150,000,000 ($450,000,000) on football pools, horse-racing and the greyhounds. Of this amount, however, approximately £70,000,000 went to cover profits, operating costs and taxes.

The various gambling ventures employ around 50,000 full-time workers with 30,000 more on part-time.

Interest Widespread

It was also shown that more than 6,000,000 persons contribute nearly £52,000,000 annually to the football pools alone. This despite the fact that in pools offering some of the largest prizes the odds against a successful forecast are estimated at 700,000,000 to 1 against.

Some idea of the difficulty in picking a winner, was cited to the commission. A large syndicate had invested stakes totalling £120,000 over a period of nine months. Repayment in prizes came to less than £3000.

The inquiry, however, showed that the total spent on all forms of gambling absorbed only about one-half of one per cent of the national income.

No Serious Harm

Dealing with the social effects of betting the report said it could find no support for the belief that gambling within moderation did any serious harm either to the character of those who take part in it or to the family circle and the community generally.

It concluded that gambling on the scale on which it is indulged in at present could not be regarded as imposing a serious drain on the nation's resources or manpower.

We see no justification in normal economic circumstances for imposing restrictions on gambling on these grounds," the report says.

If amusements were restricted the State had no assurance anything better would take its place. The report against excessive zeal in education and provision of facilities for more healthy recreation.

N.H.L. Governors Vote to Retain 70-Game Schedule

Governors of the National Hockey League decided at a Friday meeting at New York to retain the 70-game schedule for the 1951-52 season. Dates will be drawn up later, probably at the annual meeting in Montreal June 5-8.

There had been reports during the season just concluded that some club owners would vote to revert to a 60-game schedule because of dwindling crowds in three of the four American cities which some teams attributed to too many games and too long a season.

Matchmaker Babe McCoy said Friday that signed contracts had been filed with the California Athletic Commission for—world bantamweight boxing champion Ike Williams to defend his title here against Art Aragon of Los Angeles June 18.

Philadelphia Phillies have sent catcher Stan Lopata to Baltimore Orioles on option, general manager Herb Armstrong of the International League club announced Friday. Lopata, 25-year-old backstop, was with the National League pennant winners all last season. In 58 games he hit .259.

Officials of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association announced Friday at Montreal that the Dominion championships this year will be held in Windsor, Ont. Dates have not yet been set.

Eddie W. Bowering of Vancouver has been appointed manager of the men's basketball team to represent Canada at the 1952 Helsinki Olympics it was learned Friday at Vancouver. Bowering, a high school teacher is a former president of the association.

Selection of a team has not been made.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

The romantically - minded may get a thrill out of movie love scenes, but all Linda Darnell gets is a yawn.

"It's a bore, really," she said. "How can there be any romance when there are 50 people watching you go into the clinch?"

Linda has been pitching movie woe for nearly half her life. She says it's no fun.

"You can't get a thrill when you're not in love with the person you're playing opposite," she explained. "And I've never been in that condition."

Kisses Miss

As for script kisses: "Nothing!" They are usually negotiated with the actress' lip caked with powder, so the lip goo won't come off on the leading man. "Nothing feels worse than have powder on your lips," she remarked.

Linda has gone in for all varieties of film love-making, but lately has been subjected to the more rugged style. She has recently co-starred with Paul Douglas, Richard Widmark and Stephen McNally, who aren't exactly the hand-holding type.

"I like the more gentle kind of romance," she sighed, "I bruise easily."

New Talent

This week Paramount unveiled its "Golden Circle" for hopeful movie stars of the future. It contains a dozen youngsters, largely unknown, who might be the Ladds and Lanas of tomorrow.

The stunt reflects the growing feeling here that new talent is needed to meet the threat of television. The movie industry is finally learning a lesson from the auto manufacturers when business lags, bring out some new models.

For Sunday, April 29, 1951

March 21 to April 20—(Aries)—One of the most generous and romantic planetary days this month. May you enjoy and profit by day's good influences. Do give thanks and pray for blessings and pray for those in troubled lands.

April 21 to May 20—(Taurus)—It can, should be, happy, productive day. No matter your occupation (if honorable) you can profit by sincere effort and speech. Enjoy free time by doing thought of God first, then fun.

May 21 to June 21—(Gemini)—Good influences abundant; your plans should include services at church, charity deeds, whole some sports or entertainment, if of course, you do not have to work. Good day for fun work!

June 22 to July 23—(Cancer)—Help to maintain the happy leanings abundant this Sunday. Offer thanksgiving to God for our privileges and blessings; get into activities that enlighten mind, build character.

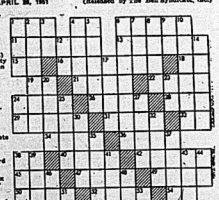
July 24 to August 23—(Leo)—Fine, busy day on into tomorrow. All worth while interests especially religious services highly honored. Unless urgent, let work matters wait; pray, have fun.

August 24 to September 23—(Virgo)—Ends, be full of hope and benefit Sunday. Start your day with prayer at church; then you will find the right things to do and be happy doing them.

September 24 to October 23—(Libra)—Your planet, as most today, is in excellent aspect favors necessary work, household tasks, services for our country and community in high place. Your Mars (not stimulating) tends to lessen strain, aggressiveness. Pray at church; relax at a hobby.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio)—Necessary tasks, study, services for our country and community in high place. Your Mars (not stimulating) tends to lessen strain, aggressiveness. Pray at church; relax at a hobby.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius)—Making things for others, collecting finances for charity and other worthy causes among top activities now. Attend church, enjoy some rest, pleasant recreation.



December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Music, other arts, outdoor recreation, improving a hobby in order now. First take care of your soul's needs, then join family, good friends at their ever honorable suits your fancy.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius)—Mild tendencies in your sector but abundant good aspects are all about and you can profit by their beneficence if you desire, and do. Don't neglect duties; especially spiritual ones.

February 21 to March 20—(Pisces)—You could make this good day top the whole week in accomplishment. Add to spiritual and temporal benefits by extra prayers at church, some good work. Wholesome fun okay. Rest too.

YOU BORN TODAY are sturdy, dependable, highly intelligent, generally sociable. Can be clever at skilled profession or trade. Tenderness are wonderful in the sick room, comforting as well as efficient. Generosity, gentility, tolerance are notable characteristics. Usually accumulate money but may not judiciously so at least part of it. Love of home and personal comfort strong. Loyal, kind lifemate, should not dominate; attractive; an indulgent parent. Avoid worry, keeping busy enough to self. Birthdate: Oliver

Semeryde I.O.D.E.

Campbellford—The April meeting of the Semeryde Chapter, I.O.D.E. was held at the home of Mrs. Robt. Fox with the Regent, Mrs. Arthur Loucks presiding.

Mrs. Kingston reported for the East Home visitors and Mrs. Douglas Maybee and Mrs. Ross Douglas volunteered to call during May.

The Regent mentioned the area conference to be held in Kingston on May 2nd, and asked any who could attend to get in touch with her before April 30th.

Four members of the Chapter Mrs. J. O. Benor, Mrs. Stewart Anderson, Mrs. A. L. Malcolm, and Mrs. W. A. Johnston attended the Provincial convention held at the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton. Mrs. Benor, the chapter's delegate, gave her report of that meeting. She told of the order's work in the field of education, social welfare, post-war service work among veterans and work in the field of immigration.

Her report was supplemented by Mrs. Malcolm, who gave her impressions of the convention. She urged every member to attend such a conference and learn something of the importance and variety of the work done by the I.O.D.E.

Group four reminded the members of the Canada Packer's cooking school which they are sponsoring on May 7th and 8th which will be held in the Arcot Theatre.

After the meeting closed group 2 served refreshments.

TRUMAN ASKS $60,679,414,690 FOR DEFENCE

Allies Await Reds' Expected May Day Smash at Seoul

Lay Down Curtain of Fire In Path of Gathering Hordes

By OLEON CLEMENTS

Tokyo, April 30 (AP) — Allied artillery today laid an explosive curtain of fire behind Seoul in the path of a gathering red army intent on seizing the old South Korean capital as a May Day prize.

United Nations forces arrayed before the war shattered city fired 47,709 rounds of artillery Sunday.

The booming echo of massed artillery implanted the announcement of Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, allied ground commander, that Seoul would be defended.

Chinese communists poured down from the north for a mass assault. Airmen spotted more than 3,000 red vehicles moving along the western front. A force of 20,000 communists were reported massing for a shock troops for the assault.

Only patrol attacks were reported in the early hours Monday. Van Fleet planned a defence north of the city, not house-to-house street fighting.

Seoul Has Prestige

Gen. MacArthur and Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had made no attempt to hold the city against the Chinese offensive starting the new year. They said it was of no military importance.

But Van Fleet said Seoul has prestige as Korea's historic capital. He described the Seoul area and the Han and Imjin River which flows south of the city as "vital and strategic."

U.N. forces, he said, "welcome the opportunity to destroy the communist army north of the Han."

Associated Press correspondent Frank H. King reported after Van Fleet's press conference that "United Nations forces will not be considered unnecessarily" to hold Seoul.

All Depends on Attack

One of Van Fleet's corps commanders said the first clash with the communists on hand-hold the Han river "depends on what is thrown at us."

Maj.-Gen. William M. Hoge of the U.S. 9th corps, said:

"We're just going on with what we have, but could use more troops."

The reds have plenty of reserves, despite 70,000 casualties suffered in the past two days of their offensive.

Front dispatches at Pyongyang reported Sunday midnight that the communists were only 7 1-2 miles from Seoul.

Seven Brantford, District Youths Held for Theft

Brantford, April 30 — (CP) — Seven Brantford and district youths, ranging in age from 16 to 21, were arrested Saturday on charges of car theft, vandalism and receiving stolen goods.

Police said a ring believed responsible for theft and stripping of cars in this district recently may have been smashed.

The arrests were made after police discovered a stolen car on the farm of Emil Nagy of nearby Cainsville. It had been partially stripped and its top had been cut almost off by an acetylene torch.

Nagy, Homer Johnson, also of Cainsville, John Thomas and Edward A. Clair, both of Brantford, were charged with car theft and vandalism. Wilfred Smith of Brantford was charged with receiving stolen goods.

Charges against the other two youths have not yet been laid.

Muscle Men No Better Off Than Lazy Pals

Cleveland, April 30—(AP) Middle-aged muscle men who sport chiselled chests and arms probably are no healthier than their take-it-easy pals, a University of Minnesota research report indicated today.

Also, the university came up with a finding that a fat man's extra girth is not made up entirely by head, but is partly muscle built up by lugging the fat around. That's the main reason the heart of a fat man is no bigger — or than a thin man's.

These separate reports to the American Physiological Society were based on studies made of students and about 300 middle-aged Minneapolis-St. Paul business, professional and industrial men who volunteered as guinea pigs.

The project was designed primarily to get new information on the number and mechanism of the heart disease. Men of all types and ages were studied—lean and robust, short and tall, those who take regular exercise sessions and those who only exercise in walking to and from their automobiles.

All those checked were presumably healthy men between 18 and 54.

Dr. Austin Henschell set out to determine if there were any significant differences in general health between sedentary men and men whose only athletic activities were reading the sports pages.

He gave two separate middle-aged groups physiological tests, including blood pressure, pulse rate, heart study and even running on a tread mill.

And, what d'ya know?

Old Sad Sam shaped up just as well as Vic the volleyball whiz.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, April 30 (CP) Synopsis. The morning all Ontario stations reported clear skies during the night. And pressure rising. Thus April 1951 will end with a pleasant sunny day throughout the entire province. Fine weather will continue over most of the forecast regions on Tuesday, although scattered thundershower activity is likely in the southwestern portion. Easterly winds will continue to strengthen over the Great Lakes. Temperatures on Tuesday will be about the same as today.

FOUR IN ONE FAMILY DROWN, BOAT CAPSIZES

Believe Boat Flipped Over by Currents

Waubaushene, Ont., April 30 — (CP)—The husband, son, grandson and brother-in-law of Kathleen (Kay) Stokes, nationally-known Toronto radio entertainer, were drowned here during the week-end and the search continued today for three of the bodies.

The body of Frank Stokes, 55-year-old husband of the organist on the "Happy Gang" radio program, was recovered last night. He was superintendent of postal deliveries in Toronto.

Searchers dragged the swift waters of the Musquash River in this Georgian Bay resort area for the bodies of Russell Stokes, 29, the son; Frank Stokes, 3, the grandson; and Douglas Stokes, 45, brother of Frank Sr. The motor-boat in which the four set out on a fishing jaunt capsized Saturday. Broadcasts Cancelled

Dr. Frederick Harris announced that the "Happy Gang" broadcasts of CBC have been cancelled for a few days.

Joe Nissi, Mrs. Stokes' next-door neighbor and fellow entertainer, explained: "We're a family outfit on the 'Happy Gang.' Something terrible like this upsets us all and we just wouldn't feel the funny."

The Musquash River is at flood stage. The fast, brown stream is used for logging and lumbering, is packed with sunken logs and other debris, and has treacherous currents that snarled the grappling irons.

Provincial police witnesses to the drowning. Their boat was seen going up-river and half an hour later it was found overturned. It is believed it was flipped over by powerful currents near a spot where a whirlpool is caused by a large rock.

One Body Recovered

The body of Frank Stokes, 55, was recovered early Sunday night. Dragging operations for the others will resume today.

Stokes' wrist watch had stopped at 4:05, fixing the time of the tragedy near Honey Harbor, Georgian Bay summer colony some 80 miles northeast of Toronto.

A caretaker of summer homes, George Ellis, said he saw Stokes' brother-in-law, Maurice O'Rourke, saw the boat and its four occupants going up-river about 3:40 p.m.

Moored to Stump

"About half an hour later," said Bush, "Maurice brought to me: 'There's a boat upside down out there.' It was floating high out of the water about 100 yards off shore. We jumped into a dory, powered out to it and turned it right side up. We brought it in close to shore and moored it to a stump.

"Shortly afterwards," said his brother, Yakout Hassan Darwish, in a letter recently published, "he was summoned to sit and ask specialists failed to diagnose the disease.

"One morning he told me that he had seen in a dream that he had been tried by a court of ancient Egyptian priests who ordered that he be tightly bound with rope round the body, and then covered with a terrible pain in his stomach.

"He was taken to hospital but the cause of his pain was never discovered.

"After my brother had died, I consulted with one of his colleagues, Dr. Abul Naga Abdallah, director of the engineering department of the Egyptian government archaeological administration, and he added: 'In that event I shall follow him.'

"Dr. Abdallah died some time later."

But Dr. Douglas E. Ferry, who investigated the mummy of Tutankhamon, at 70 is still hale and hearty.

"Surely is there's a curse," Dr. Derry has said, "it should rest heavily on me. . . . I have sensibly when I do go the way of all flesh, they will blame the curse."

Deaths of Six Archaeologists Recall 'Curse of The Pharaohs'

Cairo, April 30 (Reuters) —The legendary "curse of the Pharaohs" has been revived in Egypt by the death of six young archaeologists within the last year.

The "curse" seems into world prominence after the discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamon in the Valley of Kings in 1922.

Lord Carnarvon, who financed the expedition, died soon after the discovery of the tomb and it was said that he was a victim of "the curse." Howard Carter, who actually made the discovery, also died soon afterwards in the work, subsequently died.

Superstitious people recalled that a curse was supposed to rest on anyone who desecrated a burial place.

In ancient Egyptian worship it was believed that the power to "double" of a man did not die when the man himself died but continued to inhabit the body. Thus it was thought that disturbance of the mummy separated the Ka from its owner and that anyone who meddled with the mummy would suffer an untimely end.

First of the six young Egyptologists to die was Ahmed Derwish. He discovered relics of King Amenophis a Luxor.

Man Burned to Death, Two RCMP Officers Injured, Car Crashes, Burns at Hawkesbury

Hawkesbury, Ont., April 30 — (CP) — One man was burned to death and two RCMP officers injured when an automobile crashed and burned early today a few miles north of this town 60 miles east of Ottawa.

Burned to death was Andrew Wallace MacDonell, 27, of Green Valley, Ont., an employee of the Eastign Publishing Company, formerly a student at Ottawa's Carleton College.

Injured were RCMP Constables John Sydney Malkin, 19, of Montreal, and Joseph Ernest Dubeau, 21, of Lancaster, Ont. Dubeau, the driver, suffered a number of minor injuries. Malkin suffered a fractured left shoulder.

Both RCMP officers were stationed at Rockcliffe RCMP barracks, on the eastern outskirts of Ottawa.

MacDonell was sitting in the front seat of the car, beside Dubeau, when the crash occurred. Police said the car apparently had failed to make a sharp left - hand curve and crashed into a cement culvert then flipped end over end into a deep ditch.

Pinned between the dashboard and the rear of the front seat, MacDonell was unable to free himself. Spilled gasoline took fire and enveloped him in a sheet of flame.

Both mounties broke free and escaped seconds before the car ignited. They were unable, however, to beat their way through the flames to rescue the trapped passenger.

Both Mounties were taken to Hawkesbury for medical treatment.

Vogeler Warns Imprisonment 'Just One of Series of Planned Attacks on Democracy'

Vienna, Austria, April 30—(AP) Still stunned by the mental anguish of his 17 months in a communist jail, Robert A. Vogeler broke down before a television camera Sunday long enough to say that his imprisonment was "just one of a series of planned attacks on democracy."

Friends tried to persuade Vogeler, 43, chief of the ITT agency here, but the 39-year-old New Yorker insisted he had "a very important message to give." He then continued before the camera after a brief rest.

"The American people must be made aware of what can happen," Vogeler said.

A spokesman for the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which Vogeler is a vice-president, said today that Vogeler will leave the United States as soon as he is sufficiently recovered. "Plans have not been definitely completed, but he will certainly go some time this week," the spokesman said.

The TV film will be carried on National Broadcasting Company's United States network next September.

It was Vogeler's second day of freedom from the Hungarian jail in which he had been sentenced for 15 years on charges of spying for the United States.

Strain Shows Plainly

"I feel that every individual American should realize that what happened to me can happen to them. If we don't all band together and destroy these enemies of individual freedom, indecency and liberty—if the right of a person to go where he wants and say what he wants to say without hindrance by authorities or police . . .

"I fear that is our mission now—that is the mission God has given me to perform so that we can live in peace, freedom and happiness.

"You never realize what freedom means until you lose it."

Although Vogeler appeared tanned, appeared physically, the mental strain of 14½ months in military communist cells behind bars trial showed plainly.

He gave the appearance of a man with a mounting memory and a secret he wished to tell but could not.

Vogeler told reporters after his release Saturday that both physical and mental pressure were used to obtain his confession before he was tried by a people's court in Budapest. He acknowledged that there was "some truth" in the charges against him but it contained many technical inaccuracies.

In exchange for Vogeler's freedom, the United States agreed to release Hungarian consulates in New York and Cleveland, lift the ban on American travel to Hungary, and release Hungarian property in western Germany, but still withhold control of St. Stephen, symbol of the Hungarian monarchy.

King George Will Take Lid Off Colorful Festival Thursday

London, April 30—(AP)—The ed regios of rubble and broken King will stand on the steps of St. Paul's Cathedral next Thursday noon and announce that the lid is off.

Bells will peal in a thousand belfries and, from that moment to Dec. 1, Festival of Britain will be officially pop-eyed and giddy.

For the King will announce the opening of the Festival of Britain.

He will invite the peoples of the world to come to the British Government to have fun at a glittering exhibition and to be enlightened, elevated and culturally refreshed at more shows, pageants, concerts and exhibitions than anyone can count.

The Festival is the culmination of three years' planning. It will be Britain's brave attempt to lift herself out of the dumps of bleakness. The place has been brightened, painted and generally spiffed. The country will try to show the visitors everything, the charm of its history from Stonehenge, the cradle sea and Scottish highlands, and the latest developments in engineering, industry, science and art.

About 1,700 communities will have some part in the Festival. But the centre of it will be London, and the focal point the heart of London—the south bank of the Thames River between Westminster Bridge and Waterloo Bridges. The houses of parliament overlook it.

A stretch of beautiful and fantastic buildings has transformed the area until lately a well-bombed wilderness.

COALITION MAY HAVE MAJORITY IN BOTH HOUSES

Counting Reflects Drift From Labor

Sydney, Australia, April 30.—(CP)—The victorious Coalition government of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies picked up strength today in the parliamentary election vote counting. There was a possibility it might win a two-seat majority in the Senate.

Latest returns from Saturday's balloting assured the Liberal-Country party coalition of at least 66 seats in the House of Representatives and reduced the number that the opposition Labor party seemed certain to win from 58 to 55.

Latest standing in the House:

Parliament	Parliament
Government
Coalition 68	74
Labor 48	47
Doubtful 7
Total 121	121

Yesterday's counting, reflecting a drift from Labor, increased the number of doubtful seats from three to seven in the 121-member House, in which the government is formed. The government held a 74-47 majority in the outgoing House.

In the 60-seat Senate, where the early trend had pointed to a 30-30 split, late returns gave the government a good chance for a 31-29 edge. A previous Labor majority in the Upper House had caused the government to demand the election on grounds the Senate was blocking enactment of its program.

Deputy Leader in Trouble

The returns put the coalition in position to take six of the 10 Senate seats from the State of Queensland and left in doubt the division of the 10 in Victoria. The 10 seats from each of Australias other four states appeared likely to divide evenly.

The counting of Senate votes under the proportional representation system when the aggression in Korea showed that the Soviet rulers were willing to push the world to the brink of a general war to get what they want.

"The major weakness in this threat is the military strength and military morale of the Soviet Union. The armed forces of the Soviet Union today far exceed any reasonable defence requirements. Its economy is harnessed to war production."

SET UP FACTORY

New Delhi, April 30—(Reuters) —The Indian government will set up a penicillin factory with capacity at a cost of $4,500,000. The government has accepted a joint offer of the World Health Organization and the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund to provide the facilities.

European Powers Pour Money Into Africa to Counter Red Menace

Abidjan, French West Africa, April 30 (AP)—Russia has turned a menacing eye on Africa, storehouse of uranium and other vital needs of the western world.

That is the view expressed by the European diplomatic representatives on the spot in Africa and private sources familiar with the staff talks continent.

The stakes are high. A communist empire in the Belgian Congo might seriously cripple America's production of atom bombs. Tyranny in Africa's north could tie up a wealth of other minerals and supplies urgently needed for western rearmament.

Thus far the communists have played a cautious game. But they have showed their hand in at least one couple of instances.

French colonial authorities in Abidjan, this rich new port on Africa's Ivory Coast, blame the reds for stirring bloody riots among natives during the last two years.

British officials in the adjoining Gold Coast colony, where the violently-Nationalists party swept recent elections, are reported to have traced a flow of communist money to Nationalist leaders. Well informed British sources say the money comes from Russia by way of northern Nigeria, a neighboring British colony.

Communists sparked recent riots in Accra, the Gold Coast capital. Anti-white feeling is strong and the situation is uneasy.

Some observers believe the greatest threat is in the Union of South Africa, where the present regime has imposed strict color and race barriers. This is a rich prize for red propagandists.

"A truly serious outbreak by the Africans could overwhelm and set the continent abaze," said one observer.

Both the communism and development and half private investments.

The government is spending $3,580,000,000 10-year African development program begun in 1946 by Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Portugal for their colonies south of the Sahara.

Most observers agree this outpouring of money must continue for a long time to come if Africa's 103,000,000 blacks are to be kept on the side of the free world.

Russia's Rulers Have Pushed World 'To Brink of War'

-- President

Funds Required Can Equip 18 Divisions and Units

Washington, April 30 — (AP) — President Truman today sent Congress a $60,679,414,690 defence budget and said Russia's rulers have pushed the world "to the brink of a general war."

The huge requested appropriation is for the United States' own military costs and to help arm its Allies.

The message broke down in more detail the military estimates in the record-breaking general budget, sent to Congress in January, for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In a letter to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, accompanying today's estimates, Truman said:

"If the Soviet Union chooses to unleash a general war, the free world must be in a position to stop the attack and strike back decisively and at once at the seats of Soviet power.

"We believe that the best path to peace is through building combined defences for the free world sufficiently powerful to insure disaster for the aggressors if they launch a new world war."

The $60,679,414,690 he asked comprises with $57,590,668,884 which has been enacted or recommended for the current fiscal year.

Can Equip 18 Divisions

Sketching the planned use of the money, Truman said:

"By the end of 1952, these funds will equip and maintain 18 divisions plus seperate combat and supporting units for the army, under these recommendations, will maintain the active fleet of 1,161 ships. The Marine corps will maintain 2 1-3 divisions and other supporting units. The air force will continue to build toward 95 wr wings.

Truman said:

"The funds I am today recommending will carry forward the rapid build-up in military strength upon which our nation has embarked when the aggression in Korea showed that the Soviet rulers were willing to push the world to the brink of a general war to get what they want.

"The major weakness in this threat is the military strength and military morale of the Soviet Union. The armed forces of the Soviet Union today far exceed any reasonable defence requirements. Its economy is harnessed to war production."

Iran Senate Meets To Take Over British Oil Firm

By ROBERT B. HEWETT

Tehran, Iran, April 30 (AP) — Anti-British Nationalist preparations today to take the final step that would give them control of Iran's government and authorization for immediate nationalization of the country's strategic oil industry.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi reluctantly approved appointment by the premier-designate, Mohammed Mossadegh, elderly leader of the minority National bloc which has headed the nationalization drive.

The Senate, meanwhile, prepared to meet tonight to complete action on the bill ousting the government he take over immediately the $500,000,000 British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, the country's only developed oil enterprise.

Senate approval of the legislation, unanimously voted by the Lower House (Majlis) Saturday, appeared a foregone conclusion.

Western observers, and many Iranian political leaders, view the premier-designate as a visionary without concrete plans for the operation of the complex oil company, backbone of the country's tottering economy.

They fear a sudden, unprepared-for take-over might slow oil production. It also could produce economic chaos which would open the way for Russian communism's interference both from within Iran and from Russia across the northern border.

If Parliament's action was reported to have enraged the conservative young Shah, the 31-year-old years has picked his premiers. He bowed to the demands, for the present anyway, and approved the appointment.

There was some fear today that Iran's underground communist Tudeh party might use nationalization as a pretext for May Day violence tomorrow. Observers, however, generally expect celebrations to be quiet.

Though he has ridden to power on the crest of the anti-British wave, the new premier is neither communist nor fellow traveller. He is head of the fight in parliament which blocked the award of oil concessions in the northern provinces to Russia.

Rather he is an anti-foreign nationalist who would be foreigners—Americans, British and Russians—kept out of Iranian affairs.

Batawa Child Sustains Broken Pelvis in Crash

Knocked over by a car as she played with other children in the roadway at Batawa, Barbara Helen ocorey, 1-2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nelocrym, is in Belleville General Hospital with a fractured pelvis and bruises on her face and head. Her condition was reported to be good.

The accident occurred late Saturday afternoon in the village of Batawa. The group of children ran out into the road as Maurice E. McGeagle, 23, of Frankford drove up the street. He stopped his car to allow the children to run back to the side of the road and then as he again started up felt a bump. He got out of his car to find the little girl lying in the roadway.

The injured girl's parents came to Canada from Europe only one year ago and had been here since the Batawa fire about one month. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Howard Tasker.

Corby Sales Staff Ends Three-Day Convention

The sales organization of the H. Corby Distillery, Ltd., concluded a highly successful annual three-day convention at the Hotel Quinte on Saturday.

The convention noted the largest attendance in years since the sales staff has been augmented since the 1950-set-together. Company representatives from Vancouver to the Maritimes were here.

Prominent among those present were Mr. W. Vezina, president of the company from Montreal, who addressed the convention on several important phases of business, and Mr. Wilfrid Laporte, distillery manager at Corbyville.

At the closing session on Saturday morning, special talks were given by Mr. James A. Boyle, who was chairman of the industrial division get-together. Also speaking were Messrs G. E. Roy, H. W. Howlett, A. E. Hahn and J. F. Buck.

During the convention memorial tribute was paid to the late Mr. T. Archbeugil, vice president of the company, who passed away a short time ago.

In opposite vein the company through president Vezina, presented Mr. T. Archbeugil, son of the late vice-president with a cheque for $100 to commemorate his 20th wedding anniversary.

County Home Inmate Returned To Institution

Found [illegible] last in an abandoned [illegible] near Roslin, by Provincial Constable Quinn, Hastings County Home inmate, who disappeared from that institution on April 6th, was returned to the county home yesterday by provincial police.

County Home superintendent Kenneth Yorke had reported the man missing from the home last Tuesday.

Sunday provincial police at Belleville were notified separately by two farmers east of Roslin that an elderly man had been seen around the deserted shack. O.P.P. Cpl. Murdo and Constable Cockburn investigated, and returned the man to the county home. Quinn, who comes from the Read district, was said by police to have been in need of medical attention.

Streams Flooded And Few Secured Quota of Trout

It all depends on what water you fished Saturday and Sunday whether you had any luck.

According to reports from the piscatorial lads who flushed the trout hauls were the weekend, those who took the streams had a sardine menu, while the boys, who tried their luck in the lakes ate golden brown trout.

Streams, in the north, were badly swollen, and in the majority of cases impossible to fish. Creeks were flooded to the brim with water flooding adjacent land for considerable distance.

Anglers were reported from such faraway places as Toronto, who tried their luck on the weekend.

Good hauls were reported from Wellenbourg Lake, Big Island Lee and Green Lake. One Belleville party brought home 13 beauties and one weighed 3¾ pounds from Green Lake. An American party fishing the same lake took 30, the trout ranging from 11 to 13½ inches.

G. L. Cooper and Dave Burrows of this city tried their luck north of Trenton and returned with a home 22 in measuring from 11½ inches to 14½ inches. The anglers fished in Rawdon.

The Belleville party of Jack Fleming and Bob Wannamaker enjoyed a grey trout breakfast Sunday morning having caught two 2½ pound beauties on Saturday evening.

But the boys who took to the streams had a different story. Veteran fishermen say the flooded condition of the streams will be apparent for quite some time, although continuance of today's weather conditions will help in reducing the overflow.

Shorthorn Bulls Will be Added To Quinte Unit

The Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association is planning to establish a number of Shorthorn bulls at the Quinte Unit, it has been reported. These bulls would be in addition to the four bulls type Shorthorns already at the Unit.

Plans to establish the dual purpose Shorthorns at the unit were discussed at a directors' meeting of the Peterborough and district dual-purpose Shorthorn Club held at the farm of Leonard Trotter, Madoc.

Dr. J. M. McLean, manager of the breeding unit, spoke to the group and outlined the requirements, stressing that it would be necessary to have at least 1,000 cows for breeding before it would be feasible to establish sires.

A committee was appointed and a canvas of the area will be made. Extension of the local barns would be necessary to provide accommodation for the additional bulls.

LC George Cole, PPCLI, Hikes 2800 Miles From Fort Lewis Doing Jaunt In Five Days

"According to an old military adage an army moves 'on its stomach.' While that may be true, but at some time, some one takes a different view.

Take the case of Lance Corporal George Cole, of Melrose, former member of the composing room staff of this newspaper, and his buddy, Private Ken Redmond, London, Ont.

The soldier boys are members of Canada's famous infantry regiment the Princess Pats Canadian Light Infantry, and were stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington. Shortly they will be transferred to another training depot to prepare for European duty.

But that is beside the point. The boys awakened one morning to discover they had fourteen days leave and a certain amount of the coin of the realm in their army jeans. The army, egad supplied them with sufficient money for a one way trip—the return to camp.

2,800 Miles Away

Approximately 2,800 miles away lay Toronto, Canada. Their money was not burning holes in their pockets. It was spring, and in Washington everything was beautiful. No stuffy trains or rumbling buses for them. They decided to make the long trek home by "rule of thumb" and succeeded.

Five days after leaving the fort the boys were beside their home fireside with the folks, after an adventurous motor car trip through the United States and Canada.

Had Little Trouble

According to Cole they had little or no trouble getting lifts from cheerful motorists. One chap travelling to Chicago from points west "hailed" them a day and a half, 1,200 miles. Other lifts were from 30 to 200 miles. They slept in motels, with the exception of the Chicago ride when they slept in the car or "spelled" the driver.

But in Canada, it is different. "Canadians" said Cole, "appear really do not want to give soldiers rides. Several passed me on the way from Toronto to Belleville until one kind-hearted lady came along and helped me out."

The other lift the boys got was between Detroit and Toronto. The driver was an American from Ohio.

Colorful Drive

The trip across the United States was colorful. In the west the boys saw a stage-coach in Cheyenne, Wyo. with its cavalcade of whooping cowpokes. The mountain scenery was glorious with waterfalls tumbling in cascades down steep slopes. They journeyed across the salt flats of Utah and the badlands of Wyoming.

"Life in the army is good", said George. "The food while good could stand a variation of menu. Pork chops for dinner and hamburgers for supper with a week varied by a ham or chicken dinner on Sundays can get monotonous".

Prices High

Prices in nearby towns like Tacoma are high. Chicken and steak dinners run $3 to $4. Tacoma is 90 cents. There are plenty of regulations theatres on the station, which features new shows and movies. The gals! There are lots of them who come to the weekly dances and not a few Canucks have led their American cousins to the altar. The boys are treated at six a.m. from comfortable army messes and pay $1.10. The messes are equipped with white sheets and pillow cases, changed weekly. Hospitals on the station supply practically everything the troops need from meals to donuts. Cigarets (Canadian brands) are a dime a package.

Fine American Hospitality

Sports of all kinds are played by the boys. In fact Cole got himself a job as a general umpire, looking after softball, volleyball and other forms of entertainment.

"The American hospitality is grand," said Cole. During the hitch-hiking trip residents of towns offered to take the boys into restaurants and buy them a drink or a dinner or both.

"Which the Canadians do that," said Belleville smiled Cole.

Undetermined Amount Men's And Women's Clothing Taken From Lipson Department Store

Using a hacksaw to cut heavy steel bars across an upstairs back window, thieves over the weekend entered the Lipson Department Store on Front Street and escaped with a still undetermined amount of men's and women's clothing.

First estimates indicated the value of missing clothing would run into several hundred dollars, although the loss might be greater. Men's suits and topcoats along with women's coats and men's windbreakers, were taken it was stated.

Police were unable to determine immediately whether the break-in occurred Saturday night or Sunday night. The loss was reported at this morning when the manager opened the store this morning.

City Population Increased 9,000 In Ten Years

In an informative address on the significance of Belleville as a business, industrial and residential community and the contribution made to the city by the Canadian National Railways, Freeman Burrows spoke to the members of the Y's Men's Club at their regular meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Pointing out the advantages which the citizens enjoy he referred to the good government, provision for employment in the developing industries, the beauty of the location, the ease of shopping, the standard of education and the new development in recreation. He suggested that citizens should be proud to publicize Belleville with such an endowment.

Population Increase

By the use of figures he indicated the growth of the city. The population had increased from 15,000 to 24,000 in ten years, adding 9,000 to 1941 census and 15,000 in 1950. Bank clearings rose to $100,000,000 annually and exchange receipts increased to seven million dollars. Industry employed 4,600 with a payroll of $10,000,000 and manufactured goods valued at $31,250,000. Based on present expansion of industries, Mr. Burrows indicated that further increases could be anticipated. Quoting planning authorities, he pointed out that efficient administration could support 25,000 population.

Reviewing the development of Belleville's commerce, from the early guilds and festivals to the present time the secretary manager referred to the progress and accomplishments of the Canadian Trade and Industrial Association, indicating that the purposes were four-fold, to fight communism, to advance the principle of free enterprise, to represent business men in Ottawa and to improve local committees, he referred to 640 affiliates across Canada with the C.T.I.A. since the organization was in 1865 and enjoying steady growth and improvement of service to the community and its members numbering 265 at the present time.

President in Chair

The speaker was introduced by Y's Man Wilfred Richardson and thanked by Y's Man Oscar Wagar. President Gerry Wallis was in the chair. Announcement was made that the Y's Men's Club met with the directors of the Y. M. C. A. in financing some much needed improvements in the filtration plant and heating and lighting systems for which the club will contribute nearly $1500. The heavy operating deficit with increased services and expenditures without any corresponding increase in donations had left no alternative if the needed services of the Y.M.C.A. were to be maintained.

Two Collisions Cause Heavy Damage to Cars

Failure of a motorist to establish control of her vehicle after turning a corner caused about $400 damage to the car of a Toronto district motorist over the weekend.

Arnold Bain, Scarborough Bluffs, had his car parked on Station Street in Bloomfield, when a resident turned the corner and collided with the parked vehicle, when she apparently failed to straighten out the car after making the turn.

Damage occurred to the Coleman and Bridge Street intersection. Cars driven by Elmer Adams, 165 Leighton Street, and Hubert Rogers, of Marmora, collided.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 30 (CP) — Trading was dull and irregular as the session progressed on the stock market today.

Prices showed little trend and changes were small.

Industrials drifted aimlessly with price changes mostly in small fractions. Papers showed a little support as they slowly moved ahead while liquors, banks and loans eased. Steels, utilities, agriculturals, constructions, foods, refining oils and manufacturing companies were about evenly mixed.

Golden Manitou and Quebec Manitou featured the mixed base metal section. Both climbed briskly in early trading, the former up 50 cents and the latter up 25 cents. Also ahead were United Keno Hill, Sherritt Gordon, Noranda and East Sullivan.

Consolidated Shelters dropped $1 and Waite Amulet, International Nickel, Labrador, Normetal and Falconbridge dipped fractions.

Western oils tended lower.

Golds barely moved. Few senior producers showed higher while secondary producers weakened slightly in mostly mixed and narrow trading.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Toronto, April 30—(CP)—Trading was dull at the Ontario stockyards today with steady prices for sessions of small receipts: cattle, 2,100; calves, 300; hogs 450; sheep and lambs, 60. There was no estimated holdover of 600 cattle from last week.

Medium to good weighty steers brought $33-$34 with a few choice steers at $35.25. Medium to good heifers sold at $31-$32.25 and cows at $23-$29.50.

Bulls were $29.50-$31; feed yearlings, $31-$34; good stockers, $31-$33.

Calves sold at $37-$38 for choice vealers and $30-$36 for common to medium.

Hog prices were not established.

Medium to good sheep brought $16-$22 and spring lot lambs at $28 a cwt.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

Buffalo, April 30 (AP)—Cattle 1,150, steers, heifers established. Demand active for dairy type cows, 28.00-32.50; cutters 22.50-25.00; fat yellow cows, 23.50-25.00; shelly and off-grade canners, 17.00; good weighty sausage bulls, 29.00-31.50; lightweight cutters, 25.00-27.00.

Calves 500; good and choice handyweight calves, 42.00-44.00; culls and strongweight bobs, 34.00-37.00.

Hogs 2,350; rail hogs, 23.25; top, Good and choice 170-220 lb. Nearby hogs, 22.00-22.50; sows not fully established.

Sheep and lambs 1,000; good to choice lambs, 39.50-40.00; good clipped lambs No. 1 pelt 34.25-35.00; fresh shorn 31.00-32.00 good wooled sheep, 22.00-24.00; choice shorn sheep, 19.00 down.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, April 30 (CP) —Produce prices quoted on the spot market here today:

Churning cream: No. 1 truck price: 60 cents; delivered 64 cents.

Creamery prints: First grade, 62-64 cents.

Prices showed a slight advance with light supplies at a strong egg market. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: grade A large 58-59; A medium 56-57; A pullet 53-54; grade B 51-52; grade C 41. Wholesale to retail: Grade A large 62; A medium 60-61; A pullet 56-58; grade B 56; grade C 47.

Butter unsalted: First grade (nominal) 59 cents; second grade not established.

Isn't it just common sense to deal where you're always sure of prompt, courteous attention and remember to try a local company for a local problem.

New RCAF School's First Class Graduates as Instructors in May

Trenton—(Special)— In keeping with the R.C.A.F.'s general expansion program, a school for flying instructors opened its doors here two weeks ago at the R.C.A.F. Station east of here. Formerly, flying instructors' courses were given at the Central Flying School here. Now, with between 50 and 60 pupils each eight months course, a school designed for the express purpose of training instructors has been created. Under the command of Squadron Leader D. (Scotty) Morrison, the Flying Instructors School will graduate its first class in May of this year.

Course number 11, which began training on April 12, will be the first course to have all of their lectures and flying instructions from the staff of the new school.

Members of course 11 are making their debut as pilots who have been out on "civvy" street since late 1945 and early 1946 and have returned to the service under the scheme whereby fully trained aircrew up to the age of 25 are being accepted in the air force.

Pilots from operational flying squadrons, bomber pilots, coast command transport, ex-instructors all branches of the wartime R.C.A.F. are well represented. Former flying instructors, Flight Lieutenants, are cheerfully doing the one stripe "Flying Officer" jobs as they work their way up to "aircrew" again.

Old uniforms have been dragged out and de-mothed, and with the exception of a few in the odd case actually been found to fit. Hats carefully studied and cleaned to rid them of that tired "operational" look are set at the regulation angle, ties on black socks and blue shirts has developed in the town.

R.C.A.F. Atmosphere

The "old songs" are again being heard in the mess snatches of conversation remin. lscent of an English pub "where I was upside down, nothing on the clock," "remember the time old Blackie pranged the CO's hike" . . . as the newcomers take full advantage of the Air Force atmosphere to renew old squaintances and strike up new ones.

Trenton, with residents of course 11 are a mere stones throw from the town. Residents of Trenton and Belleville, they have changed their daily routine very little except that now they head out of the house in military manner in the direction of the airport instead of to their previous civilian jobs.

Leonard Bishop, only member of the course from Belleville, was born and raised in Winnipeg. His brother was at one time the chief of detectives on the Winnipeg police force.

When Len joined the R.C.A.F. in 1939, he chose the trade of service police and served at Trenton 6B.D. and Mountain View before remustering to pilot in 1941. He graduated in early 1942 at Uplands and after instructing for a year at the General Reconnaissance School at Summerside, P.E.I., he did a tour of operational flying in the West Coast, was Operations Officer at Ailford Bay, and spent some time with 426 Transport Squadron before accepting his transfer to the Reserve in 1947.

Len, with his wife Frances, he decided to make Belleville his home. He was employed with the C.N.R. in that city until his reappointment last week. The Bishops have three children Karen, Denise and Christine.

Four Trentonians

From Trenton went Glen Rawson, Greg Pascoe, Allan Vanderwater and Douglas Campbell. The latter has returned to the air force in a capacity other than pilot.

Campbell, a civil service accountant with the Treasury office at Trenton since the end of the war, went through the ex-R.C.A.F. and ex-civilian status, who hail from all parts of Canada, from all walks in life, seem to have a common aim, a quiet desire to "get cracking at the job" and properly prepare themselves for the sternest turn in events.

TOURS MIDDLE EAST

Tel Aviv, Israel, April 30 — (Reuters) — Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, left here by air for London today after touring seven middle east countries. "I am convinced that what the people of Israel need and desire most is peace, peace with their neighbors and peace throughout the world," he said at the airport.

TV League Winds up Year With Banquet

Trenton. (Special.)— Belleville sportscaster Jack Devine condemned the use of imported players by cities and towns represented in the Trenton Valley League and recommended that each out of middle $50 annually to support bantam or minor baseball teams at the combined annual banquet of the Trent Valley Hockey and Softball leagues at the Queensway Hotel here, Friday night.

"It's a crime to have to rely on outsiders to play our hockey and baseball," he said.

"By sponsoring the youngsters," he said "the fathers and mothers would become keen fans and the combination only made way for a successful organization". Time, co-operation and leadership were Mr. Devine's recommendations for solving the problem.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Devine presented the award to the T.V.L.'s outstanding player of the year, Bert Blake, of Campbellford. Blake has ten years service with the league.

The banquet was attended by more than 225 sportsmen and invitant personages throughout the district.

Although out-of-town guests Reeve and Lionel Gerbrecher were unable to attend, the program presided over by chairmen ceremonies President Art Dean of the hockey division and Fidens Carl Austin of the softball division, proved most enjoyable and entertaining.

Prize Trophies

Fred Robertson, M.P., for Northumberland, praised the efforts of the league executive and the performance of the players who Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., presented the Hon. William A. Goodison trophy to the absent the donor.

Norm McCue accepted the Biddellow trophy on behalf the Trenton Softball club and George Gaulley the Mr. Cobley, who mentioned the Wooler team had held the 1947.

Boston Bruin hockey Clapper, of Peterborough, was present to hand his trophy to Harry "Slowball" Farr, of Trenton, Belleville, the most valuable played in the T.V.L. softball circuit last year.

Representing the R.C.A.F. Station at Trenton, Wing Cmdr. G. A. McKenna, D.F.C., expressed the hope that the Station would put a real team in the T.V.L. hockey loop next year.

Sportsman Jack Hartwick brought words of encouragement from the town of Wellington.

Jack Harris, of the Peterborough Brimms hockey club, winners of the T.V.L. championship for 1951, received the Tom Bata trophy, emblematic of the top honors, from league president, Art Duncan.

Bill Navin with impersonations and renditions on the Hammond organ provided the musical entertainment.

THREE CATCH 45 TROUT

Three Trenton trout fishermen will remember opening day 1951. Hop, skip and jump to Saturday, opening day of the Brighton-Campbellford highway Bill Westfall, Red Holsey and Allan Vanderwater bagged no less than 45 speckled beauties among them.

Hoping to catch fishermen of long standing, was surprised at the extent of the catch with the trio landing 15 fish in the creek. He found the fish filled with worms when he cleaned them.

For policeman Bill Westfall it was his first speckled trout trip. It is reported that he handled himself like a veteran, although a little unorthodox in style.

FIRE IN THE COUNTRY

The Trenton Fire Department went to the aid of G. F. Charbonneau on R.R. 6 off the Telephone Road on Saturday morning.

By the time the local brigade reached the scene the flames had been brought under control by the farmer and his family, although the back kitchen of the house was ruined.

WATER HIGHEST IN YEARS

For this time of year, the water level of the river and bay is the highest in years.

On Saturday, the bay, swelled by persistent rains, flooded over the ball park and all but isolated the pilers supporting the town bridge stood out of the water less than six inches.

Cheese Producers Meet in City To Prepare to Negotiate Price on Domestic Market

The executive of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association are meeting in Belleville today with representatives of the cheese trade who purchase cheese in the Province of Ontario. The purpose of the meeting is to prepare to negotiate a price for Ontario cheese that is sold domestically.

Last week the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board met with representatives of the British Ministry of Food and completed arrangements with them for the sale of what is estimated to be Ontario's surplus cheese for 1951 at a price which is considerably higher than the floor price announced by the government of Canada at Ottawa Friday.

While the Marketing Board would like to make a formal announcement as to quantity and price of the cheese sale to Great Britain, they prefer to hold off until they have completed negotiations on the domestic price. Under the price system under which the Marketing Board are going to operate are averaged, an announcement will be made as to the blended price the cheese will be settled for at the factory this coming season.

It is unfortunate that conditions over which the Marketing Board have no control have prevented them from making a price announcement earlier in the season. The Cheese Producers' Executive wish to assure their members that an announcement will be made at the earliest possible date, and solicit their co-operation in the meantime.

Arrangements are up to the present indicate that the cheese producers will expect a much more satisfactory deal than they received last year.

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY

Hamilton, April 30. (CP)—Police refused to answer a complaint that a man was trying to gain entry to a house early yesterday. They found trousers, windbreaker, shirt and underwear at the rear of the house. Further investigation revealed a 24-year-old Hamiltonian cavorting in an alley in the nude. He was charged with vagrancy.

Part of Total Program

Truman said the expansion in defence spending is part of a total program "to enable us and other free nations to save the world from slavery and more frightful global war."

"It is also a program to enable us, if necessary, to meet any thrust upon us, to halt the enemy's forces and strike back decisively at the centre of the enemy's power."

Truman said the military and other security programs now take about 20 per cent of the U.S. total output by the end of the net fiscal year (June 30, 19 By comparison, he said, 6 cent of total output was given security purposes at the peak the last world war.

"The level of preparedness which this budget is designed to create is one which is likely in our ability to maintain many years, if necessary."

PROMOTION IS IMPERATIVE

The use of several television "shorts" built around Canada's finest resort sections as an added lure to United States tourists is the second constructive move made by the Department of Travel and Publicity of the province this year. The "shorts" will be shown throughout the United States on home television screens, as part of a dedicated advertising campaign, and should pay large dividends.

The first good move by the department this year was the establishment of a system to grade provincial resorts for poor, good or excellent ratings. That, in itself, will go to better accommodation for visitors, and a higher average of return tourists. Now, if Canadians, and Canadian residents particularly, can learn to emphasize to Canadianism, a big step will have been taken along the road to bigger tourist revenues, for some years to come.

In 1950, Canada obtained $360,000,000 in tourist revenue. That is a good sum in any year, but considering the impact of the Korean war on the tourist business in the latter part of the 1950 season, it is more than good. It is exceptional, and now that the initial excitement has died down over the Korean debacle, it is reasonable to expect that this year's revenues will exceed those of 1950.

Contrary to what might be expected, the greatest part of that revenue did not go directly to the cash registers of hotels, tourist camps and resorts. That honor went to retail and department stores, whose goods brought in $145,000,000 of the tourist trade money. That is a full 40 per cent of the total spent in Canada during 1950 by tourists went into purchases other than direct payment for food and lodging while here. Second place in the revenue race went to the restaurants and food stores, which received $97,000,000, about 27 per cent of the total. The resort attractions, hotels and resorts, accounted for $44,000,000, and service stations and garages showed a fantastic revenue of more than $31,000,000.

Theatres accounted for 2% of the remainder, with railways being a big unit, taking more than $28,000,000. Actual fares paid for transportation amounted to $18,000,000, and refreshments, roadside purchases, novelties and souvenirs accounted for the rest.

There is no argument that the tourist business is not a prime industry in Canada now. We are fortunate that so much of the country is still in enough of a virgin state to attract the great hordes from the United States, and from other countries. Hence, any move that will benefit the tourist business in Ontario will be welcomed by business men in ayy types of commerce. The initiation by the tourist department this year is a good move. It made to draw the customers into the province may help operators realise that the day has come when the "sit-back-and-wait" attitude is out of style and out of keeping with the times. That is not to say that the tourist industry, like any other, is not altogether self-sustaining. It must be promoted, as best as the province knows how.

FREEDOM IS NEVER EXTINGUISHED

The limits to which a police state will go to suppress the release of news has been well illustrated in Czechoslovakia and Argentina within the past few weeks. In Argentina, the government has muzzled the opposition newspaper La Prensa, and the disappearance last night past month of four Czechoslovakians who were working for the Associated Press. They capped their performance this week by arresting William N. Oatis, an American who headed the A.P. bureau in Prague.

Mr. Oatis, as expected, has been charged with hostile activities and spreading secret information. The government announced that it has witnesses to prove the charges against him. That is to be expected, too, for it is the usual method of a police state into testifying to their government. The announcement from communist headquarters indicates that Oatis will face a communist trial. He has little chance of asserting any right to freedom in such a court.

In South America, one of the greatest voices of freedom has been stilled by the iron hand of a dictator. La Prensa has been handed over to the government of Mr. Peron by legislative order, and comment in the free world on this action been condoned. Bloody riots boiled over in the streets as La Prensa workers attempted to re-enter their plant and were clubbed and beaten by state police. Construing for months by government-directed restraining order, La Prensa was finally shut down, and an objective news voice was silenced.

What Peron will learn, as will the communists in Europe, that no freedom can ever be killed outright. It may be temporarily doused, but it smoulders and breaks out again when least expected.

Who dares not walk the street alone,
A man afraid with all his might.
The only life he cares to own—
His own.

He has no friend that he can trust,
He lives in every hour in fear
Of those he rules, for he is just Suspicion never leaves his mind.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It takes these public relations tomed to that institution, it was not much of a step to the governmental demand for every penny detailed accounting of tax returns and expenses. Somewhere about the same time, organized labor began to develop or employ personnel wholly capable of doing little jobs of auditing and estimating. And instead of a strike consisting of a rumpus outside the gates of the factory, the first thing management knew of the strike was the arrival, at the doors of the board room, of a committee of labor representatives bearing brief cases full of statistics, estimates and comparisons, all carefully prepared to be the private domain of internal management.

The growth of the public relations profession is the measure of the decline of privacy in enterprise. About the best thing industry can do today is put its best foot forward. Why, one of the paths to the presidency of a business today is via the public relations branch.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

OUR TOWN

By JACK SCOTT

GEORGE AND OTHERS

Oh, my, did you catch George Drew squirming and dodging on that "Press Conference" broadcast the other night? Now there is a man who has worked up in a firm voice to the United States. And if, for one, hope Mike will keep right on proving that we Canadians are really big boys now. Must say I was terribly disappointed in the calibre of questioning by the parliamentary correspondents. Maybe Austin Cross was right when he suggested in Liberty Magazine recently that the Ottawa boys are getting too comfy in their cosy towel. Might be an idea for some papers to replace a few of the chaps with some hard-nosed police reporters who are more interested in news than in politics. Even the usually barb - tongued Dillon O'Leary sounded as if he could have been the product of interrogating George's flow of Ubangi talk.

Speaking of newspapers, I've been reading with interest the report of a meeting in Paris of the International Organization of Journalists. The delegates from behind have given a delightful report of the large number of rest homes and sanatoria provided by the Russian newspapers, Izvestia has a perfectly grand sanatorium at the Black Sea and a fine rest home sanatorium and a rest home. It must get fattening, for I hear they are wrapping news all in . . . and the lone delegate from Britain reported a little lamely in general that I feel sure was written with the Beaverbrook papers in mind:

You cannot hope
To bribe or twist,
Thank God! the British journalist.

But seeing what the ruin will do
Unbribed, there's no occasion to.

If you want to go sour in Britain these days you might visit the Beaverbrook's Express or Evening Standard during an election. They do everything but actually clobber the Labor candidates over the head.

I am something less than enamored of Mr. Drew as a pressmen's auxillary to the art gallery in trooping through some of the more ghastly horrors under the guise of studying "architectural" developments. Can't Excel fashioned snooping to me. Why is it, I wonder, that whenever a culture becomes decadent it immediately brings out the snob and class-consciousness in the people? At those women have nothing better to do with their time why don't they take up the study and study the "architectural" developments in the East End? Might even see them on the society page, of course, but they might feel something more worthwhile.

UN Members Call For Limited Embargo on China

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

The ability of the Chinese communists to wage their massive offensive against the United Nations in Korea has been substantiated a move among members to stop a limited embargo on essential war material for China.

Such an economical blockade was one of General MacArthur's recommendations on which he said the joint chiefs of staff agreed. Only a naval blockade, of course, be calculated to have far-reaching effects on China's ability to fight.

Coincident with this U. N. development, Sen. MacArthur has been urging a "positive and realistic" Korean policy even though stirring the ire of the slaughter of America's sons.

Embargo Grounds

The United States already has clamped an embargo on fuel, China, and is persuading among other western members of the U. N. to follow suit. Some of them, notably British and France, have been finding difficulties in taking this action, however, owing to their great commitments in the far east.

However, while proceeding with caution, British already has inaugurated the licensing of rubber shipments from Malaya to Russia and other communist areas from the re-piling this vital war material. So far as concerns U. S. and British opinion, I feel that the time has arrived for them, gladly, to agree that they should British leaders explain that their position is affected by their commitments in Malaya and Hong Kong and the fact that they are dependent on the far east. They prefer to discuss such an important matter with Washington in the atmosphere of quiet before taking drastic steps.

India, a member of the commonwealth, is a case in hand. She is in the middle of a famine and the reason is that she lies up against red China, which "might be expected to be forced to step up" her into the communist fold in the process. New Delhi doesn't want to challenge red China at this juncture.

Pakistan, British Malaya, Ceylon, Singapore, and the crown colony of Hong Kong are among other places in the picture. Naturally trade figures in the picture, but at stake also is the defensive importance of strategic bases such as Singapore and Hong Kong. And the Chinese need no reminder that Britain takes the attitude that she doesn't want to embark on such a project as the embargo unless it can be made effective. She feels that the "good offices" committee of the U. N. should first persuade red China to stop fighting.

The trouble with such a program is that U. N. soldiers in Korea as well be sacrificing their lives while "persuasion" is tried. Even if sanctions are voted by the U. N. it will take some time before they can be made effective.

The great need now for speed in such positive action as would be represented in the application of sanctions.

Personal Health Talks

NO FOOL LIKE AN OLD FOOL

Man is a fool, says Dr. Harry Engelder, medical director of a life insurance company, to drink alcoholic beverages before he is 40. He is a fool to drink after he is forty.

Of course, the doctor adds, the daily intake of whisky, wine, etc., should never exceed three ounces.

I quote Dr. Ungerleider's view from a newspaper item and if the newspaper reporter didn't quote the doctor correctly it will merely go to show that medical societies should not be so eager to get newspaper publicity for members or guests who sound off at their meetings.

Example of medical societies and their eagerness for newspaper publicity. I must say there has been a tremendous change in the attitude of the profession towards newspaper advertising — remember of a doctor's name in a newspaper article? It is the most effective kind of advertising — in the past 20 years. Formerly doctors who presented at the clinical luncheons at that sort of publicity and medical societies frowned upon the practice and admitting a newspaper man to their meetings. But, now, they would see to it personally of stereotyped propaganda all the big medical societies peddle to the newspaper when they have their portant meetings — pages and pages of stuff with clinical names of many of the doctors who have managed to get on the program, together with the photographs of what the doctors are going to say — just in case they don't think it might rate a place on the front page.

Dr. Ungerleider is right, I think, as far as he goes, but he doesn't go far enough. I could quarrel with him if he would make it sixty instead of forty. Forty is too young for most men to realize that they have responsibilities of a sin, it should be one's function for him to indulge in any form of narcotic.

In calling alcoholic beverages liquid narcotics I'm not just being snotty or ascetic. It is a scientific fact that alcohol in any form acts as a depressant on the nerve and higher brain centres from first to last, and not merely as a stimulant or tonic. Don't take my word for this — consult any doctor.

Don't take my word for this — consult any doctor.

Unless the man of sixty is dying faster than a man should, I remember we all begin to die the instant we attain the peak of our development, for this is the way of physical degeneration — we will very likely feel fine and dandy, and when one feels like that why dull one's enjoyment of life with a spectre?

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Tea Cannisters Have Hairy Ears

Please advise how to remove hairs from inside the nostrils and ears. (L. L.)

Answer—Cut them with blunt scissors.

Half a Lemon

Does half a lemon (juice) in hot water cause one's teeth to decay? Are there any special benefits to teeth from drinking lemon juice or a half a lemon in water on rising? (C. M.)

Answer—1. No. 2. No. Let us hastily change the subject. The thought of taking lemon juice is about as repugnant as downing a spoonful of mashed potatoes.

Poor Fellow Had X-Ray Picture Taken

X-ray shows a calcareous deposit on lower margin of glenoid in right shoulder. What is your advice? (J. H. L.)

Answer—File it under Follies of Youth. Last time I had my X-rays taken the technician was good for a deposit in my right shoulder. Whether it is still there, who cares? At the time the X-ray was for comparison with fractured left shoulder. Anyway, the calcareous deposit was left by bursitis a year or two before.

High Blood Pressure

What should a person do when he has high blood pressure? (H. H. L.)

Answer—Consult a physician. But even if he can offer nothing reason is, leave blood pressure to the judgment of the physician. Incidentally, get V. D. (for which send 25c and stamped self-addressed envelope) and tell what I think a layman should know about heart and artery troubles.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ALONE

A human being should decide early in life to get on very good terms with himself, and to be willing to spend more time with himself than with any other person in the world, no matter how many others he may have as friends and permanent contact. That's why we are all equipped with so many friends and why we have a split personality of ours.

We are gradually served by our memory, our experiences, and by all that we have heard, read, or seen. A normal person does not go swarm our mind, like bees that love their home nest but are not at home when we are, or what we have done, however, we remain throughout life very much alone! That's why we should get well acquainted with all that we can bear and enjoy.

Many are those who are about us, but success surrounds us on every side, but when sorrow or defeat confronts us we are quite alone. We must then manage as best we can — alone. That, however, is the test of life and its challenge to character. Many of the great of this earth were lonely men and women even in the ways be so. That brave soldier out there in Korea in the mud and cold, even with his heroic buddies about him, still remains very much alone. So are his wife and children at home.

Even so there are compensations. I think of John Muir in his mountains, alone for months at a time, but happy in the friendship of the birds and the trees, and ever noting the poetry and beauty of the world. I think of the book of W. H. Hudson, of John Burroughs, and other wild life writers, who were in love with themselves and of Nature when most alone.

Stephen Douglas named one of his books "Alone", for he spent much of his time wandering out those momentary contacts with people and scenes about which he could write so entertainingly and revelingly. The world is full of such, even though we do not write about it. Theirs is a silent diary.

People who write letters are lonely and so express themselves to let in a little light of understanding that might otherwise be lost. They are compensated by their thoughtfulness and selflessness. We need never fear that such an act is wasted, for, like the bread cast upon the waters, it comes back in a thousand ways.

Strength for the Day

THE NATURE OF RETRIBUTION

Retribution is not something arbitrarily imposed upon an individual who sins. Rather it is what he himself is built into the universe and operates automatically. If we do evil, evil will eventually overcome us. The only way we can stem the pursuing power of retribution is by repentance and restitution.

Recently I talked with a very old man whose mind goes back with remarkable clarity for more than 75 years. He told me about a boyhood chum of his who long ago persuaded several of his friends to go into business with him. Later he conspired with a large corporation to freeze out his colleagues in exchange for a good came to the latter part of his life with a fortune of about two million dollars.

But he died penniless. At the very last, this man who had sold out his friends felt the cold hand of retribution laid on his shoulder, and found himself in turn sold out by a crowd of rascals. They swindled him out of the last cent he possessed. A kindly coroner permitted the broken man to live in the room, the man had formerly occupied as a showplace. And here, with the doors locked and shades drawn, the man who had betrayed others came to a miserable end, forgotten by most people and displaced by the few who remembered that he was living.

Retribution is lived every day in more dramatic and amazing than

TWEED

Council Agrees To Bear Share Of Dams' Survey

Tweed (Special) — Tweed village council at a special meeting last week approved of an expenditure of approximately $162.50 as their share of the cost of a survey to determine the cost of two proposed dams at the south end of Stoco Lake. The dams were recommended in the Moira River Conservation Report.

Total cost of the survey would be about $650 of which Tweed village and the township of Hungerford would pay 25 per cent.

Two dams at the outlets of Stoco Lake would provide a constant water level for the lake. No action has been taken by other municipalities with respect to survey for three other dams on the Moira as proposed in the conservation report. One of the proposed dams was for just north of Belleville.

Mrs. G. McFaul, DDGM Pays Official Visit

Tweed — On Thursday night, Mrs. Gladys McFaul of Wellington Chapter, Prince Edward County and District Deputy Grand Matron of District No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star, paid her official visit to Tweed Chapter, No. 146, O.E.S., Tweed.

After the opening ceremonies, the D.D.G.M. was introduced and welcomed by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Mildred McCarey. Mrs. Stella Wonnacott, Mrs. May MacFarland and Mrs. Fleming were also introduced. The Past Worthy Matrons and Patrons were welcomed by the Worthy Matron as well as visitors from Wellington, Belleville, Napanee, Stirling, Havelock and Madoc.

Two Members Received

The work of the Chapter was exemplified in an efficient manner by the Worthy Matron, Mildred McCarey and Worthy Patron Arthur McCarey, and their officers when two new members were received into the Chapter, who were highly commended by the District Deputy Grand Matron, Mrs. McFaul, who also gave an interesting and inspiring address on "The Order of the Eastern Star," its teachings and principles which will leave pleasant memories of her official visit to Tweed Chapter.

Assistant Matron, Winnie Elliott presented Mr. McFaul with a beautiful gift.

Short addresses were given by a number of the ladies from the different chapters. Spring flowers were used for decorations in the Chapter room.

A pleasant hour with refreshments being served was followed by the closing of the Chapter.

Champion Pontiacs Receive Awards At Banquet, Dance

Bancroft — Hockey fans and well wishers by the score attended the banquet and dance held in honor of Bancroft Pontiacs, champions of the Hastings-Addington Hockey League, in the Canadian Legion and Community Halls on Wednesday night.

George "Red" Sullivan, the Peterborough boy who graduated from the city minor leagues to the Hershey Bears to the Boston Bruins was the guest speaker. In a short talk he told the gathering of his experiences in his first year in professional hockey.

Leather wind-breakers were presented to the team, and to coach Don Simpson by the committee that represented Bancroft Lions Club, the town council, the Canadian Legion, and the general hockey public. Fred Delyea and Milton Brough, the team manager and club president, received initialled leather wallets from the same group.

Trophies Awarded

Two trophies were awarded during the ceremonies that followed the banquet. Acting on behalf of Sam Curry of The Tweed News, Len. Taylor officially presented the league championship trophy to team captain Joe Kavanagh, and Red Sullivan gave the Chad Stoughton individual award for the outstanding playing and sportsmanship to Norman Brough. Coach Don Simpson replied for the hockey players.

During the proceedings congratulatory greetings were given by Reeve Theodore Tynan; Bob Inkster of Tamworth, president of the Hastings-Addington Hockey League; John Goodkey, president of Bancroft Canadian Legion and Jack Tynan, president of the Bancroft Lions Club and also chairman of North Hastings Community Centre Commission.

Co-chairman for the affair were Everett Schram and Bill Hutton. Completing the evening was a dance under the same auspices and managed by two other committee men, Bruce Turner and Brian Murray. Mrs. H. Murray was the winner of the gold watch that was raffled in connection with the evening's entertainment.

Makes Success Of Growing Earthworms

Victoria — (CP) — Miss K. I. Johnson has "married" her way into a business—the worm-raising business.

Worms mean big money in California and after a visit to that state to learn the importance of worms to soil fertility the young woman decided to try her hand at it.

She imported 1,500 worms from California and placed them in shallow earth-filled boxes at Bayview Farm on Rocky Point, Vancouver Island. Every three weeks she collects the egg capsules and puts them in more boxes.

That's about all there is to it, she explained. But California worms, long and thin, are considered a better type than the local variety. She plans some of the latter, too, for the fishermen's trade.

Miss Johnson has been in business since last February, when she bought the farm.

With bids as a starter she hopes to be able to develop the more usual aspects of farming. She aims to raise a crop of wheat this summer in order to make her own chicken feed.

Apart from the sale of local worms for bait, Miss Johnson has bigger hopes for her development of the California-type worm. The big type is said to be the best for use in aerating and generally improving soil on farms and in vegetable and flower gardens.

Miss M. E. Kerr Visits Soroptimist Club

Miss Margaret E. Kerr, of Montreal, director of Eastern Canadian Region American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs was guest of the Belleville Club on Saturday evening at a dinner meeting at the Town Room.

In her address, Miss Kerr told the club that 50 years ago there were two professions open to women. At the present time, there are 450 occupations and professions available.

At the close of this year, Soroptimism is 30 years of age. There are clubs in nearly every country in the world. It is the largest of all women's service clubs, is non-sectarian and has no racial distinctions. Canada has 37 clubs.

During the program, Mrs. Burgess sang a group of three songs which was most pleasing. She was accompanied by Miss Leona Reid at the piano.

Miss Gladys MacDonald, acting president, was in charge of the meeting.

After the meeting closed the hostess served refreshments.

ST. PAUL'S W.A.

The April meeting of St. Paul's W.A. was held at Thurlow Afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. G. Winters. The president, Mrs. W. D. Lavender was in the chair and there was a fair attendance of members. Canon J. M. Hovenkamp opened the meeting and gave the reading of the Scripture lesson.

The secretary, Mrs. Ken Reid, read the report of the April meeting of the Diocesan Board held in Kingston. Mrs. W. M. Regan presented the monthly financial statement. Mrs. R. Frost reported for the Dorcas work.

Some contributions were handed in for the sale to be dispatched in June. It was decided to hold an afternoon tea, bake-sale and bazaar at the Rectory on May 31st.

Mrs. Winters again offered her home for the May meeting. The study of "The Moslem World" was taken by Canon J. M. Hovenkamp. Refreshments were served.

308 EMPLOYEES FIRED

Washington, April 30—(CP)— The U.S. government has fired 308 employees on disloyalty charges since 1947. The loyalty review board of the civil service commission reported that in addition, 9,108 employees quit while their cases were under investigation or under study.

FRESH WAVE OF ARRESTS

Taipeh, Formosa, April 30— The Chinese Nationalists have reported a fresh wave of arrests in red Shanghai. A Formosan government paper, Hsin Sheng Pao said 50,000 persons were arrested in three days. Scores of the reports were given as travellers who just escaped from Shanghai

BEAUTY

Eye shadows contribute to glamor

To tint the eyelids successfully, you have to be a make-up artist. But attempt it unless you have been shown how to accomplish this tricky act by a capable operator. Or get beauty tips at a make-up bar. It doesn't cost a thin dime. All you have to do is to tote away some of the fragrant loot. Nearly all department stores in large cities have a little room set aside where the customers can sit before mirrors and try out powder, rouge, shadows and lipstick. It's fun making faces, specially pretty faces.

One fact must be kept in mind; a light, delicate film brightens the eyes, creates the intriguing, mysterious look; too much can make your eyes look like two burnt holes in a blanket. The color should be dark at the line of the lashes, do a fade away as it ascends into the eyebrow. It should stop just under the upper border of the eye socket. Difficulty is in knowing just where to stop at the far end of application; certainly it should not continue beyond the outer terminus of the eyebrow.

If it trails too far outward, it will make the eyes look narrow, yet it should not stop short. Considering all this talk about "doe eyes" maybe that is the effect you will want. Like all make-up problems, the decision can only come through experimentation.

Soft focus on lipstick and cut out rough silhouette

Selecting a ravishing color may prove confusing to the girl who is blundering out on this adventure. The tint must be flattering; otherwise it does not fulfill the purpose for which it was compounded. Rhus is the big favorite with blondes and brunettes both. The red-eyed girl must be careful that the tone does not conflict with the color of her eyes. If the natural color is a faint blue, a slightly darker shadow will form a pretty frame for them.

Hazel eyes call for a delicate olive-green shadow. Deeper greens are grand on the redhead, who usually has a delicate, transparent skin. With her flaming thatch she must proceed slowly and carefully so that no make-up detail will detract from her lovely halo.

Mauve is the happy selection for the white-haired contingent. You will find every shadow, but pass them by; they are likely to make the face look dull. Bronze is pretty on the girl with copper-colored hair. Purple shadows are doubtful. For a time metallic tones were popular with those step-shadders who would always be first when a vogue starts.

So the countenance will not look lithographic, soft pedal on color, and omit rouge alto-

MARIO ... in his distinctive feature about FOOD ... What's Cooking?

In a world of new ideas and new inventions potatoes aren't a very dramatic subject. A new potato may not seem like news. But when it is realized that nearly a half billion bushels of potatoes are grown in the United States yearly, then a new type of juber looms as something important.

The new potato is called the Cherokee, and is hailed because it has a high resistance to both blight and scale disease. In the middle west, for instance, farmers for some time, have been unable to grow Irish cobblers because of the presence of scab.

The Cherokee is fine for baking or French frying because of its light, mealy texture. It has a smooth skin, and has produced a high yield per acre in tests so far.

Grated potatoes and sour cream are combined in today's recipe for potato fritters. To be hot, crisp and brown they should be fried just before serving.

Potato and Sour Cream Fritters
Serves 6

Raw potatoes
1-3 [illegible] sour cream
3 [illegible] double action baking
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1 medium size onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 eggs
Vegetable fat

Peel and grate enough raw potatoes to make 1 cup when potatoes are squeezed dry.

Mix drained, squeezed potatoes with sour cream, flour, baking powder, salt and pepper. Grate the onion into the mixture. Add parsley. Mix well.

Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Add yolks to potato mixture and beat well.

Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter.

Heat a kettle of deep fat to 370 degrees or hot enough to brown a piece of day-old bread in 60 seconds. Drop the batter by tablespoons into hot fat. Brown on both sides. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serve potato fritters with additional sour cream at table.

Change Trimming on Spring Suits to Cut Expenses

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London — (CP) — For many British women, the steady rise in prices means no new suit this spring.

This, however, does not dismay the fashion-conscious. Close study of up-to-date couture styles and fashion hints shows that last year's "tapered" look is not to be removed from this year's "drainpipe" styles.

In fact, clever fingers, pretty buttons and contrast materials soon give an up-to-the-minute look to any of last year's straight-skirted suits and dresses.

Spring styles recently displayed in both London and Paris show many innovations that are easily copied. These are often individual to the designer concerned and are as distinctive as a signature.

Take for instance four buttons-tabs folding backwards from a long V neckline and threaded with a fringed scarf-tie. This design is by Charles Creed. Two oblique "tongue" tabs buttoned across the front of a dress and threaded by a long scarf attachment that flies freely from the belt demand show the touch of Jacques Fath.

Peter Russell uses squared button-tabs to nip in the waist of a classic suit. Dior gives button-tab breast pockets to a plain little bolero, while Jacques Fath uses a similar line to gather the bodice and hip fulness of a strapless evening gown.

For Fresh Look

Hardy Amies decorates a tweed suit with neat tab epaulettes at the sleeve top and Creed slashes a wide raglan sleeve, turns it back in a deep cuff and decorates the sleeve—not the cuff — with one outside button. This gives a new length to the sleeve. It is neither full length nor three-quarters, but roughly seven-eighth.

One of the easiest renovations is the waistcoat look. This gives a clean freshness to dark suits and is easily achieved by a yard of white pique and a little patience.

Take any dark classic suit, turn back the jacket flaps and outline with white, elongate the lapels where possible and edge with white, add a white waistcoat — blouse or insert and you have the Paquin look. Smartness is heightened by attractive buttons, cunningly-placed at jacket waist and on the flaps and waistcoat.

Many London women are already adding white to black and navy suits. Combined with a dark hat decorated in white, white gloves, dark shoes and handbag, this promises to be the most popular choice of the season.

For dark dresses there are many chic little adornments that give both individuality and femininity. To a plain black dress with scooped-out neckline a small vest or tiny parma violets lends charm to the neckline. If accessories are also in black, a Parisian look is given by a wide hat dressed in parma violets combined with violet colored gloves and severely - plain block bag and shoes.

Either Trail or Pavement

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THIS is a good, stalwart shoe, and it is made of cotton, nylon mesh and rubber — all washable as a pair of hose. Good looking accessory for playclothes and sportswear, it is by virtue of color or choice and the graceful instep curve of the wedge sole a good companion for usual daytime dresses which we wear in the town or the country, when workaday duties or chores are taking over slime.

The wide bit above the sole in back makes for a firm clutch and no easy-heel -slipping; the one buckled strap is set where it looks and feels the best, and holds the foot. To sum up, this is not a sloppy shoe that might injure the feet, although easy; it has a good arch, and it gives support.

English Company Guards Treasure of Royal Horses

Montreal — (CP) — A throne worth $30,000,000, ropes of pearl six feet long and chests overflowing with jewels are not very startling to Hon. George Charles Hayter Chubb of London.

They aren't his, of course, but Chubb's does keep a lock and safe company, has the job of guarding them among other most priceless treasures of the world's monarchs.

The throne is the fabulous peacock- throne of Persia and it is in a burglar-proof room designed by Mr. Chubb's company.

"The floor is literally strewn with expensive baubles, such as, gold swords," he said during a recent visit here. "Chests are scattered about, spilling precious stones. There is even a globe of the world two feet in diameter, made of solid gold."

Guarding such a treasure is an old story in the Chubb family. When his great-great-grandfather won a $500 prize for designing a good lock, King George III was so taken with it he sent all the royal business to him. Since then business has snowballed.

Right now Mr. Chubb is concerned with the British crown jewels to be displayed at the Festival of Britain. The family guarded the valuables at the 1851 festival, among them the Koh-I-Noor diamond.

Many Safeguards

To guard the magnificent diamond, Chubb's built a gigantic "parrot cage" around the gem. At night when the display was closed, a spring was touched and the diamond sank into a massive iron box which in turn disappeared into a pedestal of solid masonry.

Chubb's will be doing a similar job with the British crown jewels during the Festival of Britain this year.

The most unusual job the firm had to tackle was an order from an Indian maharajah for strong boxes for the jewelry of his 17 wives. Chubb's made the boxes, each with an individual lock and key. The women were delighted with this bit of privacy but they underrated the ingenuity of the maharajah and Chubb's. The maharajah had a master key fitting all 17 boxes.

Eight Killed As Bus Hits Concrete Wall

Weirton, W.Va., April 30 (AP) —A runaway bus pitched down a hill, jumped a trench and crashed into a concrete wall, taking the lives of 10 persons.

Police said the bus-cab, the driver, George Krajna, 35, cried to his chief occupant, passenger Mary Kanz, as everybody: We're going to crash!"

He was dead when pulled from the twisted wreckage of the bus.

Of the 35 persons aboard, 49 were injured. At least three, including a child, were reported in critical condition.

Police said there were no eye-witnesses and no indication of how fast the bus was running, but one of the uninjured passengers, 14-year-old George Sundie, said:

"We must have been going 60 before we hit that wall."

Korean Sidelights

Tokyo, April 30 (Reuters) — Lt.-Gen. Sir Horace Robertson, commander-in-chief of Commonwealth forces in Japan, today sent a message to the United States ambassador in Korea, John Muccio, thanking him for his condolences on the heavy Commonwealth losses since the Chinese launched their spring offensive last week.

"We are proud to be associated with forces in this great, vital struggle for world peace and are most appreciative of the splendid co-operation which exists," Robertson said.

Tokyo, April 30 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Sigeru Yoshida called on Supreme Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today. Then cerred for 30 minutes. Nature of the talk was not disclosed.

East Central Front, Korea, April 30 (AP) — Unidentified North Korean soldier surrendered to the allies today.

He said the communists made him dig graves when he was supposed to be a medic.

U.S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, April 30 (AP) — The current lull offensive in Korea will have no effect on rotation of American soldiers back returning to the United States, say Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

Rangoon, Burma, April 30 (Reuters)—An advance party of officers who will lead the Ethiopian contingent in Korea arrived here on their way to the front.

The Ethiopian contribution is a battalion, of more than 1,000 men.

Hudson Bay Military Camp Snug Station in Wild Country

Fort Churchill, Man. —(CP)— From the windows of this northern military camp you can see seals romping in the Hudson Bay ice in spring, or white whales coming up for air in summer.

Migrating caribou sometimes delay the landing of aircraft. Silver foxes have been seen to sniff at plane tires. And on occasion polar bears and wolves invade the camp site.

Bitter cold in winter, musket, mosquitoes and biting flies in summer make outdoor life anything but pleasant. There's nowhere to go outside camp except the small community of Fort Churchill five miles away.

"You get bushed here after a while," is a frequent complaint.

But the army has done a lot to make off-duty hours comfortable and entertaining. Millions of dollars have been spent on modern housing and recreational facilities.

Population of the camp, including civilian research staff and construction crews, ranges from 1,500 to 2,000. The armed services, learning how to live and fight in the Arctic, hold frequent tests of men and equipment.

There are short "Tot" families and they live in apartments of up to six rooms. Each contains a modern kitchen of the kind you see in the magazines. There are refrigerators, electric stoves, built-in cupboards.

All Amenities

There is no distinction between officers and other ranks in the matter of quarters. Rank is scaled according to ability to pay. A married private, for instance, pays $44 a month for his apartment, including utilities.

For recreation there are sports activities, a library, canteens, coffee shops, a 642-seat theatre, bowling alley and commissary. The camp broadcasting station has regular programs of music, plays, news.

Seven units of the army's institutes have a monthly turnover of $100,000. Lt.-Col. N.N. Gemmell explained this includes a beer supply

Prices in the coffee shop are on a par with those in Winnipeg, $640 each for the sole, but married personnel find food prices high. Freight rates are to blame. It costs more to ship a sack of potatoes over the Hudson Bay Railway than the spuds cost in the first place.

Children in the camp community drink powdered milk, but adults use whole fresh milk.

The children prefer powdered milk because they are used to it, and fresh milk doesn't always come through," explained major C. R. H. Porteous. When available, the fresh variety sells for 30 cents a quart.

Accusations Pile Up in Advance Of Crime Report

Washington, April 30 (AP) — Hints of sensational accusations are piling up in advance of the scheduled release tomorrow of the Senate Crimes Committee's report on its investigation of racketeering in the United States.

Senator Charles Tobey (R-N.H.) said yesterday he expects "several prominent men in New York" to be indicted as a result of the committee's revelations. "I hope and pray so, for they're guilty as hell, he added.

And the committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, indicated that the report may carry some sharp criticism of former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Tobey and other committee members appeared on a television program (NBC) which also produced the news that a prisoner's proof of the forthcoming report has been obtained.

This disclosure, by chairman Estes Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.), brought a blistering report from Herbert S. Allen, Washington newspaper correspondent. Allen, author of a series of stories based on the committee report, said he told Kefauver later, the impression prevailed that "anybody who made that statement is a liar."

The newspaper man said he got his copy of the crime report "unsolicited and from a legitimate committee source."

Allen said Kefauver told him he had no intention of charging him with theft, and apologized for the remark. Allen said he and the committee chairman parted friends.

Halley, appearing on a separate television program denied published reports that the committee's findings have been "toned down" insofar as they concern O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer, who testified before the investigators during their New York hearings, now is ambassador to Mexico. He has denied any improper conduct in running New York affairs.

Catering to U.N. Exacting Job Calling for a Menu Diplomat

United Nations, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Maybe you think things are complicated in your corner. But just consider John Boese, chief steward of the United Nations restaurants, who some times serve as many as 10,000 meals a day.

This is a man who has problems:

Boese is full of sympathy with the U. N. aim of building a peaceful world. But there are times when he wishes he had been born on Mars.

One day, standing at his post in the U. N. cafeteria, some Chinese workers complained the food was so under-seasoned they could not even taste it. A few minutes later, some Australians protested the food was so hotly seasoned they could hardly eat it.

That is just one of the incidents that keep Boese busy keeping the peace.

Since the U. N. now is functioning in three places (because New York headquarters are not yet entirely finished), his job is triply complex.

10,000 Meals a Day

When U. N. is operating full blast during general assembly sessions, the 10,000 meals served daily to delegates, secretariat workers and visitors, are divided between the cafeterias and delegates dining rooms at Lake Success and Flushing and the soup-and-sandwich bar in the New York skyscraper headquarters.

U. N. food is cooked American style with plenty of care for other tastes and religious taboos. In U. N. restaurants there are always several meats chosen from, plenty of fish for Catholics, and a table of assorted sauces and spices, so that people can pepper things to suit themselves.

Any time he steps into the cafeteria, Boese's work is cut out for him. Russians don't like baked potatoes. Somebody from a country whose currency is devalued thinks two cents is an awful price to pay for a pat of butter. One day, potentate from the middle east came in with his six wives. He seated the wives at one table, filled seven trays with food and gave each wife her tray.

"And all those six wives sat there, contented and friendly as you please," says Boese, "and ate just what he gave them. Then in a wistful voice, "I wish I knew that guy's secret."

The Story of Gibraltar

(From The New York Times)

The Rock of Gibraltar turned up mentions in two widely separated places a few days ago—on the floor of the House of Commons and in the newspaper of Madrid.

The facts of Gibraltar life that concerned the honorable members of Commons was the well-being of the monkery resident on the Rock, a type of Barbary ape that the legend says will be there when the Romans. One member inquired with some apprehension, whether these monkeys are in good health, whether a daily substitence allowance of fourpence per monkey is sufficient for them to thrive on and whether, perchance, their numbers have increased.

About the same day the Madrid newspapers were blasting away once more at Britain for holding on to the Rock of Gibraltar. The Rock, the papers said, is Spanish and the British should be off. The phrases the papers have used at this time may have varied somewhat in villification, but the attack is not new—it has been going on for decades.

That British flag on that 1,000-foot rock on the western end of the Mediterranean, with Spanish soil just beyond it, has been like something stuck in the Spanish throat for two centuries.

The Rock, monkeys and all, has been held by the British since 1704, when a British admiral, acting on his own responsibility during the War of the Spanish Succession, took it. Spain, in its history, grabbed it. Instead of reprimanding him, Queen Anne added it to the list of the king of British possessions. The British saw it for what it was: as it covers the western approaches of the Middle Sea it is one of the key points in the world. The Moors held it in 711 and, like the British a thousand years later, fortified it as heavily as they could. The Spanish took it back in 1309. The Moors took it back in 1333. The Spanish got it back in 1462 and hired the best engineers of Europe to make it impregnable, yet the British, with Dutch help, took it easily in the summer of 1704. The Spanish besieged it in the autumn and again in 1726, when that time they have always hoped to get it back.

In 1779, while Britain was busy with troubles, the Spanish set out to besiege the place in earnest. The siege lasted, with more or less continuing intensity, for four years. It was rather a series of watchful attempts to cut off all supplies from the Rock along with occasional bombardment and sharp combat to rout the British out.

Two or three times British ships managed to get through to relieve the Rock and to bring supplies in. The place is besieged. At other times there were near starvation, misery and a high death rate. In 1782, with the garrison still holding out, the Spanish planned another combined attack, with specially built ships, "fortified six to eight feet thick with green timber—bolted with cork, iron and raw hides . . . and bombproof on top." On the north, the Spanish side, were rows of new batteries. In the first three days the attack the British gunners on the Rock could do nothing with the green wood, the cork iron and raw hides. With time on their hands, the artillerymen had done some experimenting and now began to answer the Spanish fire with one of their own inventions—red-hot shot. That saved the British on the Rock. By noon of the next day everyone of the Spanish ships was blown up or burned.

Since then, and particularly in recent decades, the British have fortified the Rock with about as much metal as it could carry hidden deep in its limestone caves and rarely seen by any visitors. Aliens need a permit to live on the Rock. The governor of the Crown colony has about 25,000 people to care for, along with many Spaniards who come from the "Lines," the Spanish towns just beyond the Rock, as day laborers and go home at night. The governor also has to look out for those Gibraltar monkeys.

For what was probably back of that query on the apes' health on the floor of the Commons was ancient superstition, and an old belief for that to turn up. There has long been a legend that as long as the apes remain on the Rock the British will keep possession of it.

The political secretary, Mr. Griffiths handled the query with fitting dignity and competence. The monkeys, he reported with appropriate solemn mien, are doing well on the apes' health on the floor of the Commons was an excellent superstition, and an old belief for that to turn up. There has long been a legend that as long as the apes remain on the Rock the British will keep possession of it.

A name to endure
Saskatchewan

TWO FOAMING STREAMS rush down from the Rockies: An ever-broadening flood, each seeking majestically eastward. Joined together, they make the mighty river which gave a Canadian province the enduring name Saskatchewan . . . "Swift Current."

Swift, too, has been Saskatchewan's advance in Canada's breathtaking progress. Where vast herds of buffalo once darkened the plains, now mile upon mile of russet wheatfields stretch away to the far horizon. In the short space of a lifetime a lonely prairie has been transformed into a province of bustling activity.

One of the world's largest wheat granaries, Saskatchewan is today developing her great potential resources of timber, oil and agriculture. The skill and energetic people of Saskatchewan, who have already made such brilliant progress, prepare now for an ever greater part in Canada's future.

Achievement Day Held by Girls' Club of County

Homemaking club members in Hastings county held their annual achievement day at the community hall in Madoc. The project for the year was "Indoor Accessories" for the Club Girls' living room.

The Achievement Day display was a colorful one with tastefully dressed girls showing their completed articles and chatting about and plan the color scheme of accessories for a room.

Judging of the exhibits were presented and commented on by Marilyn Parks of Cooper-Remington, Toronto. Seamen of Ivanhoe, Shirley Elliott of Wooler, Huntingdon; Shirley Stirling, Wallbridge, Bertrand, Plainfield; Lois Mills, Chatterton, Frankford; Janet Wallbridge; Lamoine Post, Eldorado, and Dorothy Mills, West Huntingdon.

Sometown girls presented a demonstration of bowling. Members of this bowling, while West Huntingdon and Plainfield clubs gave skits on "Indoor Accessories for the Club Girls' Bedroom."

Several girls from each club received certificates of achievement for the completion of two, four, eight or nine projects. County honor certificates for completing six club projects included Eleanor Wright, Carol Fox, Roberta Sager, Jean Moore, Jennifer Young, Lois Cooke and Joan Chapman. Lois Mills, Chatterton, received her provincial honor certificate for having completed 12 projects.

Gen. MacArthur To Review Parade In New York

New York, April 30 — (AP) — Gen. MacArthur, after triumphant visits to Chicago and Milwaukee, today will review New York's annual Loyalty Day parade featuring an estimated 500,000 marchers.

The general will head the huge Fifth Avenue procession in an automobile from the starting point (1 p.m. EST) at 46th Street to the official reviewing stand at 67th Street.

There he will be presented with a medal by Charles C. Rolfe, commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsor of the parade since 1948 to counteract left-wing May-Day activities.

Last night, about 200 persons watched MacArthur's plane land at International Airport after a flight from Milwaukee, his former home, where he was honored yesterday.

The Milwaukee celebration followed the huge reception given MacArthur in Chicago Thursday.

CAMPBELLSFORD

Quick Action Saves Transport From Destruction

Campbellford—The sharp eyes of a service station attendant on No. 30 Highway on the outskirts of Campbellford averted what might have been a serious fire on Friday morning. Bruce Gratton, who is employed at a service station on the highway noticed a large Smith Transport truck travelling south on the roadway with flames shooting from under the engine and cab. The driver was unaware of the fire in the vehicle and braked to a stop, when Gratton flagged him down. Gratton had a pail of water to douse the flames, but as they were caused by oil, he and the driver of the transport used a fire extinguisher carried in the truck instead. The fire was quickly extinguished and no damage resulted. The air filter, filled with oil, had come loose from the carburetor of the vehicle and oil from the filter poured onto the hot manifold and ran back along the frame.

David Bowers, who owns the service station, and who operates at east, was driving north near the station at the time and also noticed the flames under the approaching truck. He blinked his lights for the truck to stop and prepared to pull across the highway if necessary, but his assistant further up the road flagged the vehicle down.

In Prince Edward Island, all thoughts are concentrated now on the opening of the fish and lobster season. Entire populations of town and villages throng the docks where the lobster pots are piled high and where busy fishermen move among their boats and nets. Above, Priscilla Arpenault points to a spot where the pots are to be placed as May Polver, right and Barbara Gallant look on. Left, part of the season's first herring catch is handled by Stanley Glenn and Gussie Barley of Summerside. Nets have been laid close to shore, but soon the small vessels will be venturing far out to sea. — Central Press Canadian Photos.

Ready to Extend Welcoming Hand To Immigrants

Ottawa, April 30. (CP)—Citizenship Minister Harris said Friday there is no question about the desirability of extending a warm welcoming hand to new immigrants, but at airport points of entry such ceremonies are not always possible.

The minister told the Commons that immigrants were examined overseas and again at the point of entry in Canada. The second check on arrival was necessary "because it is in Canada that landing or entry is granted and the department has experienced impersonation."

He did not elaborate on this point.

Mr. Harris made the statement in reply to complaints by John Fisher, CBC commentator, that physical conditions at Moncton airport were "deplorable", that immigrants were delayed at Montreal and that departmental personnel there lacked an adequate knowledge of foreign languages to deal with newcomers from foreign lands.

Mr. Fisher, in articles printed in the Toronto Telegram, said that the "very human factors of excitement or emotion were apparently not considered" by departmental personnel in dealing with immigrants he accompanied recently on a plane from overseas.

Dealing with each of Mr. Fisher's points, Mr. Harris said that there is only one immigration officer at Moncton, where incoming planes do not usually land unless diverted. Better facilities there in the form of a fine waiting room are being constructed.

None of the staff at Montreal recalled any difficulty during the interview of passengers on the flight made by Mr. Fisher. As for linguistic qualifications, the staff there could, in addition to English, converse in 13 languages and had a "working knowledge" of Russian and Dutch.

Nineteen Persons Die Violently During Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

Nineteen persons died violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the weekend. Fifteen were from Ontario and four from Quebec.

Drownings claimed the lives of nine persons, eight died in traffic mishaps, a five-year-old boy was fatally injured when crushed by a boulder and a man was killed when hit by a train on a level crossing.

The husband, son, grandson and brother-in-law of Kathleen Stokes, organist with the "Happy Gang," well-known Canadian entertainers, were drowned Saturday in the Musquash River near Musquashuna, Ont.

The body of Frank Stokes, 55, husband of Kathleen Stokes, was found Sunday. Still missing are Russell Stokes, 20, his son, Frank Stokes, 2 1-2, and Douglas Stokes brother of Frank, Sr.

Two others were drowned Sunday in Lake Simcoe, 40 miles north of Toronto. Clarence Hilts, 19, of Baldwin, Ont., and Mervin Woodhurst of Toronto drowned when their boat overturned.

Thomas Francis MacDonald, 27, a native of Newfoundland, was found dead on No. 7 Highway near Norwood, Ont., Sunday. Police said he was struck by a car that did not stop.

Douglas Thompson, 32, was killed Saturday when the truck he was driving went out of control on a hill and plunged over an embankment near Haliburton, Ont. A 23-year-old farmer from the Kingston area, Ian Robb was fatally injured Saturday in a similar accident when his car crashed into a tree on Highway No. 3 near Adolphustown, Ont.

Fatally Injured

A Toronto man, Paul Sararas, 49, was fatally injured Saturday when his car struck a Toronto streetcar. Everett Weaver, 35, of Coboconk, Ont., was dead when police pulled him from his burning vehicle after a two-car collision near Lindsay, Ont.

The body of Willard O'Brien, 29, of Sudbury, was recovered from nearby Lake Ramsay Sunday night. Police said drowning was apparent cause of death.

JAP TRAIN WRECK CAUSES 99 DEATHS

Rescue workers probe through the charred and twisted wreckage of a train which burst into flames near Yokohama, Japan, bringing death to 99 persons, three of whom were U.S. soldiers. A fallen overhead wire was believed to have set fire to the wooden train. — Central Press Canadian.

O'Brien had not been seen at his morning house since Saturday.

Duncen MacPherson 24, of Lancaster, Ont., died from injuries received when his car went out of control and hit a hydro pole at Cornwall Saturday.

Five-year-old Fairin Prescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Prescott of Temiskaming, Ont., was fatally injured Saturday when crushed by a boulder.

Janis Stauhh, 79-year-old farmer, Saturday was killed by a train on a level-crossing six miles east of Welland, Ont.

In Quebec, blind Maurice de Meyere, 34, of Ste. Martine, near Montreal, was drowned when he fell into the Chateauguay River while fishing from the bank.

Gerard Provencher, 34 of Montreal, was drowned when his automobile went off a pier into the St. Lawrence River.

Killed in traffic accidents were Danielle Charteri, 6, and Jacques Desbaies, 2, both of Valleyfield, Que.

CAR DID NOT STOP

Norwood, Ont., April 30. (CP)—Thomas Francis McDonald, 27, a native of Newfoundland working in this area about 20 miles east of Peterborough, was killed when struck by a car Sunday on No. 7 Highway near here. Police said driver of the car did not stop.

SOFTBALL AHOY!

The schedules of the sections of the Belleville Commercial Softball League were released over the weekend by President Don Lee, in the senior or "A" setup five teams will go to the fore with the opening game and all the trimmings scheduled for the 24th at the Alemite Field.

* * *

The teams include Corby Cream, Howe and Hagerman, Trenton, Point Anne and Ramsay Paints, Glenroys and the Howes and Hays will open the season at 6:45 on May 24th with city, league and other luminaries present. Ramsay Paints and Point Anne back up the day following with the Trenton-Anne outing initial action against the Glenroys on Saturday May 25th.

* * *

Trenton and Point Anne will, regardless of their end-season standing in the league go on into the Intermediate B and C playdowns, with the city representatives going into Intermediate "A".

* * *

Five teams have entered the "AA" section of the loop and these include Bakelite, Belleville Motor Car, Aven Jewellers, Northern Electric and Grimes Combines. Incidentally Bobby Green, starry young southpaw, will see action this season in a Bakelite uniform.

* * *

This section throws up the seasonal curtain on May 25th at Alemite Field with Aven meeting the Electrics. Bakelites and Cleaners start action on Monday, May 28 and Belleville motors get their baptism of fire on Wed. May 30 against Avons.

* * *

We are not aware of the balance of power in either loop, but its rumored one or two squads are particularly strong in the pitching department. We know that an outstanding southpaw hurling star arrived in the city today and may take up residence here but we're not giving away any confidences. In any event, it'll be be hoped that the strength of the squads in both sections will be fairly equitable. Softball fans, like those which support any other sport, are not in favor of lop-sided scores. Runs, yes, but not too many at that. Action is the keyword and pitching more likely to put the visitors on the bat-office activities than a team floundering more or less helplessly on a diamond, field, or hockey ice surface before the marked superiority of the opposition. The fans don't like it. It is not fair to them, the game nor the players.

Brooks, Boston and St. Louis In Three-Way Tie For First Place in National League

BY JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It is no longer a question of where the Giants will finish. Flabbergasted fans now are asking will they finish?

Thunderstruck by the New Yorkers' 11th straight defeat, 6-3 loss to Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday, the fans are wondering what manager Leo Durocher's next move might be. The frantic pilot has tried everything to snap the losing skein.

The club, picked by a majority of experts opening day to win the National League pennant, is wallowing in the basement 7½ games off the pace.

It was but until the sixth inning that the Dodgers broke up a 2-2 deadlock with a three-run uprising to pave the way for their fifth straight victory over New York this season.

Larry Jansen was the loser. A pair of home-run balls to Duke Snider and another to Gil Hodges led to his undoing.

That uprising left the Brooks in a three-way tie for first place with Boston and St. Louis.

The Braves divided a doubleheader with Philadelphia. They won the opener, although held to two hits by Jocko Thompson. The Phils overcame a six-run first inning lead to win the nightcap, 10-9.

Harry Brecheen held the Cubs to six hits in Chicago to win his second game for the Cardinals 8-3. Enos Slaughter drove in three St. Louis runs with a double and two singles.

Pirates Win and Tie

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati 9-8 in the 13-inning opener of a doubleheader. One of the runs was Ralph Kiner's second homer, the second game ended in a 1-1 10-inning tie called because of the Pennsylvania curfew law.

The Browns stunned Cleveland Indians by sweeping both ends of their doubleheader in St. Louis 6-3 and 13-11 to drop the tribe into a third place tie, dropped to three St. Louis runs with a double and two singles.

The Browns stunned Cleveland Indians by sweeping both ends of their doubleheader in St. Louis 6-3 and 13-11 to drop the tribe into a third place tie, dropped to three St. Louis runs with a double and two singles.

The Senators backed into their share of the lead, accepting a 4-0 licking by the Yankees in New York. Cleveland and Washington each has won seven and lost three.

Ed Lopat pitched the shutout and was credited with his third victory without defeat. The Yankees made seven of Bob Kuzava, including a three-run homer by Phil Rizzuto.

Boston Red Sox tallied four runs in the 13th to outblast the Athletics 12-8 in the first game of a twinbill in Philadelphia. The Sunday forced the cancellation of the nightcap after Sox grabbed 2-0 first inning lead.

Ted Williams' fourth homer of the season climaxed the inning rally. It was the 10th straight loss for the Athletics.

Ken Holcombe pitched a five-hitter at Chicago White Sox shutout the Tigers 4-0 in Detroit. Hal Newhouser was the loser.

Owen Sound Mercs Beaten First Time On Home Ice

Owen Sound, Ont., April 30 (CP)— A three-goal splurge in the third period Saturday night gave Fort Frances Canadians a 6-4 victory over Owen Sound Mercurys and tied their best-of-seven Allan Cup final at a game apiece.

Mercurys also lost the services of left winger Allan Forslund, who broke his wrist in a third-period collision with Morris Sapjwy of Canadians. Forslund will be out for the rest of the series.

Coach Jack Markle of Mercurys blamed his defeat on the loss, but was optimistic about the third game tonight.

In Fort Frances camp at Hepworth, 15 miles northwest of here Coach Bud Jarvis was anything but bashful after watching his charges square the series.

Quick Treatment For Sore Arms Is Discovered

Washington, April 30 (AP) — A Washington specialist says he believes he has found a quick treatment for sore arms, the bane of baseball.

Development of such a technique to relieve the ailment, technically known as bursitis, is reported to get a crippled pitcher back in shape for duty sometimes in five days.

A reporter heard about the treatment from outside sources and asked for information on it from Dr. Everett Gordon, widely-known orthopedic surgeon who worked it out.

Dr. Gordon said that in 40 cases treated so far 90 per cent have been cured in five days. The remaining 10 per cent also were relieved, but it took a few days longer.

Dr. Gordon's treatment calls for injection of a drug in a tiny nerve centre in the neck, known as the stellate ganglion. There is one such ganglion on each side of the neck, each affecting the arm on that side.

The ganglion controls the blood flow and there lies the secret of the treatment.

One trouble in bursitis, Dr. Gordon explained, is that delicate vessels open up and the soreness in an arm vanishes within five days, usually, and the calcium deposits disappear a few days later.

ACCIDENT FACTOR

Misuse or improper care of hand tools is the cause of 10 to 15 per cent of all industrial accidents.

Young Heavies May Soon Take Over Hero Role

New York, April 30 (AP) — This may be the last year for the old guard in the heavyweight boxing division.

Champion Ezzard Charles is preparing a second sweep through the row of ancients and before 1951 is over, Joey Maxim, Jersey Joe Walcott, Lee Savold and Joe Louis may be through as contenders for boxing's top prown.

But waiting patiently in the background is a group of young heavies, timing their moves for 1952. By July of that year, Charles will be 31 and may be ready for the plucking.

At least that's what the managers of Rex Layne, Rocky Marciano and Roland La Starza are hoping for. Of this trio of hopefuls, only Layne has voiced a real desire for a shot at Charles this year. He may get it, too. The others are biding their time.

Charles, eager to break Louis' record of 23 title defences, first will take care of his waiting list of greyheads.

The champ has signed to meet Maxim in Chicago Stadium May 30. If he is not satisfied, the Cincinnati Negro will take on Walcott and either Savold or Louis.

A Walcott-Charles fight is in the works for Pittsburgh this July. Savold and Louis may battle it out this June for the right to face Charles in September.

Charles should brush aside the old timers. Then the youngsters will have to make their bids. Layne, Marciano and La Starza all may be ready by then and the fireworks could brighten up the heavyweight scene. In addition to the three, other challenger possibilities include Clarence Henry and Bob Baker, two young Negroes who rank in the first 10; Harry Mattnews and Irish Bob Murphy, a pair of colorful light-heavyweight contenders; "Kid" England's, Don Dockstt and Jack Gardner. The latter is the British heavyweight champion but Dockell, the European heavyweight king appears a much-better prospect.

Of the whole crew, Layne at this writing, appears to have the best chance to win the title. Only 23 and built sturdily, the Utah slugger has the punch to go with his flaming will to win. His record shows 30 victories, one lost, and two draws.

Montreal Royals Win Twin Bill From Rochester

(By The Associated Press)

Montreal Royals have the stake of their International League pennant in Joe Black, husky Negro hurler who is making his debut in organized baseball with the Brooklyn Dodgers' International League affiliate this year.

Black posted a three - hit 1-0 shutout against the defending champion Rochester Red Wings yesterday in the second game of a doubleheader. The pennant-leading Royals also won the opener 5-3 behind a two-hit pitching of Phil Podbielan.

Black also won his own game by driving in the only run with a seventh-inning single.

Both hits off Podbielan in the opener also came in the nine. Rookie Val Ver Wiel batted home with one on in the third and recruit Roy Hiedt sent the fourth run in the fourth. George Shuba launched the game-tying homer with a mate on base in the eighth off Bill Reed.

The runner - up Syracuse Chiefs blanked Ottawa Giants 15-0. Jack Griffith limited the Giants to six hits in picking up his second victory.

Cerdan Gillenwater and Pete Riggan led the victorious attack with home runs. Gillenwater and Lavra Baker knocked in three runs each and Riggan four.

Buffalo Bisons and Springfield Cubs divided a doubleheader. The Cubs took the opener 6-3 behind the six-hit pitching of Sam Padgett and the Bisons won the nightcap 7-1 on a three-hitter by Ernie Silverman.

Toronto and Baltimore also split a twin bill. The Orioles won the first game 7-5 and the Maple Leafs the finale 8-4. Homers by Russ Kerns and Marv Rickert featured the Oriole triumph. Rod Riesle started the Leaf run homer for the Leafs in the ninth, but it wasn't enough.

The Leafs scored all of their runs in the nightcap in the second inning. Harris Grant accounted for three of the five runs with a homer. Rickert and pinch - hitter Johnny Mayo homered for the Orioles.

Sarnia Sailors Win Junior B Championship

Sarnia, April 30—(CP)—Sarnia Sailors captured the Ontario Hockey Association—Junior B championship Saturday with a 5-2 victory over Weston Dukes. Sarnia won the best-of-seven series 4-1.

Ed Houlihan led the winners with two goals, both coming in the third period. Dukes fell back in the last session after they led 2-0 at the end of the first period and 2-1 at the end of the second. The first period opened with Weston scoring the first marker being scored by Reid for Weston, with only five seconds remaining in the period and while Horner was in the penalty box for Sarnia.

In the second period Jago, playing his first game of the series after recuperating from a broken ankle, scored early for Weston. Philpott got the only other marker which was for Sarnia.

The third period was all Sarnias and one which was fast becoming chilly. The first two goals of the period were scored by McElroy and Houlihan while Ingram was sitting out a Weston penalty. The other three Sarnia goals were counted by Houlihan, Dunham and Savage. Fifteen minor penalties were handed out during the game.

Germany Entered For First Time In Tennis Draw

(By The Canadian Press)

The first complete draw in the European zone of Davis Cup competition starts this week with Germany entered for the first time in 11 years.

Germany's first opponent for the Germans will be Yugoslavia. They will meet at Zagreb, a Yugoslav resort centre, starting Friday.

The zone champion Sweden is the second round on a bye, the German-Yugoslav singles should be the outstanding battle of the early matches.

Other first-round opponents are Luxembourg vs. Switzerland at Lausanne, starting Thursday; Brazil vs. Finland at Helsinki starting Friday, Monaco vs. The Netherlands at Monte Carlo starting Thursday and Egypt vs. Norway at Oslo starting May 12.

With young Sven Davidson setting the pace, Sweden is generally favored to repeat as the zone champion.

Haliburton Huskies defeated Bracebridge Red Shirts 8-3 at Lindsay Saturday night to tie the Ontario Rural Hockey Association senior championship best-of-five series 2-2. Deciding game will be played Tuesday night at Haspeler.

Veteran Glen Dart was the winners' big gun with four goals.

Carmen Boccaccio of Hamilton, with a nine-game total of 2,241, Saturday copped the grand aggregate title in the 36th annual tournament of the Canadian Bowling Association at Toronto.

Jiggers Hot Shots of Hamilton paced the 63 teams competing for top honors with a total of 2,839.

At Halifax, Shirley Gay, one of Nova Scotia's two girl drivers, joined the men drivers when Parker Yeo to win the class "E" event at the Halifax Kinsmen Horse Club races Saturday.

The 19-year-old girl's father, Alex, came second.

Jim Lavery, the Calgary comet, stole the show at the Drake relays Saturday at Des Moines, Ia., running the anchor leg on three victorious Drake University relay teams to be voted the outstanding performer of the meet.

The 20-year-old Canadian, a junior at Drake, anchored his team to triumphs in the 440, 880 and mile relays. The Sun School speedster set a meet record of 1:23.5 in winning their 880-yard relay preliminary. Their time in the 880 final was 1:23.9.

Roger Bannister, the lanky and easy-loping Englishman, ran away from America's great mile combination of Fred Wilt and Don Gehrmann Saturday at Philadelphia.

Bannister won the Benjamin Franklin mile at the Penn relays in 4:08.2, 15 yards ahead of Wilt. Gehrmann was another 15 yards back. Bannister, 22, ran his last lap in an incredible 56.7 seconds.

At Columbus, O., a fire levelled a 36-stall barn at Beulah Park race track Sunday, killing 22 thoroughbred racing horses and a stable pony. Three others, severely burned, had to be destroyed later.

Police held two stable hands for investigation. No charges were filed.

Firemen estimated the damage was $50,000 in lost horses, $8,000 for the building, and $3,000 in equipment.

At San Mateo, Calif., Moonrush, ridden by William Boland-maker, won the $60,000-added Bay Meadows Handicap in the mud Saturday. Mamaroneck second and Be Fleet was third.

Overtime Goal Wins For Soo

Ste. Marie, Ont., April 30—(CP)—An overtime goal by Walter Zuke Saturday night gave the Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds the edge in their best-of-three exhibition series with the Nanaimo Clippers.

Zuke's goal came in a speedy overtime session made necessary after the Hoosiers had chalked up a convincing 6-2 decision over the Clippers in regulation time. The winner decided to play a sudden-death session to decide the winner. Nanaimo had won a 6-4 decision Thursday night while the opening contest ended in a 3-3 tie.

Zuke's goal was his second of the night. Other Sault scorers were Ronnie Lay, two; Ted Two Johnny Ottoland, Joe Bumbacco and Jimmy Manisero.

Geordie Miller and Leslie Landmark were the Nanaimo marksmen.

Valleyfield Meets Toronto Monarchs For Alexander Cup

Montreal, April 30 —(CP)— Valleyfield Braves moved into their first Canadian Senior hockey final series by trouncing Sydney Millionaires 7-1 here last night in the sixth game of a best-of-seven semi-final series for the Alexander Cup.

Jiggers Hot Shots of Hamilton paced the 63 teams competing for top honors with a total of 2,839.

The series will then move to Toronto for two games, Wednesday and Friday nights. Dates for the fourth and remaining games if necessary will be announced later.

Sydney, who entered the series with the Quebec Senior League champions at even money, were out-classed last night when the Braves provided 9,053 fans with a near-perfect mixture of defensive and offensive hockey.

The Marillimers at no time threatened the Braves, but came up with their best showing in the first and second period. They fell apart in the last stanza and offered only a half-hearted offensive.

Jack Irvine was the big gun for the winners with a pair of goals. The others were sniped by Andre Gervais, Rosaire (Kit-Kat) Joannette, Jean Paul Bissillion, Jackie Schmidt and Paul Larivee.

Sydney's sole marker came in the second period on a screened shot by Tom Rockey.

Winnipeg Wins Berth in Finals For Memorial Cup

By AL VICKERY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, April 30—(CP)— Winnipeg Monarchs have won a berth into the Memorial Cup finals against Barrie Flyers.

Monarchs whipped Regina Pats 5-3 here Saturday night in a sudden-death contest for the western junior hockey title after the best-of-seven series had wound up with the teams even at three games apiece with one tied.

The best-of-seven dominion final will open here Tuesday with the second game slated for Winnipeg Thursday. The third contest will be held at Brandon Saturday, with the clubs returning to Winnipeg for the next two games May 7 and 8. Dates and venue of other games if needed will be announced later, James Dunn of Winnipeg, playoff chairman, said.

Captain Elliott Chorley received the Abbott Cup, emblematic of western supremacy, after the final game from R. Vick Johnson, trustee.

Coach Murray Armstrong of Regina said Monarchs deserved their win on the night's play and wished first medal Victor Monson the best in the finals.

"This was a good series, Waller; I hope you go all the way," he said.

Monson put his third line of Ross Parke, Ronnie Barr and Gerry Janes against Pats' first string of Gord Cowan, Eddie Litzenberger and Bun Smith. And the strategy paid off. The usually-high-scoring trio failed to garner a point.

Used as Penalty Killers'

Parke and Barr have been used consistently all season to kill off time when Monarchs were shorthanded. Janes, 18-year-old juvenile, was brought up in the fifth game of the Waller final series to fill out a week spot in one wing.

Besides turning in a solid defensive chore, Parke found time to pump home three goals to pace Monarch's attack. Chorley, who had found the going tough through the series after a brilliant regular schedule, scored twice. Other goals went to Jim Earle, Dave Trainor and Bill Burega.

Pats' marksmen were Harvey Schmidt, Gerry Richardson, Warren Dowie and Tony Schneider.

Monarchs lost the services of speedy wing man Laurie Mitchell who suffered a knee injury in the first period. Earle and Chorley rotated on the second line in Mitchell's absence.

Winnipeg held a 24-21 edge in shots. Pats drew nine of the 17 penalties. Nine of the 13 goals were unassisted efforts.

Barrie Flyers Defeat Quebec In Seventh Game

Barrie, Ont., April 30 (CP) — Barrie's bustling Flyers, newly-crowned Eastern Canada junior hockey champions, received a rousing sendoff early today when they left for Winnipeg and a crack at the national title.

The Flyers, who dumped Quebec's favored Citadelles 8-3 Saturday night at Toronto, now take on Winnipeg Monarchs in a best-of-seven Memorial Cup final series starting Tuesday night.

Cheers and good wishes from swarms of spectators from this hockey-mad town of 10,000 accompanied them as the boarded the train. But the send-off couldn't be compared with the din that went on well into Saturday morning after the Flyers returned with the eastern title.

The horn-honking and cheering continued until 4 a.m.

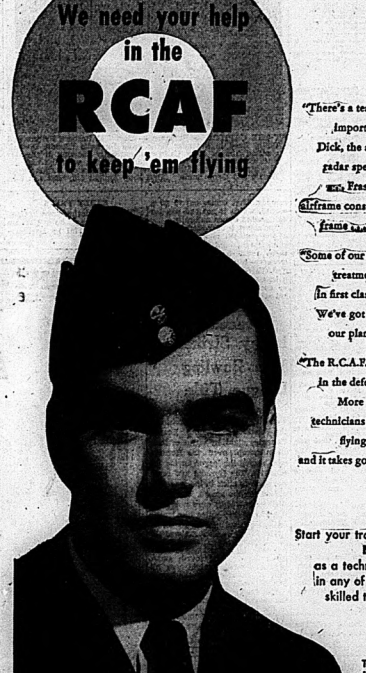
Saturday's victory gave Barrie the best-of-seven semi-final series 4-3. The bitterly - fought games featured arguments, refusals to play on Barrie ice and 11th-hour orders from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The roaring crowd of 13,237 witnessed a Barrie rally which gave them six goals in the last two periods after a 2-2 first-period tie. Spectacular goaltending by Lorne Howes stopped cold the last period attack of Quebec.

Other Barrie marksmen were Don Emms, Jim Morrison, Jack White and Bill Hagan. Quebec scorers were Bernie Guay, Rainer Makis and Guay Gervais.

The squabbles over the site of the games—Byrne objected to shifting contests from Toronto to Barrie—were recalled briefly last night when coach Hap Emms of the Flyers made a tentative suggestion that two of the final games be shifted to Toronto.

He said if Monarchs didn't want to come east "then that will be the end of the suggestion." Later at Winnipeg, Jim Dunn, second vice-president of the CAHA and in charge of the western playoffs, said all Memorial Cup games "definitely will be played in the west as scheduled."



ART WEST MAY COACH

Toronto, April 30 (CP)—Ex-former Argonaut star backfielder, Art West will likely be appointed head coach of the Rainey Meech Football Club, it was reported Sunday night. An Argo farm team, the Beaches last season captured the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union title.

Or course you're proud of your children. They're your biggest investment. Your brightest hope for the future. Helping them to plan a happy, successful life can be your most rewarding hobby.

The Junior Estate policy gives your boy or girl a head-start. The annual premium when the child is young is very low. At age 21 the amount of the policy increases to five times as much without increase in premiums. It provides cash values for a special need or opportunity or for extra education.

Here's a policy you'll perhaps get more "kick" out of than any other on your list. Think about it. For details, phone any North American Life representative.

Movie Column

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, April 30—(AP)—How would you like to earn $5 a second—for doing nothing?

The only requirement: You must be under 30 days of age.

Of course, this rules out most of the working class. But there are many children in Hollywood who have social security cards before they can focus their eyes.

The reason is that babies are needed for many movies, and nothing will substitute for the real thing. Finding the babies and caring for them is a real production in itself, as I learned from Harold Minnlear.

Minnlear is a resident teacher at R. K. O. studio. That means he teaches the student actors (from first grade to college), sees that the laws covering child actors is observed and locates the child talent. The latter can be a headache.

A Big Job

"I have just finished lining up 14 infants for a maternity ward scene in 'The Blue Veil.' " he sighed. "It was a big job.

"First I called central casting, from which we got most of our extra talent. They had a few infants registered, mainly by mothers who had had their children used in pictures before. But they didn't have enough. So I had to call the hospitals and private parties. I was on the phone for three days before I found them all."

The fabulous pay for the infants comes from their unique working conditions. Those under 30 days are paid $75 a day, under 90 days $50 and under 180 days $25.

They can be on the set only two hours and in the scene only 20 minutes. Furthermore, they can be photographed only 30 seconds at a time. This is rigidly enforced.

15 Seconds' Work

Some of the babies on "The Blue Veil" worked a mere 15 seconds. That comes out to $5 a second, which is not bad pay for doing what comes naturally.

The salary is only the beginning of the expense to the studio for every infant used in the picture, there must be three full-time workers—a nurse, welfare worker and chauffeur. There must also be a limosine to call for and deliver each baby and stand by the set at all times.

EARLY PRESS

The first printing press in Canada is believed to be one set up in Halifax in 1751 by Bartholomew Green.

FRANKFORD

Lucky Strikes Win Bowling League Title

Frankford— The Lucky Strikes won the league championship in the Frankford Bowling League Thursday night, by virtue of their clean sweep over the Hornets, who headed the league during the schedule. The Hornets just could not seem to click in the way they did during the season. The Lucky Strikes, however, were not to be denied, for they rolled like league champions throughout the series.

The Lucky Strikes grabbed off all three games Tuesday night, but only by a small one hundred pin margin. The fourth game, played Thursday night was all that was needed, and the Lucky Strikes made sure of it.

The Lucky Strikes will receive the league championship trophies at the banquet next Friday evening. The Hornets will likewise receive trophies as pennant winners of the league.

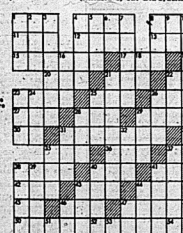
day work itself out without strain. Be careful not to get involved unintentionally.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—May be tendency to let money run through your fingers. P.M. offers tempting deals, angles that may be hard to resist, but should be resisted. Be firm, check propositions carefully.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Fair planetary aspects. The smart wide-awake you will think before speaking. Personal affairs may well be put aside for the day, except those you know you should carry.

November 23 to December 22—(Sagittarius)— One truly bright sector on day's planetary chart. Certainly you should take full, proper advantage. P.M. especially fine for romance, social, personal activities. Don't overdo.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Give a steady, mature account of yourself, you will need it where people and things are not all favorably inclined. Attend obligations, put personal wants behind necessary matters.



January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius)—Not much assistance likely; are mostly on your own today. Remember, plans, ideas mean nothing unless put into action capably. Study it in detail, thus save retracing steps.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces)—Some headway possible for discernment and sound energy. Take nothing for granted, know what's going on, and why. Better aspects after Sundown. more adaptable to personal affairs.

YOU BORN TODAY: Keen mentality, stability, grit. Able to reach the top, and stay there. You are determined in most things you want to do, aim to too much so at times it injure ultimate results. Research, inventive, creative, professional matters, but must continue developing your sets of fast backwards. Seek religion and Avoid worry, stubbornness.

Expect Greatest A-Explosion Set Next Ten Days

By ELTON C. FAY

(Washington, April 30 (AP) — United States atomic experts probably will set off the world's greatest A-blast within the next 10 days.

The atom-fission blast will be the grand finale to a new series of tests at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the Pacific's Marshall Islands.

The last Eniwetok series blew three during January and February as the proving grounds at Frenchman's Flats, Nev., have become one of the lesser-kept atomic secrets so far as the time and place are concerned.

While the Atomic Energy Commission has made no announcements regarding the time schedule for these tests, there have been indications from other authoritative quarters. Representative F. Edward Hebert (D., La.), appointed by the armed services committee of the House of Representatives to be an observer, told reporters earlier this month he would be in Washington May 1 and return May 12. Last week, Senator Warren G. Magnuson (D., Wash.) said at Hong Kong that he was going from here to Eniwetok to witness tests which would involve "nuclear fission".

No H-Bomb

This latter reference appeared to confirm previous speculation that the present Eniwetok series would not include a test of the hydrogen bomb. However, there are reasons to believe the new blast expected at some time before about May 10 will be a "proving out" laboratory work on a bomb vastly more efficient than any earlier fission explosive.

Other tests in the offing may be the present hitherto secret A.E.C. Chairman Gordon Dean has hinted. An experimental atom bomb under sub-Arctic conditions and perhaps with the detonation 1,500 feet beneath the ground may be tried in the Aleutian Islands before the year is over. The Aleutian chain reaches out from Alaska toward Russian Siberia.

Indians Secure Lou Brissie From Athletics

Cleveland, O., April 30 (AP)—Cleveland Indians got pitcher Lou Brissie from Philadelphia Athletics today in a three-day trade which also involved Chicago White Sox and six other players.

The trading sent catcher Ray Murray and pitcher Sam Zoldak from the Indians, and outfielders Dave Philley and Gus Zernial from the White Sox to the A's. The Sox got infielder Orestes Minoso from the A's and outfielder Paul Lehner from the A's roster.

Canada to Train 400 Instructors For Civil Defence

Washington, April 30 — (CP)— Canada hopes to train 400 key instructors in the next few months for work in provincial and local civil defence organizations, Canada's Health and Welfare Minister, Paul Martin, said today.

Martin is chief of the Canadian section of the Joint United States-Canadian Civil Defence Committee which met here in its first formal session last week.

In an address prepared for delivery at the opening of the first U. S. civil defence staff college course, he outlined the civil defence training program in Canada.

In addition to three staff-training courses for organizers and administrators conducted earlier this year, Canada is preparing to open a technical school for instructors in Ottawa May 7.

Martin said the nucleus of a provincial civil defence organization has been established in each province with a provincial minister in charge, a senior official responsible for the direction of the program and a civil defence advisory committee assisting in the development of plans and policies.

Local civil defence organizations also have been established in almost all of the larger cities.

"All communities over 50,000 in population — with only one or two exceptions — and a score of cities of smaller size have already a nucleus organization in being and are getting down to the job of detailed planning."

Many Detroiters Say They Like Transit Strike

Detroit, April 30—(AP)—Like a man on vacation, the strike-bound Detroit transit system is fast realizing how little it is missed when it's not around.

With a few definite exceptions, there is "business as usual" after nine days or strike. The city is not stricken—or paralyzed—as it sometimes said of cities under similar circumstances, "in the grip of the strikers." Many Detroiters say they like it.

Hardest hit are the 3,500 strikers, who have been fired in addition to losing some $400,000 in pay, and 6,500 blind, crippled or epileptic children who have been unable to get to their special schools.

Detroit police are delighted at how well the traffic snarls that plagued them the first few days have been ironed out.

Downtown stores are openly surprised at how much business has held up. Shopping by telephone and mail has risen so rapidly, in fact, that business has dropped off only 10 to 20 per cent in most stores.

Factories report only a minor effect on production. Absenteeism was down from 10 to 30 per cent when the strike started to slightly above normal by the end of the week.

Why so few inconveniences from a company that buses and streetcars in the nation's fifth city?

The answer, by and large, is an abundance of private cars, and a willingness to help their owners to share them in an emergency.

With one car for every three Detroiters—roughly 600,000 or 1,800,000—owning his own car, the city ranks near the top of the United States in auto registrations.

The board of education estimates that there are 10 per cent of the city's 340,000 public school children who have cars, which to find transportation. One school for crippled children has been closed.

ANNOINTED REGISTRAR

Hamilton, April 30 (CP)—Vern Clark of Hamilton Sunday was appointed registrar of the Ontario Baseball Association, succeeding the late William J. Snyder of Hamilton.

Directors at a meeting in London last month approved separating duties held by Mr. Snyder into a treasurer, a corresponding secretary and a registrar.

Thomas Rowdon of St. Catharines was appointed secretary and Fred Bradley of Hamilton treasurer.

English Papers Boost Prices

London, April 30 (AP) —The era of the penny press ends in Britain next week.

London newspapers announced today that they will increase their price from one penny (1-16 cents) to a penny and a half. It was the first price increase since 1917, when several London papers came up from their half-penny price to the penny level.

A joint announcement by the papers said the price rise was made necessary by new increases in newsprint costs of £14 ($41.30) a ton. This makes the new rate £50 a ton, nearly double last year's figure.

The Times and Daily Telegraph which do not consider themselves in the mass circulation field, have been selling for more than a penny. The Telegraph, which previously cost a penny and a half announced it will cost twopence next Monday, but the Times said it will stay at threepence.

Papers going up include the Daily Mail, Daily Express, News Chronicle, Daily Herald, Daily Graphic, Daily Mirror, Evening News, Evening Standard, and the Star.

The Express said editorially that the price rise had been caused by "folly mixed with malice. And the folly and malice both belong to Mr. Attlee's Socialist government." The paper said following the government's 1949 order cancelling contracts with Canadian newsprint producers in favor of Scandinavian mills. The malice, it added, centered in the socialist intent "to control and fetter the free press."

Flying Officer Murray Neilson, of Huntsville, Ont., crash-landed his Vampire jet fighter plane at Rimouski, Que., and walked away from the wreck. R.C.A.F. officers said the plane was severely damaged red miles off its course when the pilot ditched it — Central Press Canadian.

FOXBORO

Pine Grove W.I. Elects Officers

Foxboro—The April meeting of the Pine Grove Women's Institute was held on Thursday at Mrs. B. Searles' home, Oak Lake, with the president, Mrs. F. Campbell, presiding and 13 members in attendance.

The financial statement for the year showed a balance on hand of $116.08.

The president in her report gave a resume of an exceptionally busy year's activities. Delegates for the district annual convention were elected. Ten dollars was voted to assist in paying for a table for the Women's Institute's room in the Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Choices were made from the Co-operative program in "Home Economics."

Officers Elected

Mrs. F. Heasman then took charge of the election of officers. The officers for the coming year are as follows: president, Mrs. R. Johnston; 1st vice president, Mrs. H. Detlor; 2nd vice president, Mrs. G. Bartendale; secretary treasurer, Mrs. H. Coulter; assistant secretary, Mrs. H. Finkle; district director, Mrs. F. Finkle; directors, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. F. Heasman, Mrs. F. Campbell; auditors, Mrs. A. Tanner, Mrs. C. Rose; pianist, Mrs. R. Vanderwater; publicity and legislation plan leader, Mrs. Tanner.

Items of interest of the meeting was "Grandmother's Day". Mrs. Searles greeted the members on their arrival, attired in a full black silk dress, white apron, and lace bonnet. Several of the grandmothers were also in costume, and at the beginning of the meeting, the convener, Mrs. A. Tanner, presented each of them with a skilfully fashioned corsage.

Grandmothers' Program

The following program was presented: Reading, "Grandma Now and Then", Mrs. F. Heasman; "Grandpa Minds the Baby" Mrs. Bartendale, "I Don't Envy Them a Bit", "The New Grandmother", Mrs. F. Finkle; "We Pass This Way But Once," Mrs. F. Campbell, "Grandmothers' Maxim", Mrs. A. Tanner; Saga of Grandma", Mrs. S. Rose.

The convener asked for remembrances of their own grandmothers. A prize was given to the grandmother present having the most grandchildren. This was won by Mrs. G. Bartendale.

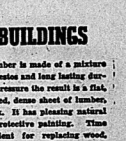
Mrs. F. Campbell was winner of the prize for the newest grandmother present.

Samples of old clothing were exhibited.

At the conclusion of the meeting the non-grandmothers served bounteous refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

MUST FIGHT TRANSIT

Paris, April 30— (Reuters) — Jacques Duclos, French communist leader, told the party congress here that its main task must be to fight the transit of American war materials across France. Duclos declared the "producers of the occupation of France by the Americans" have become increasingly acute.



CALL OFF THREAT STRIKE

Louisville, Ky., April 30—(AP) — Striking local bus workers have had been recommended by the Louisville Federation of Labor to back a strike by three A.F.L. locals at the Brown and Kennedy hotels, the largest in the city.

He Came to Kill

By Adeline McElfresh

"Now don't worry" she soothed Miss Aggie just looked at her with wide, scared eyes and Leeana hurried through the sisters' bath into Miss Maggie's bedroom.

Margaret Thorne looked very regal despite her five feet one and a half inches as she came into the bedroom from the study beyond it. Leeana gave her a reassuring smile.

"Shall I get you a glass of hot milk before bed?"

It was a stock question, asked every night. Sometimes Miss Maggie agreed; this time she did not.

"No, child. Tonight I—I don't want to sleep. I—" She wet her colorless lips. "Leeana, I want you to go after the sheriff."

"Why?" Then, "why not telephone him?"

Genuine terror flashed in Miss Maggie's eyes, but her voice was steady.

"No. No, they might hear."

"Who?"

"I—Well, Peter," the old woman admitted. "Or Jasper."

"They wouldn't—"

Some of Miss Maggies old spirit appeared. "They'd like nothing better, Leeana, than to see me out of the way tonight—before Devens comes out in the morning to finish my will." She sighed. "I guess I shouldn't have gloated over them but—"

When she gave no sign of going on Leeana reached for the high-necked, long-sleeved flannel gown and the warm flannel wrapper.

"I'll help you to bed before I go," she said. "And I'll hurry."

Maggie gave her a grateful smile and allowed herself to be unbuttoned and bundled into the nightclothes. But instead of getting into bed she went again to her study. Leeana busied herself about the room, hanging the black silk dress and the crisp taffeta petticoat in the closet, placing Miss Maggie's Bible on her night table.

Then Miss Maggie was back. She had the will.

"Keep this for me dear. Till morning. I'll feel better if you have it—and no one knows." Miss Maggie patted her hand. "And do hurry back from town. Tell Clem Purdy to come himself."

Leeana promised, but she doubted if the sheriff would pay any more attention to this plea than he had to previous ones. It was his unshakeable opinion that everyone at Thorne Hill was nuts as he had expressed it from time to time. Mart Preston, now—Resolutely Leeana put Deputy Sheriff Martin Preston out of her mind. She was a Thorne, ...

Snatching up her purse and slipping Miss Maggie's proposed new will into it, she went quickly downstairs. The lower floor was dark. Either Peter and the others had gone to their rooms, or they had gone out. Leeana hoped it was the latter. She hated to think of leaving two defenseless, terrified old women in the house with Peter Thorne.

Then she didn't have time to think about it. A hand was over her mouth, strong fingers were biting into her throat. . . Even as she struggled she knew it was no use.

Voices came out of the thick grey fog and faded again until it seemed Leeana had not heard them at all. When they returned they were stronger, more reassuring. She was not dead.

Struggling a little for the equilibrium that seemed to have deserted her, Leeana sat up. She was still in the hall, but there were lights now and Peter and Sondra, their faces pale and strained, sat beside the old horsehair sofa on which she lay.

"Someone," Leeana told them levelly, "tried to kill me."

"Nonsense, Leeana!" Sondra snorted. "You fell down the stairs. Peter and I were in the living room. We heard you."

"You tumbled right down, old girl." Peter Thorne was perfectly calm and very much in possession of the accent that Leeana knew now was feigned. "Bumpety-bumpety — "

"Stop it!" Leeana cried out, rising unsteadily.

"Tut-tut now, cousin, don't get hysterical." Peter's words were taunting, his thin lips were parted in a mocking smile. "Not after the way you hoodwinked poor Aunt Mahgaret."

"Peter!" Sondra warned, but he paid no attention.

"I suppose you think I—we—don't know you were running away, Cousin Leeana." His sauve voice became rough as though the bearings on which it operated were wearing thin. "I suppose you're going to tell us poor Aunt Mahgaret gave the will to you—to keep for her!"

"She did."

"Indeed!"

Leeana's eyes flew from Peter's accusing face to Sondra's, and back again.

"It's your word, cousin," Peter said shortly, dangerously. "It's your word—alone."

"She's dead," Leeana said. It was not a question.

Fear had not yet taken hold; she spoke calmly. Then: "You killed her!" she accused.

"I didn't—you did."

"You killed her," Sondra flung at her, too, "because she realized her mistake. Because she wasn't going to make a new will at all, let the old one stand. The one she made long ago, Leeana — leaving her money to Jasper and Peter."

Gradually Leeana's terror settled down into a throbbing fear in her throat and she could think again.

"Where's Jasper?" she asked.

"Gone after the sheriff." It was Peter who answered. A Peter who was very, very sure of himself now that he was certain to inherit his third of Miss Maggie's estate, after bequests to the servants had been paid. "You cut the telephone wires, didn't you?"

Leeana breathed deeply. Somewhere she had heard that this had a calming effect, but it didn't. She felt their accusation close in around her, choking her just as certainly as those fingers had choked her.

"What time is it?"

"Almost 10.30," Peter replied. "We found you half an hour ago."

"And Miss Maggie," Sondra added meaningly.

"It wasn't hard was it, cousin?" Peter asked, his lean, handsome face looking grim. "You must have found it very easy to smother a helpless old woman in her bed."

To give BELLEVILLE faster telephone service . . .

To answer you promptly and give faster service on some 42,000 local calls a day, we've added three more switchboard positions and increased to 70 the number of operators handling these local calls.

In the past five years, the number of telephones in Belleville has increased from about 5,000 to nearly 9,000. To keep pace with this growth, we've extended our switchboard facilities four times during that period. Nearly all the families now on our waiting list will have their telephones connected by the end of the Summer.

More telephones and better service mean GREATER VALUE to you. Your telephone today gives you more for your money than ever before.
